THE COWGIRL HALL OF FAME GETS SOME NEW MEMBERS

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith
 It was like a fashion show for women's upscale western wear. There were signs of elegance and grace among those present, most of whom were women dressed in boots, hats, long dresses, suede suits with fringe, miniskirts and items seen in fancy magazines like Cowboys and Indians. Turquoise was the jewelry of choice and the boots were art objects, with their colors and designs. Some vendors were on hand with all types of western merchandise for women, including purses in several types of leathers with price tags in the thousands of dollars.
 The event was the induction of four women into the National Cowgirl Museum and Hall of Fame, located in Fort Worth's Will Rogers Coliseum area. More than 900 people gathered in the Roundup Inn, which resembles a convention center. It's near the rodeo grounds and stock pens. The $200 ticket included a meal of salad and cornbread, a tenderloin steak with vegetables and corn soufflé and a dessert of spiced nutmeg tres leches. Table decorations had everything from rotating sculptures made of horseshoes to impressive bronze pieces. Guests were not allowed to take them home.
 If you haven't been to the Cowgirl Museum, you should go. It is a state of the art museum with a two-story moving mobile that has both still photographs and videos on it. The mobile was designed by a group from Paris, France that also did the displays in the museum.
 The facility had its beginnings in 1975 in Hereford, Texas. At first it was housed in a temporary location, later moved into a home. In 1990 the museum organizers wanted more exposure so they put the museum up for bids to several cities. Fort Worth submitted the highest bid and in 1992 the museum was moved to Cowtown. An art deco building was constructed to house the honorees' artifacts and photos and the museum opened in its present location in 2002.
 In the forty-one years the museum has been in operation only 224 women from all over the United States have been inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame. Four or five are selected each year among several nominations. "We're not looking for just great women," says Dr. Diana Vela, Associate Executive Director. "We're looking for exceptionally great women." The nominees go through three separate screenings, which come after a several page narrative about them is submitted. Supporting material is carefully examined and facts are checked.
 This year's inductees include Marilyn Williams Harris of Arizona, a rancher and philanthropist; Pat North Ommert of California, a trick rider and movie stunt woman; and Veryl Goodnight of Colorado, a sculptor and painter. The only Texan among the group and the first Jewish woman inducted into the Hall of Fame is Frances Rosenthal Kallison, a community activist who lived in San Antonio before her death in 2004. Many of her family and friends attended her induction.

At The Corral Gate

By Enola Gay

'Tis getting to be the season for Christmas spirit! So if yours is dusty, rusty or in disrepair, you've still got time to remedy the situation. A quick double-take at the calendar will tell you, it's time, so LET'S GET IN THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT!

In Sulphur Springs, the Arts will shine brightly through the holidays! A collaboration of local talent organizations has resulted in the formation of the Bright Star League of Cultural Arts. The non-profit is planning their first community event...a delightful three-performance run of "A Christmas Carol" December 2-4 in the Sulphur Springs High School Auditorium, formerly known as the Hopkins County Civic Center. Tickets are now available from any cast member, at the SSHS office, at banks or at the door. Tickets are $20 and $35.

I peeked in to a rehearsal last night where a crowd of dancers of all ages were working on the steps for a scene from "Fezziwig's Ball". Merriment was high. I think they've got the Christmas Spirit already! You may recognize some of the dancers. Next week, the Sulphur Springs Symphony League will start adding musical accompaniment to rehearsals.

Community Players and volunteers practice for Fezziwig's Ball.

Farther down the hall, the Northeast Texas Choral Society were in rehearsal formation with Director Carol Allen at the reins. They are preparing holiday favorites for the production, as well as planning an outdoor concert of their own on December 10.

Carol Allen directs the Northeast Texas Choral Society.

On Saturday November 19, a unique audience-participation concert called "One" will be held on Celebration Plaza, downtown Sulphur Springs. Be there at 4pm and lend your voice in this first-ever free community event for people of all ages who like to sing. Also, if you remember the words to "What the World Needs Now" you get extra points!

Enola Gay interviews Sulphur Springs City Manager Marc Maxwell about "One".

Daytimes, the weather's just been too nice to stray too far from the corral gate! I've been enjoying sitting in the sunshine and watching the kittens play and the squirrels gathering up pecans. Til next week, I'll watch for you right here.
