MY FAVORITE NEWS STORY

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

I did radio and television news for nine years when I was just out of the Army and getting ready to start a life. One Friday morning in November of 1961 Bruce Frazier, the farm broadcaster at the station where I worked, told me he had heard that a woman was coming to Big Spring the next day to launch a hot air balloon. Like any novice reporter, I put it on the air, not really knowing if it was a joke or a real story. Saturday morning the San Angelo newspaper carried a story that said 'there's a report that a balloon is going to be launched from Big Spring but we have contacted the FAA and it has no knowledge of any balloon flight.'

Well, now I had to prove that I was right. I called Cecil Hamilton at his flying field where the launch was to take place. He told me the lady with the balloon had arrived at 3 AM and was in a local motel. I called the motel and did a phone interview with Constance Wolf, the lady balloonist. She asked me if I could take her out to Hamilton field. I of course said yes.

She is the most fascinating woman I have ever known. She was a technical adviser for the movie AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS and her balloon was the vehicle that took Cantinflas and David Niven on their journey. She was the first woman to balloon over the Alps. She and her husband Abby Wolf started the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association. They lived on an estate called Wingover at Blue Bell, Pennsylvania near Philadelphia. They were known in social circles as an exciting and romantic couple famous for their parties. Attendees had to arrive by plane and sometimes there would be 150 private planes parked on their runway.

When I met Mrs. Wolf she was dressed in a flight suit and wearing a thin mesh veil. She said the veil was to hold her head on. She was 56 years old, the epitome of grace and daring. She was launching her balloon to take away some of the attention the Soviets were getting after Yuri Gargarin became the first man in space. Besides that, a Russian woman had set an endurance record for staying up in a balloon 34 hours. Mrs. Wolf wanted to set her own record.

When her balloon took off just after midnight on Sunday, November 19, a huge crowd had gathered at Hamilton field. People cheered and horns honked. I traveled with the ground crew and sent reports back. The whole nation followed the flight. When she landed at 4 PM in Boley, Oklahoma she set 15 records for women's balloon flight. She covered 1,500 miles and had been aloft for forty hours and eight minutes, soaring up to 13,597 feet. We were sitting in a truck stop at Boley after her flight and she had calls from major news organizations all over the country.

I was a young reporter at the time Mrs. Wolf and I became friends. When Susan and I got married, she was among the very first to send us a gift and good wishes. We kept in contact and I treasure her letters written on a circular piece of stationery. She passed away in 1994 at the age of 89.

I found it remarkably quiet under the shade of the big barn at Shadow Ranch on the September afternoon that I visited. The horses in their open-air stalls were dozing to the droning sound of the tractor mowing the hayfield beyond the fence line. No busy traffic sounds disturbed the pastoral peace. There was, however, one youthful voice coming from the open arena in the center of the barn. Taylor and her young charge were enjoying some serious "equine therapy" with Cowboy, a 10-year-old Haflinger gelding and Kaitlyn serving as a "sidewalker". Some friendly, healing energy was quietly but surely at work here. Was it Will Rogers or Cal Farley who said "the outside of a horse is good for the inside of a boy"? Whoever said it told the truth!

Marion Cox, who is co-founder and executive director of Shadow Ranch, has already lived out her dream, but is far from finished with it. Since 2010 with God's abundant help, she has provided a fun, safe and productive environment in Sulphur Springs for individuals seeking equine therapy. Her mission statement: to enhance the quality of life of children and adults with disabilities and/or debilitating situations in their lives, and to make a positive difference in the lives of the staff, volunteers and community. The types of assistance offered at the non-profit center fall under EAAT (Equine-Assisted Activities and Therapy) guidelines. Shadow Ranch is also a member of PATH, or Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship, International. Being a non-profit organization, funds are necessary in order to maintain and expand services. Read about the center at shadowranch@tx.rr.com

Here's your chance to help out Shadow Ranch and have some fun! The First Annual 5K Ranch Obstacle Run is set for Saturday September 24. The first wave of runners will take off at 9am along a course peppered with opportunities to climb hay bales, roll hay rings, encounter water/mud obstacles, perform wheel-barrow sprints and other activities common to farm life. Some of the obstacles will require teamwork. It's just $20 to enter if you register by September 10, and $30 if you register at the gate. Sign up on the Shadow Ranch Facebook page, phone Marion at 214-604-8005 or stop in at the ranch at 421 CR 2321, off Highway 11 East for a sign-up sheet.

As any parent knows, the cost of raising a family is high. Toss in a disability and accompanying medical expenses and the costs skyrocket. Maintaining a decent quality of life for some of these families is indeed difficult. Because Shadow Ranch will not turn a prospective student away because they can't afford to pay, scholarship funds are always needed. Please support this first-of-it's-kind fundraiser by participating or sponsoring someone else. Without a "shadow" of a doubt, you will bless someone, and you'll be blessed for it!

Meantime, let's be thankful for the good things in our lives, and the beautiful weather. I'll watch for you at the corral gate!

Construction Ahead...and Behind...

Commentary by Dr. Don Newbury

It's enough to make grown men cry. This goes for grown women, too, as well as others licensed to drive in this land of the free and the home of roads under construction. (Okay, throw in the unlicensed drivers, too.)

Weeping may be the least we can do. Health professionals confirm that gnashing of teeth and grabbing for flying insects that aren't there--as well as unintelligible babbling--are symptoms on a lengthening list.

Sales of medications to calm nerves are at an all-time high. Down deep--and often high up--we are given pause, wondering if it is really worth it to get from point "A" to point "B." Usually, we think it is, eager to add "points" all the way to "Z."....

Some take to blogs to express frustration, as does Jen Hatmaker, author/speaker/wife/mom and unapologetic Christian. She lets it all hang out in her response to a billboard on Interstate Highway 35, a stretch she reviles near Austin. Its message reads: "One day you will love I-35. Until then, drive safely."

Jen begs to disagree, saying, "...I have lived along the I-35 corridor since 1987. I will tell you when I will love this highway: Never. Never is when we will love this stretch of grief and broken dreams."

Oh, but that's just the beginning...
