"Over the Counter"

St. Patrick's Day is just around the corner. We all have some little way of celebrating the festive occasion, regardless if you are Irish or not. Some people wear green, some a green carnation, some have corned beef and cabbage. Myself, I attend a St. Pat's party and dinner every year. My friends Frank and Tony are hosting their 37th annual this year. I'm one of the original attendees from years ago and have missed maybe 2 in all these years. It started as a small dinner party in their tiny apartment, and is now a group of about 35 at their home in Warwick Neck. Green beer, and green wine, lots of things to munch on, and an awesome corned beef and cabbage dinner, followed by the annual group picture. It's a great party, with great people, some of who only see each other once a year. Everyone contributes. My contribution is home made mustard. Very tangy and great with corned beef. We all look forward to the night, and enjoy seeing one another, and reminisce with pictures from the past years. Enjoy your St. Patrick's Day in whatever way makes you happy.

Give Your Heart the Gift of Good Health

A few years ago, I was honored to be selected to be part of the Go Red for Women photo- and print-ad campaign for the American Heart Association. This year, I'm presenting a heart-healthy cooking demo for the newest Go Red For Women members.

Unfortunately, one out of every three deaths among women in the U.S. is attributed to cardiovascular diseases, including heart disease and stroke, causing more fatalities than all forms of cancer combined, according to the American Heart Association.

Furthermore, nine in 10 women have at least one risk factor for developing heart disease, but only about half are even aware of it.

"What you've heard is true: Heart disease and stroke kill more women than men, despite the publicly held misconception that it's a 'man's disease,'" said Dr. Jennifer H. Mieres, a representative for the American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement and professor of cardiology at Hofstra North Shore-LIJ School of Medicine. "The good news is that even though an estimated 43 million women are affected, heart disease and stroke can be prevented with small incremental changes."

An estimated 43 million women in the U.S. are affected by heart disease and stroke, resulting in over 400,000 deaths each year, according to the American Heart Association. By knowing the risk factors and taking simple steps like not smoking, getting regular physical activity, eating a heart-healthy diet and monitoring blood pressure, women can lower their chances of heart disease.

"Heart disease and stroke claim the life of nearly one woman in the United States every minute," said Lisa Sherman, president and CEO of the Ad Council. "But many women continue to believe the disease is one that just targets men or the elderly, so they're not taking action to reduce their risk."

Reduce your risk factors by embracing a healthier lifestyle and eating habits. Believe it or not, eating heart healthy can be equally as delicious as it is good for your body. And if you could save your heart by improving your diet, wouldn't you at least want to give it a try? For more information, go to GoRedForWomen.org, where you can sign up to be a member, learn about heart disease and your risk for developing it, and find tools for living healthier, longer lives.

There's a common misconception that anything described as healthy is lacking in flavor and satisfaction. To add insult to injury, there's also an assumption that healthy foods are unaffordable. The truth is, there are plenty of creative ways to make a tasty, heart-healthy dish.

This heart-healthy recipe uses a lean pork tenderloin and Asian sauces to create a flavorful and easy-to-prepare dinner dish. Use any leftover pork and salad inside of a whole-wheat tortilla to create a wrap for lunch.

Asian-Style Pork Tenderloin With Sesame-Ginger Dressing

- 3 tablespoons light soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon Sriracha sauce
- 1/2 cup bottled light sesame-ginger dressing, divided
- 1 (1 pound) pork tenderloin
- 1 (8 to 10-ounce) package of raw carrot and cabbage cole slaw mix
- 1 large yellow bell pepper, cut into strips
- 3 green onions, roots removed and discarded, white and green parts thinly sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 cup chopped fresh herbs: cilantro, parsley or basil
- 1/4 cup chopped almonds

1. Heat oven to 450 F. Whisk together soy sauce, Sriracha sauce and 1/4 cup dressing in a large shallow dish or zip-top plastic freezer bag; add pork, turning to coat. Cover or seal, and refrigerate for 10 minutes, turning once.

2. Meanwhile, combine coleslaw mix, bell pepper, onions, garlic, herbs and the remaining 1/4 cup dressing. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

3. Remove pork from marinade and discard marinade. Place pork on a lightly greased aluminum foil-lined baking sheet.

4. Bake at 450 F for 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Remove from oven, and let stand 5 minutes before slicing. The pork should be slightly pink in the center.

Toss slaw with the almonds and serve with the sliced pork tenderloin. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Growing papaya
To grow good papayas you will need frost-free climate, lots of sunlight, water and very good soil. Cut a papaya in half, scrape out the seeds, and sow them in the location you've chosen. Some will be "male" (long, thin stalks with several small blooms) or "female" (single blooms, bigger, and very close to the trunk); you only need one male for every 10-15 female plants. They flower at about 3 feet tall. You may be picking the first ripe fruit within 10 months.

Classic Italian Hero

If you feel the urge, build on the basic recipe by adding any of the ingredients listed below and/or whatever else you can think of.

1/4 cup vinaigrette of choice
1 large loaf (12 ounces) Italian bread
4 ounces thinly sliced hot and/or sweet capocollo, prosciutto, soppressata and/or salami
4 ounces mozzarella cheese, preferably fresh, thinly sliced
Shredded romaine lettuce or arugula, peperoncini, basil leaves, roasted red peppers, very thinly sliced red onions, pesto, olivada and/or sliced ripe tomatoes

1. Prepare vinaigrette. Cut bread horizontally in half. Remove enough soft center from each half to make room for filling. (Reserve soft bread for another use.)
2. Brush vinaigrette evenly over cut sides of bread. Layer meats and cheese on bottom half of bread. Top with additional ingredients of your choice. Replace top half of bread. If not serving right away, wrap sandwich in foil and refrigerate up to 4 hours. Cut into 4 pieces.

Prayer to St. Jude
 Most holy Apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use, I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations, and sufferings, particularly (your request) and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. Amen.
 R.R.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was beloved 20th-century English novelist, journalist and critic Eric Arthur Blair — better known as George Orwell — who made the following sage observation: "Journalism is printing what someone else does not want printed; everything else is public relations."

• In August of last year, Charles City, Iowa, saw an over-the-top display of irony when a local bar named DeRailed was struck by — you guessed it — a derailed train car.

• Thanks to Peter Jackson's films, you're probably familiar with J.R.R. Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings" series, even if you haven't read the books. There's been quite a lot of scholarship about the novels. Most of the research focuses on literary analysis and historical analogies, and understandably so; a work of fantasy doesn't seem to lend itself to scientific analysis. However, the Journal of Interdisciplinary Science Topics recently published an article titled, "Simply Walking into Mordor: How Much Lemmas Would the Fellowship Have Needed?" In it, Skye Rosetti and Krisho Manaharan make public their calculations of the caloric intake that would have been necessary for the Fellowship to walk 92 days to Mordor: precisely 1,780,214.59.

• A survey from retailer Long Tall Sally found that 40 percent of American women own shoes that they know they can't walk in, but wear them anyway. The average woman claims she can last two hours in painful shoes.

• You probably know that "fuzz" has been a common slang term for police, but did you ever wonder why? It began in the United Kingdom, where police officers in London sometimes wore fuzzy hats.

Thought for the Day: "There is nothing wrong with America that cannot be cured by what is right with America." — William J. Clinton.

Prayer to the BLESSED VIRGIN

O Star of the sea, help me and show me here in, you are my mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times.) Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days. You must publish it and it will be granted to you. Grateful Thanks.

Prayer to the BLESSED VIRGIN
(Never known to fail). O Most Beautiful Flower of Mt. Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O Star of the sea, help me and show me here in, you are my mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times.) Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days. You must publish it and it will be granted to you. Grateful Thanks.

Be Car Care Aware
www.carcare.org
Don't Fear the Check Engine Light

(NAPS)—Although the check engine light may look scary lit up on the dashboard, you don't need to panic. A glowing check engine light doesn't mean you have to immediately pull the car to the side of the road; it does mean you should get the car checked out as soon as possible.

A "check engine" light coming on doesn't mean you have to stop driving immediately but you should get it looked at very soon.

"Motorists should not get spooked when the check engine light comes on," says Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council, the source for the "Be Car Care Aware" campaign promoting regular vehicle care, maintenance and repair. "When illuminated, the check engine light usually means that a vehicle system, such as the ignition, fuel injection or emission control, is not operating properly."

Possible Problems
Some common malfunctions that can cause the light to illuminate include a faulty oxygen sensor, mass air flow sensor, or spark plugs and wires. If the light flashes, the condition is more critical and must be checked immediately to prevent severe damage, which may include catalytic converter problems.

Service and Solutions
When scheduling service, make sure the repair shop that examines your vehicle has professional technicians who are trained and certified in OBDII diagnosis and repair. The technician will connect your vehicle's computer system to a diagnostic scan tool, which will provide trouble codes indicating why the check engine light was activated. While the diagnostic tool is connected, the technician can analyze data streams such as the idle speed, throttle response, engine temperature, fuel system pressure, manifold vacuum, exhaust emission levels and many other key indicators. Once the problem is identified and the repair is made, the car's computer is reset.

"Even if the vehicle appears to be running normally, ignoring the warning light could result in more costly repairs," adds White. "At the very least, the light could be alerting you to an engine problem that is negatively impacting fuel economy and costing you money."

For further illuminating facts about taking the scare out of an illuminated check engine light, visit www.carcare.org, view the council's Car Care Minute and order a free copy of the newly updated Car Care Guide at www.carcare.org/car-care-guide.

Protecting Your Assets

What To Do When Disaster Strikes

(NAPS)—Every year in the U.S., FEMA reports, about 100 disasters, natural and man-made, occur—but there are steps you can take to protect your family and finances if any ever occurs to you.

These seven hints can help:

- Before A Disaster
1. Develop a family communications plan. Everyone should know whom to reach and how.
 2. Make an emergency kit. It should include enough food, water and other supplies to last at least 72 hours. Pack a flashlight, battery-operated radio and enough batteries for both. Include a supply of any medications you take. Have cash on hand.
 3. Sign up for emergency alerts with the weather service.
- After A Disaster
4. If you've been evacuated from your home, inspect it before re-entering. Walk carefully around the outside and check for loose power lines, gas leaks and structural damage.
 5. Do not enter if:
 - You smell gas.
 - Floodwaters remain around the building.
 - Your home was damaged by fire and the authorities have not declared it safe.
 6. Watch out for animals, especially poisonous snakes. Use a stick to poke through debris.
 7. One silver lining is that damage, destruction or loss of your property resulting from such events that insurance doesn't pay for may be deductible on your tax return.
- The experts at the National Association of Enrolled Agents (NAEA) suggest you photograph and inventory any property damage. "It is very important that people take pictures or videos and do a complete inventory of damage before the mess gets cleaned up," explained EA Trish Evenstad. "My experience tells me that after the cleanup process has begun, people do not remember what they threw away." To help, she says, there's IRS Publication 584, "Casualty, Disaster, and Theft Loss Workbook," available at www.irs.gov and (800) 829-3676. It's useful for taking a room-by-room damage inventory.

After a disaster, you can recover financially if you follow a few tips.

Enrolled agents are America's tax experts, licensed by the federal government to represent taxpayers before the IRS. EAs provide tax preparation, tax advice and tax planning services and help taxpayers resolve problems with the IRS.

Evenstad points out that all claims for damage must first be submitted to your insurance carrier, and that you have to reduce your loss by $100.

Tax deductions for buildings with structural damage require a qualified appraisal and records of the repairs to restore the building to its previous condition.

Designer Gowns

Q. My late mother worked for several charities in the Boston area during the 1950s and '60s. She often attended functions dressed in designer gowns. I am clearing her town home and have discovered a closet full of her cocktail dresses and stylish clothing that she wore during the same period. Some of the treasures include an Arnold Scaasi evening gown featuring a strapless bouffant dress in silk satin, an Anne Fogarty black linen dress, and other pieces by Pierre Cardin, Bill Blass, Oscar De La Renta and Hubert De Givenchy. I hate to donate them to a thrift shop. Do you have any suggestions? — Suzanne, Naperville, Illinois

A. Your mom's clothing should, indeed, be preserved. I suggest you contact the Art Institute of Chicago, which maintains an important collection of designers' clothing. Contact is Michigan Ave. at Adams St., Chicago, IL 60603; 312-443-3600; and www.artic.edu.

Even though the name Hubert De Givenchy may not be familiar to many readers of this column, he created quite a sensation in 1961 when he designed the costumes for Audrey Hepburn in her classic film, "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

Q. I have a copy of "The First Battle: A Story of the Campaign of 1896" by William Jennings Bryan. It was either a first or early edition, and I would like to know its value. — Jeanne, Blufford, Illinois

A. I found a number of copies of the 1896 edition online at www.abe.com, most for less than $10 each, with the highest being a first edition with no dust jacket for $21. To the dozens of people who contact me every month about older books, this is my favorite Internet place to determine the fair market value of older and out-of-print books.

Q. I have several pieces of Candelwick glassware. I understand that it has been discontinued, and I would like to know more about this pattern. — Ora, Prince Frederick, Maryland

A. According to Glass A to Z by David Shotwell (KP Books, $24.95), Candelwick glass was introduced by Imperial Glass in 1936. It was discontinued in 1982. The pattern, known as Imperial's No. 400, is rather plain, with molded beading around the rims and bases of most pieces.
