Repeat intravenous treatment with low doses of the anesthetic drug ketamine quickly reduced suicidal thoughts in a small group of patients with treatment-resistant depression who had been experiencing suicidal thoughts for three months or longer according to a report in the Journal of Clinical Psychiatry. It is well known that having suicidal thoughts increases the risk that patients will attempt suicide, and the risk for suicide attempts is 20 times higher in patients with depression than the general population. The medications currently used to treat patients with suicidal thinking-including lithium and clozapine-can have serious side effects, requiring careful monitoring of blood levels; and while electroconvulsive therapy also can reduce suicidal thinking, its availability is limited and it can have significant side effects, including memory loss. Primarily used as a general anesthetic, ketamine has been shown in several studies to provide rapid relief of symptoms of depression. In addition to excluding patients who reported current suicidal thinking, many of those studies involved only a single ketamine dose.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Tecentriq (atezolizumab) to treat the most common type of bladder cancer, called urothelial carcinoma. Tecentriq is approved for the treatment of patients with locally advanced or metastatic urothelial carcinoma whose disease has worsened during or following platinum-containing chemotherapy, or within 12 months of receiving platinum-containing chemotherapy, either before (neoadjuvant) or after (adjuvant) surgical treatment. Urothelial carcinoma is the most common type of bladder cancer and occurs in the urinary tract system, involving the bladder and related organs. The National Cancer Institute (NCI) estimates 76,960 new cases of bladder cancer and 16,390 deaths from the disease in 2016.

Looking for Jesus

Last Sunday the teacher asked us all to look for Baby Jesus.
So I went to look, but not before I paused to write this thesis.

Look for baby Jesus? You want me to look?
I found Him long, long ago. He's right there in the Book.
Oh, you want me to look for Him outside the Bible story.
Do I get a star or angels from the realms of glory?
No? I have to look for Him alone? Alone? All by myself?
Is He real? My friend says He's more like a Christmas elf.
Ok, I'll take your challenge. I'll let you know next week.
I love good competition, even if it's hide and seek.

So, I made a conscious effort to find Him in our town.
I looked on streets and avenues. I searched up town and down.
And I found Him in a manger scene in my neighbor's yard.
I saw Him on a Christmas tree and in a Christmas card.
I almost heard Him in the carols playing o'er the shopping race.
Then I saw Him, without a doubt, in that Wal-Mart cashier's face.
When I walked into the church hall, I really had to smile.
He was in the gifts for kids you bought, that formed a mountain pile.
It seemed the more I looked for Him, the more times Him I found.
I don't want this game to end. I'll play it all year round.
Then I thought, "It's not a game. He's really everywhere.

I just need to take the time to seek and find Him there."
So, I'll go on past Christmas, and resolve in the coming year
To look and live for Jesus where I go, both far and near.
I'll look for Him in everyone
that I speak to or see,
And try to live in such a way that they see Him in me.

Thank You to Bob Burgess for allowing us to share his poem, which was inspired by Lee Berry and the Bill Shelton Sunday School Class at St. Andrew's United Methodist Church. Merry Christmas and Happy Hunting.

Free Bible Reading Schedule

This time of year many of us will be making those "New Year's Resolutions." Wouldn't it be great to determine to consistently and regularly read God's Word, the Bible? It was Jesus who said, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God (Matt, 4:4). "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path" (Psalm 119:104).

We have a 5-days-per-week reading schedule which will enable you to read through the entire Bible in one year. That is a resolution you will never regret! We will mail or email you this schedule for free: email leon.mauldin@gmail.com or phone/text 256-339-0755.

You Are Invited To Visit With The Hanceville Church of Christ.

Located at 812 Commercial Street. Beside The School

The Holy Bible is claimed to be believed, yet theories by man have made the Holy Law unacceptable for most church's so called Christian way. Scripture is used (Isaiah 9:6) to promote commercialism and lies to children and say it's of Christ. Yet scripture that refers to Satan being the father of lies (Jn 8:44) and Christ as a sword, not peace (Mt 10:34), is omitted. Many preach of truth, then for proof deny The Biblical Words of Christ, even the writings He defeated Satan with (Mt 4:4-10, Lk 4:4-8), and teach to defeat Satan by prayer. Some take away 38 books of the Holy Bible and say they are the church of truth. So Be It!
