At The Corral Gate

The weekend was split between the old and the new...October's gusty goodbye and November's soggy entrance. I understand though, that Halloween wasn't dampened, and that once-a-year night is just as exciting for today's new generation of "techno-kids" as it was for us country bumpkins back when. Youthful enthusiasm is timeless when it comes to dressing up, and even adults like to put on the dog and strut a little bit after dark. The flocks of families I observed trick-or-treating in the well-decorated Azalea Lane neighborhoods in Sulphur Springs were there for 1. the candy, and 2. to be seen. Costumes were over-the-top amazing and appeared to be anywhere from specialty-store shopping to closet-raiding. Even homes where the family planned to be out that night showed a little panache in decorating their door for trick-or-treaters.

How often does Sulphur Springs rate a Red Carpet Premier of a movie? Well, about once a year, actually! The team of Michael Brown and Eric King were back with a force of talented friends for the showing of "A Man Called Jon" on Sunday November 1 at Shannon Oaks Church.

The full-length feature is a faith-based film telling the story of Jon Carson, a pastor and family man with a spirit-begotten celebration style of preaching that hasn't fit in well at his previous church assignments. He is (mistakenly) sent to an all-black church and is embraced by the congregation there. The error is soon discovered, however, and Jon is re-assigned again. That's when prayers and faith begin to work to bring him "home" once more. Congratulations to these two young men, their cast and crew for making it possible for us to believe that family, faith-based entertainment can be successful. They have two others to their credit, "Hiding in Plain Sight" filmed in 2013 in Dallas and "Steps of Faith" filmed in Sulphur Springs in 2014. See the movie trailers, get DVD order information and more at kingandbrownenterprises.com and on Facebook at amancalledjon.

Enola Gay with Co-producer Eric King and members of cast and crew of "A Man Called Jon"

Do you remember the country/southern soul music group "Mason Dixon" from the 1980's and 90's? A former member of the group is now a resident of the Lake Fork area. Terry "Caz" Casburn joined the band in 1989 and provided vocals and bass guitar on recordings and in concerts through 1993 when the members stopped touring together. His love for songwriting placed him in good stead during the Mason Dixon years and afterward. Along the way, he followed a practical career in the medical field, and later moved with his wife to Northeast Texas. Terry has stayed "in the business" doing voice-overs and recording work at his home studio, and recently has begun to appear at churches and select venues. I caught him at the Greenpond Missionary Baptist Church on a Revival night, where he shared his talent on acoustic guitar with original ballads. It's a pleasure to meet a music professional who is also such a nice person. Terry's former Mason Dixon band member, Frank Gilligan, is booked to perform soon in Winstboro at The Bowery. That should be a treat!

We are entering the mellow time of year now. Although it seems like 2015 just started, it's now almost over. Time to count the many blessings we have enjoyed, and take a look at things we may have forgotten to do this year, or ways we might share with others while we can. Let's all take time to remember those less fortunate than ourselves. See you at the corral gate!

THE OCARINA PLAYS MORE THAN YANKEE DOODLE

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

I run into surprises on a regular basis. I was surprised when I interviewed Chris Gale a few years ago and heard her play classical music on an ocarina. I was surprised last Saturday night when I attended the 3rd Annual International Ocarina Festival in Allen. Chris and her husband arranged it.

The main concert was in the Allen Public Library Auditorium, which is a state of the art facility with excellent acoustics. It was full of people, many of whom were curious about having an ocarina festival in the first place. The audience members were not disappointed. They were amazed to see accomplished, educated and talented musicians dressed in formal attire play beautiful music on an instrument that was once considered by some to be a toy. The principal performers were from China, Norway, Japan and Texas. During World War Two, GI's carried ocarinas and played simple tunes on them. The instrument was called "sweet potato" because of its shape.

The ocarina, pronounced with a full OH to start (not AH), is in an ancient flute family that dates back 12,000 years. It's a small, enclosed space with four to twelve finger holes and a mouthpiece that projects from its body. Both the Mayans and Aztecs had versions of the ocarina, made of clay or ceramic. Today an ocarina is made of several materials including plastic, wood, metal and glass. The modern ocarina dates back to the 1800's when Giuseppe Donati of Budrio, a town near Bologna, Italy transformed the simple instrument into a more comprehensive one. The word ocarina, in the Bolognese dialect, translates into "little goose." In 1998 the ocarina began being featured in video games. For centuries it has been an important instrument in Oriental music.

At the concert, Milt Ocarina of Japan, considered to be the best ocarina player in the world, amazed the crowd with his jazz, classical and oriental stylings. He looks like a rock star and was extremely popular with the audience. I interviewed him through an interpreter, since he doesn't speak English. Neither did the player from Norway, whose wife interpreted for him. Itsuki Shion of Japan sang as well as played her ocarina. Cornell Kinderknecht of Dallas wooed the crowd with his humor and ability to play the ocarina, toy whistle and Indian flute. Jingya Liu looked and sounded elegant on stage. She teaches ocarina in Beijing. The concert featured duets and solos and ended with an ensemble of ocarina players on stage playing a piece they had rehearsed both individually (before the festival) and as a group (after the festival started).

The day after the main concert on Saturday, there was an ensemble practice, ocarina lessons lectures and demonstrations on the instrument and its history. Another concert in the afternoon wrapped up the festival. I was impressed with the high degree of talent, but most impressed with the love and respect the players had for each other. There is plenty of music composed for the ocarina and sheet music for the players. You can google the US Ocarina Association for more details.

Bonnie Lantz ~ email: blantz52@yahoo.com

Virginia Ruth Holley

Virginia Ruth Daniels Holley left this world to be with her Lord on Nov. 1, 2015. She was born Aug. 21, 1925, in Cuervo, N.M., to the parentage of Huey Castleton Daniels and Maggie Barker Daniels. She was the middle child of 11 children, all raised in Tucumcari, N.M. She married Horace Dennis Holley, Sr. in Dallas.

Virginia was a homemaker and accomplished seamstress. Known as "Nanny" to many youngsters in Commerce, she attended all of her son's/grandsons' baseball games from little league to high school. Her father played minor league ball in Dallas, which sparked her love for the game. Since her beloved Rangers were not in the World Series, she rooted for the Kansas City Royals this year. Virginia was a lifetime Congregational Methodist member and attended Church of the Nazarene in Commerce.

She is survived by her children, Barbara Holley Leonard of Commerce, Brenda Estes and husband Richard of Fairlie; H.D. "Butch" Holley Jr. and wife Debbie of Commerce, Doris Alexander of Plano, and Ruth Leake of Plano; seven grandchildren, David Isom and wife Shannon of Campbell, Amber Estes Porterfield and husband Jay of Murphy, Ashley Gillham Johnson and husband Brent of Paris, Colby Estes of Paris, John Holley of Carrollton, Dennis Holley of Corpus Christi and Jordan Estes Conner and husband Jeremy of Commerce. Four great-grandsons; nine great-granddaughters; two sisters, Dorothy Beevers of Melrose, N.M., and Kathryn White of Dallas; and a host of nieces, nephews, extended family and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Horace Dennis Holley Sr.; her parents, H.C. and Maggie Daniels; a son, A.G. "Tex" Holley; brothers Irvin, Alvin, James and Tom Daniels, sisters Mamie Wooten, Lena Daily, Mildred Daniels and Marie Beevers; and four infant siblings. Her funeral service was at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 4, in the chapel of the Jones-Walker & Son Funeral Home with Rev. Jay Porterfield officiating. Interment followed at Mount Zion Cemetery in Cumby. Those wishing to make donations may do so to Children's Medical Center of Dallas, 1935 Medical District Drive, Dallas, 75235.

A Salute To Our Veterans....

On the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918, an armistice, or temporary cessation of hostilities, was declared between the Allied nations and Germany in the First World War, then known as "the Great War." Commemorated as Armistice Day beginning the following year, November 11th became a legal federal holiday in the United States in 1938. In the aftermath of World War II and the Korean War, Armistice Day became Veterans Day, a holiday dedicated to American veterans of all wars.

The Sulphur Springs Downtown Business Alliance

Presents the 10th Semi-Annual

History By Foot

with John Sellers

Join us for a walking tour of downtown Sulphur Springs and discover the history of some of our historical buildings and landmarks and learn what events took place where!

This tour will begin by the flagpole in the center of the Celebration Plaza (square). We will stroll down College Street and will see the historic Presbyterian Church, down to Jackson Street and over to Jefferson Street by Payne Electric then back up Jefferson to the square. Lots of interesting buildings in this area that we have not explored! Did you know we had an Opera House on Jefferson Street?

Transportation will be available for those of you who have trouble walking.
Join us for a fun and learning experience!

Tour is $10
