A Little Fridge Humor

Some guy bought a new fridge for his house. To get rid of his old fridge, he put it in his front yard and hung a sign on it saying "Free to good home, You want it -- you take it."

For three days the fridge sat there without even one person looking twice at it. He eventually decided that people were too un-trusting of this deal - looks to good to be true - so he changed the sign to read "Fridge for sale $50."

The next day someone stole it.

2016 Danville Christmas Parade!

The Riverview Rotary Christmas Parade will be held on Sunday, Dec. 4 beginning at 3 p.m. The parade route will begin at the corner of Main and Broad Streets and end at the corner of Main and Craghead Streets. Float traffic will continue on Craghead and end at Newton's Landing.

Main Street will be closed at 1 p.m. All residents should remove their vehicles from Main Street by 12:30 p.m. If you have any questions, please call the Danville Welcome Center at 434-793-4636.

COMMUNITY

On Monday, November 14, 2016 the Jr. Wednesday Club and the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Danville Area went to the God's Storehouse. There, they all packed backpacks for the Danville Public Schools. The youth helped pack non-perishable items for Thanksgiving Boxes. In addition, they were "digging potatoes" and bagging them for Thanksgiving distribution. For more information about Big Brothers Big Sisters of Danville Area, call Pat Daniel (434)792-3700 ext. 237.

Salome's Stars

ARIES
(March 21 to April 19)
Your curiosity might not be appreciated by everyone. Expect some resistance in getting answers to your questions. But stay with it. You need facts in order to make important decisions.

TAURUS
(April 20 to May 20)
Some of the mystery surrounding your recent fiscal situation soon will be dispelled with a clear explanation. Use this new knowledge to help you chart a fresh financial course.

GEMINI
(May 21 to June 20)
Start your Hanukkah and Christmas gift-buying now. This will help avoid problems caused by possible mid-December delays. A family member has important information.

CANCER
(June 21 to July 22)
Use a little more sense in how you plan to spend your end-of-the-year holiday dollars. Meanwhile, you continue to gain support for your stand on a workplace issue.

LEO
(July 23 to August 22)
Wearing that big, loving Lion's heart of yours on your sleeve leaves it unprotected. Let things develop a little more before you allow your emotions to spill over.

VIRGO
(August 23 to September 22)
You might feel you're not ready to patch up an unraveled relationship. But the longer you wait, the more difficult it will be for all parties to take the first healing step.

LIBRA
(September 23 to October 22)
Your end-of-the-year holiday plans could be disrupted by something out of your control, but stay the course. Ultimately, things will settle back into a normal pace.

SCORPIO
(October 23 to November 21)
Your honest approach to a workplace project earns you both respect and credit from those in charge. Meanwhile, that personal problem still needs to be dealt with.

SAGITTARIUS
(November 22 to December 21)
Money could be a little tight this month. This means the usually bargain-oblivious Sagittarian should look for ways to save on end-of-the-year holidays.

CAPRICORN
(December 22 to January 19)
Examine the facts, and you might find that it's a wiser move to shift gears and redirect some of your goals before the end of the year. Someone close to you offers good advice.

AQUARIUS
(January 20 to February 18)
Be careful that your generosity is not abused. Find out more, both about the special favors you might be asked to grant and who is asking for them.

PISCES
(February 19 to March 20)
You've come through a recent rough time in great shape. Congratulations. Now go out and enjoy your well-earned rewards. More good news comes in mid-December.

BORN THIS WEEK:
You aim for truth, and you usually find it. Your honesty earns you the friendship and respect of others.

Total Bedlam!

Count comes down to the wire

Welcome to Lennox Valley, my hometown!

Kevin Slimp's

The Good Folks of Lennox Valley

Iris counted and recounted the votes during the five-minute recess. It was difficult to concentrate with a room full of Valley residents, all loudly sharing their thoughts concerning the ballot tally.

Half the votes were counted, and Raymond held a considerable lead. With 53 percent of the vote so far, Cooper could win the mayor's race outright if things continued to go his way.

Cooper and his supporters had been worried Juliet Stoughton's late entry into the race might hurt his chances of collecting more than 50 percent of the votes, a necessity to avoid a run-off with the obvious second choice, Dick Bland. There was concern Bland might fare better with another week to campaign. Thankfully, it looked like Cooper's tactics had worked and enough voters were frantic about the Federal Reserve System to carry their champion to victory.

Juliet had already surprised everyone by collecting 19 percent of the vote thus far. Though still far behind Bland, who was selected on 29 percent of the ballots, she had no reason to be ashamed. Apparently Cooper had angered enough of the electorate to throw 91 voters her way.

As the last chorus of "One Day at a Time" blared from the boombox on stage, Vera Pinrod brought the room to a hush as she roared, "Stoughton!" A tally was placed under Juliet's name on the board.

A few Cooper supporters hissed, then giggled, to indicate their lack of concern. Their candidate needed only 47 percent of the remaining votes.

Outside, where hundreds of good folks gathered to listen to the proceedings over speakers in front of the town hall, a voice shouted, "Yes!" It was none other than Jessie, the waitress at the 'Brau, who originally suggested Juliet should place her name on the ballot.

"Cooper!" shouted Vera. Then, "Stoughton!" More cheers, mostly from females, erupted from outside.

"Cooper!" Vera roared.

"Stoughton," she continued. "And another vote for Stoughton!"

"Twelve votes were tallied before Vera finally shouted, "Bland!"

There was a murmur throughout the room. Iris looked at her count. Still far behind Mayor Bland, Juliet was showing momentum, and the room was filled with speculation.

"Cooper! Stoughton! Stoughton! Bland! Stoughton! Cooper!" Vera shouted the votes purposely as the count reached the 90-minute mark.

Iris continued tallying votes on her reporter's pad, but she gave up trying to keep up with the count as Vera called out names almost faster than Iris could mark them on the page.

Finally, like a runner sprinting to the finish line, Vera read the names on the final stack of ballots.

"Cooper!" she shouted. Next she yelled, "Bland!" creating a stir from the Baptist section of the room, eerily silent since the mid-count break.

"Stoughton!" Vera drew a deep breath. "And the final vote is for Juliet Stoughton."

Farley Puckett was beside himself as he looked over to see his wife cheering along with other women gathered outside the town hall.

Iris went over her notes as most of the crowd inside the hall attempted to tally the votes in their heads.

Chief of Police Buford Dibble eyed the crowd carefully, looking for any signs of a potential riot while Vera and the two precinct coordinators scratched their chins as they peered at the tally board and looked over their notes several times.

The crowd silenced as Vera approached the microphone.

"The final vote is as follows," Vera began. "Dick Bland: 229 votes."

The crowd took a collective breath.

"Raymond Cooper: 466 votes."

A murmur turned into conversations before Chief Dibble quieted the audience.

"Juliet Stoughton: 231 votes."

"Mickey Mouse, Ima Goose and Ronald Reagan had eight votes between them."

"Oh, my!" Iris whispered as she double-checked her figures.

Beatrice Justice, overhearing Iris, turned to her and said, "Ecclesiastes 1:2."

"Robbie Ryckowski and Grandpa's Ashes"

It is now officially the holiday season, Thanksgiving and Christmas and more, the most wonderful time of the year. May I be the first to offer you a small gift, a story to brighten your day and cheer your holiday thoughts. It is about a character I made up a few years ago and often write about.

Robbie Ryckowski was an ordinary little boy in almost every regard. Yes, other than the fact that he was absent-minded, hyper, bug-eyed, prone to uncontrollable attacks of giggling at all the wrong times, accident-prone, covered in freckles, and with no common sense at all, he was perfectly ordinary. Oh, and did I mention that he was also a magnet for trouble, and that when he got scared, his voice went away? But other than all that, he was ordinary.

On this particular day, Robbie was nervously waiting to give his teacher, Mrs. Criggles, the gift he had so carefully wrapped for her. It was the day of the class Christmas party at school, and everyone would be on holiday break once the day was done.

Mrs. Criggles had been understandably nervous since the Slippery Salamander Saga, but that is another story. All you need to know for now is that, when Robbie handed her the present and grinned his crooked grin, she was smiling, but worried.

"Why thank you, Robbie," she forced herself to say, "and what might this be?" Yes, it is poor manners to ask what a gift is rather than opening it, but if you knew Robbie, you would forgive her.

Robbie, though, just smiled and said excitedly in his squeaky voice, "Grandpa's ashes!"

Mrs. Criggles went pale. Even for Robbie Ryckowski, this was a stunner. "Um, Robbie," she said slowly, "I..."

But Robbie interrupted her excitedly saying, "Open it, Mrs. Criggles!" Panicking, she shoved the box back at him saying "No, I can't." He shoved it back to her saying "Please, open it!" And somewhere in the midst of all the pushing back and forth, the unthinkable happened: the paper and box beneath it ripped open, and ashes went flying everywhere.

Mrs. Criggles was covered. Robbie was covered. The other students, who had been gasping in horror, were covered too. Worst of all, the smoke detector was covered...

WOOOO WOOOO WOOO WOOO! Went the alarm. Three seconds later the door burst open. It was Vice Principle Schubert. With a fire extinguisher. WOOOOOSH! Went the extinguisher. And now Mrs. Criggles, and Robbie, and all the students were covered not just in a layer of ash, but also a layer of powdery white fire extinguisher dust.

And then the sprinkler system kicked in. Do you know what happens when water mixes with ashes and fire extinguisher dust? Think "instant zombie." By the time the water stopped, all was dead silent, and only eyeballs could be seen through the solidifying white paste everyone was covered in.

The entire class groaned a word they were, oh, so used to saying: "Rooooobbbbbbbbie!" He tried to speak, but naturally, could not get a word out. Mrs. Criggles, fighting desperately to regain her composure, said with a strained voice, "Robbie, why in the world did you bring me your grandpa's ashes as a gift?"

After a few seconds of squeaking attempts, Robbie finally managed to say, "Bbbbbb cause he told me that in Isaiah 61:3, God promised to give people beauty for ashes. I overheard you last week saying that you don't feel pretty anymore since your husband died. We all think you are the prettiest teacher ever, but just in case, I went to my grandpa's house and got some ashes from his fireplace for you."

And that is how a picture of a crying, zombie-looking teacher hugging a smiling, zombie looking little boy, came to rest on top of a very happy teacher's Christmas tree.

* A holiday reminder: Freezy equals flaky when it comes to baked goods. Pie crusts, biscuits, even shortbread cookies turn out better when you keep ingredients very cold (not actually frozen, though). For items that you want soft and light, like cakes, let ingredients (butter, eggs) come to room temperature for best results.

* Recipe substitution: For ricotta in Italian pasta dishes, try pureeing cottage cheese instead.

* "Add a shake or two of cinnamon to chili this season. It really enhances the flavor, and my family has enjoyed great renown locally for our recipe." -- E.L. in Texas

* You can refill your foaming hand soap by watering down budget shampoo. Really. It's super-cheap, smells great and lasts forever. If you don't have a foaming hand soap dispenser, cut down on the amount of soap that comes out with each pump by wrapping a rubber band around the pump.

* Here's an easy DIY decoration that really makes a table -- candles. Simply wrap the label area of your empty wine bottles with your favorite wrapping paper of the season, then stick a tapered candlestick into the top. Surround with painted pinecones for a beautiful centerpiece.

* "Use a hole punch and ribbon to add Christmas cards to your display. They can double as ornaments, or look great hanging from a bannister or around a doorway." -- A.V. in Kentucky

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Another 'Gift' From Vietnam

Just when we thought we had a handle on the consequences of our service in Vietnam -- Agent Orange -- we now have another potential killer on our hands. Bile duct cancer, known as cholangiocarcinoma, can appear 25-40 years after eating raw fish in Asian countries. The fish contain small worms called liver flukes that burrow into the liver ducts, where they remain, causing inflammation for many years until the liver can turn cancerous. The Department of Veterans Affairs has turned down most of those who apply for benefits -- generally the widows of veterans who have died of this cancer. It's difficult to pinpoint something that happened so long ago, especially something as oddball as eating the wrong kind of fish or wading in the wrong body of water. The denials of benefits run the standard gamut. However, it's now coming to light as more veterans are being affected, and the VA can't ignore it. Lesser complications from fluke exposure can include cirrhosis, liver bile-duct stones and hepatitis. If you ate the fish, swam in the water, cooked or made Kool-Aid with unsterilized water, are getting jaundiced or are losing weight for no obvious reason, go to the VA immediately. Diagnosis can be tough. This isn't generally considered an American cancer, but it's now beginning to receive some attention, especially if you go to a VA doctor. If you are a Vietnam veteran who has been diagnosed with cholangiocarcinoma or have been denied benefits for it, make a note of these links: www.va.gov/vetapp12/files/1206119.txt www.va.gov/vetapp11/files/5/1144474.txt Both of these are appeals that were decided in favor of the veteran. The text of the 2012 appeal says that they "support a finding that the veteran's cholangiocarcinoma was due to liver fluke exposure in Vietnam."

- Nancy Sinatra, in 1967. She wasn't the first choice. Her father, Frank Sinatra, turned the job down.
 - Van Dyke Parks, in 1966. Parks worked with dozens of artists over the years, including Frank Zappa, The Beach Boys and The Byrds.
 - Jim Croce, in 1974. He wrote the song to his wife after for a disagreement they'd had.
 - The original Kinks band members, beginning in 1964.
 - "Escape (The Pina Colada Song)" by Rupert Holmes, in 1979. Guy responds to a personal ad in the paper looking for a new love, and who should walk into the bar where they're to meet, answering the ad? His current lady love.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was 20th-century Swiss-American psychiatrist Elisabeth Kubler-Ross who made the following sage observation: "People are like stained-glass windows: They sparkle and shine when the sun is out, but when the darkness sets in, their true beauty is revealed only if there is a light within."

* At the outbreak of World War I, American financier August Belmont Jr. volunteered for the U.S. Army -- at the age of 64. He served in France as a major in the Army Air Service. His wife was so proud that when one of their mares, Mahubah, gave birth to a colt in 1917, she named it in honor of her husband, not realizing that Man o' War would become one of the greatest racehorses of all time.

* You doubtless know that a placebo is a pill or substance that is given to a patient like a medication, but in fact has no physical effect. Most people, however, haven't heard of a nocebo -- a similarly harmless substance that might make patients sick because they think it will.

* It's not unknown for temperatures during a Siberian summer to exceed 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

* Almost a thousand years before Johannes Gutenberg introduced mechanical moveable type to Europe, people in Asia were already printing messages set in type. The oldest recorded such piece, from China, translates as "Beware of Dog."

* You might be surprised to learn that the oldest public university in the United States is the University of North Carolina.

* If you're like the average human being, you have approximately 250,000 sweat glands on your feet alone.

Thought for the Day: "There is no human being who, as a result of desiring to build a better life, should be named or declared illegal." -- Alejandro G. Inarritu

Q: Do you have any more "Nashville" news? I simply cannot wait for this show to return! -- Julia J., via email

A: You'll have to wait just a little while longer to see the fifth season of the sudsy drama. As I reported previously, "Nashville" will air its two-hour season premiere Jan. 5 at 9 p.m. ET/PT on CMT, with Hulu streaming episodes the day after air. In the meantime, I can let you in on some casting news: Christian Coulson ("Love Is Strange" and "Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets") has been cast in a recurring role as Damien George, a sought-after British film director. Confident, charming and, by turns, caustic, he has a specific vision for his work and gets off on pushing the limits of actors to achieve it.

Also new this season is Emmy-nominated writer, actress and producer Jen Richards ("Her Story" and "Doubt") joining the cast in the recurring role of Allyson Del Lago, a tough but understanding physical therapist who helps a series regular through one of their most difficult challenges. This is CMT's first transgender character, and Jen is the first out transgender actor on the network.

Q: When will the next season of "Sherlock" premiere? -- Kyle T., New Philadelphia, Ohio

A: The stars have finally aligned for all of us "Sherlock" fans -- season four will premiere on PBS Masterpiece on Jan. 1. Like past seasons, it will consist of three episodes; unlike past seasons, we here in the U.S. will get to see it at the same time as those in the U.K., instead of months later. The first episode is titled "The Six Thatchers."

Q: I know that "Bones" is supposed to be ending, but I thought we had one more season? I can't find it anywhere on the fall schedule. Please tell me that I didn't miss it! -- Kelly W., via email

A: Don't worry, Kelly, you didn't miss the 12th season of Fox's perennially favorite cop drama (with a bit of romance and comedy, as you well know). "Bones" will begin its 12-episode final season Jan. 3 at 9 p.m. ET/PT. David Madden, president of the entertainment division for Fox, said: "A show this beloved by fans worldwide deserves a proper send-off, and that is just what we intend to do." Fox also released these titillating details about this season: "Throughout the final chapter, fans will see the return of favorite guest stars and 'squinterns,' as well as an old flame from one of the team's past. Fans also will experience a wedding, follow an epic serial-killer storyline, go undercover in a lumberjack competition and see Booth (David Boreanaz) and Brennan's (Emily Deschanel) marriage get put to the test. As always, new guest stars will be introduced, as well as a final round of gory murders, from which brand-new investigations will arise."

How To Make Older Homes More Energy Efficient

Older properties tend to have a sense of charm that newly built homes may lack. Perhaps it's their lived-in feel or design elements that remind homeowners of yesteryear that make older homes so popular among home buyers.

What older homes have in character they may lack in modern amenities. For example, whereas many homes are now built with energy efficiency in mind, older homes may not be so eco-friendly. Fortunately, there are many ways for homeowners who love their older homes to keep that love going strong while making their homes more energy efficient at the same time.

- Check for leaks and plug any you find. Homes may develop air leaks over time, and such leaks allow air to infiltrate the home. When that occurs, homeowners instinctively turn up the thermostat in winter to combat the cold air getting in. Come summertime, those same homeowners will run their air conditioners on a higher setting in an effort to stay comfortable when hot air is creeping through the cracks. Rather than adjusting the temperature inside, fix any sources of air infiltration you find. Run your hand along doorways and windows to determine if any drafts are coming through. Older homes may also develop cracks in bricks, around the foundation and in siding or stucco. Seal any areas where you feel air infiltrating your home, which will save money, reduce your energy consumption and make your older home more efficient.
- Add insulation. Many older homes are poorly insulated. But according to the United States Environmental Protection Agency, adding insulation can reduce energy costs by as much as 50 percent. Installing insulation can be tricky, especially if insulation was not originally included in your home, as is sometimes the case with older homes. Insulation can become damp and prove ineffective if installed improperly. Damp insulation also may contribute to mold growth and rot in the home's framing. Older homes may be lacking adequate insulation around attics, crawl spaces, basements, heating and cooling ducts, and water pipes. Cover your water heater with an insulated water heater blanket so the heater retains more heat and consumes less energy to heat the water.
- Stay on top of your home. Much like older vehicles, older homes require a little extra TLC on the part of homeowners. Don't allow your home to fall into disrepair. Even if your energy bills are not on the rise, inspect windows and doors to make sure they are closing tightly, as over time such seemingly minor problems can add up to substantial energy loss. Don't forget to clean gutters and downspouts, removing debris that can add up and lead to water damage that may ultimately compromise the effectiveness of your home's insulation.
- Book an energy audit. Energy audits, which may be offered free of charge by your utility company, can help detect any additional areas where a home may be using energy inefficiently. Even if you have to pay for an audit, the cost savings if any additional inefficiencies are discovered will likely add up to more than the cost of the audit.

Older homes are attractive to many homeowners, who can take several steps to make sure their homes are operating as efficiently as possible.

HANDY Holiday HINTS

Simple steps to prep for a delicious turkey dinner

FAMILY FEATURES

One of the most memorable moments at any holiday dinner is when a moist, delicious turkey is brought to the table. Everyone grabs their forks at the sight of a perfectly brown bird glistening with juicy flavor.

Make sure your holiday meal is a special one by following these simple tips for making the perfect holiday dinner:

Planning the Meal

- Get your plans in writing, including your menu, how many people will attend, any special dietary needs of guests and what time you plan to serve the meal.
- Buy the turkey early, and look for a bird with a pop-up timer in the breast, which ensures proper cooking time. Learn more at volkenterprises.com.

Thawing the Turkey

- Thaw your turkey in the refrigerator for 24 hours per 5 pounds in weight. For example, a 20-pound bird takes four days to thaw. Thaw it faster by covering with cold water in the sink and changing the water every half hour per pound of turkey.
- Don't unwrap a frozen turkey before thawing.
- Refrigerate the turkey as soon as it has thawed, or cook it immediately.

Preparing the Bird

- Baste the turkey with extra-virgin olive oil, butter, margarine or wine.
- For an unstuffed turkey, place a stalk or two of celery, seasonings, a cut-up onion and a handful of parsley in the cavity to keep it moist.
- If you stuff the turkey, pack the neck and cavity loosely with stuffing prepared just before you plan to cook the bird.
- Heat oven to 325 F. Place turkey breast-side-up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan.

- Lay a "tent" of foil loosely over the turkey to prevent over-browning.
- The turkey is done when the meat thermometer is 180 F and the stuffing is 165 F. If you don't have a meat thermometer, look for the red stem to go up on the pop-up timer, press a thumb and forefinger into the thick part of the drumstick to see if it feels soft or wiggle a drumstick to see if it moves easily.
- For easier carving, let the turkey stand at room temperature for at least 20 minutes.

Preparing Homemade Rolls

- Purchase Frozen Rhodes Ready to Bake Rolls, which give you that original homemade taste with no preservatives.
- Coat baking pan and large sheet of plastic wrap with nonstick cooking spray. Place frozen dough on the pan and cover with oiled plastic wrap so it won't stick to the rolls as they rise.
- Let rolls rise for 4-5 hours, until they double in size. Carefully remove the plastic wrap.
- While you are carving your turkey, put rolls in the oven at 350 F and bake 15-20 minutes, until golden brown.
- Brush tops with butter or olive oil, if desired.
- Dinner rolls can also be used to create side dishes or desserts, such as this Butterscotch Bubble Loaf.

Don't Forget the Add-Ons

- Surprise your guests with something different from years prior, such as new recipes or add-ons.

For example, if you serve salad add something new, such as olives, pearl onions, raisins, nuts or mandarin oranges.

- Mashed potatoes are expected. For a flavor kick, try adding mustard, garlic or other flavors when mashing.
- Add color to your favorite green vegetables by placing pimento or strips of steamed red bell on top.
- Try an unconventional take on stuffing, such as making stuffin' muffins in muffin tins or serving stuffing inside an empty green bell pepper.

Serving a Sweet Treat

- Watermelon is a source of antioxidants and vitamins, and has more lycopene than any other raw fruit or vegetable.
- You can also opt to serve a sweet treat with your turkey with this recipe for Watermelon Cranberry Sauce.

Planning for Leftovers

- After two hours at room temperature, cooked food should be stored in the refrigerator.
- If possible, carve the entire turkey before the meal and store the extras as soon as everyone has a plate.
- There are many great recipes that feature leftover turkey, such as stir-fry with vegetables, wraps, tacos, burritos and, of course, good, old-fashioned turkey sandwiches.

Watermelon Cranberry Sauce

Recipe courtesy of watermelon.org

Servings: 4

- 4 cups fresh cranberries
- 1/2 cup organic sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- lemon juice (from 1 lemon)
- lemon zest (from 1 lemon)
- 1/2 cup maple syrup
- cinnamon
- 2 cups sauced watermelon

In 3-quart saucepan over medium-low heat, heat cranberries, sugar, vanilla, lemon juice and lemon zest until simmering. Simmer gently, stirring occasionally, until cranberries are tender, about 15-20 minutes.

Reduce heat to low and add maple syrup and cinnamon to pan. Simmer another few minutes.

Remove from heat to rest 10 minutes.

Stir in watermelon and serve warm, or chill and serve cold.

Butterscotch Bubble Loaf

Recipe courtesy of rhodesbread.com

24 Rhodes Yeast Dinner Rolls, thawed but still cold

- 1/2 box non-instant butterscotch or vanilla pudding mix
- 1/2 cup pecans, chopped
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine

Heat oven to 350 F.

Cut dinner rolls in half and dip in dry pudding mix. In sprayed Bundt pan, arrange rolls, alternating with pecans. Sprinkle any remaining pudding mix over top.

Combine brown sugar and butter. In microwave, heat together about 1 1/2 minutes until butter is melted and syrup is formed. Pour syrup over rolls. Cover with sprayed plastic wrap. Let rise until doubled in size, or even with top of Bundt pan.

Carefully remove wrap. Bake 30-35 minutes. Cover with foil for last 15 minutes of baking.

Immediately after baking, loosen foil from sides of pan with knife and invert onto serving plate.

FIND THE BIG WORDS!

Can you find the eight eight-letter words that fit into the framework pictured on the left? A definition for each is provided below, and the letters in the two anagram words must be unscrambled and used to form the word for the grid.

DEFINITION:

1. A sports announcer wears one.
2. Where birds and bells hang out.
3. Great mixers.
4. Concealed with a decorative overlay.
5. Favorably regarded.
6. The winning burger was _____.
7. Toast and egg dishes (sl).
8. To twist into a confusing mess.

ANAGRAM:

- hope + near ribs + feel serb + lend need + veer teed + seem fees + bite yeas + deed
gent + lane

Answers: 1. Earphone, 2. Belfries, 3. Blenders, 4. Veneered, 5. Esteemed, 6. Beefsteak, 7. Deadbeats, 8. Entangle.

THE FIVE-WILL-GET-YOU-EIGHT WAGER!
Draw figure 1 on a sheet of paper. Then challenge your friends to add five straight lines to the drawing so that the result will give you eight equal-size triangles. Our solution is shown in figure 2.

CHAIN REACTION! Take the seven letters printed below our diagram and place them in the circles so that eight four-letter words can be read, top to bottom, along the connecting lines. All the words will begin with the letter in the top circle.

Answers: Top to bottom, left to right: Soud, scum, scam, scar, seam, sear, sear, seen.

Harley Quinn Smith & Lily-Rose Dept in "Yoga Hosers"

PICKS OF THE WEEK
"Kubo and the Two Strings" (PG) -- A one-eyed boy with a supernatural heritage and a magic musical instrument embarks on a gorgeously animated adventure through ancient Japan. Kubo (voiced by Art Parkinson) lost his eye to the Moon King, his evil grandfather who also can become a terrifying dragon. While adventuring, Kubo has a protective white monkey (Charlize Theron), a dopey warrior made from a transformed beetle (Matthew McConaughey) and his magic music that can make origami come to life. Laika Studios ("Coraline," "The Boxtrolls") has a great track record of adapting stories with enchanting stop-motion animation. It goes off the beaten trail, and makes offerings that can be genuinely scary ("Coraline" got pretty creepy, and "Kubo" has some spooky monsters) or sad, while still remaining engaging and appropriate for the little ones.

"War Dogs" (R) -- Back in the heady days of 2008, David Packouz (Miles Teller) gets recruited away from his dead-end massage gig into the sleazy world of semi-legal arms dealing, as introduced to him by old pal Efraim (Jonah Hill). Efraim rolls up in a nice car, cackling maniacally, shooting guns in the air and throwing cash around, and we're supposed to sympathize with David, who views this as a stable option for supporting his pregnant girlfriend. Their moral descent sees them supplying arms to shady characters in Afghanistan.

It's sort of trying to be "The Wolf of Wall Street" but with guns instead of bonds, but neither lead ever really takes it there. Hill is playing it big and sleazy, but the movie just isn't as smart as it thinks it is.

"Hell or High Water" (R) -- When the bank threatens to take their mother's Texas home unless they can come up with the cash, two brothers decide the best place to get the money is from that same bank. Tobey (Chris Pine) and Tanner (Ben Foster) have checkered pasts and a lot of baggage, but not enough to stop them from robbin' banks for dear ol' momma. Marcus the Texas Ranger (Jeff Bridges) is archetypally getting too old for this, but he's quick to catch on to the Tanners' plan, setting the stage for some modern-day Wild West shootouts.

"Yoga Hosers" (PG-13) -- Kevin Smith's latest project features a pair of sardonic Canadian convenience-store clerks facing off against Nazi sausages. Our heroes, both named Colleen (Lily Rose Depp and Harley Quinn Smith), are teenage best friends who really only care about their phones and their private yoga lessons (taught by a bushy Justin Long). They get roped into a scheme involving an undying Nazi and a peculiar Nazi-hunter (Johnny Depp). The girls are dogged by walking, talking bratwursts that have been indoctrinated with fascism. There are very few laughs, but the two leads perform well together, and it should not be held against them that their fathers are Smith and Depp.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Dec. 5, 1839, Gen. George Armstrong Custer is born in Harrison County, Ohio. Although he is best known for his demise at the Battle of the Little Big Horn, Montana, in 1876, Custer built a reputation as a dash-ing and effective Union cavalry leader during the Civil War.

* On Dec. 10, 1869, motivated by interest in free publicity, Wyoming territorial legislators pass a law granting women the right to vote. Area men hoped women would be more likely to settle in the rugged and isolated country if they could vote.

* On Dec. 6, 1884, in Washington, D.C., workers place a 9-inch aluminum pyramid atop a tower of white marble, completing the construction of a monument to the city's namesake, George Washington.

* On Dec. 9, 1917, after Turkish troops withdrew after only a single day of fighting, officials of the Holy City of Jerusalem offer the keys to the city to British troops, who promised to protect all religious shrines.

* On Dec. 11, 1946, the U.N. votes to establish the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) to help provide relief to children in countries devastated by World War II. The United States has never ratified the treaty.

* On Dec. 7, 1989, boxer Sugar Ray Leonard triumphs over a lackluster Roberto Duran in a unanimous 12-round decision in Las Vegas. Leonard, an Olympic gold medalist, became a boxing sensation in the 1980s.

* On Dec. 8, 1993, the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) is signed into law by President Bill Clinton. NAFTA, a trade pact between the United States, Canada and Mexico, eliminated all tariffs and trade restrictions. NAFTA was criticized by businessman Ross Perot, who argued that Americans would hear a "giant sucking sound" of U.S. companies fleeing to Mexico and taking jobs with them.

Trinket Box

Q: I have a small trinket box that is marked "M. Horn 1883." I assume it must be quite old and wonder if you can tell me more about it. -- Susan, Dayton, Ohio
 A: It's not as old as you might imagine. The company that manufactured your box was based in Eastland, Texas, and operated for at least two years beginning in 1952. According to Lehner's Encyclopedia of U.S. Marks on Pottery, Porcelain & Clay by Lois Lehner (Collector Books), the small company specialized in vases, console sets, candy boxes and other items it marketed as art china.

Q: I have an early edition of "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell. Is it valuable? -- Ken, Topeka, Kansas

A: The first edition of "Gone With the Wind" was published in New York in 1936 and is marked "Published May, 1936." The cover is gray cloth, and the original cover featured other Macmillan titles on the back panel. Most first editions I've seen are priced in the $5,000 to $10,000 range, depending on condition and if it has its cover. If you have a first edition and wish to sell, you should contact a good rare book dealer.

 Q: I have a collection of the proceedings of the national conference of the VFW that was held in Chicago, New York and St. Louis during the years 1937-1945. All are illustrated with pictures of the officers, speakers, attendees and so forth. Are these items worth anything? -- Richard, Clarkston, Michigan
 A: You might contact the national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The address and telephone number are 408 West 34th St., Kansas City, MO 64111; and 816-756-3390.

 Q: I am sending you a picture of a table that has a sticker indicating it was manufactured in Rochester, New York. It also is stamped with the number "300." I would like to know what the number means and what my table is worth. -- Ruth, Gloucester, Massachusetts
 A: The "300" indicates the production model number. I suggest you contact used furniture and antique dealers in your area to determine its value.
