Someone Else

Our church was saddened to learn this week of the death of one of our most valued members, Someone Else. Someone's passing creates a vacancy that will be difficult to fill. Else has been with us for many years and for every one of those years, Someone did far more than a normal person's share of the work.

Whenever there was a job to do, a class to teach, or a meeting to attend, one name was on everyone's list, "Let Someone Else do it." Whenever leadership was mentioned, this wonderful person was looked to for inspiration as well as results; "Someone Else can work with that group."

It was common knowledge that Someone Else was among the most liberal givers in our church. Whenever there was a financial need, everyone just assumed Someone Else would make up the difference.

Someone Else was a wonderful person; sometimes appearing superhuman. Were the truth known, everybody expected too much of Someone Else. Now Someone Else is gone! We wonder what we are going to do.

Someone Else left a wonderful example to follow, but who is going to follow it? Who is going to do the things Someone Else did?

When you are asked to help in your local church this year, remember -- they can't depend on Someone Else anymore. Many hands make little work!

Prayer: Father let me be someone you can count on and not someone else. In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen!

Eagles 4420 Thanksgiving Dinners

The Fraternal order of Eagles 4420 made our annual visit to the Pittsylvania County School Board Office Monday November 21 to deliver 26 dinners for distribution to families for Thanksgiving. Members of the Eagles shopped for, packed the dinners in boxes and loaded them in our trailer for the ride to Chatham. The Eagles wish everyone a safe and happy Thanksgiving. Pictured are left to right Pittsylvania School Superintendent Mark Jones, Eagle member Kathy Moorefield Dodson, Past President Tony Pass, Vice President Bobby Walker, Secretary Ann Farmer and Trustees Kay Duncan and Jerry Shelton. by cindy elavsky as to what we can expect? -- Paula T., Birmingham, Alabama

A: Hulu did indeed order a second season of this thrilling drama, and starts streaming the first episode Jan. 25. "The Path" follows the Meyerist Movement as its followers try to make sense of Dr. Meyer's (Keir Dullea) mysterious departure.

Q: Oh, my gosh! I can't believe the cliffhanger for "How to Get Away with Murder"! Please tell me I don't have to wait until next fall to see how this all pans out. -- Nancy F., via email

A: You won't have to wait TOO long for "HTGAWM" to return. Right now, the show is on winter hiatus and will return to ABC on Thursday, Jan. 19, at 10/9c. SPOILER ALERT: I can't wait to see the aftermath of Wes' (played by Alfred Enoch) grisly death, discover who killed him and placed him in Annalise's (Viola Davis) house before caught it fire, and see the events that led up to poor Waitlist's demise.

I also am thrilled to report that Jan. 19 marks the return of "Scandal," which makes its sixth-season premiere right before-hand at 9/8c. You might recall that "Scandal" was scheduled for a mid-season debut this year to accommodate star Kerry Washington's real-life pregnancy. However, this does mean that it will be a slightly shorter season -- 16 episodes instead of 22. I don't think that's necessarily a bad thing, though: To me, it just means that every episode will have that much more bang for the buck, and I can't wait!

Q: Will "The Path" be back for another season? If so, can you give me any hints Tormented by strange visions, Eddie (Aaron Paul) struggles with a new life in the secular world, while Sarah (Michelle Monaghan), despite her skepticism of Cal (Hugh Dancy), now stands beside him as Co-Guardian of the Light. When Sarah finally learns of Cal's dark past, she buries the truth for the betterment of the Movement. Cal and Sarah, now closer than ever, strive to atone for their misdeeds, while Eddie, confronted with the meaning of his visions, discovers the truth of Dr. Meyer's departure.

Q: Is it true that "The Lion King" is being remade? Why? The movie is perfect as is. -- Kelli Y., via email

A: Actor-director-producer Jon Favreau, who brought us the live-action remake of "The Jungle Book" this past April (and it was recently announced that he is making a sequel), is at the helm of the live-action remake of "The Lion King." Walt Disney Studios has stated that the reimagining is on the fast track to production and will include the songs from the original -- written by Elton John, Tim Rice and Hans Zimmer -- including the Oscar-winning "Can You Feel the Love Tonight."

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was noted American playwright and essayist Arthur Miller who gave the following sage advice: "Don't be seduced into thinking that that which does not make a profit is without value."

* In the early 20th century, celebrated racehorse Man o' War won 20 of his 21 career races. Interestingly, his one loss (often attributed to a terrible start and the extra weight he was carrying) was to a horse named Upset.

* Statistically speaking, you probably live within 320 miles of the place you were born.

* Have you ever experienced a social situation in which you have to introduce someone, but you can't quite remember their name? In Scotland, there's a word to describe the hesitation caused by that moment of panic: a tartle.

* According to a poll conducted by outdoor recreation retailer Half Mountain, almost half of all hunters have some kind of ritual they observe to increase their chances for a lucky hunt. Some hunters go the entire season without shaving, some start each hunt at a particular time, some kiss the first bullet, some do an "anti-rain" dance -- the variations are endless.

* Getting married soon, but working with a tight budget? If you're considering cutbacks, you might not want to put the honeymoon on the chopping block. Researchers have found that couples who go on a honeymoon tend to have longer-lasting marriages than those who skip the trip -- no matter how much or how little you spend.

Thought for the Day: "If I seem to take part in politics, it is only because politics encircles us today like the coil of a snake from which one cannot get out, no matter how much one tries. I wish therefore to wrestle with the snake." -- Mahatma Gandhi under that tree. The Claymation Rudolph Christmas special was something we never missed.

"Holidays And Heartaches"

Very early on in life I had developed within me a very idealized view of the holidays. We really did not have much at all growing up; I was a child in a single-parent home. Nonetheless, my mother somehow always managed to make sure that Thanksgiving and Christmas were special times.

Eggnog. We always had eggnog from Thanksgiving to Christmas. We had a small real tree, with a root ball, that I had to plant in the yard as of December 26. We always waited till just a few days before Christmas to get it, so it could be gotten for next to nothing. The tree had cheap plastic balls and multi-colored lights. Despite our ultra-limited resources, there were somehow always a few gifts

We were in church even more than our usual every Sunday morning/every Sunday night/ every Wednesday night routine. That would be because of the practices for the church Christmas play. Now, all grown up, the holiday season has lost none of its luster to me. At forty-six years old, I feel more like a kid than ever from the very moment the Thanksgiving turkey gets hauled out of the oven.

But I am now much more acquainted with something as an adult than I ever was as a child; the holidays are often a time of deep heartache.

Some years ago we were in the hospital all day on Christmas, mourning with some friends who lost a baby on that very day. This year, in areas that I spend a great deal of time in or near, people are grieving. In one instance, it is from six precious children who lost their lives in a school bus crash. In another, a sixteen year old girl took her own life by jumping off of a bridge into traffic. In another, some personal friends are facing the holidays without their husband/son/father, a local police officer who was murdered in the line of duty just a few weeks ago. There is never, ever a "good time" to the human mind or heart for such things to happen, but somehow, having them happen so near to the holidays only adds to the grief.

People wonder what to say. I am not sure "saying" is always even a good option. When Job suffered the most devastating series of losses, his three friends spent seven days saying nothing, just sitting quietly with him and mourning alongside him. It was when they started "saying" that things began to get even worse.

Doing. Doing is probably better in most cases. Doing does not let us run the risk of saying things that are probably not true and will only add to the hurt, things like "I understand."

So what can all of us or any of us do?

To begin with, we can pray. We do not understand, or feel the depths of what others feel, but according to Hebrews 4:15-16, we can reach One who does. Tens of thousands of people cannot crowd into a home to offer comfort, but tens of thousands of people can reach out to the One who can give peace that passes understanding.

We can also give. There are always needs associated with tragedies. Money, blood, time, a card, a meal, whatever will be of practical use to mind, heart, or body. James 2:15-16 says, "If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body; what doth it profit?"

We can also listen. Hurting people are often helped more by this simplest thing than by most anything else. And that truth brings me to something I would love for everyone to know: no matter what you are facing, somewhere out there is a person willing to listen. Talk to a pastor, a family member, a friend, even a professional counselor if needed. Please, please do not feel like you have to face the darkness alone.

Do you feel like you will be a bother? Then let me give you another way to look at it. You are simply getting help for yourself now so that you will be able to help someone else later. For their sake, get that help.

This is what commitment looks like...

FLASHBACK

POP ROCK & SOUL TRIVIA BY NICK HARPER

1. Which Chattanooga group was originally called The Roosters?
2. Name the Canadian group that netted its second gold record with "Laughing."
3. Who released "Tiger Feet" in 1974?
4. Which Heatwave song made it to the R&B charts in 1977?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "The old house is still standing tho' the paint is cracked and dry, and there's that old oak tree I used to play on."

Answers

1. The Impressions. The group was inducted into the 1998 Grammy Hall of Fame for their hit "People Get Ready."
2. The Guess Who, in 1969. It came out first on their "Canned Wheat" album.
3. Mud. The song played a part in the 2012 Summer Olympics opening ceremony in London.
4. "Boogie Nights," later covered by KC and the Sunshine Band.
5. "Green, Green Grass of Home," by Tom Jones in 1966. In the song, a man dreams that he's back at his childhood home, but awakes to find himself a prisoner on death row. The song was first released on the country charts in 1965, but it was Jones who made it a worldwide No. 1 hit.

Welcome to Lennox Valley, my hometown!

Kevin Slimp's

The Good Folks of Lennox Valley

Valley residents demand FAIR ELECTION!

What better way than to watch our youth display their prize-winning animals, ride a Ferris wheel, or see our favorite entertainers in person?"

"This week," she continued, "we will enjoy our fair, but at the same time we have important business at hand." She was, of course, writing about the mayoral election.

"Let me suggest," she wrote, "we face reality and see Raymond Cooper for who he really is."

She went on to detail Cooper's antics, from the egg price-fixing scheme to his conversion at the Lutheran church.

"Join me," she continued, "in voting for Dick Bland for mayor of Lennox Valley." She concluded her editorial, "When election day is over Thursday evening, we can all take a collective breath and enjoy our children, our fair and our community in the way they are meant to be enjoyed."

The third memorable event was, of course, the FFA judging. As much as I had prepared for this day, in my heart I wanted Mary Ann to win. As I sat in my stall trimming the wool on Archibald's legs, I could see Mary Ann brushing Snowflake after bringing her in from a bath.

The livestock were kept in a barn next to the Pavilion, which housed displays from gutter companies, real estate agents and the John Deere dealer from Springfield. The Pavilion was usually relatively quiet, with folks walking through to look at displays and fill out cards, hoping to win a used car, ironing board, or some other valuable prize.

The fair gates opened on Wednesday at 11 a.m., allowing folks to wander through and look over livestock before competitions began at 2 p.m. Generally not much happened before the competitions, but this was no normal year. At noon there seemed to be a commotion in the Pavilion, and everyone began to head that way.

When I got to the Pavilion, I could barely believe my eyes. There was Raymond Cooper, beginning his live broadcast of "Renderings with Raymond" from the Spring County Fair.

As an excited fair-goer handed her baby to the candidate, Raymond pronounced, "You know, I've heard Dick Bland doesn't like babies."

Seated at a table next to the standing Cooper, Marvin Walsh belted, "I heard he hates puppies and kittens, too!"

Now here's a tip! by Jo Ann Derson

* When crumbs gather in the cracks of your keyboard, turn it upside down and give it a good shake to remove most. Then, use the sticky side of a Post-it note dragged between the keys to clean out the rest.

* "Save large platters that come with holiday trays to use when bringing cookies or baked goods to other parties. That way you don't have to bring home a platter, you can just leave it and pass it on." -- E.G. in Kansas

* "Schedule haircuts and nail appointments to coincide with holiday parties. Then you won't have to worry about doing your hair. It will still look nice from your beautician appointment." -- A.I. in Indiana

* "I find that the best conversation starter when visiting a large group of family or friends is a box or basket of photos. It is inexpensive to print copies, and I have all my old photos scanned anyway. Bringing them in a basket rather than in an album works because we pass them around, and people can take photos home with them. Sometimes, a picture will inspire a story, and I might write it down on the back of the photo to remember it and tuck it away. It's more than worth the $10-$15 it costs to print pictures." -- L.W. in Virginia

* Try substituting cream cheese for sour cream in your mashed potatoes for a dreamy, creamy alternative. Whip in with a mixer and enjoy.

* Write return addresses on the back of holiday cards before disposing of the envelope. They can be tucked away for next year's holiday cards list.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Social Security, VA Join Forces

The Department of Veterans Affairs is partnering with Social Security to speed up applications for Social Security disability by sending personal medical information over the Internet. They'll send this information via the Virtual Lifetime Electronic Record (VLER) Program. The VA currently sends health info to 775 hospitals, 427 health centers, 142 nursing homes, 8,441 pharmacies and nearly 12,000 clinics. Social Security now joins the list of recipients of personal health data. If you ever see a community health-care provider, you'll be asked to sign a Form 10-0485 giving permission for your information be shared with the VA over the Internet. Here are a couple of Q&As from a brochure about the program:
 * Can I choose to share only certain part of my health information? No, at least not right now.
 * Is my information secure? Yes, because it is sent through the Internet using The Sequoia Project's eHealth Exchange. It's a national network for secure sharing of medical information that covers 50 percent of all hospitals in the U.S. Here's what I would like to know:

 * If the VA and SSA are now working together, will everyone have to sign that consent form to have medical information forwarded over the Internet to the Social Security offices?
 * What about the medical opinions of outside doctors who were consulted for VA appeals? Will those files be included, and how?
 * If the outside doctor's opinion was used in the Social Security decision to provide disability benefits, will the VA then have to use that information in its own decisions?
 * If only an electronic record at the VA exists, how is the veteran to see what is being sent to Social Security?
 If you want to know more about this, go online to www.va.gov/VLER

Coca-Cola Tray

Q: I have a Coca-Cola tray from 1924 entitled "Touring Car," which I believe is worth in the $500-$750 range. Stamped on the back is information that it was manufactured by the Ohio Art Company under license from the Coca-Cola Company. Where can I sell it? -- Frances, Rio Rancho, New Mexico
A: Your tray is not an original, but rather a reproduction from 1988. It was sold in a set of four: "Touring Car," "Village Blacksmith," "Sea Captain" and "1908 Calendar Girl." A reproduction is worth much less than an original item. I found the set of four Coca-Cola trays on eBay sealed and in factory packaging for $75. I also found a single "Touring Car" tray offered for $11 at the same site. One of the better reference books is "Petretti's Soda Pop Collectibles and Price Guide" by Allan Petretti and published by Krause Books. ***

Q: I have a Mary Hartline doll that I played with during the early 1950s. It is the Mary Hartline majorette doll, but the one I have is missing its baton. I would like to know its current value. -- Rita, Monroe, North Carolina
A: Mary Hartline was born Oct. 19, 1926, in Hillsboro,

Illinois. She eventually became a fashion model. In 1949, Hartline was hired to appear in the network TV show "Super Circus." It was a big hit. During the 1950s she became the inspiration for a series of games and toys, including dolls. Your majorette doll would be worth about $75 IF it had its baton and was in reasonable condition. ***

Q: I have a Mighty Mouse cereal bowl that I used as a child during the 1970s. What can you tell me about it? -- Ken, Beaumont, Texas
A: Mighty Mouse was the rodent equivalent of Superman. He was created by Paul Terry and was one of the best-known Terrytoon characters. He made his first appearance in 1942 as Supermouse, and was renamed Mighty Mouse in 1944. According to the "Official Hake's Price Guide of Character Toys" by Ted Hake and published by House of Collectibles, your cereal bowl was made in 1977 by Deka Plastic, Inc., and is valued in the $10-$35 range.

1. Which Chattanooga group was originally called The Roosters?
2. Name the Canadian group that netted its second gold record with "Laughing."
3. Who released "Tiger Feet" in 1974?
4. Which Heatwave song made it to the R&B charts in 1977?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "The old house is still standing tho' the paint is cracked and dry, and there's that old oak tree I used to play on."

- Answers
1. The Impressions. The group was inducted into the 1998 Grammy Hall of Fame for their hit "People Get Ready."
 2. The Guess Who, in 1969. It came out first on their "Canned Wheat" album.
 3. Mud. The song played a part in the 2012 Summer Olympics opening ceremony in London.
 4. "Boogie Nights," later covered by KC and the Sunshine Band.
 5. "Green, Green Grass of Home," by Tom Jones in 1966. In the song, a man dreams that he's back at his childhood home, but awakes to find himself a prisoner on death row. The song was first released on the country charts in 1965, but it was Jones who made it a worldwide No. 1 hit.
