

Community fund for long-term recovery needs to aid storm victims

Submitted

Early on the morning of Saturday, January 21, severe weather swept across the Pine Belt area, spawning tornadoes that killed four people and injured many more. Extensive damage has been reported to many homes and businesses, including William Carey University. Mayor Johnny DuPree has signed an emergency declaration for Hattiesburg due to significant injuries and structural damages.

“Several years ago the Foundation opened the Pine Belt Community Disaster Fund to help disaster victims in times of need like this,” said Theresa Erickson, Executive Director of the Greater PineBelt Community Foundation. “The Disaster Fund is a long-term recovery fund designed to provide financial relief for those who lost homes and property.”

The PineBelt Community Foundation will partner with R3SM, Restore Recover and Rebuild Southeast MS, who will work with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and Mississippi Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) to provide case workers and case investigators to help those in who will have long-term recovery needs. Any monies raised will help victims in the Pine Belt area with long-term recovery needs.

In addition, our area is very blessed to have several organizations that assist with immediate needs like the American Red Cross, Salvation Army and, of course, many of our churches. If you want to help with immediate needs or volunteer, please contact the Red Cross at 601.582.8151 or go to the Red Cross office at 2020 Hardy Street. Volunteers also can go to the Ben McNair Center at 300 N. 12th Ave. After a disaster, the Red Cross provides safe shelter, food, emergency relief supplies, emotional support and health services to people in need.

3D archery competition season begins

By Linda Cranford

This Saturday, January 28, 50 to 80 archers will gather at the Laurel Bowhunters Club on Major Ulmer Road in Jones County for the first 3D archery shoot of the 2017 season. Steve Gettie with Vern Gettie Western Auto in Ellisville will be among those participating in the shoot. Gettie has been shooting both compound bow and the traditional recurve bow for approximately 30 years and says he prefers the traditional recurve. He said archery is similar to golf in that it is an individual sport and requires the same dedication and focus on developing and practicing your form. And, like golf, it’s a mind game.

“Form is everything,” exclaimed Gettie. “If you don’t have good form, you’re not going to be as competitive. It’s a mind game, too, just like golf. If your equipment gets out of adjustment, or your form is off, a lot can happen until you figure out what’s going on.”

Archery has been around for hundreds of years, but what is 3D Archery? It is not using a bow and arrow to shoot at a traditional round target, but instead the archer shoots at a 3D foam game animal target such as deer, badger, antelope, bear, tiger, or even a prehistoric animal. The sport began as a way bow hunters could practice shooting at life-like targets in their hunting environment with all the natural obstacles such as small tree limbs, which can send an arrow flying away from its target.

These 3D animal targets are placed in various settings throughout the woods or in a field. Each round consists of 20 targets, like the 18 holes of golf. But, unlike golf, the shooters only have one shot at each target on the course. There are different colored markers at each target signifying where the shooters will shoot from depending on their class, which includes gender, skill level, and type of bow being used. For example, an adult male skilled shooter using a recurve bow would shoot from a distance of 25 feet, whereas younger shooters, females, and less skilled shooters will shoot from shorter distances. This allows for a larger variety of shooters to be able to compete.

There are two organizations that set their own competition divisions and scoring systems – the Archery Shooters Association (ASA) and the International Bowhunting Organization (IBO). The Laurel Bowhunters Club participates in ASA sanctioned competitions and thus follows the ASA competition divisions and scoring system. On each 3D game animal target there are scoring rings framing the vitals “kill shot” area of the animal. With the ASA scoring system, any arrow landing outside this area is worth 5 points. Inside the large vitals area, is a smaller circle and three even smaller circles. The two most inner circles are worth 12 points, the next-size circle is worth 10 points and any arrow hitting outside the 10 ring, but inside the large vitals ring, is worth 8 points. Sometimes, there is another circle in a corner of the 8-point area that is worth 14 points at tournaments that allow them.

Gettie said he became interested in archery 30 years ago when a couple of his buddies introduced him to the sport. “You’re mainly competing with yourself, but you’re also competing with others, and I’ve always been competitive,” said Gettie. He added that it’s a sport that the entire family can participate in.

The shoot on Saturday will begin at 9 a.m. and run through 1:30 p.m. or 2 p.m. Singles will be paired up and anyone wanting to shoot for fun without competing is welcome. For more information contact Gettie by calling 601-319-1198.

SCRMC expansion project to begin in February

By Linda Cranford

South Central Regional Medical Center President and Chief Executive Officer Doug Higginbotham was all smiles Wednesday, January 18, as he announced a long awaited new construction project will begin in February. The project will add a new Emergency Department and new medical office tower to the east end of the hospital.

“Today’s a big day,” exclaimed Higginbotham. “This is something that has been going on for some time.”

Higginbotham explained that the project has been in the making for several years. “This is a project that has been on the drawing board for about 12 years, which is about the time the ‘S’ Curve project on the interstate began. It took almost 11 years to acquire the land and about a year to design the project,” explained Higginbotham. “During this period, we have dealt with many individuals and agencies. As a result of their cooperation, we are here today.”

The new Emergency Department and medical office tower will be located at the east end of the hospital in the now grassy area just adjacent to the road to the present Emergency Room. The new Emergency Department building will be a 28,400 square foot facility (the existing Emergency Department is 11,036 square feet) with a 3,200 square foot waiting area, three trauma rooms, 21 acute care treatment rooms, two triage rooms, six non acute treatment rooms, and a diagnostic area which will include CT, Digital X-Ray, Ultrasound, and a Portable Digital X-Ray Unit. SCRMC Security will also be relocated in the new Emergency Department. The entrance to the Emergency Department will have a canopy where emergency vehicles and private vehicles will access the area for patient drop off. The building will also include two additional shelled out floors for expansion: second floor – 16,569 square feet, and third floor – 15,969.

The medical office building will consist of four floors and will be built adjacent to the new Emergency Department. The first floor will house the South Central Wellness and Rehabilitation Facility with 26,128 square feet. The OB-GYN Group of Laurel and Laurel Pediatric Clinic will be located on the second floor with 17,262 square feet. On the third floor, with 14,916 square feet, will be South Central Orthopaedics. Laurel Surgery Clinic and South Central Urology with 15,916 square feet will be located on the fourth floor.

There will be 260 new parking spaces and a helipad, a landing platform for emergency helicopters. Higginbotham was quick to recognize the numerous individuals who played a part in making the project a reality. “As a county owned institution, this project would not have been possible without the support of our current Board of Supervisors – Jerome Wyatt, Johnny Burnett, Barry Saul, Danny Roy Spradley and David Scruggs, as well as the support of past members of the Board of Supervisors. The supervisors have always supported our institution in efforts to improve access to healthcare for Jones and surrounding counties.”

“Our current Board of Trustees – George Walters, Victor Jones, Lewis Goins, Mike Lowe, Becky Brewer, Frank Therrell, and Arthur Siggers – and past members of our Board of Trustees have spent numerous hours over the years making decisions to get us to this point,” Higginbotham said. The construction project is being funded by the United States Department of Agriculture. “We are thankful for their support as well,” he said.

During the property acquisition and project development time frame, Higginbotham said the organization had the support of three Laurel mayors, both past (Susan Vincent, Melvin Mack) and present (Johnny Magee) as well as Laurel City Council members past and present. Their support came in the form of making some modifications to the “S” curve project and on land acquisition. He said South Central also worked with the Department of Transportation (Tom King), the Corp of Engineers, the Mississippi State Department of Health, and numerous attorneys and financial advisors.

Laurel native Mike Foil of Foil-Wyatt Architects and Planners in Jackson is the architect for the project. He has been working with South Central for more than 30 years on various projects. The successful bidder on the project was Mac’s Construction Company of Hattiesburg, with the construction portion of the project totaling approximately $33 million.

South Central Regional Medical Center qualified for loans from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Development. Tom Canizaro, vice president and chief financial officer at South Central, said, “The funding source for the project is being provided through two programs, a USDA Community Facility Direct Loan and the USDA Community Facility Guaranteed Loan. The loan will cover the construction project, the furniture and equipment for the new areas, all current outstanding debt and the cost of the financial transaction. The annual debt service of the new financing will actually be less than South Central’s current annual debt service.”

The health system is borrowing $66,500,000 of which $57,745,000 is a USDA Community Facility Direct Loan. “The remaining loan of $8,755,000 is a USDA Community Facility Guaranteed Loan with a 90 percent USDA guarantee. In order to finance the project during construction, South Central Regional Medical Center is issuing bond anticipation notes with a three-year term. These bond anticipation notes will be issued upon final approval from the USDA. The USDA Community Facility Direct Loan will be a 40-year fixed rate direct loan while the USDA Community Facility Guaranteed Loan will be a 20-year loan with monthly payments to begin upon execution of the documents. It is anticipated that upon maturity of the bonds, they will be paid off from proceeds of the USDA direct loan upon final USDA approval.

Higginbotham said construction should begin in February if the USDA approves the final contracts and will take three years to complete.

SCRMC annual Community Health Fair

By Linda Cranford

SCRMC held their annual Community Health Fair, Thursday, January 19, giving community members in the area an opportunity to receive free health care screenings and educational health information. Those attending the health fair were able to be screened for diabetes, prostate cancer, cholesterol, anxiety and depression, blood pressure, body mass index, bone mineral density, as well as have their vision checked and medications evaluated.

“The Health Fair provides a one-stop place to receive a host of health care information to start off the New Year,” exclaimed Karen Vanderslice, BSN, RN, community education coordinator at South Central Regional Medical Center. Vanderslice added that the health fair provides a networking opportunity to those who attend giving them the chance to talk with people in the health care profession, learn about their services, get questions answered, and receive contact information for future assistance.

Among those attending the health fair was a couple from Rockport, Illinois, who were traveling to Gulfport to escape the icy weather up North. Verneen Rufino said they learned of the health fair while in Hattiesburg and decided to take advantage of the opportunity. Rufino said she was able to get valuable information that will help her overcome a recent medical emergency.

Vanderslice said SCRMC is able to offer the free health fair because all of the expenses are paid by the South Central Health Care Foundation. Several events are held throughout the year to raise funds for the foundation, events such as the “Art of Healing,” which will be held in March at the Sandersons Farm’s corporate headquarters in Laurel.

It is estimated that close to 200 people fared the stormy weather Thursday to take advantage of the Health Fair.
