BRADY MAN WAS B-17 MACHINE

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

Herb Cavness of Brady was a teenager when he entered World War Two in 1943. He was a waist gunner on a B-17 and flew 25 missions in Europe with the 8th Air Force.

"We were stationed in England and flew out of there," he says. "Our missions were mostly over Germany."

Mr. Cavness handed me a sheet of paper that gave an accounting of all his missions. Many of them lasted ten hours.

His plane was shot at during 22 of the 25 missions. He rated the flak as weak, moderate and heavy. Ten missions rated heavy. His plane bombed tanks, plane factories, oil refineries, naval yards, barracks, armament plants, submarine depots and airfields. Targets included Dresden, Frankfurt, Bremen, Hamburg, Dortmund, Hanover, Nuremburg and 14 other places. His squadron lost 13 planes. He had to make two emergency landings but was not hurt. His plane had a young crew.

"My pilot was just two months older than me. It was just a bunch of boys. Our radio operator was 31. We called him Pop."

In addition to manning a fifty-caliber machine gun, he had another duty.

"When we got on a bomb run, the bomb bay doors would be open. I took a walk-around oxygen bottle and went into the bomb bay and pulled the safety pins on the bombs so they would drop. And at 20,000 feet up with the bomb bay doors open, it is cold."

The missions were long and crewmembers got hungry.

"Before we left they gave each of us a candy bar. When we'd come down to 12,000 feet we took our oxygen masks off and ate that candy bar. That was our lunch. We didn't have any water because it would have frozen."

When the war ended, he came home.

"We flew our old combat plane back to the states. We got out of the airplane and two pilots got in it and took off for the junkyard. It was scrapped in December of 1945."

Mr. Cavness and his 9-man crew were to get a short course in the B-29 and go to the Pacific and join the fighting there.

"But they gave us 30 days leave and while I was at home the Japanese surrendered and I didn't have to go."

Although he served less than two years in the military, the memory of that time remains fresh in his memory. He has attended reunions of 8th Air Force personnel. Mr. Cavness is in great health at age 90. He weighs 115 pounds. The most he has ever weighed was 149 and a half. He said he tried for 150 but just couldn't quite do it.

Tumbleweed Smith lives in Big Spring and travels the state listening to stories. Contact him at ts@crcom.net

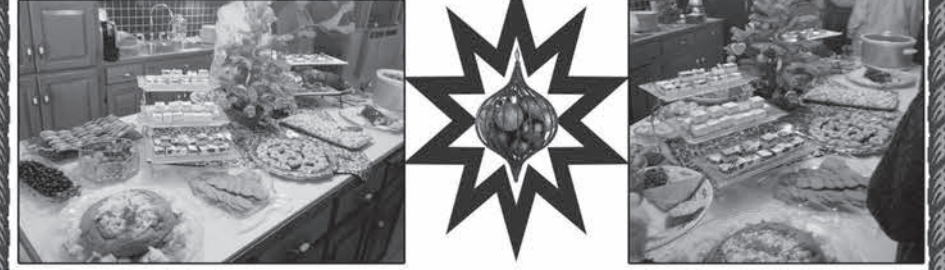

Tis the season, for OVEREATING! Christmas week isn't even here yet, and I'm WAY OVER QUOTA! But, Christmas is also the time for enjoying oneself, and I plan to do it. My P-31 Class (5:30pm weeknights at Bowie School gym) is also one of the good things I do for myself on an ongoing basis. So, I shall not fear as pounds increase and waistline expands,,, it's a brief season!

The Cookie Exchange...an annual, brilliant happening, brought by Sharon Feldt upon her arrival in town when she and husband John retired to Sulphur Springs. It's simple....ladies are invited on a certain Sunday afternoon in December to arrive, place three dozen homemade cookies on the dining table for donation, and then spend the rest of the afternoon eating and talking! There's truly no program, no obligatory salute or support of a cause, and practically no rules. Except laughter rules! John (as typical) made himself scarce (hunting?) and surrendered their Briarwood home to Sharon's friends (including the Blah-Blahs...kind of like the Ya Ya Sisterhood), and the cookies.

About 20 ladies attended, and so at three dozen cookies each, that made 620 cookies of a wide variety which were celebrated, (none eaten!) photographed and packaged for distribution to local first responders and emergency workers.

The refreshment table (really Sharon's kitchen island) was loaded with gorgeous Christmas-party treats, delectably displayed, and prepared as a thank-you for the bakers! As promised, the group was fed royally!

The hostess' living room Christmas tree served as a backdrop to express her appreciation for everyone who helped with the Cookie Exchange, and to introduce her "sisters" Judy Murphey and Linda Ferrell (the Blah Blahs) of their Southwest Texas University days from the 1970's. They really share a rich and funny history and remain close friends even though they live all over the state now. If you get an invitation to next year's Cookie Exchange, don't miss it! friends.)

Another unique Christmas-time event was the Corvette Club "Santa for Seniors Drive". With the assistance of Karon Weatherman, Director of the Senior Citizen's Center, blankets will be supplied to needy Sr's this holiday. If you'd like to help out, it's not too late! Call Karon at 903-885-1661.

There's plenty of need in Hopkins County! There's always a person or a family in need of the help you are able to give, in your own unique way. And it can truly be a blessing to both of you! Let us all display hearts that are willing to help others. May peace and love be your Christmas gifts, and your blessings all year through!

Until next week, get in the habit of saying " Merry Christmas!" to everyone you encounter, and keep the magic of Christmas growing. I'll be watching for you at the corral gate.

Merry Christmas
& Happy New Year!

Patsy Swayze

Mother of Patrick Swayze & Don Swayze

Yvonne Helen "Patsy" Swayze (February 7, 1927 – September 16, 2013) was an American film choreographer, dancer, and dance instructor. Her credits included the choreography for Urban Cowboy, Liar's Moon and Hope Floats. Her five children included the actors Patrick Swayze and Don Swayze. She has been credited with having trained Patrick in dance, leading to his starring role in Dirty Dancing in 1987.

Life and career

A native of Houston, Texas, and surrounding Harris County, Swayze was born Yvonne Helen Karnes (nicknamed Patsy) on February 7, 1927. Swayze was the daughter of Gladys Mae (Snell) and Victor Elliott Karnes. She married Jesse Wayne Swayze (1925–1982), an engineering draftsman. The couple had five children. The family lived on Wakefield Street in the Garden Oaks neighborhood of Houston. They later moved to another home on Del Norte Street.

Patsy Swayze's interest and career in dance began in the aftermath of a car accident as a child. Her mother had her take dances classes as part of her recovery.

Swayze founded the Houston Jazz Ballet Company and served as the ballet's director. She also opened a Houston dance studio, the Swayze School of Dance. Her son, Patrick, met his future wife, film director and actress Lisa Niemi, while they were enrolled as her students at the Swayze School of Dance. (The couple married in 1975). In addition to her own dance studio, Swayze taught dance and choreography at the University of Houston for eighteen years. Patsy Swayze's former students included future Emmy Award winner Debbie Allen, Randy Quaid, Jaclyn Smith and future ten-time Tony Award winner Tommy Tune.

Patsy Swayze transitioned to film by choreographing her first movie, Urban Cowboy, starring John Travolta and Debra Winger. The success of Urban Cowboy essentially launched her career as a film choreographer. In 1980, Patsy Swayze moved from Houston to southern California. She choreographed numerous films over the next three decades including Liar's Moon in 1982 and Hope Floats, directed by Forest Whitaker, in 1998. She teamed with her daughter-in-law, director Lisa Niemi, to choreograph the 2003 film, One Last Dance, which starred Niemi, Patrick Swayze and George de la Peña.

In addition to her film work, Swayze also directed a dance studio in Simi Valley, California, for more than twenty years.

Patsy Swayze suffered a stroke in September 2013. She died of stroke complications at her home in Simi Valley, California, on September 16, 2013, at the age of 86.

Mark Ballas

Dance Instructor, Dancing With The Stars

Mark Alexander Ballas, Jr. (born May 24, 1986) is an American dancer, choreographer, singer-songwriter, musician, and actor. Ballas is a professional ballroom dancer on the ABC program Dancing with the Stars. He began competing on the show in the fall of 2007. He was nominated for an Emmy for Outstanding Choreography in 2011. He is also a singer/songwriter/musician and released his first solo CD HurtLoveBox in March 2011.

Early life

Ballas was born in Houston, Texas, the son of dancers Corky Ballas and Shirley Ballas (née Rich). His paternal grandparents were of Mexican, Spanish, and Greek background, and his mother is English, originally from the United Kingdom. His paternal grandfather, George Ballas, was the inventor of the Weed Eater lawn-trimming device.

Ballas attended Rosemead Preparatory School in South London, and was in the same year as acclaimed British ballet dancer Max Westwell of the English National Ballet.

At the age of 11, he earned a full-time slot at the Academy, as well as earning a full scholarship to the college. In 2005, he was awarded "Performer of the Year". He then moved on to win championships at The British Open to the World, The US Open to the World, and The International Open to the World. With his former partner Julianne Hough, he won the Junior Latin American Dance Championship and the gold medal at the Junior Olympics.

As a youth, Ballas was a member of a pop singing trio called "2B1G"(2 Boys 1 Girl), along with Julianne Hough and Derek Hough.

Ballas' mother, an award-winning Latin American dancer, was recently featured on Dancing with the Stars.

As an actor, Ballas played the lead role of Tony in the musical Copacabana and was the lead dancer in the UK national tour of the Spanish musical Maria de Buenos Aires. He was also the understudy for the role of Ritchie Valens in the UK national tour of Buddy, The Buddy Holly Story. Ballas played an extra in Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone as part of the Hufflepuff House. In October 2008, Ballas made a guest appearance on the season premiere of Samantha Who. In September 2010, Ballas had a guest appearance on his former Dancing with the Stars partner Melissa Joan Hart's new series, Melissa & Joey.

Dancing with the Stars

On the fifth season of Dancing with the Stars, Ballas was partnered with Cheetah Girls star Sabrina Bryan. On October 30, 2007, the pair was voted off the show. They have been the only couple invited back for an exhibition dance. Ballas' partner for season 6 of Dancing With The Stars was Olympic Gold Medal-winning figure skater Kristi Yamaguchi. They won the series. On August 25, 2008, ABC announced the cast of the seventh season of Dancing with the Stars, with Ballas paired with reality television star Kim Kardashian. They were the third couple eliminated, finishing in eleventh place, on September 30, 2008. For the eighth season of Dancing with the Stars, Ballas was paired with Olympic gold-medal winning gymnast Shawn Johnson, winning that season's competition on May 19, 2009. He was partnered with actress Melissa Joan Hart for the show's ninth season. They were voted off in week six and came in 9th place. These were just the beginning.

Most folks whose age is within a quarter-century of my Uncle Mort's 103-plus years are happy to be moving at all. A few are willing to catch falling stars, tickled at the prospect of experiencing one final "whoosh," even if pointed downward.

Mort, though, places limits on his "wag-on-hitching." He's determined to seek trajectories aimed upward toward new heights. He continues to be an enigma, bearing head-on the challenge of "gearing up" to the year's hardest work during the holiday season while many other seniors relax.

that was before Aunt Maude laid down the law to "clean out" his workshop. It's a stance she always takes when contents fall from the windows and through door cracks, winding up in the backyard—"her space."

Mort knew she was serious when she set a deadline calling for "substantial progress" immediately.

And it's dead certain she'll be "judge and jury" in application of strictest definitions for "substantial" and "immediately."

Feeling the barbs of her threat, Mort got "high behind." He assigned numerous wooden items to a stack big enough to fuel a bonfire for a "thicket-wide," all-night wiener roast...

He envisions days between now and December 25 to be equivalent to the workload of Santa's elves. It's a strong claim by a guy committed to putting off until tomorrow what should be done today....

He recently vowed to join others in "taking it easy" as the holidays grow near. But
