Back-to-School: Gear Up for School Lunches

Will you add "pack school lunches" to your to-do list when school starts? Time to get organized! Give yourself a break, and take time now to prepare for the school lunch routine. With nine months of lunch duty ahead, planning school lunch menus will make it easy to pack the sacks each day!

Get Informed

Time was, school lunch meant a peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwich and a banana... for everyone. Today, increased awareness of issues like nut allergies and childhood nutrition means that many schools issue guidelines for home-packed lunches. Before stocking the lunch cupboard for the school year, review school lunch policies. Be in the know before you go shopping!

Find Your Center

Tap the "activity center" concept, and set up a one-stop center for lunch preparation. In a cupboard or accessible drawer, store what you need to prepare and package lunches. Sandwich bags and fruit cups. Utensils and plastic wrap. Boxed fruit juice and condiments. If you need it for lunches, give it a home in your lunch center! Creating a lunch center keeps you glued to one place, with tools and supplies close at hand!

Brainstorm Lunch Ideas

Check in with your children, and brainstorm a list of 10 to 15 kid-approved lunch ideas before school starts. Working together, be sure lunches include fruits, vegetables, and healthy snacks so they are nutritionally complete.

After the consult, make a quick list of lunch menus on the free printable School Lunch Planner, and post it near the kitchen lunch center, to guide you on sleepy mornings. Make space Near the lunch center to post the school lunch menu. Circle the days your child will buy lunch and buy you some extra time!

Weekly Check-In

Keep tabs on children's changing tastes, modifying lunch menus as needed. If containers of once-loved pasta salad are returning home unopened, it's time to find a new side dish!

Pre-Pack Where Possible

Where possible, pre-assemble school lunches to save time each day. Morning minutes are worth ten at any other time of the day!

Outsource Lunch Preparation

Finally, place children in charge of preparing their own lunches. While you'll want to monitor for nutritional completeness and keep the lunch center stocked, giving the responsibility to the child teaches them to plan ahead, and promotes good organization skills. Add "make lunch" to the family's before-bed routine, and show children how to assemble their lunch for the next day. In the morning, add sandwiches or cold items ... for a lesson in organized living!
