At The Corral Gate

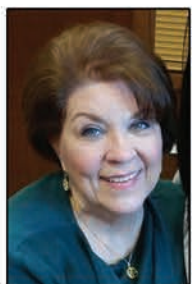

I am a lifelong reader. I started school at age 6, and probably the summer I turned 8, my mom handed me a book by Dale Evans called 'Angel Unaware' about her baby that died. I devoured the book, and Mother was impressed with my reading comprehension beyond my years. I think my comprehension has now become about average. But I enjoy the feel of a book in my hands, the simplicity of turning the pages, and the finality of snapping it shut once it's completed. No electricity required! This Mother's Day, I think it's her gift of reading for enjoyment that I most treasure.

The summer I was 8, my mom handed me a copy of 'Angel Unaware' by Dale Evans, written about her baby that died. I read it straight through. Mother was pleased that I was touched by the book, and impressed with my reading ability. I guess that encouraged me to keep on! I know it's impossible to keep count, but I have spent dozens of hours with my nose in a book. Maybe hundreds. I'm a regular patron of the Sulphur Springs Public Library. Haven't gotten into Audible yet, or listening to books on YouTube via a SmartTV. Great ideas though. Personally I just like the feel of a book in my hands and the simplicity of turning pages and snapping the book shut once it's completed! On this Mother's Day, I guess it would be the lifelong love of reading which my Mom gave me, that is one of my most enduring treasures.

I belong to a book club, the "Literary Ladies". We meet monthly to eat, laugh and discuss our latest book adventures. Sometimes we meet in members' homes, and sometimes in restaurants or tea rooms. This month we gathered at the country home of member Carol Allen. She is the wife of local horse doctor John Allen, mother of grown children and "Mum-mum" to some precious grandchildren. Carol is also Director of the Northeast Texas Choral Society. Her home reflects her love of family tradition, including music! (Her grandfather and his four brothers, The Davie Boys, were traveling, singing ministers in Oklahoma a hundred years ago) Following a pot luck lunch in Carol's kitchen, book club member Sharon Feldt gave the 'first public reading' of "Sarah O-Shea and the Wacky Faucet". This is Sharon's second children's book, and both are now available on Amazon.

I found out that our host Carol Ruth Owens Allen was born in Wichita Falls, Texas, received early music and vocal training in New Jersey, then became a vocal performance major at Southwestern University back in Texas. Somehow she met John Allen, married him and spent the next several years raising a family and teaching music in schools and churches in Sulphur Springs. It was at a 1997 board meeting of the Northeast Texas Symphony Orchestra that the idea of a community chorale was first suggested to her. She prayed about it, and began by carefully selecting men and women who could present the four voice parts...soprano, alto, tenor and bass. After a season of rehearsals, she directed her first volunteer choir before local audiences. The next year, her singers were invited to perform for Governor George Bush's visit to the Hopkins County Courthouse, and that summer for the Symphony's Independence Concert. Word got around, and singers hungry to sing began to come in, some driving considerable distances to the regular Monday night rehearsals. The next twenty years passed quickly as the choir grew to 100 voices, and as Carol ministered to more and more individuals and audiences, music became her mission as well as her creative outlet. Audiences began to anticipate the twice-a-year Choral Society musicales which often worked soloists, costumed dancers and small orchestras into the program. Most recently, Carol and her choir lovingly presented the "Touchstone" concert with 85 voices, closing it with two very moving pieces, "You Raise Me Up" and "We Shall Overcome". Former Choral Society members in the audience were then invited onstage to share in the signature benediction "May the Lord Bless and Keep You". Inspirational and joyful, these lyrics and harmonies left few dry eyes. Music speaks a language that everyone understands. Carol's talent puts wings on those musical messages, taking the human hearts of her singers to new heights through the listening ears of her audiences. Congratulations, Carol Allen, as you get ready to celebrate two decades as Director of the Northeast Texas Choral Society with a Christmas extravaganza and Spring 2018 double-header! Readers who would like more photos and information can visit netchoral.org.

This Mother's Day, look into your memories and find something to mark your mom's contributions to your life. There may be some you have overlooked! Til next week, I'll be singing as I watch for you at the corral gate.

Happy Mother's Day

This year Mother's Day is celebrated/ observed on Sunday May 14, 2017. Mother's Day is observed the second Sunday in May. It is a time to honor mothers, grandmothers, and great-grandmothers for their contribution to family and society.

Mother's Day originated from mainly two women, Julia Ward Howe and Anna Jarvis. Julia Ward sponsored Mother's Day each year in Boston around 1870 to promote pacifism and disarmament with women. It lasted about 10 years. Anna Jarvis organized the first Mother's Day in Grafton, West Virginia at St. Andrew's Methodist Church in 1908.

Treat Mom on her day!
