THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL
Maya gave Nicole some relationship advice about forgiving Zende and telling him the truth regarding the surrogacy. Katie had an ulterior motive when she checked in on Eric's recovery. Hoping that it was not too late to save Wyatt's marriage, Quinn extended an olive branch to Steffy attached to a rewarding career opportunity. Rick attempted to console Maya when she couldn't help but feel responsible for the problems between Zende and Nicole. Not everyone was on board as Quinn attempted to take the lead in preparing for the fashion show. When Katie paid another visit to Eric's home to thank him for his favor, he invited her to watch the show with him. Wait to See: Jealousy rears its ugly head in a new marriage.

Sonja Flemming/CBS
Mishael Morgan stars as "Hilary" on "The Young and The Restless"

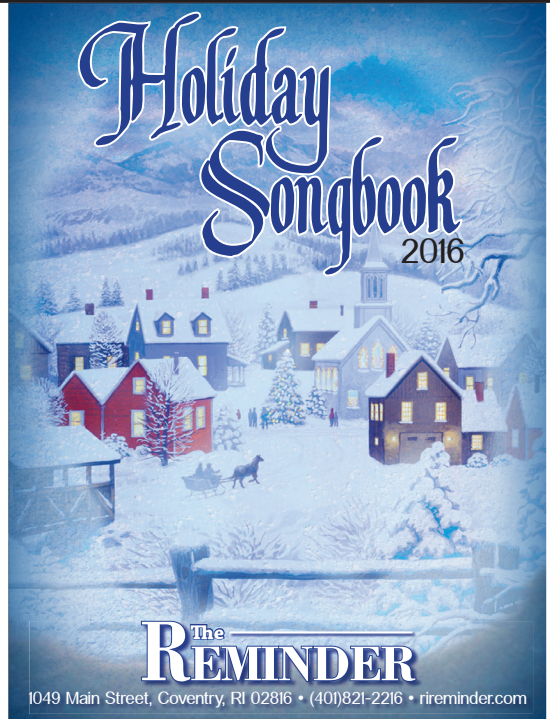

up with a new theory about Morgan's death. Franco comforted Liz after she received some upsetting news. Hayden stepped into the path of danger. Nelle made an ominous prediction about Carly. Finn and Laura jumped into action during a crisis. Obrecht was determined to take down Finn. Dillon comforted Kiki. Jordan and Andre witnessed a meeting that raised a few eyebrows. Hospital politics interfered with a medical emergency. Wait to See: Sonny makes a stunning confession.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES
Brady made a disturbing discovery about Theresa. Gabi came to Chad's rescue. Andre received some unsettling news from Laura. Steve proposed to Kayla. Hope and Andre made a deal. Sonny hired Paul to investigate the docks. Joey opened up to Steve about ending things with Jade. Brady and Theresa had a huge confrontation. Gabi arranged a welcome home party for JJ with Sonny, Paul and Chad. A mysterious woman arrived in Salem. Theo heard Valerie lie on the phone and was determined to figure out what was going on with her. Brady called Kimberly to see if there was any way she could help him deal with Theresa. Wait to See: Theresa is rushed to the hospital.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS
Victoria told Billy to stay out of her personal life. Later, Billy confided to Cane that he didn't like having Travis around his kids. Victor told Abby that he was using GC Buzz to do his dirty work. Cane struggled to balance work and family life after Charlie and Mattie complained about him not being around. Tension between Hilary and Mariah escalated, and Hilary was more determined than ever to find a juicy story for GC Buzz. Travis told Victoria that he was not going to live in Billy's shadow. Ashley scheduled a press conference to announce her new plan for Jabot. When Travis appeared too confident, Victor strongly reminded him that he needed to learn his place. Wait to See: Sharon takes her story public.

GENERAL HOSPITAL
Carly continued to rely on Nelle for support on the day of Morgan's funeral. Tracy witnessed a meeting that piqued her curiosity. Alexis's careless behavior led to some scary consequences. Sam and Jason came

Donna's Day

Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

Stuff That Matters

My 90-year-old mom recently passed away. We have valued tender days with our kids and friends, sharing meals and memories of her generous and full life.

Now conversations begin about what we do with her possessions. Over her latter years, she downsized from a house and yard to a townhome, then to a retirement community apartment, and recently to an "assisted living" room.

By the last move, she had eliminated all but a few things that really mattered to her. There's the hand-painted wooden candleholder that was tucked in her great-grandparents' trunk on their voyage from Sweden to America in the 19th century, a wedding gown and "going away" dress, artwork, confirmation Bible and the 1940s maple hutch where she happily displayed many of the keepers.

So, now what do we do? The keepsakes that survived the cuts can't stay in our garage forever.

Here are thoughts about stuff that matters, and what to do with it.

SHOW AND TELL

When Mom's recollection of times past were still sharp, I asked her to tell me the background stories of the precious stuff; things that have been silent reminders of what makes our family unique. As I typed away item by item on my laptop, she got lost in the memories, and I got a glimpse of her as not just my mother, but a woman with a life and history that fed into my own.

Thanks to the reminiscing, her grandchildren have an appreciation of heirlooms they now enjoy.

—Wondering about the "stuff" on the walls, shelves and in the cupboards of your childhood family home? Ask about it, and write about it. Now.

SHARE

Last Thanksgiving, before the pumpkin pie was served, I noticed a glimmer in the eyes of 95-year-old Aunt Lorraine as she stepped away from the long family table. She returned with gift bags for the adult nieces, nephews and grandkids, each containing an English bone china teacup. Once the rage in the 1950s, her collection now lives on in our homes. I've tucked an easy-care succulent in mine.

—As the holidays approach, skip the mall and give a family heirloom, make a family history photo book or scan tattered handwritten recipe cards and assemble a cookbook.

GIVE IT TIME

It's not easy knowing what to do with all of the stuff that mattered to a loved one. While deciding, I'll pack away items in bins, number the outsides and record the contents in my computer for easy retrieval when I am ready.

—Give yourself a time period, and if you don't think you'll use a "storeaway," let it go. Their favorite keepsakes don't have to be yours.

Novena to the Sacred Heart

I give thanks for the favor granted by the powerful Novena made to the Sacred Heart.

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be praised, adored and glorified through the whole world forever. Amen.

Say this little prayer (6) times a day for (9) consecutive days, your prayer will be answered before the 9th day, no matter how impossible it may seem to you.

Don't forget to thank the Sacred Heart.

Publication promised. Many favors received.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Prepping for winter

Clean and dry your breakable items, like terra-cotta pots or rain gauges, and bring them into a shed or garage before the first hard freeze settles in. Inventory all your tools, seeds, and other gardening items as you prepare them for winter storage - when someone asks you for holiday gift ideas, you can tell them what you need for gardening next year.

Cranberry Mostarda

This jammy, mustard-seed-spiked condiment from chef and butcher Chris Eley is terrific served alongside everything from grilled sausage to roast turkey.

- 2½ tablespoon yellow mustard seeds
- 3/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 1 slice fresh ginger
- 5 whole cloves
- 1½ cup sugar
- 1 cup Champagne vinegar
- 3/4 cup pure cranberry juice
- 1 tablespoon mustard powder
- 2 cup dried cranberries
- 1 teaspoon orange zest
- Salt

1. In a small bowl, soak the mustard seeds in the wine at room temperature overnight.
 2. Wrap the cinnamon stick, ginger and cloves in a piece of cheesecloth and tie closed. In a saucepan, whisk the mustard seeds, wine, sugar, vinegar, cranberry juice and mustard powder and bring to a boil. Add the spice bundle and cook over moderate heat, without stirring, until the syrup coats the back of a spoon, 25 minutes. Discard the spice bundle.
 3. Stir in the cranberries and orange zest, and let the mostarda cool completely. Season with salt and serve; stir in water by the tablespoon if it seems too thick. Makes 2 cups.
- TIP: The mostarda can be refrigerated for up to 1 week.

Making The Grade: Getting High School Seniors Ready For College

(NAPS)—Nearly 17 million high school seniors graduate each year, the U.S. Department of Education estimates, and many plan to attend college. But are they all really college-ready?

A few simple steps before you go to college can help make sure you do well when you get there.

She offers the following advice to high school seniors and adult learners heading off to college:

- Use summer months to take courses in English and mathematics to refresh high school level skills. Courses can be taken at community colleges or via online professional development resources such as University of Phoenix's continuing education programs, Udemy, Straighter-Line and Lynda.com.
- Don't overburden your first semester course load. There are always opportunities to add courses deeper into your college career or over summer and winter intersessions.
- Team up with your college adviser your first semester. College advisers are available to discuss your goals and a graduation timeline and can offer guidance on the best ways to manage coursework.
- Attend skills center sessions for assistance in coursework and free proofreading.
- Organize study groups with peers to work together on complex materials and to gain different perspectives to approaching assignments.
- Take advantage of college tools and resources. Computers, Internet access, office hours and a study location free of distractions are all things students can access that affect student success. When you couple this with healthy organizational and study habits, students can improve their chances of having a positive academic journey.

When Disaster Strikes: Helping Kids In The Aftermath

by Jamie Seligman, LMSW-C, BCD
Program Project Officer
Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration

(NAPS)—Hurricanes, tornadoes, wildfires, earthquakes, mass violence, or acts of terrorism—disasters can happen at any time, but you can help your kids deal with them. While adults focus on preparing for potential threats or trying to restore safety and resume a normal life in the aftermath, kids often try to make sense of what may seem utterly senseless. The trauma of a disaster or other type of emergency can bring up different feelings and emotions; it can also be a teachable moment for children and their families to come together to talk and support each other.

For adults, it's important to recognize the effect that traumatic events can have on mood, stress level, job attendance and performance, and routine. The disruption caused by natural and man-made disasters is common and often difficult to manage. Adults may try to cope with alcohol, by isolating themselves or by exhibiting outbursts of anger, which may be uncharacteristic. Because children often model adult behavior, self-care is especially important. Finding healthful ways to get through difficult, stressful experiences can set the stage for healthy dialogue and support for the whole family.

There are some key tips for parents, teachers and other adults on how to approach the conversation:

- Talk. It can be difficult to talk about what's happening but kids need to share what they're feeling, thinking, seeing and hearing. Children need to know there are no bad emotions and that it's normal to have a range of reactions. They may also bring up fears or concerns that are unrelated to the crisis. Staying connected with open communication will provide opportunity for deeper understanding and can help identify a need for extra reassurance and support.
- Be honest. While children look to adults for answers, during times of crisis it can be difficult to know what's happening and when. It's important to be honest and open, while being reassuring and speaking at a level that the child can understand.
- Balance with the positive. While focusing on the loss, grief and distress experienced in times of crisis is normal in the aftermath, it will be beneficial to help children also identify and see the good that is happening around them. Emergency responders, volunteers and others in the community who mobilize are great examples of resilience and strength and can provide a sense of hope and healing.

After a disaster or crisis, kids need to share what they are feeling, thinking, seeing and hearing. Staying connected with open communication will provide an opportunity for deeper understanding and healing.

• Return to routine. Getting back to a schedule, in which kids can engage with friends, teachers and other mentors, can be very helpful. People they interact with on a daily basis are a support network, so maintaining those connections and daily activities can keep children feeling connected and safe in familiar surroundings.

• Limit media exposure. It's normal to want lots of information during and after a disaster. Staying tuned in to the latest news can help to bring back a sense of control and awareness but it can also be a little overwhelming. For parents, it's especially important to limit exposure and to be present when kids are watching, listening or reading about an event. News coverage can often bring about new questions for children, so being there to discuss what's happening will be important.

• Reinforce peace and tolerance. Things can be chaotic during and after a crisis. While the news media or people interviewed may highlight or blame a particular ethnic or cultural group's actions, it is important to keep a peaceful and inclusive perspective with kids. Be sensitive to cultural, ethnic, religious or other experiences, as they can also influence how people respond differently in times of crisis.

• Make a crisis plan. Times of disaster or emergency can highlight what people might do differently or better to stay connected, respond together and to feel prepared for the future. Developing a crisis plan for your family gives everyone something to do and participate in and will help you all feel on the same page about each person's role and responsibility. Kids should also be encouraged to discuss their safety concerns, including those they may have for extended family, friends and family pets.

Because each stage of a child's development offers new opportunities to learn and process stressful events, it's important to know what's manageable for a child at a specific age. To help, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) offers age-specific information on how kids respond to trauma and tips on how to talk about what's happening during a crisis. "Tips for Talking With and Helping Children and Youth Cope After a Disaster or Traumatic Event: A Guide for Parents, Caregivers, and Teachers" is at <http://store.samhsa.gov/product/Tips-for-Talking-With-and-Helping-Children-and-Youth-Cope-After-a-Disaster-or-Traumatic-Event-A-Guide-for-Parents-Caregivers-and-Teachers/SMA12-4732>.

Kids are resilient but some may need a little extra support to navigate through a difficult disaster or crisis. If kids are struggling to sleep, aren't connecting with friends, having a difficult time talking about what they're feeling or have a sudden shift with their grades at school, the trauma of what's happened may require more attention. Seeking assistance from a counselor or mental health professional may be helpful.

"Crises can take a heavy toll on people and communities, including on their emotional health and well-being," explained Kana Enomoto, SAMHSA's acting administrator. "Although most people bounce back, others may need extra assistance to cope and recover." This is true for children, just as it is for adults.

To learn more about some of the warning signs of emotional distress, visit www.samhsa.gov/find-help/disaster-distress-helpline/warning-signs-risk-factors. To help you find a nearby mental health provider, SAMHSA has a Behavioral Health Treatment Services Locator at <https://findtreatment.samhsa.gov>.

Hints For Homeowners

Put A Great New Face On Your Fireplace

A new look for your fireplace can help you warm up to the room all over again.

(NAPS)—Here's a hot tip from decorating experts: A small change can have a big effect on the look of a room.

For example, consider re-facing your fireplace. It's as easy to do as changing your kitchen countertops—and with today's natural thin stone veneers, it's also cost effective. That's because when you're looking for materials that are beautiful, durable and versatile, natural thin stone veneer can be a surprisingly affordable choice, which can even help to raise the resale value of your home.

From the Pyramids to the Parthenon, natural stone has long provided aspirational design and durability. Now, natural thin stone veneer can be cut from 100 percent natural quarried stone...so even a thin slice offers some of the same durability, low maintenance and aesthetic qualities of the thicker version. In addition, natural thin stone veneer is widely available.

Because of its reduced weight, natural thin stone veneer is extremely versatile. It requires no additional foundation support and installs, often easily, over existing rigid materials such as brick and concrete block, turning a small remodeling project into one with impressive design results. Ninety-degree angles that can be cut from full-thickness stones are used in corner applications, concealing the true thickness of the stone. The overall cost-effective result is a unique fireplace that looks like a traditional full-thickness installation.

Natural thin stone veneer is available in a multitude of stone types, including limestone, granite, bluestone, sandstone and quartzite, and is available in a wide variety of styles, textures, cuts and colors, making it easy to integrate into existing design schemes from modern to traditional.

What's more, unlike its man-made counterparts, natural thin stone veneer doesn't fade in color, so your fireplace will maintain its lasting beauty.

Because custom or one-of-a-kind products often come with a hefty price tag, homeowners are generally unwilling to splurge on renovations. However, because stone is a natural, nonmanufactured product, no two pieces are exactly alike—offering a custom look every time. Natural thin stone veneer makes this opportunity one step more convenient, as it gives you the custom-made look in a most cost-efficient application.

For those who are eco-conscious, natural thin stone veneer offers many sustainable attributes. It is also virtually maintenance-free, which will allow you to spend less time worrying and more time enjoying your "new" fireplace with family and friends.

Flower Garden Ashtray

Q. I have an ashtray that I have almost tossed several times, since no one in my family smokes and I have no use for it. An antique dealer identified the pattern for me as "Flower Garden with Butterflies," a pattern I can't find in my reference books. Can you help me?
 —Martha, St. Charles, Missouri

A. "Flower Garden with Butterflies," aka "Butterflies and Roses," was introduced in about 1928 by the U.S. Glass Company of Pittsburgh. Although you didn't specify the color of your ashtray, it was issued in amber, black, blue, blue-green, canary yellow, crystal, green and pink.

According to Ellen T. Schroy, a Depression Glass expert and author of "Warman's Depression Glass: A Value and Identification Guide," an ashtray in amber or crystal is worth about $175; in blue-green, green or pink, $185; and blue or canary yellow, $325.

Q. In November 1982, I ordered a complete set of Princess of Wales 21st birthday greeting stamps with Crown Agents brochure from Good Housekeeping magazine. They include images of her, her wedding dress and the 21st birthday greeting to Princess Diana. Do you have any idea of their worth?
 —Lisa, Princeton, Indiana

A. There were dozens of stamp sets issued to commemorate the 21st birthday of Princess Di, and I think I found your set on eBay. It features 17 stamps in a special Crown Agents folder and is offered for $3.

Q. During the 1970s, I was given an annual plate issued by M.I. Hummel. It is "Apple Tree Girl." I have discovered the original issue price was $50, but I suspect it is worth much more after the passage of several decades. —Carol, Kansas City, Missouri

A. Your plate is HUM 269 and was issued in 1976. According to the "M.I. Hummel" price guide, by Robert L. Miller and published by Portfolio Press, your plate is valued in the $50-$75 range.

Q. I have inherited an antique Valentine collection and would like to get it evaluated. —Margaret, Lakeland, Florida

A. I suggest you contact the National Valentine Collectors Association, P.O. Box 647, Franklin Lakes, N.J. 07417; www.valentinecollectors.com.

Who Says You Can't Go Home?

We've all heard about the person who had to leave town in order to get people to buy what he was selling. It's a story as old as time itself, stretching back to biblical times and Jesus of Nazareth. More recently (and more on topic), we know certain things had to occur in the primordial soup that was unorganized sports in past centuries in order for there to be a chain reaction that would bring forth life to our favorite games. Sometimes the story ends on a happy note. The once-banished player and jilted team make up with one another, and the player comes back and they win championships together, and all is forgotten. Take Michael Jordan, for example. When baseball wasn't working out, the Chicago Bulls kept the bench warm for him, and he responded by adding to their collection of brass trophies. Across town, however, not so good. Greg Maddux left the Cubs, was the best ever in Atlanta, and came back to the Cubs, where he was not. Which brings us to Cleveland. Did you know the Browns are the only major professional sports team in America named after a singular person? Paul Brown wanted to name the team "Panthers," but that name had already been used by a former semi-pro team in the area, so he acquiesced. He had to figure that would make for good job security. Don't let the Browns' little Keebler Elf-looking mascot fool ya (what is that thing anyway?). Brown, while popular enough to get teams named after him, was one tough hombre. He won in high school, he won in college, he won when he coached Ohio State University, and he won seven championships with the team (three pre-Super Bowl NFL) bearing his name. Then owner Art Modell dumped him in 1963 for being, among other things, too rigid and stubborn about personnel issues. Brown left Cleveland. He remained, however, the winningest Brown of all time. Brown never returned, but he didn't stray far from home. He started the Cincinnati Bengals (what is it with the non-indigenous cats in Ohio?) as part owner and head coach, and was the team's president until his death in 1991. The Browns left Cleveland, went to Baltimore and became the Ravens, and a new team became the old Browns. The Bengals changed the name of their stadium to Paul Brown, and in so doing confused just about everybody outside of Ohio. Which brings us to LeBron James, the King. The forward from Ohio who left the Cleveland Cavaliers in such, well ... cavalier fashion for Miami, where he won championships. He now returns as a sort of prodigal son, welcomed with open arms. Who says you can't go home again? Aside from the Kansas City Royals third-base coach in the last inning of the last game of the World Series, I mean. LeBron James did, and Cleveland would like to see what he's brought back with him. Mark Vasto is a veteran sportswriter who lives in Kansas City.

Strange BUT TRUE

- It was 19th-century British historian and politician Thomas Babington Macaulay who made the following sage observation: "The measure of a man's real character is what he would do if he knew he would never be found out."
- Until nylon came to the fore, the most popular material used on the business end of toothbrushes — starting way back in 16th-century China — was hog bristles.
- Among other artifacts, archaeologists found a bronze razor in King Tut's tomb. It was reportedly still sharp enough to use for shaving.
- Those who study such things claim to have found the best way to climb stairs: Evidently, you should exhale before you begin the ascent, inhale for the duration of the first two steps, exhale during the next two steps, and repeat until you've reached the top. Of course, it's interesting to note that what "best" means in this situation isn't clearly defined.
- According to pollsters, when divorced people take surveys, women are much more likely than men to report that they're happy about the breakup.
- The hyoid, found in your throat, is the only bone in the human body that is not connected to any other bone. Its purpose is to anchor the muscles of your tongue.
- There are 12 sovereign nations in South America, and Brazil shares a border with all but two of them: Chile and Ecuador.
- Founding Father Benjamin Franklin's final public act was to write a letter to Congress urging the abolition of slavery.

Grilling Expert Shares Number One Tip For Tailgating Success

(NAPS)—With tailgating season in full swing, acclaimed grilling expert and New York Times best-selling cookbook author Jamie Purviance says game day grilling should be low stress, yet full of flavor. His Chicken Nachos with Chipotle Cream Sauce are ideal for a tailgate party as you can smoke the chicken the day before, leaving more time to relax and celebrate with friends.

"Preparation is key for a successful parking lot party," says Purviance, author of "Weber's New American Barbecue." "The majority of steps for this Chicken Nachos recipe involve smoking the chicken—which can be done in advance. When the grill is fired up on game day, you're less than 10 minutes away from delicious smoky, cheesy nachos."

Purviance infuses ethnic flair into traditional barbecue with fresh, modern flavors.

1. Soak the wood chips in water for at least 30 minutes.
2. Whisk the chipotle cream ingredients, including any juices remaining from mincing the chipotle chile. Refrigerate until ready to use.
3. Prepare the grill for indirect cooking over medium heat (350° to 450° F).
4. Mix the rub ingredients. Season the chicken breasts all over and between the skin and meat with the rub.
5. Drain and add the wood chips to the charcoal or to the smoker box of a gas grill, following manufacturer's instructions, and close the lid. When smoke appears, grill the chicken, skin side down first, over indirect medium heat, with the lid closed, until the juices run clear and the meat is no longer pink at the bone, 25 to 30 minutes, turning once when the skin releases easily from the cooking grates. Remove the chicken from the grill and, when cool enough to handle, shred into pieces, discarding the skin and bones.

- Smoked Chicken Nachos With Chipotle Cream And Avocado
 Serves: 6 | Prep Time: 20 Minutes | Grilling Time: 32 To 39 Minutes | Special Equipment: 2 Large Handfuls Mesquite Or Hickory Wood Chips, Large Grill-Proof Pan Or Disposable Foil Pan
- Chipotle Cream
 1 cup sour cream
 1 canned chipotle chile pepper in adobo sauce, minced
 1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
 1/4 teaspoon kosher salt
- Rub
 2 teaspoons kosher salt
 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
 1 teaspoon ground cumin
 1 teaspoon paprika
 1/2 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
- 4 chicken breast halves (with bone and skin), each about 8 ounces
 12 ounces corn tortilla chips
 14 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, coarsely grated
 4 scallions, cut into thin slices
 2 tablespoons finely chopped jalapeño chile peppers
 1 large Hass avocado, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
 Juice of 1/2 lime
 1/4 cup roughly chopped fresh cilantro leaves
 Store-bought salsa (optional)

This is a fun way to use up leftover barbecued chicken or turkey. Who doesn't love some cheesy, meaty nachos with smoky sour cream and fresh avocado? It's worth smoking some spice-rubbed chicken breasts just for this recipe. Using bone-in rather than boneless chicken breasts requires a longer cooking time, but there's a dividend: the meat has more time to absorb the flavorful smoke.

6. Increase the temperature of the grill to high heat (450° to 500° F).
7. Spread half of the tortilla chips into a large grill-proof pan. Distribute half each of the cheese, scallions, jalapeño, and chicken over the chips. Repeat with another layer.
8. Place the pan with the nachos over indirect high heat, close the lid, and cook until the cheese is melted and the chips are tinged golden brown, 7 to 9 minutes. Wearing insulated barbecue mitts or gloves, carefully transfer the pan to a heatproof surface. Top the nachos with the avocado and then drizzle with the chipotle cream and lime juice. Garnish with the cilantro. Serve hot with salsa, if desired.

Learning Pet CPR

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Several years ago, I lost one of my dogs, "Corny," to a sudden illness when he collapsed and stopped breathing. Not sure what to do, I rushed him to the nearby vet's office, but they were unable to revive him.

From that incident, I resolved never to feel so helpless if it should happen to one of my pets again. I learned the basics of pet CPR from that vet, and have since taken online courses to learn more and to stay up to date on changes in performing pet CPR. I urge every pet owner to become familiar with CPR for pets, whether their dog or cat or other pet is young or old. — Janine C., Chattanooga, Tennessee

DEAR JANINE: Thank you so much for sharing your experience. I know the loss of Corny must have been heart-wrenching ... it's incredibly difficult to lose a part of your family.

Learning CPR is indeed a way to bring a little more assurance to pet owners that they can do something when their pet falls ill. Performing CPR — breathing for your pet, performing chest compressions if the heart has stopped — during the rush to the emergency vet can make a big difference in the outcome.

CPR methods vary between species, of course, and between different sizes of pets. But there is good information to be found from places online like the AMVA (American Veterinary Medical Association), which offers a video tutorial. It's well worth your time to learn this lifesaving technique.

Send your questions and tips to ask@pawscorner.com.

HOLLYWOOD
by Tony Rizzo

John Goodman

HOLLYWOOD — In August, we told you not to believe those headlines in the tabloids claiming that Tom Hanks and Rita Wilson were having marital problems and getting a divorce. In early October, Star Magazine and the National Enquirer splashed headlines about their alleged impending divorce, and Tom and Rita's lawyers have made them print a retraction, under pressure.

Have you noticed there's never any dirt about Donald Trump in the tabloids? My inside source at American Media tells me that allegedly, Trump pays American Media — parent company for the Star, the National Enquirer, OK, The Globe and Radar on Line — $1 million a year NOT to write about him! And we all know a little hush money does a lot of talking!

Is the end in sight for reality TV? The 29th season of "The Amazing Race" (which has aired 330 episodes and won 10 Emmys), which has already been filmed, has been bumped to mid-season. Of the 87 hours of primetime broadcast hours aired every week this season, only nine hours are reality shows and three hours are "The Voice" alone. Reality TV ruled the summer ratings, thanks to "America's Got Talent," "Survivor," "Big Brother" and "Tyler Henry, Hollywood Medium." Even game shows on ABC — "The Match Game," "$100,000 Pyramid" and "Family Feud" — did well. But there has been a lot of rumbling that "Keeping Up With the Kardashians" is teetering on the edge of cancellation.

The networks and cable stations are feeling the heat from Netflix, Amazon Prime, Hulu and the emerging YouTube station, now that they are all producing original programs, some far superior to the networks. The reality craze began as a result of a Writer's Guild strike, and it's ironic that scripted shows such as "NCIS" (the longtime No. 1 scripted show) are pushing reality shows out.

When we lost Gene Wilder on Aug. 29, everyone fondly remembered him in "Willy Wonka." The film cost $3 million and only grossed $4 million, but in 1971 it still put them in the black. The 2005 remake, "Charlie and The Chocolate Factory," with Johnny Depp, cost $150 million and grossed $475 million. Now a remake is in the wind, possibly of Roald Dahl's second Wonka book, "Charlie and the Great Glass Elevator" (1972). The musical "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory" is a big hit in London, and invades Broadway in April.

Do we really need a mini-series about Roger Ailes and Gretchen Carlson's sexual harassment problems? Cameron Diaz or Charlize Theron could play Carlson, and John Goodman could play Roger Ailes if he was willing to regain some of the 100 pounds he recently lost. What an "ail"ing proposition.

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS-PROVIDENCE, RI

IBEW LOCAL 99

Attention all Electricians, Tel-Com Techs and Solar Electricians

Are you ready to earn a wage and benefit package that will provide you the opportunity to live a fruitful life and retire with dignity?

Did you know that over 40% of IBEW Members are organized into our Family? Every day great men and women leave their non-union jobs and join the union. Not only for obvious increase in wages and benefits that are commiserate with their commitment to the craft, but also so they may have a voice in their future that they for so long did not.

Every day in the IBEW, the best unrepresented workers stop into IBEW Union Halls all across this Nation in search of a better way of life.

Local 99 is constantly and actively recruiting workers with the best work ethics with the highest skills. If you have the work ethic but need additional training, we also offer the absolute best training in the industry!

In the IBEW, the mutually agreed upon contracts assure both the worker and the contractor work towards a common goal so everyone has the chance to live an amazing life. When was the last time you had a seat at your Boss's table?

What are you waiting for, we are interviewing the best workers in the industry every day for an opportunity to join our team. Our contractors are growing fast and we are signing new contractors all the time. Both demand the highest skilled, the highest motivated and the most ethical workers in the industry. Is that you?

Q. Do you have any more "Nashville" news? I simply cannot wait for this show to return! — Julia J., via email

A. You'll have to wait just a little while longer to see the fifth season of the sudsy drama. As I reported previously, "Nashville" will air its two-hour season premiere Jan. 5 at 9 p.m. ET/PT on CMT, with Hulu streaming episodes the day after air. In the meantime, I can let you in on some casting news: Christian Coulson ("Love Is Strange" and "Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets") has been cast in a recurring role as Damien George, a sought-after British film director. Confident, charming and, by turns, caustic, he has a specific vision for his work and gets off on pushing the limits of actors to achieve it.

Christian Coulson

Also new this season is Emmy-nominated writer, actress and producer Jen Richards ("Her Story" and "Doubt") joining the cast in the recurring role of Allyson Del Lago, a tough but understanding physical therapist who helps a series regular through one of their most difficult challenges. This is CMT's first transgender character, and Jen is the first out transgender actor on the network.

Q. When will the next season of "Sherlock" premiere? — Kyle T., New Philadelphia, Ohio

A. The stars have finally aligned for all of us "Sherlock" fans — season four will premiere on PBS Masterpiece on Jan. 1. Like past seasons, it will consist of three episodes; unlike past seasons, we here in the U.S. will get to see it at the same time as those in the U.K., instead of months later. The first episode is titled "The Six Thatchers."

Q. I know that "Bones" is supposed to be ending, but I thought we had one more season? I can't find it anywhere on the fall schedule. Please tell me that I didn't miss it! — Kelly W., via email

A. Don't worry, Kelly, you didn't miss the 12th season of Fox's perennially favorite cop drama (with a bit of romance and comedy, as you well know). "Bones" will begin its 12-episode final season Jan. 3 at 9 p.m. ET/PT. David Madden, president of the entertainment division for Fox, said: "A show this beloved by fans worldwide deserves a proper send-off, and that is just what we intend to do."

Fox also released these titillating details about this season: "Throughout the final chapter, fans will see the return of favorite guest stars and "squinterns," as well as an old flame from one of the team's past. Fans also will experience a wedding, follow an epic serial-killer storyline, go undercover in a lumberjack competition and see Booth (David Boreanaz) and Brennan's (Emily Deschanel) marriage get put to the test. As always, new guest stars will be introduced, as well as a final round of gory murders, from which brand-new investigations will arise."

Sensational Holiday Sides

A beautifully browned turkey is typically the centerpiece of the Thanksgiving holiday table. The presentation and carving of the bird and the distribution of the crispy skin and white or dark meat is a central part of the meal. While I can appreciate turkey, it's the side dishes that I look forward to. The fall bounty of vegetables and the traditional recipes that my family enjoys during the holidays are worth waiting for all year.

Thanksgiving is one of the only times of the year that my sister, Sandra, makes her delicious fried corn. My mother's buttery cornbread dressing has been my "after-gluttony-day" breakfast for as long as I can remember. Here are the recipes for my family's sensational side dishes. Happy Thanksgiving!

FRIED CORN

- 1 stick butter, plus 2 table spoons
- 4 cups fresh or frozen corn kernels, thawed
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper

Melt the stick of butter in a large, heavy-bottomed skillet. Add the sugar and salt, stirring well until the sugar melts. Add the corn and black pepper. Dot with the remaining 2 tablespoons of the butter. Simmer over low heat for 15 minutes, stirring frequently until kernels are tender. Serves 8.

CORNBREAD DRESSING

- 6 cups crumbled, day-old cornbread
- 3 cups seasoned, dried bread crumbs
- 2 cups sauteed vegetables (see recipe below)
- 3-4 cups seasoned broth (see recipe below)

- 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 3 ounces unsalted butter, softened for greasing pan
- 2 cups onion, chopped, divided
- 2 cups finely chopped celery, divided
- 2 tablespoons poultry seasoning
- 1 Turkey neck, gizzards and liver

1. Heat oven to 400 F. In a large mixing bowl, combine cornbread and

1. In a saucepan over medium heat, melt the butter. Add onion, celery and poultry seasoning. Saute the vegetables in the butter until tender. Do not brown. Remove half of the vegetables from the pan and set aside to cool.

dried breadcrumbs. Combine sauteed vegetables with bread mixture. Stir in the cooled, seasoned broth and any vegetables, using enough to moisten the bread mixture, without making it too wet or soupy. Reserve the rest of the broth.

2. Mix in the poultry seasoning, salt, pepper and beaten eggs, blending well. Add in the diced turkey meat, livers and gizzards, if desired.

3. Lightly grease a large shallow baking or roasting pan measuring about 10-by-15 inches with the butter. Spread the dressing mixture in the pan. Bake for 20 to 30 minutes until the top is lightly browned and a crust has formed around the edges of the pan.

SAUTEED VEGETABLES AND SEASONED BROTH

This seasoned broth is a delicious way to moisten your dressing mixture. It also makes a wonderful base for gravies, soups and sauces.

- 3-4 cups chicken broth
- 4 ounces unsalted butter

2. Add the chicken broth, turkey neck, gizzards and the liver to the pan. Bring the mixture to a boil and then reduce heat to simmer. Simmer for 15 to 20 minutes until the meat is done and tender. Set the broth aside to cool.

3. Remove the neck, gizzards and liver from the broth. Pick the meat from the turkey neck and dice the turkey meat, the gizzards and livers. Use the cooled broth and the diced turkey mixture in the Cornbread Dressing recipe above.

Moments in time
THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On Nov. 23, 1859, the infamous Western outlaw known as "Billy the Kid" is born in a poor Irish neighborhood on New York City's East Side. Before he was shot dead at age 21, Billy reputedly killed 27 people in the American West.
- On Nov. 26, 1862, Oxford mathematician Charles Lutwidge Dodgson sends a handwritten manuscript called Alice's Adventures Under Ground to 10-year-old Alice Liddell. Dodgson, better known as Lewis Carroll, later published "Alice in Wonderland," one of the earliest children's books written simply to amuse children, not to teach them.
- On Nov. 24, 1944, more than 100 American B-29 Superfortress bombers target the Nakajima aircraft engine works in Tokyo. Bad weather proved an insurmountable obstacle at 30,000 feet, and fewer than 50 bombs hit the main target.
- On Nov. 22, 1963, John F. Kennedy, the 35th president of the United States, is assassinated while traveling through Dallas in a Lincoln convertible. Lee Harvey Oswald allegedly fired three shots from the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building.
- On Nov. 27, 1978, San Francisco leaders George Moscone and Harvey Milk are murdered by Dan White at City Hall in San Francisco. White pleaded a "diminished capacity" defense, claiming that copious amounts of junk food caused him to suffer mental problems. Thus the "Twinkie Defense" was born.
- On Nov. 21, 1980, some 350 million people worldwide tune in to find out who shot J.R. in the primetime drama "Dallas." Full of schemes and moral excess, the long-running series revolved around the tale of two Texas oil families.
- On Nov. 25, 1999, The U.N. General Assembly passes a resolution designating Nov. 25 the International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women. It marked the anniversary of the brutal political murder of three sisters in 1960 in the Dominican Republic.

SECRET ANGELS SOCIETY 3rd Annual Christmas Craft Fair: Saturday, November 26, 9AM-3PM at West Warwick Country Club, 335 Wakefield Street, West Warwick. Come see Santa!

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This is a good time to let that intrepid Aries temperament take charge. Your strong leadership will help settle those still-unresolved situations. Support comes from a surprising source.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your problem-solving talents shine as you move to cool down heated emotions. You also inspire trust in all parties when you act with careful consideration of their feelings.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) That long-delayed commitment begins to look better to you. But there's still a crucial fact or two you need to know about it. A health problem needs to be taken care of.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Don't waste time trying to learn why someone you relied on is wavering in his or her support of your stand on a workplace issue. Move on with the help of more steadfast allies.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Relationships enter a brighter period, both at home and in the workplace. Prospects also look good for single Leos and Leonas, who can expect a welcome visit from Cupid.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Those mixed signals that were complicating your life are giving way now to clear, definitive guidelines. This makes it easier for you to weigh your options and make decisions.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Ask your partner for an explanation of what seems to be a sign of strain in your relationship. The sooner you understand the problem, the sooner you can both act to resolve it.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A new challenge in the workplace holds an exciting promise for the future. But be aware of the fact that you haven't been told about all the demands you might have to meet.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Your financial picture brightens as you get into sorting out realistic goals and those that are not reachable at this time. "Caution" remains your fiscal watchword.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You're deep into your new project, and that's just fine. But don't neglect your family and friends. Spending time with people you care for is always a wise investment.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Past feelings are suddenly reawakened. This could make you emotionally vulnerable. Be careful about decisions you might be asked to make at this time.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You've come to a place where you'll be facing important decisions that can affect your future. Rely on your strong moral compass to guide you toward making the right choices.

BORN THIS WEEK: You're gifted with both natural wisdom and wit — a good combination for success as a writer or teacher and, most importantly, a parent.
