WATCH OUT FOR HOLIDAY SCAMS

With the holiday season upon us, most people look forward to spending time with family and friends, eating great food and exchanging gifts. Unfortunately, there are individuals who prey upon people trying to celebrate the holidays. Common scams include online "phishing," gift card tampering, or bogus charity scams among others. The following tips are from the AARP on what to do if you've been victimized:

-File a police report. Go to your local police station and file a report about the fraud or scam so you can prove to your bank and credit reporting companies you've been scammed.

-Tell your credit card company and bank. If you are the victim of identity theft or some other financial scam, contact the fraud department at your credit card company and bank. You may have to close the account or the institution may just remove the fraudulent transactions.

-Report the fraud to the three credit reporting companies. Do this as soon as possible, especially if your personal information was used to take out a new credit line, make purchases, take out loans, or anything else that could affect your credit. Each credit reporting company has a fraud unit: Equifax: (800) 525-6285; Experian: (888) EXPERIAN or (888) 397-3742; TransUnion: (800) 680-7289.

-Gather evidence. In addition to the police report, save what you can related to the suspected fraud. Having items such as letters/emails of solicitation, prospectuses, cancelled checks, cash receipts, receipts for cashier's checks or money orders, bank statements, investment statements, or medical statements could help you get your money back or protect yourself from further victimization.

For further assistance, call the Fraud Watch Network Hotline to speak one-on-one with a highly trained AARP volunteer Fraud Fighter. They are standing by to offer peer counseling, support, and referral services to fraud victims and their family members. Call toll-free: 877-908-3360.
