At The Corral Gate

By Enola Gay

Across Hopkins County, there is a variety of native soils. Quite a bit of our county is sandy land, and a lot of it is prairie. My back yard is a fairly fertile, dark soil that was probably prairie once upon a time. I have come to believe that the vegetable gardens planted in sandy land fared better through our "monsoon" season than other types of soils did. I know of a garden in the sand at Brashear that is going great guns! Here's a picture of one of a dozen cabbage plants, taken about two weeks ago. This cabbage actually got a lot bigger and fuller than this picture shows, and it finished it's life cycle as part a lovely meal alongside a skillet of cornbread just this past weekend. The meal also included a wonderful plum cobbler, also from Hopkins County-grown fruit. At my mother's suggestion, I took the skins off the plums but left the seeds in the fruit. She was right, the flavor was excellent. You just had to be cautious of the seeds when eating it! I wish I'd taken a picture of the cobbler, but it's just a sweet memory now.

 Me, Hanna and my Mom

 Flower Garden!

 Beautiful Cabbage!

I'm not a full-fledged gardener, I'm only a dabbler. The same with quilting. I just dabble, but still manage to turn out one or two simple quilts each year. I had put together a baby quilt that needed to be finished in time for a grandbaby's expected arrival. Back in May, I took it with me to let the new mom have a little of the experience. So, with my direction and her sisters' help, Angela assembled the lining, batting and top, then did the basting, tacking and hemming. The quilt was mostly in pink and green prints and solids. Some of the prints came from clothing the girls had worn when they were younger. I like to think Angela likes it, possibly more than the expensive "store-bought" baby bedding that she's received as gifts. She said she may use it for a wall hanging later. Right now, she and Ben are playing the "waiting game" as little Ava Barnes is expected any day now!

I am making a point of treasuring time with my mother these days. I go and pick her up from her apartment on weekends and bring her to my house. Although she is not nearly as capable or quick as she once was, she is still willing and eager to offer help with cooking, jelly-making, sewing, and even gardening. Really, at age 91, she is more of an "armchair consultant" than a working partner. I had hoped that once she became a Hopkins County resident, she would like the idea of entering the "Ms. Hopkins County Senior Classic" pageant, so I could "show her off". But it is not to be, for she doesn't really like crowds. She's a plain, ole Texas gal from the country. What she likes is fishing with a cane pole, or spending a sunny spring day at home with the windows open, or rocking a grandbaby to sleep, or enjoying a home-cooked country dinner with a glass of sweet tea. Add a homemade coconut cake or a chocolate pie, and she feels positively rich! My mother is easy to please and comfortable to be around. I hope I can be that pleasant when I reach her stage of life. And I've got plenty to learn from her yet!

As we enter Summer 2015, let's look for the simple, good things that life has to offer. And let's be appreciative for them right here, where we are! I have a feeling that one day, we will remember each pleasure as more like a treasure. Until next week, I'll watch for you at the corral gate!

FAMOUS TEXANS

Matt Bomer

Film & Television

Matthew Staton "Matt" Bomer (born October 11, 1977) is an American actor. He made his television debut with Guiding Light in 2001, and gained recognition with his recurring role in the NBC television series Chuck as Bryce Larkin. He played the lead role of a con-artist in the USA Network series White Collar from 2009 to 2014. Bomer won a Golden Globe Award and received a Primetime Emmy Award nomination for his supporting role as Felix Turner in the HBO television film The Normal Heart (2014).

Matt Bomer

Bomer has also featured in supporting roles in such films as the 2005 thriller Flightplan, the 2011 science fiction thriller, "In Time", the 2012 comedy-drama, "Magic Mike", and the 2014 supernatural-drama, "Winter's Tale". He starred in the Dustin Lance Black play 8 on Broadway and at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre as Jeff Zarrillo, a plaintiff in the federal case that overturned California's Proposition 8. Bomer is married to the publicist Simon Halls with whom he has three children.

Bomer was born in Webster Groves, Greater St. Louis, Missouri, one of three children born to John Bomer, a former Dallas Cowboys draft pick, and his wife, Sissi (née Staton). He grew up in Spring, Texas, a suburb of Houston. Bomer attended Klein High School in Spring, Texas, with fellow future actor Lee Pace. Pace and Bomer both acted at Houston's Alley Theatre, a non-profit theatre company. In 2001, he graduated from Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree.

After graduating, Bomer moved to New York City, where he won the role of "Ian Kipling" on All My Children. From 2001 to 2003, he portrayed the role of Ben Reade on another daytime television soap opera, Guiding Light. He starred as Luc, Tru's (Eliza Dushku) ill-fated love interest, in Tru Calling (2003-2004), a supernatural, science-fiction television series on the Fox television network. Bomer appeared on North Shore (2004-2005), a primetime television soap opera, as well as in "Flightplan" (2005), a thriller film with Jodie Foster. In the slasher film "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre": "The Beginning" (2006), Bomer portrayed Eric, a Vietnam War veteran who is driving across Texas to re-enlist after his brother is drafted. The brothers run afoul of Sheriff Hoyt and are taken captive by the Hewitt family. He co-starred in Traveler (2007), a short-lived midseason replacement television series which premiered on ABC on May 30, 2007. He had a recurring role, as Bryce Larkin, on Chuck. On October 23, 2009, Bomer began starring in White Collar, which chronicles the partnership between a con artist, Neal Caffrey (Bomer) and an FBI agent, Peter Burke (played by Tim DeKay). Buddy TV ranked him first on its list of "TV's Sexiest Men of 2011" and third in 2012.

In September 2011, Bomer starred in the Broadway debut of Dustin Lance Black's play, 8, a staged re-enactment of the federal trial that overturned California's Proposition 8. In March 2012, he was featured in the Wilshire Ebell Theatre production as well, portraying Jeff Zarrillo, one of the plaintiffs in the trial. In October 2011, Bomer appeared in the science fiction thriller film In Time, in which he played a 105-year-old man, Henry Hamilton. In 2012, Bomer starred as Ken, a male stripper, in the feature film "Magic Mike". In 2014, he appeared in science-fiction black comedy film Space Station 76, directed by Jack Plotnick. He had a supporting role in the 2014 adaptation of Winter's Tale, directed by Akiva Goldsman.

In June 2013, Bomer was ranked at no. 2 on Logo's Hot 100 list, which is based on the votes of readers of the AfterEllen.com and TheBacklot.com. Bomer was the list's highest ranked man, behind only Jennifer Lawrence. In August 2013, it was announced that Bomer will provide his voice in the animated feature B.O.O.: Bureau of Otherworldly Operations for release in June 2015. In September 2013, it was announced that Bomer will play Montgomery Clift in a biopic about the Hollywood star.

Bomer has been married to publicist Simon Halls since 2011. The couple have three sons, including a set of twins, via surrogacy. He first publicly acknowledged that he was gay in 2012, when he thanked Halls and their children during an acceptance speech for his Steve Chase Humanitarian Award. Also in 2012, Bomer was given an Inspiration Award for his work at the GLSEN Awards.

Bomer, a practitioner of Transcendental Meditation since his early 20s, in 2013 stated his support for the work of the David Lynch Foundation.

Uncle Mort on aging

Commentary by Dr. Don Newbury

On a night when sleep was fitful, I caught the tail-end of a TV talk show. A guy quoted my Uncle Mort, who believes drinking buttermilk daily is the secret of his longevity.

Of all the claims I've heard Mort make—and there are many—none I recalled involved buttermilk.

First thing the next morning, I called my 102-year-old kin to share what I'd heard on TV....

"The guy quoted me correctly, nephew," he answered. "Actually, I've drunk a pint of buttermilk daily for more than 40 years." Scrambling, I told him I'd never heard of this drinking buttermilk, daily or otherwise. "Maybe you should have asked," he said sharply.

"I did hear once of a guy who believed drinking buttermilk daily assured living until age 100," I said. "But he died at 85."

"See what I mean?" Mort countered, "He didn't drink it long The water of 38 years has flowed under the bridge since I "stole" a hearse. Surely the statute of limitations has kicked in by now, thus this confession.

I am NOT, however, admitting guilt. Instead, I was the "victim" of yet another Groner Pitts prank. Friends who knew this merriest of morticians—who reigned in Brownwood for a half-century--also were "victimized" from time to time.

Yet, I never had a better friend, and Brownwood (TX) never had a greater ambassador. And thousands who followed his antics for three decades through the late George Dolan's daily columns in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram never lacked for laughs. Many were often ensnared in his web of tomfoolery. I'm probably the only "victim," however, to "steal" a hearse—one partially owned by Pitts himself....

The "pro's pro" among morticians, he had fitting first and last names (Groner? Pitts?). Even his initials (GAP) pointed to the grave. The Cleburne native conducted funerals with utmost dignity. To the Brownwood community, he was "Uncle Groner," the "go to" guy counted on by several hundred grieving families annually.

During slack time, however, he was helping college students...or assisting others who'd reached rope's end

(maybe striking out in Austin or Washington DC)... or co-signing bank notes... or—maybe this should head the list—plotting his next shenanigan.

He befriended me from my first enrollment at Howard Payne University. Though 15 years my senior, he was a fellow "trooper" in the Texas National Guard, and best man when Brenda and I married in Alpine almost 49 years ago. I was privileged to speak at his funeral in 2004. Upon his death, thousands of "Groner Pitts stories" were shared, locally and beyond....

Admittedly, I was an accomplice during many of his escapades. Yet, many times when pies were thrown toward him, they coated my face instead.

That's the way I choose to remember the day I "stole" the hearse. Had it happened today, I might have gone down in a hail of bullets, or, short of that, endured the indignity of arrest, the messiness of finger printing, the ordeal of a trial, etc. I might never have been a university president, but likely could have remained the "PR flack" at Tarrant County College, because my boss, Dr. Joe B. Rushing—a classmate of Groner's at Howard Payne—might have ruled in my favor. He KNEW Pitts well, and sometimes was a co-conspirator. It was indeed an era not unlike "Mayberry, RFD."...

GRADUATION TIME

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

Every once in a while I'm asked to be the speaker at a high school graduation. I love doing that because I've seen some colorful and different events. The graduates are always in a good mood and make a terrific audience.

Borden County High School in Gail asked me to speak at a baccalaureate service, something I had never done before. Baccalaureate is defined as a sermon to a graduating class.

The word sermon sort of scared me. Then I looked up that word. A sermon is defined as a religious discourse or a speech on conduct or duty. That made me breathe a little easier.

When I posted on my Facebook page that I was going to be speaking at a religious service, I received a note from someone telling me they could not make the baccalaureate service but wanted to know if I was going to be preaching the following Sunday.

I delivered the speech to the receptive fourteen graduates, their families and friends, who were there to let the youngsters know they are appreciated. The class of 2015 at Borden County High School has helped fill the already crowded trophy cases with awards in academics, the arts, athletics and agriculture. It was an honor to speak to such an accomplished class. The school campus is impressive.

I told the group to depend on divine guidance in some of their big decisions and to listen to the still small voices that come to us in strange times and places. I mentioned some of my own experiences in getting an education and heading out on life's journey.

Each graduate was given a large envelope containing my latest CD and a list of things that make for a successful life titled TUMBLEWEED'S RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS. Here are some of them: be a friend, help somebody, do what you love, don't be greedy, live in a place where you feel good, don't forget God, be thankful, whistle, smile, phone home, attend your high school reunions, make no small plans, ignore hassles and disappointments, listen, think, read, learn, be open to possibilities, concentrate on leaving a legacy of accomplishment, enjoy the view, learn another language, see as much of the world as you can, look at the big picture, meet as many people as you can, respect the rights and beliefs of others, take care of your teeth, don't interrupt, wave at children on school buses, keep your promises, guard your reputation, marry only for love, be community minded, be silly sometimes, don't be bashful, sing in the shower, be generous, don't gossip, don't expect money to make you happy, be forgiving, say thank you and please, dress nicely, stop blaming others, never give anyone a fruitcake, do nice things anonymously, vote, remember that peace, health and love are the real signs of success, be an example, be truthful and caring, enjoy homemade cookies, take a nap, show up, laugh.

The graduating class of 2015 at Borden County High School in Gail, Texas is extremely talented and intelligent. Most of them are entering college as sophomores.

Tumbleweed Smith is a historian, folklorist, and humorist who loves Texas and Texans. Contact him at ts@tumbleweedsmith.com
