Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was Rose Bird, the first female chief justice of the California Supreme Court, who made the following sage observation: "We have probed the earth, excavated it, burned it, ripped things from it, buried things in it, chopped down its forests, leveled its hills, muddied its waters, and dirtied its air. That does not fit my definition of a good tenant. If we were here on a month-to-month basis, we would have been evicted long ago."

* Have you ever heard of an "oreo" cow? It's officially known as the Belted Galloway, a breed of cattle that originated in Scotland. A typical specimen is black with a broad white band around its middle.

* You might be surprised to learn that London Bridge has never actually fallen down. The bridge has had several iterations since the first one was built in 1170; wooden buildings constructed on the bridges have burned down, and some of the bridges have been torn down, but none has ever fallen of its own accord.

* The paintings of Dutch master Rembrandt are so detailed that modern specialists were able to diagnose a basal cell carcinoma -- a kind of skin cancer -- by examining a portrait of the artist's mother.

* The Guinness Book of World Records (now known simply as Guinness World Records) has earned a spot in its own roster: It is officially the best-selling copyrighted book of all time, with sales of more than 100 million copies in 100 different countries and 37 languages.

* According to ancient Chinese philosopher Confucius, an ideal meal is made up of one-fourth meat and three-fourths vegetables.

Thought for the Day: "The central function of imaginative literature is to make you realize that other people act on moral convictions different from your own." -- William Empson

Waiting Room

There were three fathers to be in a hospital waiting room, waiting for their babies to be born.

The first nurse comes out and tells the first father, "Congratulations you're the father of twins!" He says, "Great! I am the manager for the Minnesota Twins."

The second nurse comes out and tells the second father, "Congratulations you're the father of triplets!" He says, "That's cool! I work for 3M."

The third father opens the window and jumps out.

The third nurse comes out, and asks, "Where's the third father?"

One of the other fathers said, "Oh he jumped out the window."

The nurse asks, "Why?"

He replied, "He works for Seven Up!"

How Chocolate Became Tied To Valentine's Day

Heart-shaped boxes filled with decadent treats are coveted gifts on Valentine's Day. Chocolate lovers typically have a favorite type of chocolate, whether it's creamy filled truffles or chocolate pieces with fruit or nut fillings. The tradition of gifting chocolate is anything but new. Chocolate and other sweet treats have been offered for centuries as prized gifts. Even ancient Aztecs and Mayans celebrated chocolate and saw it as a hot commodity. Drinks made of cacao beans would be given as presents to people of high status. Chocolate also would be offered to the gods as a token of appreciation. Cacao beans were even used as a form of currency at one point.

During the 17th century, chocolate consumption grew considerably across Europe. Chocolate houses cropped up in London, and the French elite often indulged in chocolate. Chocolate's popularity continued to grow, but the dessert was not linked to Valentine's Day until nearly 200 years later. In the mid-1800s, an enterprising individual named Richard Cadbury was looking for a way to make chocolate even more popular than it already was. He sought out a method to make drinking chocolate more palatable and created "eating chocolates." These chocolates were packaged in decorative boxes. Eventually, Cadbury saw the benefit of putting images of cupids and roses on the boxes. Cadbury even designed chocolate boxes in the shape of hearts that could be saved as mementos. These chocolates soon became intertwined with Valentine's Day celebrations.

On the other side of the Atlantic, Milton Hershey dabbled in commercializing chocolate as well. Hershey began as a caramel maker, but experimented with covering the caramels in chocolate in 1894. Hershey would go on to develop one of the most successful brands of chocolate in the United States, which included the famous Hershey bar. In 1907, Hershey launched production of tear-drop shaped "kisses." (The chocolates were given their unusual name because of the "smooching" noise made by the chocolate when being manufactured.) The kisses became wildly popular and made for affordable chocolate gifts on Valentine's Day.

Many other chocolate manufacturers soon began packaging their chocolates in special boxes for Valentine's Day. Russell Stover and Whitmans are two such manufacturers who have long specialized in heart-shaped boxes or other decorative Valentine's gifts.

Traditionally, men have gifted women with boxes of chocolate for Valentine's Day. However, that role is reversed in other areas of the world. For example, in Japan, women give gifts — namely chocolates — to the men in their lives to express love, courtesy or social obligation. This tradition first began in 1936 when confectioner Morozoff Ltd. ran the first ever Valentine's Day ad in Japan through a local English newspaper. By the 1950s, other Japanese confectioners were following suit.

Chocolate has long been tied to Valentine's Day gifting. Whether one believes that chocolate symbolizes heightened status, acts as an aphrodisiac or is just a special treat, chocolates will likely always be associated with the day of love.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your ideas are finally reaching those who can appreciate them. But don't expect any immediate reactions. That will come later. Meanwhile, a personal matter needs your attention.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your energy levels are rising, and you're feeling restless and eager to get into some activity, whether it's for profit or just for fun. In either case, the aspects are highly favorable, so go for it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A relationship seems to be winding down from passionate to passive. It's up to you to decide what the next step will be. But don't wait too long to take the initiative. Delay could create more problems.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A decision looms. But be very sure that this is what you really want before you sign or say anything. Once you act, there'll be little or no wiggle room for any adjustments.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Money matters improve, but you still need to be cautious with your spending. Also, set aside that Leonine pride for a bit and apologize for contributing to that misunderstanding.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A tempting financial situation could make the usually unflappable Virgo rush in before checking things out. Be alert to possible hidden problems. Get the facts before you act.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) It's nice to know that you're finally getting due credit for your efforts. You also should know that new opportunities will follow. A family member brings important news.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Any uncertainty that begins to cloud an impending decision could signal a need to re-examine your reasons for wanting to take on this commitment.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You benefit from taking time out of your currently hectic schedule to do more contemplation or meditation. This will help re-energize you, both in body and soul.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Nursing hurt feelings can zap the energies of even the usually self-confident Sea Goat. Best advice: Move forward. Success is the best balm for a painful ego.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A display of temperament surprises you, as well as those around you. It could be all that pressure you're under. Consider letting someone help you see it through.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Some things don't seem to be working out as you'd hoped. Don't fret. Instead, take some time out to reassess your plans and see where changes could be made.

BORN THIS WEEK: You enjoy traveling and meeting people. You are especially good with children and would make an excellent teacher.

Lonely Puppy

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My friend's parents got him a new puppy just last week. "Star" came from the shelter and is really tiny -- he still has to be fed milk! When Star is in his puppy bed by himself he starts crying. He stops when we go in and spend time with him. How can my friend and his family get Star to feel less lonely? -- Craig, via email

DEAR CRAIG: Star sounds like a really young puppy who has been separated from his mother a little bit early for some reason. I'm sure that the shelter had a reason for doing so, and that your friend's family is responsible for keeping him healthy and growing. Really young puppies can suffer a lot of anxiety when they're separated too soon from their mother and litter mates. That's one reason why puppies generally aren't adopted out until they are more than six weeks old and fully weaned, meaning they can eat solid foods. Star probably will need more attention than older puppies, including a stuffed toy in his bed to snuggle up to when humans aren't around. As Star gets older, his new family will have to help him get past his separation anxiety, which can be pretty intense in shelter pets. Crate training, basic obedience training and a structured home routine all will help Star grow into a happy, more confident dog. But for now, he's so young that he just needs a lot of TLC, particularly since he's still being hand-fed. Chances are, your friend's parents have a lot more information on taking care of Star. You could learn quite a bit about caring for very young puppies and their special needs.

Mr. Johnson loved camping and canoeing.

He is survived by his loving wife, Vickie Johnson, of the residence; children: Jennifer James and husband Justin, of Las Vegas, NV; Margaret Van Pelt, of Tampa, FL; Joseph Johnson and wife Stephanie, of Danville, VA; and Kimberly Johnson, of Danville, VA; grandchildren: Dana Haynes, Jazmine James, Mikey Van Pelt, Victoria Van Pelt, Raymond James, Shane Sulter, and Steven Johnson.

In addition to his parents Mr. Johnson was predeceased by five sisters.

A celebration of Mr. Johnson's life will be held at 3:00 p.m. on Sunday, February 05, 2017 at Trinity United Methodist Church with Rev. Charles Wickham officiating. Visitation will be held one hour prior to the service at the church. At other times, the family will be at the residence, 53 Carlson Ave, Danville, VA.

Robin Gale Crider

Mrs. Robin Gale Crider, age 58, of 636-B Cabell Street, Danville, VA, passed away on Sunday, February 5, 2017 at her residence.

She was predeceased by her parents: Ora Dolen Crider and Pearl Folden Crider, her son, Jason Keith Taylor; two brothers, Robert Crider and Douglas Crider.

She is survived by: Daughter, Jennifer Taylor Morton; granddaughters, Melanie Betterton Womack and Mallory Gale Betterton; great-grandson, Bentley Malcolm Womack and expected great-granddaughter, Jayde; brothers, Floyd "Les" Crider and Joseph Crider; sisters, Janet Schultz, Tina Patterson and Candice Sease.

She was a breast cancer survivor and was in remission for several years. She lived most of her life in Danville, VA. She attended school in Fairfax, VA, but did not complete her education at that time. We are proud to say she worked hard to get her GED later in life.

She found the Lord last year and with his help she overcame many difficulties in her life. She was baptized at Lighthouse Pentecostal Church by Pastor Pearson.

We know she is now together again with her beloved son, Jason, and both are safe with God.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to Danville Cancer Society.

Memorial services will be conducted Tuesday, February 7, 2017, at 7pm at Swicegood Funeral Home with Pastor Gary Pearson officiating. Visitation will be held one hour prior to service Tuesday, February 7, 2017. Interment will follow at a later date in Highland Burial Park.

Swicegood Funeral Service is respectfully serving the Crider family.

"Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted."
Matthew 5:4

1. What singer had hits with two bands before scoring a solo hit, "Up in a Puff of Smoke"?
2. Which band released "Bend Me, Shape Me" before The American Breed?
3. Who had a No. 2 hit with "Dry Your Eyes," and when?
4. Name the girl group that had a hit with "You Don't Have to Be a Baby to Cry."
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "You know that it would be untrue, You know that I would be a liar, If I was to say to you, Girl, we couldn't get much higher."

Answers

1. Polly Brown, of Birmingham, England, in 1975. Brown also had a Top Ten hit with a cover of ABBA's "Honey Honey."
2. The Outsiders, in 1966. The single version was only 2 minutes 5 seconds long.
3. Brenda and the Tabulations, in 1967. In 2011 a body-wash commercial used a song from their album.
4. The Caravelles, in 1963.
5. "Light My Fire," by the Doors in 1967. The original album version was seven minutes. The Doors blew a potential multi-appearance gig on "The Ed Sullivan Show" when they agreed to change the lyrics during a live performance -- and then didn't.

Danville Science Center Exhibit Encourages Healthy Lifestyles

On Saturday, January 21, Danville Science Center opens Eat Well, Play Well. The featured exhibition offers a bilingual experience that explores nutrition and fitness through highly interactive activities.

Guests will test their flexibility, strength, balance and more as they learn the science behind making healthy choices. Interactive stations feature unique challenges, allowing participants to measure their personal results and compare them to national averages. Other activities include hopping over an electronic jump rope, racing cars fueled by food choices and using puppets to perform a play.

“Personal wellness isn’t just about hitting the gym. It is taking simple steps to improve your body and mind,” explains

Adam Goebel, Executive Director of the Danville Science Center. “Eat Well, Play Well introduces these steps through enjoyable activities and educates guests on how to maintain a healthy and active lifestyle in their daily lives.”

Guests will delve into biology and energy in the featured exhibition, exploring hunger signals, serving sizes, fitness fads and the ingredients hidden in common foods.

Visitors will uncover the power of exercise and discover healthier food alternatives.

Bringing nutrition and fitness education together, Eat Well, Play Well encourages all-around healthy living for guests of all ages!

Science Center guests can continue the learning in the Digital Dome theater, featuring immersive presentations displayed on a 40-foot screen. Adventurers can travel back in time, voyage down a winding river and take an epic journey through the cosmos without leaving their seats.

Eat Well, Play Well is included with general admission. Tickets to Danville Science Center and a feature in the Digital Dome theater are $10 with $1 discounts for children 4-12 and 60+. Heart Month

Heart disease can affect just about anyone. While it was once widely and mistakenly considered a man's disease, since 1984, more women than men have died each year from heart disease.

According to the Harvard Medical School, heart disease is the leading cause of death in women over age 65, just as it's the leading killer of men. Myths abound with regard to heart disease and heart attack risk. One such myth that prevails is that a person who has heart disease should avoid all exercise. However, cardiologists advise that physical activity can help to strengthen the heart, which will improve blood flow to the brain and internal organs. Those who want to exercise should speak with their doctors about which types of exercise are right for them. In the interim, begin with some low-intensity walking, as this is usually a safe, low-impact way to improve personal health.

PEEP TALK!

"My experience with Judy Bryant at the Piedmont Shopper: I have worked with Judy for over 7 years and she is always willing to do whatever I ask of her. Sometimes I send an ad in late and she manages to get it in for me. I receive many applicants from my advertisements in the Piedmont Shopper-it reaches so many people in our area each week. Thank you, Judy, for your hard work!"

Vicky Miller - HR
Piney Forest Health & Rehab Center

"You don't ever have to worry about anyone ceasing to read the Piedmont Shopper. My uncle, Henry D. Hopkins, is 87 years old & he goes somewhere to get a stack of them each week. He delivers them to the nursing home, and to his friends in his neighborhood. He makes sure everyone gets a copy every week! He and his wife Shirley love to share it and laugh at the jokes and stories. That paper is the heartbeat for a lot of people! My daughter, Ruby, sells Scentsy and she has used your paper for many occasions. She knows that is the one paper that everyone reads! Our church, Central Boulevard Church of God, just used your paper for our Vendor Spring Fling on 4/11/15, and I am sure half or more of the people came because of the Shopper!"

-Deborah Severt

"You sold a walker for me, thank you!"

-C.C. Moore, Danville

"People ask me all the time to advertise in their media and my answer is always no. My reason to them is I spend all my advertising dollars I can with the Piedmont Shopper. We get the most results from them due to their loyal readers and awesome staff. Lesley Tucker took us from a non existent business to a successful well know business in less than a year. Her insightful ad designs pop off the page and have the customers walking through the door."

Dustin Pierce - Owner - C&D Family Pawn

"We at Gina's Family Restaurant LOVE the Piedmont Shopper. Advertising is easy, convenient, price friendly and effective! The new layout is awesome and the coupons have been a great asset to our business! Lesley Tucker always goes ABOVE AND BEYOND to squeeze a last minute ad in for us. She is always friendly and professional. Lesley's ideas and designs are always exactly what we are looking for. She is hands down our "Go to Girl" for advertising, we absolutely love her!"

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

VA Seeks Better Access for Rural Vets With HIV

Veterans with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) who live in urban areas have more access to treatments than those who live in rural areas. Dr. Michael Ohl, a Department of Veterans Affairs researcher, has studied the limited access of those rural veterans and has conducted a pilot study to improve care using the VA's telehealth videoconferencing.

According to the research, of the 26,000 veterans with HIV who get VA care, 18 percent live in rural areas, far from the VA's specialty clinics. They typically start care when the illness is more advanced, are less likely to receive the latest in treatment ... and have lower survival rates. Ohl's plan is to have veterans use the video telehealth at nearby VA outpatient clinics where care managers, psychologists and even pharmacists can be included, with nurses able to provide treatment. Onsite primary-care doctors could then coordinate with the HIV specialists for continuing care.

The pilot study has focused on Dallas, San Antonio, Atlanta and Houston, which have HIV specialty clinics, and has involved 800 veterans who are at least a 90-minute drive from a specialty clinic facility but who have a primary-care clinic closer to home.

If you have HIV or know a veteran who does, check www.hiv.va.gov/patient/index.asp for information on getting tested, clinical trials, resources, living with HIV and much more.

If you don't have HIV but have another medical condition and live in a rural area, the VA has 50 different telehealth specialties, many of them using regular home phone lines or a short trip to the nearest clinic. If telehealth would allow you to get care without making a long trek to a medical facility, call to learn if you qualify. Last year alone, over 700,000 veterans had 2 million telehealth appointments.

Now here's a tip! by Jo Ann Derson

* To make a deliciously flaky pie crust, use a normal cheese grater to grate butter in to the flour mix. The butter will stay cold, and it will come out tender and flaky.

* "I like to make a big presentation, so I use sliced fruit, nuts and fresh herbs for garnishes. I prepare them ahead of time and store them in the fridge to take dishes from stove to table quickly. I have found that if you use a little lemon juice on apple slices, they won't discolor and you can cut them up ahead of time, too." -- T.C. in California

* Because fabric softeners can leave residue on the dryer's lint trap, clean yours out at least every other month. Just scrub with plain old soap and water.

* Create your own nonslip hangers for your closet with your glue gun. Run a thin bead along the top sides of your hanger. Allow to dry thoroughly and you will be able to hang the flimsiest of tops on the hanger without them falling off. No glue gun? Try wrapping a pipe cleaner tightly around each side; this works well for tank tops!

* "Print out recipes and tape them to your kitchen cabinets, or hang from a door pull with a pants hanger. You could even stack a week's worth of recipes on a clipboard and add a dedicated hook for them in your kitchen." -- T.Y. in North Carolina

* To save time making potatoes, try microwaving instead of boiling. Follow the manufacturer's directions on your microwave.

Handling Valentine's Day When You Have Diabetes

Celebrating a holiday can be challenging for those with diabetes, as sweet treats are a part of many holiday celebrations. Come Valentine's Day, chocolates, candy and rich desserts can often be found on the menu, which can prove problematic for those who have to watch their blood-glucose levels.

Diabetics may be tempted to indulge in too many sugary foods on Valentine's Day. Fortunately individuals do not have to put their health in jeopardy in the name of Valentine's Day, as there are many healthy ways to celebrate with some minor tweaks.

- Focus on fun, not food. Rather than making food the focus of the day, shift your attention to all the fun things you can do with your valentine.

Fill the day with activities such as ice skating or sightseeing. Even though the weather may be cold, it's possible to enjoy the great outdoors. Dress appropriately and enjoy a walk in the park, or do something out of the ordinary, like sledding. If you must retreat indoors, watch a romantic movie.

- Plan ahead when changing your diet. It's often possible to work small amounts of a particular dessert or food into your normal meal plan by adjusting what you eat for the rest of the day. If you plan ahead for a bite of chocolate, you can balance out sugar levels by eliminating something else. Keep tabs on your sugar levels throughout the day, and always weigh the benefits and drawbacks of the foods you eat.

- Include smart substitutions. Many favorite foods are available in low-sugar or sugarless varieties that are diabetic-friendly. Lean toward low-carb offerings and foods that are relatively low in fat. Baking your own treats or cooking your own meals will give you greater control over the ingredients used in your recipes, and that can pay big dividends in terms of health.

- Send nonfood items into the classroom. Diabetes affects people of all ages. When sending valentines into the class for children, do not accompany the cards with chocolate kisses or other candies. Instead, choose toys or keepsakes, such as heart-shaped erasers or scented stickers. Moderation is key when managing diabetes around Valentine's Day. Place a greater emphasis on time spent together, entertainment and socialization rather than potentially unhealthy treats.

TEXAS GRAPEFRUIT TEA

- 2 cups ruby red grapefruit juice (squeezed from 2 grapefruits)
- 2 to 4 tablespoons honey or agave syrup
- 1 cinnamon stick or 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon whole allspice berries
- 2 strips of grapefruit zest

In a medium pot, combine juice, honey, cinnamon, allspice and 1/2 cup water. Bring to a boil over high heat; strain and discard solids. Place the strips of grapefruit zest in the cup for flavor and garnish.

SPICY SHRIMP WITH GRAPEFRUIT AND FENNEL SAUCE

- 1 grapefruit
- 1 pound medium shrimp, peeled and deveined with tails on
- 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil, plus 2 tablespoons for shrimp
- 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes
- 1 small head fennel, sliced thin, reserve top green fronds
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 1/2 small sweet onion, finely minced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon capers
- 1/4 cup chicken or vegetable stock
- 1/2 cup fresh squeezed grapefruit juice
- 2 tablespoons chopped herbs (flat-leaf parsley, chives, tarragon) or green onions

1. Peel the grapefruit, remove segments and set them aside. Squeeze remaining juice out of the grapefruit into a cup or a bowl and set aside for the sauce
2. Combine shrimp, the 2 tablespoons of olive oil and the red pepper flakes in a small bowl and set aside.
3. In a 12- to 14-inch saute pan, heat olive oil over medium heat until just smoking. Add shrimp, fennel, salt and pepper, and cook until fennel is tender, about 2 minutes. Add the onion, garlic, and capers, and stir for 1 minute.
4. Add in the broth and grapefruit juice, scraping the bottom of the pan to incorporate any of the brown bits on the bottom. Add the grapefruit segments, herbs or green onion mixture. Cook until shrimp is opaque and slightly white and turns slightly pink near the tail. Garnish with fennel fronds. Serves 4.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

* On Feb. 26, 1919, the Grand Canyon is established as a national park. American geologist John Wesley Powell, who popularized the term "Grand Canyon" in the 1870s, was the first person to travel the entire length of the gorge in 1869. The harrowing voyage was made in four rowboats.

* On Feb. 25, 1938, the city of Miami gets its first drive-in movie theater. At their peak in the late 1950s and early 1960s, there were some 4,000 drive-ins across America.

* On Feb. 23, 1945, during the bloody Battle for Iwo Jima, U.S. Marines take the crest of Mount Suribachi. The iconic image of six Marines raising the American flag on the peak was taken by photographer Joe Rosenthal.

* On Feb. 22, 1959, Lee Petty defeats Johnny Beauchamp in a photo finish at the just-opened Daytona International Speedway in Florida to win the first Daytona 500. The race was so close that Beauchamp was initially declared the winner.

* On Feb. 21, 1965, in New York City, Malcolm X, a black nationalist and religious leader, is assassinated by rival Black Muslims while addressing his Organization of Afro-American Unity in Washington Heights.

* On Feb. 20, 1985, in a highly controversial vote, the Irish government defies the powerful Catholic Church and approves the sale of contraceptives, a major turning point in Irish history. Up until 1979, Irish law prohibited the importation and sale of contraceptives.

* On Feb. 24, 1991, after six weeks of intensive bombing against Iraq and its armed forces, U.S.-led coalition forces launch a ground invasion of Kuwait and Iraq. By the end of the day, the Iraqi army had effectively folded, 10,000 of its troops were held as prisoners and a U.S. air base had been established deep inside Iraq.
