PERRY HALL APPLE FESTIVAL
 returning to Chapel Hills this weekend

 One of the most popular seasonal festivals in recent years is returning to Perry Hall this weekend, Sept. 17 and 18, from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. each day.
 The annual Perry Hall Apple Festival, co-hosted by Chapel Hills Farm and Nursery and the Perry Hall Improvement Association, has grown in both attendance and offerings over the years becoming more like their own town fair, especially since the official Perry Hall Town Fair moved out of the area.
 This growing popularity coupled with good weather led people in and around Perry Hall to flock to the festival by the thousands last year, according to Russell Berk, owner of Chapel Hills.
 Unfortunately, the high attendance also led to some long lines for the more popular activities. But Berk says he has prepared for that this year, adding more cashiers and ticket booth attendants where necessary.

 "We'll be ready with everything this year," Berk said. He added that he is just hoping for good weather again to be able to replicate last year's turnout.
 But with the weather forecast as of Tuesday calling for temperatures in the upper 70s, partial sunshine and a low chance of precipitation, that should not be a problem.
 Parking and admittance to the festival are free as always, and mainstay activities of sack races, pony rides, hay rides and other great offerings will, of course, be available.
 The Masters of the Chainsaw will also attend the festival, showing off their chainsaw skills and creating beautiful

MR. TRUMP GOES TO DUNDALK

- Article & photo by Patrick Taylor -
 The excitement was palpable all throughout the day on Monday, Sept. 12, as rumors of a Donald Trump visit to east Baltimore County swirled. And when his motorcade arrived in front of Boulevard Diner in Dundalk, a crowd of hundreds, both inside and outside the diner, erupted.

Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump's visit to Dundalk marks the first time a presidential candidate has visited the east side since Democratic nominee Jesse Jackson visited the steelworker's union in 1984.

"When Donald J. Trump comes to Dundalk, that speaks extreme volumes about how much things have changed in this area," said Delegate Ric Metzgar. "I never would have expected him to visit here. Things have changed so much around these parts, and it's apparent."

The crowd gathered at Boulevard Diner adorned "Make America Great Again" hats and held signs that read, "The Silent Majority Supports Trump." But anyone inside around the diner yesterday can tell you there was nothing silent about them.

One Sparrows Point resident stated that he'd taken off from work as soon as he heard that Trump was going to be in the area, a sentiment echoed by many throughout the gathering.

"He's an absolute rock star," he said. "But more than that, he wants to help make this country right again. We've slipped in recent years, and we need to get steady. And I think Trump is the only one that can help us get to where we need to be as a nation."

Trump was in Baltimore on Monday to address the National Guard Association of the United States at the Convention Center. Outside on Pratt Street, Trump

Marshy Point Fall Festival features loads of activities from around the area

- By Devin Crum -

Marshy Point Nature Center in Middle River will hold its ninth annual Fall Festival on Saturday, Sept. 24, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., featuring endless fun for the whole family.

Some of the main attractions of this year's festival include live music, apple cider pressing, children's crafts and games, early American life demonstrations, canoe rides, Chesapeake Bay retriever demonstrations, beekeeper demonstrations and honey for sale, as well as the fourth installment of the Marsh Mucker obstacle course for kids.

and getting muddy," said Ben Porter, lead naturalist for the center.

The obstacle course will be held back along some of the nature center's trails, "but everything [else] is really pretty well located right out in front of the nature center or indoors," Porter said.

One of Marshy Point's largest events, the Fall Festival also functions as a fundraiser, helping to care for the nature center's animals, maintain its facilities and trails and create different exhibits and interactive activities at the center. So while admission and parking for the event are free, some of the activities do have associated costs, such as the scarecrow stuffing and pumpkin painting.

"Everything that we raise at the event benefits the nature center and our environmental education programs, animals and exhibits," Porter explained.

Also part of the festival will be DeJon Vineyards, waxsmith demonstrations, various craft vendors, birds of prey such as owls and hawks, wood carvers and the Bowleys Quarters Volunteer Fire Department with some of their equipment for visitors to see.

"We've packed a lot of activities into the area around the nature center, and we're going to definitely fill the park," Porter commented. He added that their main goals are to give people a good time and get the word out about "Marshy Point back here in the woods" so people will come back and visit again.

Porter also pointed out that the nature center is currently looking into how to build a "bird corner" exhibit around the osprey camera that launched this year in the spring.

"It's kind of going in in stages, but the idea is to devote that whole corner of the building to bird corner things about nests and eggs for eagles and ospreys," he said.

The camera, which allowed anyone around the world to get an up-close look at an osprey nest on Dundee Creek in real time via a live Internet feed on their own computers as well as in the nature center, did really well, Porter said. It showed people all around the area as the inhabiting osprey parents successfully fledged one chick.

The camera was able to do some good for the nesting ospreys as well when nature center volunteers noticed via the feed that the chick had become entangled in fishing line that had been attached to some of the nesting twigs. As a result, they were able to call the Phoenix Wildlife Center for help untangling it and the chick was fine.

"But how often does that happen out in the wild where no one is watching?" Porter asked.

The nature center also recently embraced the Pokemon GO craze, inviting the public to come to Marshy Point to play the game at a Midnight Madness event on Friday, Sept. 2, which was "really well-received," Porter stated.

He noted that more people playing the game in one area increases the chances of seeing rare Pokemon, and about 700 people attended the event.

Since it was so successful, the center is looking to hold another such event on Friday, Oct. 7, and possibly continuing to hold them on the first Friday of each month depending on the weather.

"People were really having a lot of fun," Porter said. "Everybody was really positive and in a good mood, and we're happy to offer it again."

Children get up to their waists in hay to stuff their scarecrows in preparation for the fall season. Activities abound for the whole family at Marshy Point Nature Center's Fall Festival on Saturday, Sept. 24.

Annual BRRC rockfish tournament garners record participation

- Article & photo by Devin Crum -

The Back River Restoration Committee's ninth annual rockfish tournament on Saturday, Sept. 10, brought in a record 63 boats to enjoy the day and try to catch some rockfish.

An average of four anglers per boat meant that around 250 participants contributed a tremendous amount of money toward the event, which benefitted the BRRC, according to BRRC Board Chairman Larry Farinetti.

"It's a great day for Back River," Farinetti exclaimed, adding that he and BRRC President Sam Weaver were "dancing" when they got the final boat count. "I don't think you can beat it. We've got [food for everyone], $1 beers and all the money goes to benefit the river."

Farinetti and Weaver graciously thanked all of the sponsors as well, noting that the event brought in over $17,000 in sponsorships.

The first-place fish, measuring in at 34.5 inches, was caught by Captain William "Three" Corley III's team on boat 12, earning them the first prize of $2,500. The three-man team did not specify which of them reeled in the winning quarry, stating instead that they all caught it as a team.

Corley revealed that the winning fish was caught near Rock Hall.

The second-place fish measured in at 32.625 inches and third place came in at 32.25 inches. These catches earned their teams $1,000 and $500, respectively.

Corley said the weather was great for the event - hot, muggy and calm in the morning. But the wind picked up in the afternoon, making it a bit choppy.

Corley noted that the BRRC tournament gets bigger and better every year and has become "a big deal" since he keeps his boat docked on the river as well.

"I use this river and my kids play in this river, so cleaning it up is a big deal," he commented.

Corley donated $300 of the winnings immediately back to the BRRC, but said there would be more once the team figures out their costs.

FESTIVAL

sculptures. They will be joined by some 50 craft vendors, at least 35 of them local, offering everything from jewelry, fine art and handmade soaps to Orioles and Ravens gear and more to create a shopper's paradise.

On the stage both days entertaining festival-goers between noon and 4 p.m. with their bluegrass music will be the Lovesick Hillbillies, which hail from all over the Mid-Atlantic region, including Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Sponsoring the weekend's entertainment again are

County Councilman David Marks, who lives in and represents Perry Hall, and County Executive Kevin Kamenetz.

Of course, the festival will also have wagon train rides, a petting zoo, a miniature hay maze and other fun activities for the kids. But one of the main focuses of any festival is obviously the food.

Alongside Chapel Hills' pit beef, pit turkey, hamburgers and pulled pork will be fries, funnel cakes, Thunder Ridge kettle corn, various baked goods and other tasty morsels.

And let's not forget the apples! Apple cider and the ever-popular apple cider doughnuts will be front-and-center, along with countless varieties of apples for sale by the farm.

Plus, one of the most time-honored festival activities at a fall festival - bobbing for apples - is back this year after its absence last year!

The popular wine tastings, back for its fifth year, will even include several apple wines, apple beers and apple ciders.

So come out and experience everything the wonderful Perry Hall Apple Festival has to offer. And be sure to visit Chapel Hills again and again for their Fall Festival Days, which run every weekend through October.

Fall Festival Days include many of the same attractions as the apple festival, including hayrides, pony rides, great food and bluegrass music on select weekends.

STRUT YOUR STUFF

If your vehicle seems to wallow over bumps in the road like a ship bobs over waves, it may be time to inspect your struts and shock absorbers. The part of the suspension system known as the strut assembly is basically a shock absorber encased in a spring for added support. A shock absorber is a mechanical device that is outfitted with a hydraulic or pneumatic piston that is designed to dampen the shock of bumps in the road. As you might imagine, these parts take a beating over time, as they help ensure that the tire rubber will remain on the road as the vehicle encounters bumps. Upgrading to firmer shocks may improve your vehicle's road handling ability.

Worn struts aren't just a discomfort. They can reduce your ability to steer properly, which is unsafe. Let our ASE-certified technicians replace your shock absorbers and struts quickly and efficiently, improving your car's performance on the road and your family's safety in the car. And we can provide the preventive care that your car needs to stay safe.

Open Mon.-Fri. 7:30-5. We fix check engine lights!

HINT: Springs tend to wear out far less frequently than shock absorbers, which may wear out at 50,000 miles or so.

TRUMP

supporters and protesters gathered and exchanged chants, some notably crude, and waved signs. The atmosphere in Dundalk was less tense, which should come as no surprise considering the staggering amount of support he has in the Sixth District.

Trump was flanked by former New York City mayor Rudy Giuliani and former Maryland governor Bob Ehrlich, and was welcomed to the east side by Metzgar, Delegate Bob Long, Senator Johnny Ray Salling, Delegate Pat McDonough and hundreds of constituents.

"It was a great opportunity to sit down and have lunch and talk about some of the good things happening in our state and what's needed for our nation," said Salling.

Salling mentioned that Tradepoint Atlantic was discussed with Trump, though the details of the conversation were not revealed.

The emergence of Tradepoint Atlantic couldn't come at a better time for east side Republicans and Trump. Job opportunities and economic growth have disappeared from this area since the steel mill began shedding jobs by the thousands decades ago and culminating in 1,975 R.G. Steel employees getting laid off in 2012.

The loss of union jobs undercut the political shift that took place in 2014 when the historically blue Sixth District turned completely red and helped Larry Hogan get elected as governor.

"People want to work," said Kyle Evans of Dundalk. "I'm hoping that with all of these jobs coming into the area that I'll be able to find something steady. And that just wasn't happening under the last officials we had in office."

After announcing that Under Armour would be bringing an e-commerce distribution center to Tradepoint, it looks as though development on the east side is about to get a huge bump.

At a Baltimore Business Journal forum last week, Tradepoint CEO Michael Moore noted that there are seven other businesses whose leases for the site are being finalized, and that announcements will be coming "as soon as the ink dries."

Moore also noted that his "inbox has been blowing up" since the Under Armour announcement. He stated that while e-commerce has been the main focus of what Tradepoint has been doing, they're constantly evaluating how they operate and who they're looking to bring in.

"The arc of e-commerce is increasing literally on a weekly basis," said Moore.

"We had a great strategy but we are going to be very flexible. We are going to change as the market changes."

While nothing has been officially stated about what companies are going to be moving to Tradepoint, one source told The East County Times that wind turbine manufacturing could find a spot on the Tradepoint property.

Regardless of what the businesses are that move in, the excitement felt at the Trump visit to Boulevard Diner is starting to seep its way into everyday life.

"These are just really exciting times," said Metzgar. "The Tradepoint guys can get anyone they want now. It's basically like opening a catalogue and choosing."

Metzgar stated that he thinks Tradepoint will be well ahead of the 10,000-jobs-in-10 years plan they had when the venture was first announced. By 2018, he thinks that it's a safe bet to make that Tradepoint will have more people working than when R.G. Steel shut their doors.

For a guy like Evans, steady employment might be closer than he thinks.

"I understand that these illegal [immigrants] coming in have it rough, but our politicians have to look after their own citizens first and foremost," he said. "If I could tell my mother I got a job at Under Armour or something like that, her mind would be at ease. My mind would certainly be at ease."

Presidential hopeful Donald Trump took time to visit Dundalk, the heart of his support in Maryland. Trump secured over 77 percent of the vote in the Sixth District in the primary.

Baltimore Humane Society's PETS OF THE WEEK

BLACKJACK

Feeling lucky? How about taking a chance on me, my name is Blackjack! I'm an exuberant young gentleman looking to find my forever home. Social, happy, energetic, loving, silly - all words to describe me perfectly. I enjoy meeting people who give me attention (you can never go wrong with a belly rub) and I like treats a lot (snacks are always great, right?) I was a part of playgroups here and I did well, but it's probably best I be the king of my new castle. I like to be the center of attention, can you blame me? I think I would make a wonderful companion, and once you meet me, you will agree! Come to BHS today and ask for me!

WATERMELON

How are you doing today? My name is Watermelon. I'm just a shy and quiet girl who was in a foster home for a bit, but has never had my own forever home. I've lived with other cats and kids ages 6-10. In my foster home I liked to play with crinkly cat balls. My foster mom said I was timid at first, but would warm up after some time. I just need a patient person who will give me some TLC. I dream of that happy, safe, loving home.

The adoption fee is $100 for Blackjack and $50 for Watermelon.

Peace Orders and Protective Orders

- By Parker, Pallett, Slezak & Russell, P.A. -

Peace orders and protective orders are relatively new in Maryland. They were created by the legislature to protect citizens who were in fear for their safety or lives. The standard of proof for their approval has been recently modified. Traditionally, a court would grant an Order if there was "clear and convincing evidence" that the petitioner was being harassed, threatened or abused. Now the standard has been changed to "preponderance of the evidence." Although the order is civil in nature, a violation thereof is criminal. It is called contempt and carries up to a year of incarceration.

Unfortunately, in today's world, although the intent for these orders was to protect citizens, in some cases these orders have been abused by citizens. For instance, sometimes someone is trying to get an advantage in a divorce proceeding, a neighbor wants to make life difficult for others in the community or a former boyfriend is harassing his former lady. The Law Offices of Parker, Pallett, Slezak & Russell have successfully defended against the passing of orders brought for specious reasons.

Our lawyers can be your oars to help you navigate through turbulent criminal and traffic court waters. Often a law can be as a weight, dragging down good citizens. The law can also be construed as a life-buoy, saving good people who have fallen into the disturbing seas of criminal and traffic charges. We are your lifeguards, available always for free initial consultations. Our fees are modest, as we understand that the economy has been unkind to many of our neighbors.

If you have any questions about the law or feel you are being harassed by someone, please call Parker, Pallett, Slezak & Russell, P.A., at 410-335-3800, or go online to ppsrlaw.com.

Dundalk stopped short in big 3A matchup against Milford

- by Patrick Taylor -

It was a slow weekend for sports, due to excessive heat wiping out more time in classrooms and on the field for high school students in Baltimore County.

Normally, something like that would make me slightly agitated. After all, each week I pick the contests I want to see, so to have essentially no choice in the matter felt a little odd. But, it did end up benefiting me, because I got to see a great game between Dundalk and Milford Mill, which I most likely was going to skip over this weekend.

But before we get into a rundown of activity, just a few thoughts on the heat problem.

First and foremost, as much as cancellations are frustrating, safety needs to come first. And considering a lot of these kids had been off from school on Thursday and Friday due to the heat index flirting with 100 degrees, why rush them onto a field? Going from not practicing a couple days to being thrown to the lions isn't a smart play. Mainly due to lack of oversight when it comes to hydration. What kids need to do to prepare for heat and what they think they need to do are two different things. I can basically guarantee that there were a few who hadn't been filling themselves up with water in the 24 hours leading up to what was supposed to be game time. And all it takes is one kid to go down.

I can understand the frustration to an extent. From a player's perspective, you want to be out there all the time. From a parent's perspective, however, I'm not too sure I get the complaints. Anytime the safety of children isn't top priority, there's hell to pay. So yes, it may be annoying and frustrating, but better a little frustration over, say, a heat stroke.

That said, game cancellations can really screw up a season. Playoff positions are determined by a point system, so if you're playing teams that aren't exactly top-notch teams and your only game against a top team gets canceled, you just lost a lot of potential points. Last year I wrote about how the playoff process needs to be changed, and the fact that teams can miss out on a spot due to a canceled game should be enough to prompt a change. But on to the games.

The kickoff between Dundalk and Milford Mill was delayed - not because of air conditioning - because Milford's bus driver took them to Dunbar. Close enough, right? But when the game finally did get underway, it was a real doozy.

The first quarter was back and forth, with neither team really able to get much going offensively. Milford got on the board first when quarterback Kyrel Eley hit one of his receivers for a 43-yard touchdown as the first quarter wound down.

The second quarter was much of the same as both teams employed a bend-don't-break approach to defense. Milford's secondary was doing well to lock up the passing options for Dundalk quarterback Darrius Sample, but that just meant there was more room on the ground. Running back Isaiah Antol was the first to benefit as he bounced off the line and made his way through several tackles before finding the endzone just before half.

The second half turned into Sample's time to shine, and he certainly did. Sample used his legs predominantly in the second, but in the third quarter he managed to hook up with wide receiver Daquan Thomas for a 24-yard touchdown, giving Dundalk a 14-7 lead.

While Dundalk's offense stalled a bit, their defense was sharp. They were also a bit fortunate, with Eley fumbling a ball out of the endzone towards the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth, they wouldn't be as lucky.

Milford put up two quick touchdowns in the fourth, but failed on their extra point conversions.

Sample responded by tearing off big run after big run. In total, Sample put up 241 yards on the ground, 168 of them coming in the second half. And on this particular drive, he accounted for 60 of his team's 65 yards. He ended the "drive" with a 41-yard touchdown that put Dundalk in front 22-19 after the two-point conversion.

Milford answered with 1:17 to go, giving them a 27-22 lead.

Sample proceeded to march his team downfield with a 54-yard pass to receiver Eddie Dickerson. A facemasking penalty added 15 yards and put Dundalk in prime position, only seven yards from the endzone. Over the next four plays, Sample would pick up six yards on the ground and miss on two throws as the Owls lost what could prove to be a decisive game when it comes to postseason play. Last year, Milford missed out on the postseason thanks to Dundalk.

Sparrows Point was probably wishing their game could have been canceled, or at least postponed, as Randallstown jumped down their throat from the get-go en route to a staggering 36-0 win.

winning ways, edging out a 6-2 victory over Owings Mills. Despite the relatively ugly victory, Chesapeake now sits at 2 - 0 on the year, and they've certainly got to be excited.

Eastern Tech fell to Middletown by a score of 36-0, leaving the Mavericks a bit deflated early in the year. There's still plenty of time to right their ship, but they have to be worried after two losses to start the year. They'll look to regroup against Hereford on Friday.

County police give body camera update

Back in July, the first batch of body cameras to be worn by Baltimore County officers were sent out to each precinct. Initially, just ten cameras were in use. Now, that number is up to 100.

Last week in Rosedale, Baltimore County Police Captain Christopher Kelly of the White Marsh precinct and Captain Joseph Conger, commander of the Technology and Communications Section, met with a couple dozen citizens to hear of any complaints or concerns with the body camera program.

"This is obviously a new area for law enforcement," said Conger. "Body worn cameras is a cutting edge solution, another tool in the professional toolbox, and there's not a lot of charted territory, so there's a lot of opportunity to say what concerns we are not able to anticipate."

While the issue of body cameras has been a divisive one amongst policing communities, as is evident by Boston Police Department's response to having to wear cameras. When asked if there were any issues of the sort in Baltimore County, Kelly and Conger noted that everything was running "smoothly."

There wasn't much in way of new information being disseminated, but the evening did serve as a good reminder of what can be expected from the body camera program.

Both Conger and Kelly stressed that body cameras were mutually beneficial, in that they allow prosecutors - and those who are worried about brutality or civil rights issues - to get a relatively clear look of what went on.

Despite the fact that there were no new major updates, the fact that this meeting occurred was met with praise.

"You can talk all day about transparency, but what are you doing to actually be transparent? In Baltimore County's case, they're taking it right to the citizens," said Barry Lenken, a Rosedale resident in attendance. "That's good community outreach."

One of the bigger issues regarding body camera footage is privacy, though Conger reiterated that there will be redactions in footage if the suspect is a juvenile, personal identifiers are seen or anything of the sort. He also reminded that the department has the right to redact or withhold footage to protect someone's safety and for graphic content.

Kelly and Conger confirmed that they're still on track to have most of the department covered by July 2017, and that the program will cost approximately $12.5 million.

Tractor trailer crash in Essex leaves one injured

Baltimore County Police are investigating a Monday afternoon crash on Eastern Boulevard involving a tractor trailer.

The preliminary investigation into the crash has indicated that around 1:14 p.m., a tractor trailer was exiting off of Route 702 to go west-bound on Eastern Boulevard. Instead of heading west-bound, the tractor trailer crossed the west-bound lanes, crossed the median and crossed east-bound Eastern Boulevard before coming to a stop. The driver of the tractor trailer was taken to an area hospital for treatment. He is expected to survive.

The tractor trailer did not hit any other vehicles, but east-bound Eastern Boulevard was closed for an extended period at Route 702.

This crash is under investigation by the Baltimore County Police Crash Team. That investigation is expected to take several weeks.

Current crime trends

Since Aug. 13, there have been eight robberies of convenience stores countywide involving similar M.O. and suspect description. Cases occurred on various days and during the late night to early morning hours. In these cases, suspects took cigarettes and demanded money. The suspects implied or displayed weapons and used physical force. Anyone with information is urged to contact Baltimore County police.

Since Aug. 6, there have been three residential burglaries in the Essex community in the Essex Precinct. There has been no new activity since August 21.

National Federation of Independent Business endorses Kathy Szeliga

On Thursday, Sept. 8, Maryland Senate Candidate Kathy Szeliga was endorsed by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). NFIB is the country's top small business association, representing small businesses across the country and right here in Maryland. They promote and protect the interests and rights of small businesses. Mike O'Halloran, NFIB State Director for Maryland and Delaware, and other representatives joined Szeliga at the public endorsement.

"Delegate Kathy Szeliga has been a great friend to small business in Maryland and deserves to represent the state in the U.S. Senate," said NFIB President and CEO Juanita Duggan. "As the owner of a small business, she knows the challenges posed by the federal government. During her time in the Maryland General Assembly, Szeliga had a perfect voting record with NFIB. We know that she will work for lower taxes and less burdensome rules and regulations."

"Having seen her dedication and tireless efforts on behalf of Maryland small business in the state legislature, we are thrilled to offer our endorsement," said NFIB/Maryland State Director Mike O'Halloran. "She will provide a much-needed voice of reason in the U.S. Senate."

Kathy Szeliga is a Maryland small business owner with a proven track record of fighting to help Maryland businesses by reducing burdensome regulations, cutting taxes and fees, and creating a pro-growth business environment in the state of Maryland.

"Maryland businesses like Betson Baltimore need a strong advocate for them in Washington," stated Szeliga. "As a small business owner myself, I know what businesses need to succeed. And I know what it means to sign the front of a paycheck and balance the budget. If we truly want to change Washington, we need to elect more business leaders with common sense who will work to help companies grow and thrive."

The NFIB endorsement took place at Betson Baltimore, a local NFIB member and distribution center for Betson Enterprises. Betson Enterprises is the largest distributor of amusement and vending equipment, coin operated parts and service in the United States a 4th generation company with more than 80 years of experience in the coin-operated industry. Betson Enterprises is a division of H. Betti Industries, Inc., with 14 distributions offices located across the country. Betson Baltimore is located in Baltimore City, employs 5 people, and serves the Mid-Atlantic region.

"It's not easy to run a successful small business," stated Nick Sarioglou, Betson Baltimore Branch Owner. "On top off the many challenges of gaining customers and making sales, business owners must keep up with an ever-expanding array of regulations. With all of the new regulations and rules coming out of Washington on what feels like a daily basis, Maryland businesses are struggling. The harder it is for us to stay in business, the more money we have to spend on compiling with all of the federal regulations. That means less money to expand our business and hire new employees. If there were more people in Congress who had actual business experience like Kathy Szeliga, I know we would see fewer regulations, fewer taxes, and more opportunities for small business owners and their workers."

Ruppersberger 'outraged' by comments disparaging U.S. military

Congressman C.A. Dutch Ruppersberger issued the following statement on Thursday, Sept. 8, responding to presidential candidate Donald Trump's criticisms of troops and military leaders:

"I was outraged to hear one of our nation's presidential candidates disparage our country's top generals on national television last night. Time and again, this candidate has called our country's Armed Forces a "disaster," has claimed to know more than our military leaders about defeating terrorists and, now, has threatened to fire professional officers who have dedicated their careers to making ours the most powerful military force in history.

"I can't imagine how these statements feel to the 2 million young Americans volunteering to serve in a time of war, and their families, who are also sacrificing their loved ones.

"In my work on national security, I have traveled to frontlines around the world, including remote hot-spots in Yemen, Iraq and Afghanistan as recently as last month. I can say with confidence that our military leaders are extremely qualified and capable. Each time I travel, I thank our troops for putting their lives on the line to defend the freedoms that make our country the greatest in the world. So I find it offensive when a candidate suggests that our country needs to be made great "again" and, in doing so, puts these men and women at even more risk.

"When it comes to politics, the respect and dignity of our troops and their families should be off-limits."

'SULLY': A good movie about a great pilot

- By Teddy Durgin -

There have been a handful of negative reviews for "Sully." And just about all of them seem to say basically the same thing. "Well, it's a solid, workmanlike film from director Clint Eastwood" or "Yeah, it's good. But it never soars." Or, "Tom Hanks gives his usual, movie-star performance. Nothing more." To those critics, I say... these are NOT problems! After a summer of mostly dreck at the local movie theaters, to get an early fall docudrama where I was in the hands of a good director, watching good actors working from a good script, was a breath of fresh air. Is it great? No. But let's not decrease the value of being good, of being professional and workmanlike and noble. These are the qualities of "Sully" the movie.

At just around 95 minutes, this is as tightly focused an Eastwood film as I've seen. Flaws? A few. With so much of the film playing out SO authentically, I found the final, climactic hearing a bit jive. First of all, I'm pretty sure all the investigative stuff took much longer than the couple of compressed weeks depicted in the film (Sully's wife played by Laura Linney doesn't even get a chance to travel to her husband). And did a key piece of debris really get discovered at that absolute perfect time?

The legal aspect of the film is the thing "Sully" is being sold on... the part of the story you DIDN'T know. Actually, there IS a part of the story that nobody has covered yet. WHAT THE HELL WERE THOSE BIRDS THINKING?! First of all, why hadn't they flown south for the winter? It was bleedin' January! The wind chill on that day was 5 degrees below! Did these birds have a death wish or something? Was it a mission? Was this some form of... poultry jihad?! Should Eastwood have subtitled their final squawks: "Humans out of the skies! We're taking back the clouds! AHHHHH!!!"

OK, the wife says I need to stop watching animated bird flicks. Maybe someday. But I'll never stop watching good movies like "Sully."

"Sully" is rated PG-13 for some peril and language.

The film chronicles the "Miracle on the Hudson," the January 2009 incident in which a US Airways passenger jet took off from LaGuardia Airport in New York, then almost immediately slammed through a flock of geese that damaged both engines and forced veteran pilot Captain Chelsey "Sully" Sullenberger (Hanks) to put the plane down in the Hudson River. The daring move, the only one he could make at the time, saved the lives of all 155 souls onboard.

The best decision Eastwood and screenwriter Todd Komarnicki make is in crafting the structure of their

Not quite halfway through, Eastwood then finally stages an extended flashback showing the takeoff and crash in harrowing, beautifully edited, "you-are-there" detail. Later, he shows the plane's unnerving descent from several different perspectives of people in different parts of the New York metro area - an office employee in a boardroom meeting, a helicopter pilot taking tourists up to see the city's skyline, etc. And there is a final re-staging that dwells less on the emotional immediacy of the event and more on what Sully and Skiles did technically in that cockpit.

Teddy's 10 MOST ANTICIPATED movies of FALL 2016

- By Teddy Durgin -

- 1) "The Founder" - Until I hit... oh, about age 35, McDonald's was pretty much my go-to favorite restaurant. I'd get a Filet-o-Fish and a Quarter Pounder and call it my "surf and turf" for the evening. My "reef and beef!" So I'm fascinated by this story of how an enterprising, middle-aged salesman named Ray Kroc (Michael Keaton) pushed the McDonald brothers out of their own restaurant concept and laid the groundwork for a global empire (Dec. 16).
- 2) "Bad Santa 2" - The original "Bad Santa" has to be the guiltiest of all guilty pleasures for me. I mean, it's absolutely filthy. Dirty. It's also an annual holiday staple in the House of Durgin... er, after little Maddie goes to sleep. I know it's not going to be as good as the first one. But I don't care. (Nov. 23).
- 3) "Doctor Strange" - I am SO burned out on

- superhero movies... unless they're Marvel superhero movies! (Nov. 4).
- 4) "The Magnificent Seven" - Purists will say it's sacrilege to remake such a Western classic. Fortunately, in this case, purists are dying off. This one's got Denzel Washington and Chris Pratt kickin' butt in the Old West. Yee-haw! (Sept. 23).
- 5) "Fences" - And speaking of Denzel, here he and Viola Davis reprise the roles that won them both Tony Awards when they starred in the Broadway revival six years ago. Oh, and Denzel directs (Dec. 16).
- 6) "Manchester By the Sea" - The early word is this is an Oscar contender with Kenneth Lonergan directing Casey Affleck as a man who returns to his Massachusetts hometown after a tragedy and is forced to come to terms with his past (Nov. 18).
- 7) "Arrival" - After the summer debacle that was

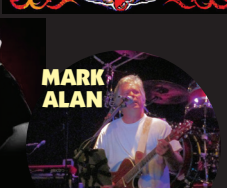

- the "Independence Day" sequel, the movies REALLY need a good alien invasion flick (Nov. 11).
- 8) "Jack Reacher: Never Go Back" - For whatever reason, I love the part in the trailer for this film where professional bad-ass Tom Cruise tells the one bad guy that he's going to rip his arm off and beat him to death with it. I'm ill like that (Oct. 21).
- 9) "The Girl on the Train" - It has that sort of "Gone Girl" vibe that just screams big-screen major motion picture (Oct. 7).
- 10) "Rules Don't Apply" - For a cinema fan like me, a Warren Beatty-directed motion picture is a must-see. We're getting a flick in which Beatty directed, wrote the script and co-stars as... Howard Hughes! Throw in Alden Ehrenreich as the young man whose romance with an aspiring actress catches Hughes' late-in-life fascination, and you have an event pic (Nov. 23).

DCT presents 'Forever Plaid'

Dundalk Community Theatre will kick off this season with a 1950s flair. For two nights only, Sept. 24 & 25, DCT will hold its annual fundraiser featuring the musical "Forever Plaid." This story of a clean-cut, male singing group will make you laugh and cheer for them as they attempt to perform the concert they never got to do in real life. Tickets are $23 for adults, $20 for seniors and $15 for students, DCT actors and children 12 & under.

Forever Plaid is a musical tribute to the 1950s. The story is about four high-school chums who had a dream of becoming as big as The Four Aces, The Four Freshmen or even The Beatles. However, their dreams were crushed when they died in an accident on the way to perform their first big concert. Now, present day, they are transported back on stage to give the performance of a lifetime. Stranded on stage with faded memories and old song charts, can they pull off a hit show and fulfill their life's dream?

Show times are 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday only, in the John E. Ravekes Theatre, K Building, CCBC, 7200 Sollers Point Road in Dundalk. For tickets and information, call 443-840-2787. Patrons requiring special accommodations are urged to notify the box office at least two weeks in advance. The CCBC box office is open 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, or visit www.ccbcmd.edu/performance/foreverplaid/dct.html.

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine splendor of heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God. Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh, star of the sea, help me and show me, herein you are my mother. Oh, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth! I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in this necessity (make request). There is nothing that can withstand your power. Oh, Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times). Holy Mary I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say prayer 3 consecutive days. Publish it and your petitions will be granted to you. Thank you for listening to my prayers. -- M.W.
