Among nearly 120,000 adults with type 2 diabetes, there were no significant differences in the associations between any of 9 available classes of glucose-lowering drugs (alone or in combination) and the risk of cardiovascular or all-cause mortality, according to a study appearing in JAMA. Diabetes was estimated to account for approximately 1.5 million deaths in 2012, and disability (blindness, limb amputation, kidney failure, cardiovascular events) among 47 million people in 2010. Lifestyle modification and glucose-lowering drug treatment are the mainstay of therapy to prevent and delay diabetes-related complications. A large number of glucose-lowering drug classes are approved for type 2 diabetes. Randomized clinical trials of diabetes medications have been generally insufficiently powered to establish the role of drug treatment for preventing cardiovascular death.

Researchers have found that an existing drug can be used to halt progression of another disease that is a leading cause of liver transplants. A new study published in the journal Annals of Internal Medicine found that the diabetes drug pioglitazone is safe and effective in certain patients who have nonalcoholic steatohepatitis, or NASH, a chronic liver disease caused by a buildup of fat. NASH is often known as "silent" liver disease and affects 10 to 20 percent of the population and perhaps as many as one-third of all patients with adult-onset chronic inflammation that leads to liver cancer or cirrhosis. NASH is now the second-leading cause of liver transplants and the numbers continue to grow each year. Early diagnosis and treatment of Early diagnosis and treatment of NASH is crucial for those who are at greatest risk for the disease, usually obese patients who also have prediabetes or Type 2 diabetes.

Amazing how many churches want tithings and quote (2 Cor 9: 6-7) then teach salvation is free. Cullman's average preacher's salary is $28,229 plus bonuses. Larger churches pay $55,000 and higher. Some pianists are paid well, youth ministers of less than 50 people average $15,800, most choir directors are paid, even gospel singers love the love offerings and most TV evangelists want pledges (1Tim 6:10)! So Be It! Ron & Jeri

Do you feel like this poor guy looks? If you can't wear your CPAP because of its bulkiness or discomfort, it's definitely not helping your sleep apnea. Many of our patients report feeling better and more rested than they have in years. Call us at (256) 287-1250 about a sleep apnea consultation today.

Saving You MONEY

SHOP TODAY'S LOW PRICE TAGS:
We have HUNDREDS of non-advertised items marked down throughout our entire store. More savings passed on to our customers. Just look for blue tags on the shelves.

NO LIMITS:
Our competitors also have advertised specials. The difference is, in most cases, they have a limit on how many of an item you can buy at the sale price...we don't have any limits to family shoppers.
