At The Corral Gate

By Enola Gay

The word "summer" has numerous meanings. For us in this part of the world, it can mean the student break between school semesters, like between Memorial Day and Labor Day. Summer can refer to our vacation season. It can mean the weather period between June 21 and September 21 which is the "official" summer season. It can refer to June, July and August on the calendar.

And the word "summer" can also mark an indefinite period of time when an important event occurred. We might mention "the summer I learned to ride my bike" or "the summer I fell in love". But actually, it didn't take all summer to happen, more accurately only a portion of one day, or maybe only a moment! Summer is often a label for memories, like when we remember "that summer we got indoor plumbing" or the "summer that we got married". In this case, the event was anticipated, then it happened and then it became a memory which we associate with a hot-weather time frame. There are probably many more ways we Texans use the word "summer". For most of us, it's a season filled with milestone memories, both good and not-so-good. Is that because we have so much summer where we live?

Summertime often means a trip to Grandma's house. My 5-year-old grandson Jonathan (J.J.) Glover has learned that you always have to check the barn for surprises! This summer's treats included a litter of kittens and a new mule.

J.J. with Blackie and Festus

Back in July, a group of local teen singers took a trip to New York City. The "Haystack Summer Tour" saw the two-dozen singers performing a half-dozen free concerts for crowds and passers-by in Times Square and other busy locations. The group also did some sightseeing, including catching a Broadway show. The entire airport and flight experience was the first for a number of the youngsters. All in all, Choir Director Kevin Wooley and his wife Julie, Susan Hefner, assistant choir director and a dozen parent/chaperones felt that it was a powerful, positive experience for everyone. This Fall, Mr. Wooley will begin organizing the second semester of "Haystacks".

Susan Hefner, teacher at Rains ISD, Chasity Morgan (Mt. Vernon) Mason McGill, McKenzie Johnson, Monica Wartenbee, (all of Saltillo) Kevin Wooley, Saltillo ISD Supt.

August 21 will mark a true celebration for Celebration City! The Hopkins County Courthouse will turn 120 years old! There were at least two courthouses prior to the beauty we now enjoy, and they couldn't possibly have been nearly as grand! Our courthouse was built for $75,000 in 1895. Then in the year of 2000, with the help of a 3.5 million $ grant from the State of Texas, the courthouse got a 6 million $ renovation. Because of the celebration coming up, many downtown businesses are freshening up their look to get ready for the anticipated visitors.

The Millennium Shopper office always has an inviting doorway

Til next week, let's look for opportunities to do something good for someone, and to count our many, many blessings. And don't forget to honk when you pass the Corral Gate!

FAMOUS TEXANS

Selena Gomez

Actress - Singer - Fashion Designer

Selena Marie Gomez, born July 22, 1992, is an American actress, singer and fashion designer. Born and raised in Grand Prairie, Texas, she was first featured on the children's series Barney & Friends in the early 2000s. In 2007, Gomez came to prominence after being cast in the Disney Channel television series Wizards of Waverly Place. She portrayed the starring character Alex Russo until its conclusion in 2012. She formed her band Selena Gomez & the Scene after signing a recording contract with Hollywood Records in 2008; they released the studio albums Kiss & Tell (2009), A Year Without Rain (2010), and When the Sun Goes Down (2011) before beginning a hiatus in 2012.

Gomez entered the film industry with star billings in feature films including Ramona and Beezus (2010), Monte Carlo (2011), and Hotel Transylvania (2012). She embraced an increasingly mature public image with her star billing in the controversial film Spring Breakers (2013) and her debut solo studio album Stars Dance (2013). The latter project debuted at number one on the U.S. Billboard 200 and spawned the Billboard Hot 100 top-ten single "Come & Get It". Gomez was released from her recording contract with Hollywood Records following the completion of her greatest hits album For You (2014). She subsequently signed with Interscope Records to continue work on her second studio album.

Beyond entertainment, Gomez has ventured into other endeavors. She has worked with numerous organizations for charitable causes, and has most notably worked with UNICEF for several years. She formed her own production company, July Moon Productions, in 2008. In Fall of 2010, Gomez launched her clothing line "Dream Out Loud" through Kmart; the brand features all material that was made from eco-friendly or recycled material. In 2011, she released a self-titled perfume.

Selena Marie Gomez was born in Grand Prairie, Texas on July 22, 1992, to Ricardo Joel Gomez and former stage actress Amanda Dawn "Mandy" Cornett. Gomez was named after Tejano singer Selena Quintanilla-Perez. Her father is of Mexican descent while her mother, who was adopted, has some Italian ancestry. Regarding her Hispanic heritage, Gomez has stated, "My family does have Quinceañeras, and we go to the communion church. We do everything that's Catholic, but we don't really have anything traditional except [that we] go to the park and have barbecues on Sundays after church." Gomez's parents divorced when she was only five, with Gomez staying with her mother. Gomez has two siblings. Her sister, Gracie Elliot Teefey, was born to Amanda and her second husband Brian Teefey on June 12, 2013. Gomez has a second sister, Victoria Gomez, born to Ricardo and his wife Sara on June 25, 2014. She earned a high school diploma through homeschooling in May 2010.

When Gomez was born, her mother was sixteen years old. The family had financial troubles during Gomez's childhood, with her mother struggling to provide for the pair. At one point, Gomez recalled the pair had to search for quarters just to get gas for their car. Her mother later recalled the two would frequently walk to their local dollar store to purchase spaghetti for dinner, though got by. Gomez stated "I was frustrated that my parents weren't together, and never saw the light at the end of the tunnel where my mom was working hard to provide a better life for me. I'm terrified of what I would have become if I'd stayed [in Texas]." She later added "I remember having a lot of macaroni and cheese but my mom never made it seem like it was a big deal. She was really strong around me. Having me at 16 had to have been a big responsibility. My mom gave up everything for me, had three jobs, supported me sacrificed her life for me." Gomez had a close relationship with her grandparents as a child, and appeared in various pageants growing up. Her grandparents often took care of Selena while her parents finished their schooling, and the pair went as far as stating that they "raised her" up until she found success in the entertainment industry.

She first gained an interest in pursuing a career in the entertainment industry watching her mother prepare for stage productions. She began auditioning for various roles, meeting Demi Lovato during an audition for Barney and Friends. Both girls were later selected to appear on the series in 2002, with Gomez portraying the character Gianna. The show was her first experience in acting, with Gomez recalling "I was very shy when I was little. I didn't know what 'camera right' was. I didn't know what blocking was. I learned everything from Barney." Gomez appeared in fourteen episodes of the show throughout 2002 to 2004, though was let go by the show's producers as she was getting "too old" for the series. While working on the series, Gomez had a cameo role in the film Spy Kids 3-D: Game Over (2003) and the made-for-television film Walker, Texas Ranger: Trial by Fire (2005).

With experience now under her belt, Gomez auditioned for roles under the Disney channel company along with Lovato. Gomez made a guest appearance in a 2006 episode of the Disney series The Suite Life of Zack & Cody. The following year, Gomez was given a recurring role on the Disney series Hannah Montana; she made three appearances on the series spanning two seasons. During this time, Gomez filmed pilot episodes for two potential Disney Channel series; the first, titled Arwin!, was a spin-off to the Suite Life series, while the second was a spin-off to the series Lizzie McGuire. She later auditioned for a role in the Disney series Wizards of Waverly Place, ultimately landing the lead role of Alex Russo. Upon receiving the role, Gomez and her mother moved to Hollywood; Lovato and her family also moved with the pair, hoping to achieve similar success to Gomez. Wizards of Waverly Place saw Gomez portraying a teenage girl in a family of wizards who own a restaurant in New York. The series quickly became a hit for the network, propelling Gomez to more mainstream success. The series received numerous awards and nominations. Gomez recorded the theme song for the series, titled "Everything is Not What It Seems".

With Gomez achieving mainstream success, the media began to compare her to fellow Disney star Miley Cyrus; both had a hit series on the network. Various bloggers and sites began to depict the two as rivals, with rumors of a feud between the two continuing for multiple years. Despite this, both parties denied that there was any drama between the two. Following Demi Lovato's rise to fame through the Disney channel shortly afterwards, the three became referred to as the "Disney girls" and their careers were frequently compared to one another. Forbes magazine later listed Gomez as one of the "Eight Hot Kid Stars to Watch" in 2008. Further attention was drawn to Gomez when it was reported that she was in a relationship with fellow Disney star Nick Jonas. Gomez later appeared in the music video for the song "Burnin' Up" by the Jonas Brothers. This further fueled rumors of a feud between Gomez and Cyrus, as Nick and Cyrus had previously been a couple. She later appeared in an episode of the reality series Jonas Brothers: Living the Dream.

While working on the second season of Wizards of Waverly Place, Gomez appeared on the Disney channel special Studio DC: Almost Live alongside various other Disney stars. She contributed a cover of the song "Cruella de Vil" to the compilation album DisneyMania 6, and later recorded the original song "Fly to Your Heart" for the soundtrack of the animated film Tinker Bell. She had a leading role in the musical film Another Cinderella Story that same year, portraying an aspiring dancer. The film was released to generally positive reviews, and won the 2010 Writers Guild of America Award for Children's script-long form or special. Gomez recorded three songs for the soundtrack, and released the song "Tell Me Something I Don't Know" as a promotional single. Later that year, Gomez had the supporting role of Helga in the animated film Horton Hears a Who!. The film was a commercial success, and went on to gross nearly three hundred million dollars worldwide. She was signed a recording contract with Hollywood Records, who had already signed both Cyrus and Lovato.

Gomez launched her own production company, July Moon Productions. She partnered with XYZ Films for the project, giving Gomez the opportunity to option articles, hire writers and create talent packages to shop to studios. Gomez was slated to release two films under the company.

The first, known as What Boys Want, saw Gomez portray a girl who could hear the thought of men. She later announced the film Thirteen Reasons Why, which saw Gomez portray a young girl who commits suicide; ultimately, neither film was released.

Gomez continued to have mainstream success throughout the following year, appearing as Alex Russo in a crossover episode of the Disney series The Suite Life on Deck. She later made a guest appearance on the Disney series Sonny With a Chance, starring Lovato. She appeared in a remix of the Forever the Sickest Kids' single "Whoa Oh! (Me vs. Everyone)", released as a single in April of that year. The song peaked at number 78 on the Pop 100 chart in the United States. Gomez, along with Lovato, starred in the Disney Channel film Princess Protection Program, which aired in June 2009. The film was a critical success, and had a total of 8.5 million viewers during its premiere. For the film, Gomez and Lovato recorded the song "One and the Same",

DON WARREN ENTERTAINS BY HYPNOTIZING PEOPLE

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

When I first heard about The Cowboy Hypnotist I really didn't know what to think. Was it a joke? Was he a real cowboy? A professional psychologist? All the questions were answered when I interviewed him after one of his performances. I saw two of them and they are amazing. He is very good at what he does.

His shows are two hours long. Once he was on stage four hours at a high school after graduation party where the graduates spent the night in the school gymnasium heavily chaperoned by school officials and parents. At that event, he hypnotized about 200 students. "Some are real easy. I just look at them and they go under," says Don.

His fascination with the unusual form of entertainment came when he saw a hypnotist in Las Vegas. "It was the funniest thing I had ever seen," says Don. "I couldn't believe that this guy just with his voice could make people do crazy things." He went home and started studying hypnosis from books, the internet and Utube. He attended a five-day seminar on how to become a stage show hypnotist. When it was over, he called his wife. "I told her this is me. This is my true calling. This is what I want to do."

Don graduated from Permian High School in Odessa in 1977, went to work for Phillips Petroleum in 1980 and is within a few years of retiring. He used to have a band and played in honky tonks and beer joints in West Texas, so he's not new to show business. But he had this epiphany about hypnosis. He gathered up friends and family and rented the community center in Gardendale and put on a hypnosis show. He called about 75 people on stage and hypnotized 3 of them. "I was scared to death because I wasn't sure I could do it," says Don, "but the show was hilarious."

With his first show under his belt he decided to rent the banquet room at the Barn Door Restaurant in Odessa, invite the public and charge for tickets. That was on Valentine's Day of 2013. That show was a success, too and Don knew he was on to something. He has done nearly 40 shows since then and now hypnotizes about 60% of his volunteers. "I love doing it," he says. "I have more fun than anybody." He is looking forward to retirement so he can do his hypnosis fulltime, perhaps on cruise ships.

Don bills himself as the Cowboy Hypnotist. He looks more like a cowboy than a hypnotist. He wears blue jeans, a white shirt, boots and a western hat on stage and moves his 300-pound frame with ease. When he performs outdoors, his booming voice can get rid of a barking dog or coax a timid cowboy to wave his hands in the air like everybody else in the audience is doing. On stage, the people under his spell laugh, cry, get scared on a roller coaster and do dozens of things Don commands them to do. I saw a young man think he had given birth to a baby. Yes, a man. He even nursed the little one.

Don is a real cowboy. He and his wife have five horses on their property in Weatherford and they help neighbors do cow work. Don says he has always lived the western life. His website is thecowboyhypnotist.com.

When Tumbleweed Smith is not on the road looking for characters, he lives in Big Spring with his wife Susan. Contact him at ts@tumbleweedsmith.com
