*CONDITIONS FOR THE REFUND & DONE (the "Program") Program only available from participating Clayton Homes Family of Brands retailers ("Seller") for the purchase of a new home with the Energy Smart upgrade package with a sales agreement signed January 1, 2017 through April 30, 2017. Home must be purchased at the posted home only retail sales price to be eligible for the Program. Eligible buyers to receive an incentive of $1,000 (the "Incentive") that will be applied by the Seller, at buyer's choice, to any combination of the following three forms: (i) a Lowe's gift card; (ii) Seller paid closing costs (excluding Seller paid discount points that are not required by lender) or (iii) a reduction in the total sales price of the home package, consisting of the home purchased plus all other items included in the sale (collectively the "Incentive Options"). If the posted home only retail sales price of the home is reduced by the Seller either through negotiation with the buyer, or as a result of the underwriting requirements of the lender selected by the buyer, or if the Seller is required by the lender to pay discount points or other fees and charges, the Incentive will be applied first to the amount of the negotiated or lender required reduction of the home sales price (Incentive Option (ii)) and then to the lender required Seller paid discount points, fees and charges. Any remaining Incentive will be applied at buyer's choice to one or more of the Incentive Options. Under no circumstances will any portion of the buyer Incentive be applied toward buyer's down payment if buyer obtains financing for the home purchase. Buyer is solely responsible for paying the entire amount of any down payment. If buyer selects the Lowe's gift card, buyer will be subject to all terms and conditions on the card and to any additional terms and conditions that may be provided with the card. Lowe's gift card will be issued in the name of the primary buyer. Within 4-6 weeks after the home purchase has been completed and all conditions of the sale have been satisfied, Seller will advise buyer the gift card is available at the Seller's retail location for pick up by the primary buyer. Buyer may not combine the Program with any other offer or promotion made by Seller. Program may not be available with USDA/FHA/VA financing, and may be subject to certain lender requirements that restrict the forms of buyer incentives that Seller can provide. Program void where prohibited, but only to the extent prohibited. Lowe's is not affiliated with Clayton Homes. KEEPING ANIMALS OUT OF YOUR GARDEN

Many gardeners understand the frustration that stems from seeing a garden destroyed by wildlife. While protecting wildlife is a cause that's near and dear to many gardening enthusiasts, even the most ardent wildlife supporter does not want to see his or her garden trampled, eaten or adversely affected by animals.

Safeguarding gardens from local wildlife can require some trial and error. Animals may find ways to circumvent gardeners' initial efforts to protect their gardens, but the following methods might just do the trick the first time around.

• ERECT PHYSICAL BARRIERS AROUND GARDENS

Barriers may not be gardeners' first choices, as some people feel barriers such as wire cages or mesh coverings make it more difficult to tend to gardens and rob gardens of some of their aesthetic appeal. But coverings and wire cages can effectively prevent wildlife from trampling or eating plants while still allowing the gardens to get adequate sunlight. Make sure barriers extend to the ground so animals cannot access gardens by entering beneath the barricades.

• FIGHT INTRUDERS WITH ODOR

Stray cats may mistake gardens for litter boxes and enter them to relieve themselves. Preventing such intrusions can be as simple as placing items around the garden to reduce the likelihood that gardens will be mistaken for litter boxes. Peels from oranges and lemons or coffee grounds can be placed in the garden and can emit odors strong enough to deter cats.

• INSTALL MOTION DETECTING LIGHTS AROUND GARDENS

Motion detection technology might be enough to deter nocturnal wildlife from trampling or eating gardens. Animals might be spooked and run away when lights suddenly turn on. A similar approach can be taken using noise instead of lights. Gardeners who hope to avoid erecting barriers around their gardens can put up posts instead, attaching aluminum cans or wind chimes to the posts that will make noise when animals come near. Much like light, noise can be enough to deter animals.

• CONSIDER RAISED GARDEN BEDS

When small critters, such as moles, are the main problem, then raised garden beds with wood or plastic bottoms and sides can be enough to safeguard gardens. Raised garden beds might not be accessible to small critters, though such beds likely won't deter larger animals from getting into gardens that are not barricaded.

• ERECT FENCING AROUND THE YARD

Though fencing is expensive, fencing in a backyard or side yard where gardens are located can deter wildlife big and small from trampling or eating gardens. Wildlife is worth protecting, but gardeners must also take steps to protect their gardens from animals looking for something to eat.

REDUCE ENERGY COSTS WHILE ENSURING HOMES STAY COOL

When attempting to cool their homes, many homeowners' first instinct may be to adjust the air conditioning thermostat. But there are other, more energy-efficient methods to cooling a home.

According to the International Association of Certified Home Inspectors, as much as half of the energy used in homes goes toward heating and cooling. The following are a handful of ways to make heating and cooling a home more eco-friendly.

INSULATE

Insulation often is associated with warmth, and rightfully so, as it is used to protect a home from cold weather. However, insulation also is effective at cooling homes. Many insulation materials work by slowing down the way heat moves through materials and into spaces. Proper insulation can provide effective resistance to the flow of heat, meaning it can help block hot air from flowing into the interior of a home. Insulation will help reduce the amount of work a cooling system will have to do to cool a home thanks to the flow of heat.

REPLACE AIR FILTERS

Air filters trap dust, debris and other microscopic particles so they are not circulating in the air or clogging up vents. Over time, air filters can become so bogged down with dirt that air cannot move through a home very easily, forcing cooling systems to work harder. Simply replacing the filters can help cooling systems work more efficiently.

ADJUST THE THERMOSTAT

Programmable thermostats allow homeowners to adjust their cooling systems for when they are home and when they are out. Air conditioners can be set at higher temperatures when residents are at work or school, and then lowered before residents arrive home.

CEILING FANS

Fans help to circulate air throughout a home and create an effective draft. Ceiling fans are usually most effective at circulating air throughout a room. The larger the blades, the more air that can be offset by the fan. Many fans operate quietly and effectively. In some locations, fans may be all that's needed to cool a space. In others, fans may work in conjunction with air conditioners to enable homeowners to raise the thermostat by about 4 F.

Keeping a home cool and saving money in the process is possible by making a few tweaks to the cooling system.

VEGGIES ON DEMAND

There's nothing better than taking a bite of a fresh summer salad, made completely of vegetables you grew in your own backyard. But for many people, the labor that goes into planting a garden is a huge deterrent. Prospective gardeners are often intimidated by the hassle of digging trenches while some simply don't have room in their backyards for rows upon rows of towering veggies. The solution to this horticulture conundrum? A raised-bed garden.

Raised-bed gardening is the perfect way to plant and grow based on your space. The box takes up far less space than tilling rows in half of your backyard, giving you the beauty and sustainability you desire without eliminating your press green space. You can grow vegetables, herbs, ornamental flowers...All you need is a little imagination and to a few simple steps:

1. THE CONTAINER: Pre-fabricated box kits are the easiest. A simple 30 by 30 inch box, made of cedar, can be easily installed in any space. You simply create the box, hammer it into the ground, and you're done. There is no bottom. These boxes are built directly on top of the ground.

2. FILL WITH DIRT: Raised-bed gardening allows for you to be able to select the best soil for the particular plants you want to grow. You can use a different soil in each container you build, based on the plants' needs.

3. PLANT YOUR CROP: Choose your plants with the help of store experts. Different types of vegetables and flowers need different things such as sunlight, water and nutrients. Place the plants far enough apart so that they will have room to grow and thrive.

4. WATER, WATER, WATER! Raised beds have excellent draining, but it also means you will need to keep a close eye on your plants and make sure they have plenty to drink!

BENEFITS OF RAISED-BED GARDENING:

- You are able to start with quality soil versus testing and retesting the soil in your yard.
- They are great for yards with limited space.
- The above ground height of the boxes can be easier on backs and knees. The beds can even be built to a height that is wheelchair friendly, allowing for gardeners of all ages to enjoy the outdoors.
- Garden boxes also have fewer weeds and ground-dwelling pests.
- Better soil aeration and more room for roots can contribute to a boost in plant yield.
- Extend your growing season by planting earlier. There's no ground frost to worry about with raised beds.

MAKE THE MOST OF MULCHING

Lawns and gardens can often benefit from the laying of mulch. Mulch serves various purposes in lawns and gardens, and many experienced lawn and garden enthusiasts lay mulch to ensure their properties make it through spring, summer and fall unscathed. First-time homeowners with little or no landscaping experience may not understand the benefits of mulch, which can be used to strengthen soil and protect properties from the elements.

WHAT IS MULCH?

Mulch refers to a material spread around or over a plant to enrich and/or insulate its soil. Many homeowners prefer mulch made of wood chips, which is both effective and readily available. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency notes that organic mulches, which include leaves, wood chips, compost or grass clippings, can be used by homeowners who want to develop eco-friendly landscapes.

WHY MULCH?

Mulching can benefit plants around a property in various ways. Many people lay mulch because the mulch helps soil retain moisture in the summer, when temperatures tend to be at their hottest. This can help plants survive summer heat waves. Mulch also can be used to suppress weeds. Weeds, which steal moisture plants need to build strong roots and survive summer, need light to grow. When laid correctly, mulch deprives weeds of the light they need to grow. Organic mulches can even provide homes for crickets and a type of beetle that feed on weed seeds. Mulch also can deter harmful pests depending on the type of mulch homeowners choose. When purchasing mulch, homeowners will have to choose between the aforementioned organic mulch or man-made mulches, which may be made of plastic or rubber. While man-made mulches may repel pests, they also can have adverse effects. Plastic, for example, can heat up in the summer and cause plants to burn. Certain organic mulches can repel insects that can threaten plants. That's because the majority of organic mulches increase the amount of beneficial bacteria in the soil, and they also increase the presence of helpful insects that do not pose a threat to plant life. Those helpful insects help keep harmful insects at bay. Compost is a type of organic mulch that may attract harmful insects. While that does not mean homeowners should shy away from using compost as mulch, they should know that they may need to employ organic insecticides to combat their unwanted guests. Mulch is a potentially valuable tool homeowners can use to improve the look and health of their properties.

WEATHERING THE STORM

As we inch closer to June 1st, many of us take the time to make preparations in anticipation of hurricane season. Having a plan during this five-month stretch can mean a less stressful time when you and your loved ones either hunker down or pack up, evacuate and leave behind your most valuable possessions.

For many, one of the most important possessions is the home. Hurricane shutters, those designed specifically to withstand gusting winds and rains, are an investment that can prevent damage from high winds and flying debris. No one knows when the next storm is coming, but protecting your home with hurricane shutters can create the barrier essential to staying safe from the storm.

Shutters come in a variety of designs to suit the look and feel of your home. Styles like Colonial or Bahama offer the classic look of a traditional shutter, while rolling shutters can be customized to window shape and size and offer ease of use. Many shutters also come with optional inserts and see-through holes to ensure you and your family aren't left in the dark.

Without shutters on your home, office, or camp, storm winds can create significant pressure, creating the potential for ripping your roof off, injuring those inside, and destroying the home and the belongings inside. High quality shutters act as excellent insurance against potentially costly disasters. Shutters can also provide exceptional security in addition to curb appeal. Shutters give you the protection you need to guard against vandalism, can help conserve energy, reduce noise while providing privacy, and even increase your home's resale value. All this combined makes purchasing hurricane shutters an investment that will serve you for many years to come.

WHAT SHUTTER TYPE SUITS YOU?

ROLL-UP: Custom made with extruded aluminum, stainless steel, or plastic for prevention of oxidation. Roll-ups can be maneuvered by hand crank, electric operator, or spring loaded.

STUDIO STAR: A motorized bottom-up design that protects any shaped opening. This shutter is designed to not interfere with the architectural flow of the building while still providing protection.

COLONIAL: The fold back board and batten, louvered, or raised panel design of these shutters provides privacy, security and storm protection. These shutters are powder coat painted and may be purchased in Z blades and rounded blades with optional vertical rounded styles and horizontal mullions.

BAHAMA: Stylish and sleek, Bahama shutters are crafted with telescoping side arms to form a louvered awning.

ACCORDION: Crafted of extruded aluminum and known for strength and durability. These shutters can move horizontally between an upper and lower track and can be controlled from inside or out, opening right, left or center.

STORM PANELS: These 12-inch removable panels are light weight, easy to mount, and exceptionally strong. These panels can be mounted vertically or horizontally and are available in aluminum or Clear Lexan (six or 12-inch) and a variety of colors.

SECURITY/STORM SCREENS: Constructed of heavy gauge aluminum and stainless steel wire and custom built to suit any existing application. These energy saving screens are designed to block flying debris and also protect against insects year-round.

MAKE SPRING PROJECTS MORE ECO-FRIENDLY

The arrival of warmer weather means different things to different people. Some anticipate opportunities for outdoor fun, while others may be considering redecorating or remodeling their homes. For the latter group, home improvement season provides a great opportunity to make homes more eco-friendly. When planning home improvement projects, it's best to first choose a project and then look for ways to make the project more environmentally friendly. Such an approach may not only benefit the environment, but it also may benefit homeowners' bottom lines.

INTERIOR DECORATING

Longer days and warmer temperatures often translate into wanting to freshen up the interior of a home. Heavy draperies and comforters are put away, and lighter fabrics are taken out of storage. Whenever possible, reuse or repurpose items you already have rather than purchasing new items. Longer drapes can be cut and hemmed to be used as window treatments in other rooms. Making a patchwork blanket out of old t-shirts is a crafty project that makes use of items that would otherwise be destined for landfills.

When laundering linens, skip the energy-using dryer and let items line dry in the sun and fresh air. If you decide to purchase some new items, look for products made from sustainable or organic fabrics. Hemp and bamboo textiles have grown in popularity. Hemp and bamboo plants grow quickly, and their durability makes these materials smart choices.

When replacing items around the house, donate older items to a charitable organization.

FLOWERS AND PLANTS

Spring and summer call to mind beautiful blooming plants. Relying on native, sustainable plants is practical, environmentally friendly and cost-effective. According to the National Wildlife Federation, sustainable plants are native plants. Native plants sustain local wildlife more effectively than non-native alternatives, so include native plants in your sustainable garden. Native plants also are less reliant on pesticides and herbicides to keep them healthy and viable.

Don't forget to bring plants indoors as well. Even though you may be opening the windows more, indoor plants can filter and purify indoor air. The NASA Clean Air Study, led in association with the Associated Landscape Contractors of America, found that certain common indoor plants naturally remove toxic agents such as benzene, formaldehyde and trichloroethylene from the air. Efficient air cleaning is accomplished with at least one plant per 100 square feet of home or office space.

PROPER DISPOSAL

Spring cleaning is another tradition for many families come the end of winter and dawn of spring. Many people use spring as a time to go through closets and garages to remove items they no longer use or need. In an effort to clean up fast, some people may dispose of chemical products, paints, treated lumber, and many other items in ways that can be damaging to the environment. Always learn local municipal guidelines for proper disposal of potentially harmful products. Area recycling centers may have drop-off areas for stains and paints, used motor oil and other potentially harmful products.

Before discarding something, see if it can be donated or sold. This will result in fewer items ending up in landfills.

Exercise caution outdoors as well. Runoff from cleaning products used on home siding or driveways can leach into the surrounding soil or find its way into sewage drains that ultimately direct fluids to public waterways. Choose environmentally responsible products whenever possible.

Springtime renovation and cleaning projects provide the perfect opportunity to adopt eco-friendly practices that pay dividends for years to come.

VEGETABLES TO PLANT IN MARCH

By Barton Joffrion, Extension Agent, LSU AgCenter

Plant snap beans, Swiss chard, radish, lettuce, collard, mustard, turnip and sweet corn seeds directly into the ground. Plant tomato, pepper and eggplant transplants after March 15. Cantaloupes, squash, cucumber, and watermelons really need warmer soils to perform their best. Make sure all frost is over before planting these.

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO PLANT WARM SEASON BEDDING PLANTS IN SOUTH LOUISIANA?

The answer is Mid-March. For best results, plant petunias by mid-March but wait to plant periwinkles (vinca) in late April for best results.

SPRING AND SUMMER LANDSCAPE CARE

By Barton Joffrion, Extension Agent, LSU AgCenter

Now is the time to plant warm-season bedding plants to grow and flower from April to October. Prepare your beds carefully before putting in summer bedding plants.

Eliminate any weeds or other unwanted plants. Turn the soil to a depth of at least 8 inches and spread a 2-4 inch layer of compost, rotted leaves or other composted compounds.

Evenly spread a light application of a granular or organic all-purpose fertilizer. Blend the organic matter and fertilizer into the bed, rake smooth and you are ready to plant. Get a copy of LSU AgCenter's Horticulture Hints Spring 2016 for additional information.

LAWN CARE

Many broadleaf weeds are prevalent at this time. They can often be controlled by using selective liquid post-emergence "Trimec type" herbicides that contain formulations with three weed killing ingredients - 2,4-D, dicamba and mecoprop. Examples are Bayer Advanced Southern Broadleaf, Ortho Weed B Gon Max for Southern lawns and Ferti-lome Weed Free Zone.

Read and follow label directions. Some injury can occur when using them on St. Augustine and centipede grass as the weather gets warmer in late spring, so apply early and read label. Atrazine is very effective on winter broadleaves and will control annual bluegrass. Read and follow label as with all pesticides.

LAWN FERTILIZATION

The temptation is there to have a pretty lawn early. Ideally the best time to apply general fertilizers is the beginning of April. If you are using weed and feeds you should apply in mid-to late March. Be sure to read the labels on them because many have temperature restrictions when a certain temperature is reached. Our lawns do not tolerate these applications well if temperatures are in the high 80s and 90 degrees.

Remember that Bermuda grass needs at least three applications of slow or fast release nitrogen fertilizer in Louisiana. Zoysia and St. Augustine need at least two applications and sometimes three for good growth and color. Centipede needs less with at least one application, preferably two.

CITRUS PRODUCTION

Now is a good time to purchase and plant citrus trees. We have many citrus trees that are between 12-20 years old in the parish. We are seeing decline on many due to various reasons and factors. Now is a good time to plant satsumas, navels, lemons, kumquats and grapefruit.

LSU AgCenter has an excellent publication titled "Louisiana Citrus Production." It can be downloaded at www.lsuagcenter.com. The publication number is 1234.

PRUNE CRAPE MYRTLES PROPERLY

By Barton Joffrion, Extension Agent, LSU AgCenter

According to LSU AgCenter Horticulture Specialists, the appropriate time to prune most summer-flowering trees and shrubs including Crape Myrtles, is late January through early March.

Crape Myrtles are leafless at this time, and it is easy to see the structure of the tree. Pruning should be done to enhance a Crape Myrtle's natural shape, while also correcting any problems.

An unfortunate trend in Crape Myrtle pruning is to cut back tops, which results in a tree reduced to large main branches ending in stubs.

The lush growth that occurs at their cut sites appears vigorous but actually is structurally weak and is more susceptible to fungal diseases such as powdery mildew. Even more, when pruning is conducted improperly over the years, unsightly large, swollen knobs form at the points where pruning is done each year.

Although cutting a tree back can be considered an option when pruning Crape Myrtle, it is certainly not, and never has been, the preferred way of handling these graceful and beautiful trees.

To prune a Crape Myrtle properly, first decide if it needs to be pruned. If you see something that calls for pruning, study the tree carefully and determine what needs to be pruned to accomplish the specific purpose identified. If the problem is one branch is touching the edge of a roof, deal with that branch. Don't cut back the whole tree. Every Crape Myrtle will need some pruning in its life to grow properly and fit well with its surroundings.

HERE ARE A FEW EXAMPLES:

- Over time, branches that are too low on the trunk(s) will need to be pruned to raise the canopy to the desired height. We often need to remove weak, thin or vertical shoots from the inner part of the tree to produce a cleaner looking tree.
- Selected branches may need to be pruned back to a side branch or the trunk to create a shapelier tree and to eliminate crossed and rubbing branches.
- Prune to keep suckers away from the base.
- You may need to redirect the direction of a branch's growth. This can be done by studying the branch carefully and looking for a side branch that grows in the desired direction. Prune back to that branch and you have redirected the growth of the branch.
- A good practice with Crape Myrtles and many other trees is always locate trees at least 10 feet away from the house roof line.
