Wallace State Rotaract Club Serves Campus And Community

One of the newest organizations on Wallace State's campus has evolved into one of the most active. Wallace State's Rotaract Club recently capped a busy spring semester by supporting Spirit Night at Cullman Chick-fil-A by honoring and raising money for the Saving Forgotten Warriors of Cullman County.

"The Rotaract Club is a service organization and community service is our top priority. We are thankful to have a great relationship with the Rotary Club in Cullman, and each student has the opportunity to choose a mentor to learn from," said Paul Knetter, Rotaract's Student President.

During the fall and spring semesters, the Rotaract Club meets once every two weeks and plans the meetings around the members' class schedules, providing flexibility for those interested. Knetter learned about Rotaract in one of instructor Terri McGriff Waldrop's business classes and decided it was a good opportunity for him.

"I joined because I wanted to build networks across campus and the community. I'm always looking for ways to stay involved on campus," said Knetter, who's also a member of Wallace State's state champion Quiz Bowl team.

The Rotaract Club is open to all Wallace State students and membership in the organization has more than doubled since the end of the fall semester, according to Knetter, rising from approximately 10 students to 24 members.

"I think students are interested because we're proactive on campus, and we've always got something going on. We have great support from the faculty, and we have a good mixture of students from all across campus. We have some tennis players in the club, business education students and general studies students," said Knetter, a freshman from Springville.

The main motto for Wallace State's Rotaract Club is "Service before Self," and the organization has indeed served its community over the last few months. One of the main events the group participated in was the 44th annual Cullman Rotary Club Auction in March. The Rotaract Club raised funds to help benefit local charities, projects and other community happenings.

Other community events conducted by the Rotaract Club this semester include reading to students at Cullman Primary School, hosting blood drives on campus and in the community and participating in Hanceville High's "Keeping it Real," program where the group assisted high school students with properly managing budgets, bills and expenses.

The Chick-fil-A Spirit Night fundraiser was spearheaded by the Rotaract Club after the members met veterans on campus and sought ways to assist their needs.

Freshman Challie Johnson is in charge of the club's social gatherings and social media postings. "I think students are interested in our group because we plan a lot of community events and try to meet business and community leaders. It's allowed us to make great connections across the area and that might help some of us get a job later down the line," Johnson said. "This organization is for anyone who is looking to serve others. It's great to be a part of."

Taking certain omega-3 fatty acid supplements during pregnancy can reduce the risk of childhood asthma by almost one third, according to a new study published in the New England Journal of Medicine. one out of five young children suffer from asthma or a related disorder before school age.

Extending the number of pregnant women given the common drug levothyroxine to boost thyroid hormone levels may lead to a reduced number of stillbirths, early caesarean sections and low-weight babies, according to a new study presented at the Society for Endocrinology annual conference. The thyroid gland is an organ found in the base of the neck. It produces essential hormones that control the body's metabolism-the way we use energy. Thyroid hormones are also critical for fetal brain development, but babies cannot make any of their own until the second trimester and have to source all of it from their mothers.

Chronic kidney disease patients who take urate-lowering therapy and achieve target urate levels show improvement in kidney function, according to new research findings presented at the 2016 ACR/ARHP Annual Meeting in Washington. Chronic kidney disease (CKD) is a gradual loss of kidney function that can lead to fluid, electrolyte and waste build-up its advanced stages. Gout, a condition marked by high levels of uric acid that can crystallize through the body, can lead to CKD in some patients. First-line therapies for lowering urate levels are allopurinol and fabuxostat.

Ryder Jones

WSC Student Ryder Jones Is Recipient Of University of Alabama Presidential Scholarship

West Point High School graduate Ryder Jones, 20, is the recipient of Wallace State College's University of Alabama Presidential Scholarship. He plans to major in civil engineering and eventually apply for medical school.

"I was very surprised when I learned I received the scholarship. I had my mind made up I was going elsewhere in the fall because I knew I couldn't afford to go to Alabama," Jones said. "I guess you could say the scholarship helped a dream come true. It means everything to me because attending Alabama has always been a dream."

Jones was a three-sport star and the salutatorian at West Point before enrolling at Wallace State. Since Jones arrived on campus, he has continued to succeed in the classroom. He has worked as a student mentor in the tutoring lab and is a member of Wallace State's Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society.

Jones said one aspect he pointed out in his scholarship application packet was ability to successfully complete the advanced math classes at Wallace State.

"I want to prove I'm worthy of this scholarship and represent Wallace State well," said Jones, who has served as a volunteer football and basketball coach at West Point for the past two seasons.

Jones wants to ultimately work in the sports orthopedic field.

The Alabama Presidential Scholarship covers the cost of in-state tuition for four semesters, provided the student maintains a 3.0 GPA.

How to tell who are Christians or liars is known by scripture (1Jn 2:3-4). Many teach their church is doing the will of Christ. So Be It, if it is the truth. Yet scripture reveals Christ's will is not being taught by them. Certainly the devil can charm the unlearned and unstable who wrest with scripture into believing Christ gave a lawless covenant to the gentiles; but they cannot prove it by The Holy Bible (Mt 5:19a). The too late problem is when one goes to the grave believing lies for truth, it is too late to repent. So Be It!
