Landscaping 1-0-1

Two landscapers were working diligently alongside the streets of a huge office complex. One would dig a hole and the other would follow behind him and fill the hole in.

They worked up one side of a street, then down the other, then moved on to the next street, working furiously all day without rest, one guy digging a hole, the other guy filling it in again.

An onlooker was amazed at their hard work, but couldn't understand what they were doing. So he asked the hole digger, "I'm impressed by the effort you two are putting into your work, but I don't get it -- why do you dig a hole, only to have your partner follow behind and fill it up again?"

The hole digger wiped his brow and sighed, "Well, I suppose it probably looks odd because we're normally a three-man team. But today the guy who plants the trees called in sick."

Adulthood is like the vet, and we're all the dogs that were excited for the car ride until we realized where we're going.

Forty-five million Americans are currently living in poverty.

For these families and individuals, a warm coat is a budget extra they simply cannot afford. URW Community Federal is asking for you to help us make a difference in our neighbor's lives by donating coats during our upcoming coat drive! We are working to collect clean, gently used warm coats to support our coat drive program, between now and October 15th at all URW Branches. The process is simple: you drop off your extra coat(s) and URW takes care of the rest. All donated coats will be given to a local agency for distribution to local children in need. If you are a teacher and know of a child in your school that does not have a coat, please let us know. Our goal is that no child will be left out in the cold in the URW Community. ARIES
(March 21 to April 19)
The pitter-patter of all those Sheep feet means that you're out and about, rushing to get more done. That's fine, but slow down by the weekend so you can heed some important advice.

TAURUS
(April 20 to May 20)
You're in charge of your own destiny these days, and, no doubt, you'll have that Bull's-eye of yours right on target. But don't forget to make time for family events.

GEMINI
(May 21 to June 20)
Be prepared for a power struggle that you don't want. Look to the helpful folks around you for advice on how to avoid it without losing the important gains you've made.

CANCER
(June 21 to July 22)
Congratulations! You're about to claim your hard-earned reward for your patience and persistence. Now, go out and enjoy some fun and games with friends and family.

LEO
(July 23 to August 22)
The Big Cat might find it difficult to shake off that listless feeling. But be patient. By week's end, your spirits will perk up and you'll be your perfectly purring self again.

VIRGO
(August 23 to September 22)
A problem with a co-worker could prove to be a blessing in disguise when a superior steps in to investigate and discovers a situation that could prove helpful to you.

LIBRA
(September 23 to October 22)
This is a favorable time to move ahead with your plans. Some setbacks are expected, but they're only temporary. Pick up the pace again and stay with it.

SCORPIO
(October 23 to November 21)
Your creativity is recognized and rewarded. So go ahead and claim what you've earned. Meanwhile, that irksome and mysterious situation soon will be resolved.

SAGITTARIUS
(November 22 to December 21)
A new associate brings ideas that the wise Sagittarian quickly will realize can benefit both of you. Meanwhile, someone from the workplace makes an emotional request.

CAPRICORN
(December 22 to January 19)
It might be a good idea to ease up on that hectic pace and spend more time studying things you'll need to know when more opportunities come later in November.

AQUARIUS
(January 20 to February 18)
A relatively quiet time is now giving way to a period of high activity. Face it with the anticipation that it will bring you some well-deserved boons and benefits.

PISCES
(February 19 to March 20)
Go with the flow, or make waves? It's up to you. Either way, you'll get noticed. However, make up your own mind. Don't let anyone tell you what choices to make.

BORN THIS WEEK:
You like to examine everything before you agree to accept what you're told. Your need for truth keeps all those around you honest.

In Loving Memory of my Brother on His Anniversary

— Robert Lee Ayers —
 3-21-57 - 10-17-94

Thinking of you brother, the day you went away. Today, like many other days, brings special thoughts of you of happy times we shared, and caring things you used to do. And once more, it's a reminder that life's road is sometimes rough because the time we shared just wasn't long enough. For you were someone special who was thought of highly, and will always be remembered with affection, warmth, and love. So sending thoughts to Heaven on the day you went away and hope you know you're missed more than words could ever say. There are no words to ease my pain, my sadness, and my grief. For love is everlasting, and so are my memories, your legacy that's always there to light the way for me. You celebrate your special day with God and the angels, mom, dad, and Carrol Wayne. I feel your presence with me and we will see each other on that glorious day in Heaven. We can all rejoice and be together in God's castle. Loving and sadly missing you brother. Will see you on the other side of the beautiful shore at the pearly gates. Til we meet again.....

Love,
 Carolyn & Jerry

"Men Will Be Men... Or Will They?"

As usual, it seems I am thinking a bit outside the box. I am quietly watching the Trump crude comments/hypocritical pseudo liberal outrage/comparison to Bill Clinton's abhorrent and predatory behavior through the years, and as I do my mind is turned completely away from politics and on to what I view as a much more pressing societal issue. I am thinking of the mentality being verbally expressed that "men will be men." You could fill in the blank on either side of that "will be" with so many things that people often say: boys will be boys, girls will be girls, kids will be kids, etc.

I understand what people mean in the political context when they are currently saying that. They mean well, and many are great people, I am convinced of that. And I am not at all trying to slight anyone or hurt any feelings. Nor does anything that I am about to say have anything to do with whether or not a person should still support/vote for/withdraw support/not vote for Donald Trump. Again, this is not a political column.

Men will be men. That statement is an implied universal absolute. It is an indication that all men are lewd and somewhat debauched and at some point will behave accordingly. It is also a statement that gives men license to do so. If men will be men, then there really is no need to behave otherwise.

"Men will be men" therefore becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy. It actually helps men to behave badly since they are basically given a free pass for it. It is in their DNA, how can they do otherwise?

 So let me say it. Not all "men will be men."

Men do not have to behave badly, and many choose not to do so. Men can be saved, men can be filled with the Holy Spirit, men can obey the command of Romans 13:14 to not make any provision for the flesh to fulfill the lust thereof.

Little boys ought to be taught early that they have a responsibility and the ability to do right, and that they will be expected to do so.

There are some men out there who are base and boorish. There are also some men out there who are godly, kind, and classy. There are men who will make lewd comments when they think that they are speaking in private. There are also men who would never dream of making lewd comments even when they are speaking in private.

All men have a sin nature, yes. All men will have to fight and struggle against lust. It is for that reason that the biblical command for a woman to be dressed in modest apparel is as much a benefit to men as it is to women. But though all men have a sin nature and will have to fight and struggle against lust, some men actually place a priority on winning that fight and struggle.

Some men will fornicate with interns in the Oval Office, leaving a stained dress as a legacy.

Some men will maintain proper boundaries and professionalism no matter where their office is.

Some men will pursue married women and be vulgar in their conversations and be forced to apologize 11 years later.

Some men will emulate Joseph and run from all such temptation.

Some men will use high offices as a means of coercion to sexually assault many women, leaving their wives to cover for them.

Some men keep themselves only to their wives, producing happy wives who never have anything to cover for.

What I am saying is, not all men settle for being "men." Some are not satisfied unless they can be decent, classy men.

Sir, whoever you are, be a decent, classy man.

1 Samuel 9:6 says, "And he said unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God, and he is an honourable man..."

That should not just be able to be said of a man of God in the sense of a man who is in the ministry; it ought to be able to be said of every man who claims to be a follower of Christ.

SENIOR NEWS LINE

by Matilda Charles

Seniors as Roommates

There are things to be said for taking on a roommate when we're single seniors. Topping the list of positives is that expenses can be shared, which means you could end up in a home and neighborhood that is nicer than one you can afford on your own -- or that you can keep your own home and not need to downsize. Duties around the house can be shared. There's someone there when you come home, and someone to go with you to events. Socially, you might even double the size of your network. Your roommate will be there to walk and feed your dog if you go away. If you fall or are ill, someone else is nearby to get help.

The way to start thinking about this is to ask yourself if you have room for someone else, or if you'd need to move in with a roommate. At the very least, you'll need a bedroom and private bath for each person. Your next step will be to seek out others who are in a shared accommodation situation and ask a lot of questions. You might discover that you're a good candidate for a successful sharing: Are you flexible and social, and don't have a strong need for lots of privacy? Do you like being around other people much of the time? Are you able to set clear expectations?

Go online to search for information on seniors sharing housing. Do a lot of reading, check local resources for more information and decide if shared accommodation is something you want to consider.

Here's another biggie: It's thought that those who live with others live longer and are generally healthier and happier.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

IVF For Wounded Vets

For 24 years there has been a ban on the Department of Veterans Affairs paying for fertility treatments for veterans who have suffered reproductive injuries and catastrophic wounds in combat, typically caused by IEDs. Now that ban has been reversed ... temporarily. Until now, in-vitro fertilization (IVF) was banned, likely by conservatives who objected to the fact that sometimes an embryo is lost in the process of implanting it in the mother. In fact, the odds are against success in many IVF attempts. In 2012, the Department of Defense decided to support IVF, but only for active duty and only for a short time after discharge. But veterans whose injuries are severe aren't immediately in the frame of mind to start families. Often they're just wondering how they're going to survive, or learn to brush their teeth, or sit up in a wheelchair. It's only later, when they're stable, that thoughts of a family enter the picture. Many veterans and spouses have tried IVF at their own considerable expense, which can exceed $12,000 per attempt, taking their savings and money from relatives and friends to try to do just one normal thing: have a child. Sometimes the male veteran's injuries are so severe that they also suffer from low sperm count, which complicates the problem. Now, although the VA will pay for IVF and other reproductive treatments for injured veterans, there's a time limit: two years, with the money coming from the overall VA budget. At that point the VA will review and consider whether to continue and who's going to pay for it. A salute to Sen. Patty Murray (D-Wash.) for her long, hard struggle in pushing this bill. In the end, it got tucked into a bill before Congress to keep the government running until December.

1. Which Elvis sound-alike released "You Don't Know What You've Got" and when?
2. The Routers had just one song hit the Top 20. What was it?
3. Name the first single recorded by the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band.
4. Who penned and recorded "The Show Must Go On"?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "Now the only thing a gambler needs is a suitcase and a trunk."

Answers

1. Ral Donner, in 1961. Donner provided voice-over for the film "This Is Elvis" after The King's death.
2. "Let's Go (Pony)," in 1962. The song is a fave of cheerleading squads because the "clap-clap-clap" is a crowd energizer.
3. "Buy for Me the Rain," in 1967. A few dozen musicians have been in the lineup over the years, but the band is still touring.
4. Leo Sayer, in 1973.
5. "The House of the Rising Sun," most famously by the Animals in 1964. The song likely began as a 16th-century ballad. Various versions have been released over the years, including one by Woodie Guthrie in 1941. But it was the Animals' version (done in one take) that sent the song to the top of the charts.

Welcome to Lennox Valley, my hometown!

Kevin Slimp's
The Good Folks of Lennox Valley

Pre-election parties highlight disparities

With seven days remaining until the mayoral "Race of the Century," groups gathered throughout Lennox Valley to cheer on their candidates.

"Silver Tongue" Dick Bland held his campaign gala in the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall, where 200 supporters gathered to celebrate his upcoming victory. Red, white and blue streamers hung throughout the room, alongside photos of Bland glued to letter-size sheets of red, white and blue construction paper. All who gathered knew Silver Tongue had at least two advantages in the race. First, he hadn't angered many good folks over the past four years, which was quite the accomplishment for an incumbent in the Valley. If it hadn't been for the furor over egg prices and the Federal Reserve System, folks would have been hard-pressed to name any issue that divided the community over the previous four years.

Bland's second advantage was self-evident. Everyone in the room was quite certain that God was on Dick's side. After all, he was a loyal church-goer, with 17 years of Sunday School perfect attendance pins to show for it. With God on his side, the mayor was a shoo-in.

The gala began with a somber yet powerful prayer by the church's pastor, Brother Billy Joe Prather. That was followed by a rousing rendition of "Onward Christian Soldiers," sung by the attendees and accompanied by Loraine Sutherland, First Baptist Church pianist.

Two miles away, on Highway 11, there was another celebration taking place. The VFW was the perfect spot for Raymond Cooper's "Campaign Bash," as he had referred to it during his radio talk show for the past five days. There were no prayers at Raymond's celebration. There were no choirs or hymns. There were, however, tipsy veterans mixing alongside Raymond's most fervent supporters. And, instead of hymns, the two cracked speakers in the jukebox blared "All My Exes Live in Texas." To be fair, there were a few inebriated celebrants singing along.

Juliet Stoughten, known until recently as "Claire" to the few folks she had met in the Valley, held a less animated event than her opponents. Supported by her friend and pastor, Sarah Hyden-Smith, along with Iris Long, editor of The Hometown News, Juliet listened as the two of them discussed campaign strategy, all the while knowing her chances of winning were someplace between slim and none.

Fortunately, Iris and Sarah were able to convince Juliet not to make the annual First Baptist Church Men's Breakfast and Turkey Shoot an issue in the campaign. Long shared that she planned to endorse a candidate in the upcoming edition of The Hometown News, and pancakes and turkeys didn't make for a suitable campaign platform.

Other than a story announcing Juliet's campaign in the previous edition of the paper, there had been little notice of her candidacy. Cooper, obviously aware her chances of winning were miniscule, ignored Juliet's campaign after initially reacting to the news when she entered the race. "Silver Tongue" seemed content to focus on his main adversary, Raymond Cooper.

With Cooper running on the slogan, "In your heart, you know he's right," borrowed from Barry Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign, and Bland sticking with the rallying cry from his first race, "Stand with Bland," Juliet needed a catchy and memorable slogan, something to cause voters to recognize she was a viable candidate.

That's when it came to her – "Vote for the excellent, egg-citing candidate, Juliet Stoughten!" "That's funny," quipped Sarah.

"I love it," Iris chimed in. "It's funny, and it reminds voters of Raymond's involvement in the egg scandal."

Four hours later, reading over their notes one last time, Iris declared, "It just might work."

Meanwhile, Cooper acted as though he hadn't a care in the world as Juliet's troops discussed campaign strategy.

All the while, Raymond laughed and danced with his adoring fans as George Strait sang, "And that's why I hang my hat in Tennessee."

Moments in time THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Nov. 6, 1558, Thomas Kyd is baptized in London. Kyd created the "revenge play," which gave rise to tragedies like William Shakespeare's "Hamlet." Kyd's "The Spanish Tragedie," or "Hieronimo Is Mad Again," became the most popular play in England during its day.

* On Nov. 1, 1800, John Adams moves into White House in the final year of his only term as president. Although Adams was initially enthusiastic about the presidential mansion, he and Abigail soon found it to be cold and damp during the winter.

* On Nov. 3, 1883, Black Bart makes his last stagecoach robbery. When guards spotted gun barrels sticking out of nearby bushes, they handed over their strong box. The "rifle barrels" turned out to be sticks tied to branches.

* On Nov. 5, 1895, attorney George Selden wins U.S. Patent No. 549,160 for an "improved road engine" powered by a "liquid-hydrocarbon engine of the compression type." With that, as far as the government was concerned, George Selden had invented the car -- though he had never built a single one.

* On Nov. 2, 1912, the XIT Ranch of Texas, once among the largest ranches in the world, sells its last head of cattle. At its peak, the XIT, owned by Chicago capitalists, had more than 160,000 head of cattle, employed 150 cowboys and encompassed nearly 3 million acres.

* On Oct. 31, 1926, Harry Houdini, the most celebrated magician and escape artist of the 20th century, dies of peritonitis in a Detroit hospital. Twelve days earlier, Houdini had been punched twice in the stomach, rupturing his appendix.

* On Nov. 4, 1990, "Dances With Wolves," a film about a Civil War-era soldier and a group of Sioux Indians, premieres in Los Angeles. The film, starring Kevin Costner, was a surprise box-office success and earned 12 Academy Award nominations.

Q: I will admit, but only to you, that one of my guilty pleasures is "Fuller House." I honestly couldn't wait for it to come to Netflix once it was announced, and now I can't wait for more. There will be a season two, right? Surely lots of people feel the same way as I do about the show. -- Dani T., via email
 A: Oddly enough, a lot of people do, including quite a few of my friends and relatives -- if their Facebook feeds are any indication (I'm looking at you, cousin Nicole!). Netflix is dropping the second season of "Fuller House" on Dec. 9. You'll have 13 more episodes with which to sate your guiltiest of pleasures. And even though D.J. (played by Candace Cameron Bure) opted not to choose between Steve and Matt for the first season's finale, don't think that either of them will go gently into that good night. The actors who play them -- Scott Weinger and John Brotherton, respectively -- have been bumped up from recurring- to main-character status. In more "House" news, Dave Coulier (who plays Uncle Joey) will be directing at least one episode, judging by Instagram post from Jodi Sweetin (who plays Stephanie Tanner). And, of course, Andrea Barber will return as Kimmy Gibbler. And season two will be filled with guest spots for '90s icons: boy band New Kids on the Block -- Joey McIntyre, Danny Wood, and Jordan and Jonathan Knight, sans Donnie Wahlberg (either he's too busy with CBS's "Blue Bloods," or he has more sense than the rest of the Kids) -- as well as Hal Sparks, who's replacing Jason Marsden as D.J.'s ex-boyfriend Nelson. The "holiday themed" season will feature Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Eve episodes.

 Q: I love the FXX show "You're the Worst." I know I've seen the actor who plays Jimmy somewhere before. Can you help? -- Tina T., Birmingham, Alabama
 A: Chris Geere, who plays the incredibly obtuse, narcissistic yet undeniably lovable novelist Jimmy Shive-Overly in the wonderfully ribald FX comedy series, is perhaps best known for playing Prince Edward in the third and fourth "The Prince and Me" movies. Across the Pond, he's best known as Matt Willding from "Waterloo Road," where he co-starred on seasons three, four and seven.

 Q: Last summer there was a show called "Proof." A man asked a doctor to help him determine if there is an afterlife. Will it be coming back for another season? I loved that show and looked forward it coming back this summer, but it did not. -- Linda M., via email
 A: TNT canceled the supernatural drama starring Jennifer Beals, Matthew Modine, Joe Morton, Edi Gathegi and Callum Blue after only one season. I loved Callum Blue in "Dead Like Me," so I was especially excited to see him show up in "Proof." But, alas, 10 episodes are all we'll get of this innovative drama.

"Community Pharmacy Downtown Convenience"

* "I am a senior on a budget, but I love to get presents for people. Throughout the year, I have a small weekly amount I set aside for 'fun shopping,' and I hit the clearance sections of department stores. I have found nice stationary items for less than a dollar and quality children's clothes for two or three dollars for a whole outfit. I always buy the size I would be buying at the holidays or the child's birthday, and I give large for less! Plus, it's a great way to spend time, since I have a lot more of that than I have dollars." -- L.A. in Georgia

* If you have ever had a tough time threading a needle, try this trick. Spritz the end of the thread with a shot of hairspray. It makes the thread stiffer, and it goes right through with no fuss.

* "To make a soft pocket for cell phones or small tablets, get a couple of thin, square oven mitts at the dollar store. Sew three edges together and it's ready! Slip electronics inside for safe passage in purses and briefcases." -- R.Z. in Illinois

* Make a big batch of soup and store a week's worth for lunch in mason jars, which are easily stored in the fridge. Chicken noodle, tortilla, beef and vegetables, baked potato -- the possibilities are endless, and so delicious.

* "Paint a colorful pattern on a fabric dropcloth to use as an impromptu covering for a dirty or stained concrete patio. You can paint concrete, too, with specially made paint, but it's pretty easy to stash a dropcloth that will stay fresh and only come out when you have visitors." -- E.L. in Alabama

Piedmont Shopper FAVORITE RECIPES

Turkey Soup In "Acorn" Squash Tureens

- 6 acorn squash, each about 1 to 1 1/2 pounds
- 2 tablespoons olive oil, plus extra for oiling squash
- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/2 cup diced red bell pepper
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 pound cooked turkey meat, diced into bite-size pieces
- 1 1/2 cups cooked orzo or other small pasta, such as riso
- 1 1/2 cups turkey or chicken broth
- 2 cups cooked vegetables (corn, peas, carrots, potatoes, etc.)
- 1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese

- Heat oven to 375 F.
- Cut a small amount off the bottom tip to allow squash to stand upright, but don't cut a hole in the bottom. Cut a lid off the top of each squash and scoop out the seeds and fibers. Scrape away some of the flesh, especially around the top, to form a large, smooth inner cavity. Make sure to leave the shell at least 1-inch thick all around, without piercing it. Oil the squash inside and out, and season the inside with salt and pepper. Replace the lid.
- Place the squash on a baking sheet and bake until mostly cooked, but still firm enough to stand and act as the soup container, about 30 minutes. Do not over-bake. If a good deal of liquid gathers in the bottom, spoon it out and discard. Set the shells aside; they will stay warm on their own for a good while.
- Heat 2 tablespoons of the olive oil in a large pot over medium-high heat. Add the onion and cook for 2 to 3 minutes. Add the garlic, celery, bell pepper, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Stir in the turkey, cooked orzo, broth and cooked vegetables.
- Place the reserved acorn squash shells on a saucer or in a small bowl and fill them with the soup. Sprinkle with cheese and replace the lids. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

SOURDOUGH BREAD BOWLS
If you don't have any acorn squash on hand, a bread bowl made from a freshly baked, round loaf of sourdough bread is a wonderful substitute.

- 6 (about 6 inches wide) round loaves of sourdough bread
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic or garlic powder
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley

- Heat oven to 400 F. Using a serrated bread knife, slice off the top of the bread loaves. Using your fingers, pull the soft center of each loaf away from the shells. Leave a 1-inch thickness of soft bread dough around the inside of the crusts. Reserve the bread dough centers and freeze to use for breadcrumbs or croutons.
- Mix together the olive oil, garlic or garlic powder and parsley. Brush the inside of the bread bowls and the dough sides of the lids with olive oil mixture. Place bread bowls and lids on a baking sheet. Bake for 5 to 10 minutes until golden brown.
- Let bread bowls cool, and fill with the soup. Sprinkle with cheese and top with lids. Serve immediately.

Little Golden Books

Q: When I was a youngster in the 1940s, almost every birthday and Christmas would include at least two or three "Little Golden Books." My earliest one was "Baby's Book" published in 1942. Others are "Nursery Tales," "The Lively Little Rabbit," "Hansel and Gretel," "The Shy Little Kitten," "The Saggy Baggy Elephant" and "A Year in the City." All are in fair-to-good condition. Even though I have no intention of selling them, I am curious about current values. -- Lynda, Madison, Wisconsin

A: It is interesting to note that the Western Publishing, the parent company of Little Golden Books, started in a Racine, Wisconsin, basement. Edward Henry Wadewitz, a 30-year-old bookkeeper, purchased a small printing company in 1907 for $2,504, some of which he had borrowed from a brother. Throughout the 1920s and '30s, the company continued to prosper and grow. According to "Collecting Little Golden Books," by Steve Santi and published by Krause Books, the first Little Golden Books were published during the autumn of 1942. The first 10 titles are "Three Little Kittens," "Bedtime Stories," "The Alphabet A-Z," "Mother Goose," "Prayers for Children," "The Little Red Hen,"

"Nursery Songs," "The Pokey Little Puppy," "The Golden Book of Fairy Tales" and "Baby's Book." Values vary, but most of the early editions of the Little Golden Books from the 1940s seem to be valued in the $25-$100 range depending on both title and condition.

Q: I got married in 1958, and one of my wedding presents was a milk glass plate with a hand-painted apple in its center. It was identified as being made by Fenton glass. Does it have value? -- Betty, Hastings, Nebraska

A: Your milk glass plate should have a lacy-edge and was made during the mid-1950s. I found it referenced in "Fenton Glass" by Mark F. Moran, who believes your plate would retail for about $25.

Q: I have a large brass belt buckle that depicts Mickey Mouse and is marked "Hollywood, California, USA, 1937." What can you tell me about it? -- V.B., B.C., Canada

A: All authentic Disney items are marked as such. However, I cannot find your belt buckle in any of my Disney guides and believe it is probably a reproduction.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was Emily Post, arbiter of courtesy and expert on etiquette, who made the following sage observation: "Manners are a sensitive awareness of the feelings of others. If you have that awareness, you have good manners, no matter what fork you use."

* If you're planning on moving to Florida, keep in mind that in that state, it's illegal for a housewife to break more than three dishes in one day.

* It's a popular stereotype: a rejected lover sitting on a barstool, drinking to try to forget the heartbreak. The problem is, drinking isn't really an effective way to go about acquiring amnesia, even temporarily. Those who study such things say that imbibing alcohol can actually help people recall events that occurred just before they started drinking.

* A defense lawyer in a Canadian murder-for-hire case once argued that his client must be innocent -- because the defendant was useless. The attorney commented, "No one would hire him to cut the grass. Why would someone hire him to kill someone?" Nice try, but no luck: The man was convicted.

* There doesn't seem to be a clear explanation of why flies fly faster when they're in the sun than when they're in the shade.

* Twilight is often defined as the period of time when day is ending and night is beginning -- a pretty vague definition. There are more precise versions, though: Civil twilight is the time when streetlights come on, nautical twilight occurs when the horizon disappears, and astronomical twilight is when the faintest stars become visible.

Thought for the Day: "Science is built with facts as a house is with stones, but a collection of facts is no more a science than a heap of stones is a house."
-- Jules Henri Poincare
