At The Corral Gate

By Enola Gay

There's a season for everything. Right now, it's time for the big round ball in the county school districts. In Hopkins County, we keep possession and a firm hold on a proud heritage of boys and girls that love to play basketball, and play it well. We are going to brag a little bit on two more schools and their "royalty".

Saltillo Homecoming Court

"Clarissa Gamez, Saltillo Lions Homecoming Queen 2015 and her escort James Stretcher"

The Saltillo Lions Homecoming game and crowning was held on Friday Jan 30, 2015. The Varsity Lions won their game over Bloomberg 67-15, making them 7-1 in district. Following the game, the homecoming court was selected. Homecoming Queen is Senior Clarissa Gamez, daughter of Lalo and Chely Gamez. Clarissa is Captain of the Lady Lions Basketball team. Her escort was senior James Stretcher, son of Kelly and Paula Stretcher. Stretcher was also leading scorer in the game.

State Rings

Miller Grove High School's first ever Cross-Country State Championship Team was presented with state championship rings following the Homecoming ceremony Friday night at the Miller Grove High School Gymnasium. The purchasing of the rings was made possible by the generous donations of the community

An elderly country gentleman shared some of his wisdom with me the other day. He said, "The seasons have changed! Why, when I was a boy and my daddy planted our potatoes, it was always in mid-February. Winter would be coming to a close by then, because "winter" was in November and December. Our potatoes hardly ever rotted, and the ground wasn't too wet for English peas and other early stuff. The food tasted better too! Nope, nothing about gardening is like it used to be. The seasons have changed!". Well, I don't know how much truth that is....but I do believe that the ability to remember and reach back to our daddy's time and the prevailing wisdom people went by 100 years ago can teach us something. There's got to be more than a "seed" of truth down there among our "roots".

Til next week, count your blessings and do some good for somebody. I'll watch for you at the corral gate!

A BOOK ABOUT DOWN HOME COOKING

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

I have a good friend who makes wonderful chocolate chip cookies. She says she got the recipe from her grandmother. She keeps that recipe in a secret place in her kitchen. One day she was reading the recipe for chocolate cookies on a package of chocolate chips. It was exactly the same as her grandmother's recipe. I have since learned that happens a lot on everything from cakes to ice cream. A treasured recipe turns out to be one that anyone can have.

Mary Bonham of Sulphur Springs makes fabulous peanut brittle. I get a bunch of it every year. This year it was better than ever and I found it difficult to share. It was delicious. "I've been making peanut brittle for about fifty-five years," says Mary. "The recipe never changes. What works, you stay with it." Mary is not sure where she got the recipe, but it probably came from her mother. The recipe is in a cookbook she wrote last year titled Ms Mary's Down-Home Cookin'.

Mrs. Bonham, age 86, is a busy lady who says, "Sittin' at home is for the birds." She helped her husband in their company, J-B Weld and has been involved in numerous civic endeavors. She raised horses for a while and now she's into another type of livestock. "We buy and sell tiger-stripe cattle. They're a cross between a Hereford and a Brahma bull and have stripes that look kind of like a tiger. Some of them have more stripes than others and they're very hard to find."

A few years ago she started growing pecans and shelling them. "I've had the orchard for a number of years and it has about 400 trees now," she says. A couple of years ago she was wondering how she was going to get her pecans cracked. "I looked around and decided to buy some crackers and now I crack my own and crack for the public, also."

Mary is a good cook. "Mother taught me to cook on a wood stove when I was a little bitty girl. I would stand on an old apple box and she'd say, 'now Mary, you watch me and remember what I'm putting in this recipe' as she put the ingredients together. Later on I was amazed that I remembered so much of what she told me." After Mary started a family she enjoyed cooking some of her mother's recipes. When she carried a food item to a church social or other function, people always asked her for recipes.

So she decided to write a cookbook. "I started asking my brother and sister for some of their recipes and I used some that my mother had. I think there's 335 recipes in the book." It is divided into sections: appetizers and beverages, soups and salads, vegetables and side dishes, main dishes, breads and rolls, desserts, cookies and candy. It's available at 2777 I-30 N.E.S.R. in Sulphur Springs 75482. A portion of the proceeds of the book goes to Bright Star, a non-profit organization that supports and benefits children ages 5 to 18 with physical limitations.

That peanut brittle recipe is designed for the microwave.
