JCJC's EMT program earns"Excellence in Action" National Award by Advance CTE

Jones County Junior College's Emergency Medical Technology program recently received the prestigious "Excellence in Action" award, which recognizes the best Career Technical Education (CTE) programs across the nation by Advance CTE. Jones was one of eleven programs selected nationwide to earn this award in the Health Science career cluster category. All programs recognized by Advance CTE provided compelling data demonstrating impressive graduation rates, credential attainment, dual enrollment completion and work-based learning participation, and glowing letters of recommendation. These programs are preparing their students for a lifetime of career success.

Advance CTE's Katie Fitzgerald explained, "We have around 100 applicants each year across 16 career clusters. However, the Health Science career cluster is one of the most competitive by far. The staff does an initial review of all applications and narrows it down to around 50 and then the selection committee, made up of state CTE directors and past award winners, reviews the remaining programs against a rubric. An award winner is selected for each career cluster."

The Emergency Medical Technology (EMT) program at JCJC trains EMTs and paramedics to become knowledgeable health care providers through a strong relationship with secondary education schools and industry, ensuring a seamless pathway across systems. The program is critical to providing a pipeline of qualified healthcare professionals, and it has emerged as one of the top programs in the South, boasting a 90 percent firsttime pass rate on the National Registry of EMTs, compared to a national average of 60 percent.

"It is quite an honor for myself, the Emergency Technology Program, and the college to receive this award," said M. Eric Williams, assistant director of Emergency Technology Studies at JCJC. "Our motto at Jones is to inspire greatness, and we see the fruit of that labor today. We have always known our college was a leader in health care education, but it is wonderful to be recognized on the national stage for the accomplishments of our faculty and

Williams is proud to have the Advance CTE organization's "seal of approval" by earning the national award. That's because the national Excellence in Action award in the Health Science Career Cluster was based on JCJC's track record of providing clear pathways into college and careers, the rigorous academic and technical coursework, strong partnerships

Southern Miss Autism Research and Treatment Lab offering programs for children, adolescents

LARGE EGG PACKAGE!

Submitted

The University of Southern Mississippi's Autism Research and Treatment (SMART) Lab is offering two programs for children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorder and their peers, beginning May 31 on the USM Hattiesburg campus.

*Summer Social Skills Program: The SMART Lab's Summer Social Skills Program is designed for children ages 4-12 and focuses on behavioral and social skills, such as joining in groups and conversation skills, and will include strategies to promote skill use in home and community settings. The twice-weekly instruction (Tuesdays and Thursdays starting at 1 p.m.; sessions will be 2.5 hours in duration) will be held for eight weeks, with groups divided by age.

*Social Skills and Games Group: This new program for adolescents age 13-

19 targets social skills such as joining in groups and conversation skills in a fun, game-based setting. The twice-weekly instruction (Tuesdays and Thursdays starting at 1 p.m.; sessions will be 2.5 hours in duration) will be held for eight weeks, with groups divided by age.

These sessions will be taught by trained USM graduate students and led by USM Department of Psychology faculty members Evan Dart and Keith Radley in the USM School Psychology Service Center/ SMART Lab, located in Owings-Mc-Quagge Hall. Program fees are $100 per individual, which is adjustable based on income. For more information, contact Brandy Lowe at 601.266.5255 or email brandy.lowe@usm.edu.

May 20th is March for Jesus Jones County Day

By Linda Cranford

Laurel Mayor Johnny Magee signed a proclamation Thursday, May 11 proclaiming Saturday May 20 "March for Jesus Jones County Day." Retha Clements, the march coordinator, said it has been approximately 14 years since she put together a March for Jesus event gathering Christians of all denominations together not in protest but as an outward procession of prayer. Christians from across the area are encouraged to gather at Daphne Park beginning at 9 a.m. The march will leave Daphne Park at 10 a.m. and follow a route through downtown Laurel and back to Daphne Park.

"This is a parade for Jesus," said Clements. "We're going to walk down the streets singing songs for Jesus and fellowship together." Clements said there will be a rally at the end of the parade, where several local pastors will gather to pray for our city, county and nation.

Mayor Magee said the City supports and welcomes all friends of Jesus to gather in His honor saying, "You can't have too much prayer."

with industry leaders, and the program's impactful workbased learning experiences which offers opportunities for career exploration and subject-matter mastery. Kimberly Green, executive director of Advance CTE, shared that JCJC's EMT program's commitment to providing realworld learning experiences through mentor-ships with industry experts, clinical internships and field placements stood out to them. She added, over the course of over 500 internship hours and a demanding academic course load, JCJC students are prepared to enter directly into the healthcare sector, a field that is in high-demand in rural Mississippi.

"I am so proud of these exemplary programs and all they offer learners across the country," said Green. "Boasting impressive graduation and completion rates, credential attainment, and hands-on learning experiences, these programs demonstrate what high-quality CTE has to offer and its ability to set students up for success across the spectrum of careers."

Advance CTE Excellence in Action award winners cover 11 Career Clusters® from 10 states and represents some of the best CTE programs in the country. These high-quality programs serve a combined 1,500 students in communities ranging from rural Mississippi to the bustling metro area of Dallas, Texas, providing all students – no matter their race or income - with a world-class education. While each of the programs is unique, they all offer a rigorous sequence of courses beginning with fundamental skills to subject-matter mastery; real-world, hands-on experiences in the classroom led by dedicated educators; and meaningful work-based experiences facilitated by industry partners. The programs boast not only stellar

A Shepherd's Heart – Follow Me

By Dr. Timothy L. Hubbard

The next day, Jesus decided to leave for Galilee. Finding Philip, he said to him, "Follow me." – John 1:43 (NIV)

"Follow me," are two words of invitation spoken by Jesus that will change the life of any individual who will respond. It certainly changed the life of Philip, Nathanael, Andrew and Peter, who all responded positively to the invitation. I don't know about you, but I am thankful that the invitation that Christ offers is not too complicated to understand. As a matter of fact, it's really pretty simple, isn't it? As I have thought about this invitation over the years, I have struggled to find ways to help people understand its simplicity when there seems to be so much confusion concerning the "complexity" of becoming a follower of Christ in the world today.

I recall as a child learning how to build balsa wood airplanes. My dad would scrape up enough money to go to the hobby store and buy airplane kits for me, my brothers and, yes, he bought one for himself too. He would gather us together around the dining room table (our workshop) and as he opened his box, we would follow and do the same thing. Dad would teach us how to build our models by allowing us to watch him and follow his example. In this process, I don't ever remember him saying to us, "just do what I say," - rather he would simply show us how to accomplish the task by encouraging us to follow his example. I was always amazed at how patient my dad was when building his model airplane. Always careful to sand every inch of the plane until it was smooth as glass. I can hear him saying that the smoother you sanded, the better the finished paint job would look. Looking back at my finished products, I should have followed those instructions better. I just never seemed to be able to get mine to look as good as Dad's.

Just about the time I would grow frustrated and want to throw my plane to the floor, he would gently take it from my hands and once again demonstrate how to sand for the smooth finish. Jesus' invitation to us is much like this example from my childhood. He calls us to follow Him, to follow His example. His purpose is to develop us into His disciples and just as he did with those early disciples, he will lead us by example. When we want to give up and throw in the towel, He will gently guide us through life, instructing us as we go. There is one key that must be realized in the process. That is the key component of "surrender."

As I am willing to follow Christ, I must be willing to surrender my will over to His. If I want my life to be a reflection of Him, I have got to get all of me out of the way. Jesus also said, "If anyone would follow after me, let him deny self, daily take up his cross and follow me." It is this surrender that is necessary to follow after Christ. Just as I wanted my airplane to look just like my Dad's, I want my life to look just like Jesus. My prayer is that I would faithfully surrender my all to Christ each day. How about you . . . would you make that your prayer as well? The hymnist, Judson W. Van DeVenter, states it well in the following words: "All to Jesus I surrender, All to Him I freely give; I will ever love and trust Him, In His presence daily live. I surrender all, I surrender all; All to Thee, my blessed Savior, I surrender all."

Open Garden Daylily Tour, Daylily Show dates set

The May meeting of the Hattiesburg Area Daylily Society (HADS) will feature HADS show chairman John Tibbetts. Co-chair of the show is Barbara Watts. The program will focus on the topic "What's a Daylily Show All About?" A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

The meeting will be held, Sunday, May 21 at 2:00 p.m. in the Extension Service Conference Room at the Forrest County Multi- Purpose Center on Hwy. 49 South. In addition to the program, the meeting will feature a plant auction and door prizes. Refreshments are served prior to the beginning of the meeting. Visitors and new members are always welcome.

Also on the HADS calendar are two programs that have grown to be area favorites. The 2017 Annual Open Garden Daylily Tour will be on Memorial Day, one day only, on May 29. The 22nd Annual Daylily Show will be Saturday, June 3 at the Lake Terrace Convention Center.

Additional information about the Society, the upcoming meetings and future events may be obtained by visiting the web site at www.hattiesburgdaylily.com

Why it's important cancer | Hoffman signs with GCC survivors play an active role in their own care

By Kimberly Randolph

Where once a diagnosis of cancer meant despair and hopelessness for patients stricken with the disease, thanks to tremendous advances in medicine and ongoing research around the world, survival is no longer just a dream for many, but an expected outcome. On June 4, the world honors those who have fought and stand in living tribute to the growing list of successes in the battle against cancer. The 30th annual National Cancer Survivors Day is also intended to help recently diagnosed individuals understand that cancer can be beaten with help and inspiration from their doctors, nurses, caregivers, families and friends . . . and with a solid plan for meeting the challenges

According to the American Cancer Society, more than 15 million cancer survivors are living in the United States and many are living longer after diagnosis, thanks in large part to advances in early detection and treatment. In fact, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports that two out of every three people with cancer are expected to live at least five years after diagnosis and the earlier the detection, the greater the likelihood for survival well beyond five years. Validating the more promising outlook was a study done by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute in 2016, which revealed that 17 percent of survivors – as of the study date – had been diagnosed 20 or more years prior.

In a November 2015 report, the CDC projected the number of cancer survivors in the U.S. will swell to about 24 million by 2025. A testament to modern medicine's greater understanding of how to combat the disease and the ever-improving diagnostic and treatment methods being deployed on a daily basis. Funding, of course, is critical to keeping cancer research on an upward trajectory. Continued appropriations from government - and significant private support - are leading to more and better treatment options and may push survivorship numbers beyond the CDC's rosy outlook in the years ahead. However, we all have within ourselves an innate ability that can provide a significant complement to the medications and therapies we offer as healthcare providers. A positive attitude and a strong will to beat cancer can help support favorable patient outcomes for long-term survival.

Legendary UCLA hall-of-fame basketball coach John Wooden had a famous saying that applies here: "Failing to plan, is planning to fail." His message is applicable, not just in sports, but to life, and certainly it is apropos for cancer survivors. It is essential for survivors to have a plan. Sadly, many do not, and it is a distressing reality that a patient without a plan has a gap in their treatment regimen that may have negative consequences. A survivor with a plan is empowered with knowledge regarding what therapies and tests are needed and at what intervals. No two patients are exactly alike, so each survivor should have a customized medical plan that provides a proverbial road map for sharing information and scheduling treatments relative to their own condition(s) with their doctors so that the best care possible can be rendered. I tell patients to stick with a plan - even after active treatment for their cancers may have concluded - and know that their plan should encompass all of their healthcare providers. Cancer survivors often become accustomed to the care given in treatment of their respective cancers and many believe they can forego their primary care physicians. Not true! Primary care is still very important to managing all of the patient's needs and to control chronic conditions that may or may not be related to cancer. A patient may become so focused on overcoming their cancer they ignore other vital diagnostic tests like mammograms, colonoscopies, prostate exams, routine physicals, etc. Key takeaways for

- Know who you need to see, when you need to see them, what tests you need and when, and what medications you need to take and for what duration for long-term health and quality of life.
- Have a comprehensive plan to help assure you stay on track.
- Combine quality medical care across multiple disciplines, a positive "can do" attitude and a clear plan to get well and stay

-Kimberly Randolph, MSN, FNP-BC, works in the Survivorship Department at Cancer Treatment Centers of America in > the metropolitan Atlanta community of Newnan, where she cares for patients with a range of conditions. She is board-certified by the American Academy of Nurse Practitioners and the American Nurses Credentialing Center. She is trained in Advanced Cardiac Life Support and is a member of the American

Byrd among Mississippi AT&T Employees honored with President's Volunteer Service Award

Submitted

April was National Volunteer Month. And AT&T is celebrating 16 Mississippi employees being honored with the President's Volunteer Service Award (PVSA). The PVSA recognizes individuals who demonstrate a commitment to volunteerism throughout the year. These Mississippi AT&T employees are among 4,288 nationwide to receive this honor. They logged a minimum of 100 service hours last year, with many volunteering more than 500 hours for the Gold Award designation.

"These individuals support our communities through selfless acts every day. Whether it's mentoring students, cleaning our parks or feeding the hungry, our employees enjoy assisting others," said Mayo Flynt, AT&T Mississippi president. "In honor of National Volunteer Month, we congratulate these employees and hope their stories inspire others as much as they inspire us at AT&T."

The sixteen recipients include: Betty Byrd of Louisville; Eric Byrd of Laurel; Melissa Foster of Ocean Springs (Gold Award), Gunner Goad of Tupelo, Chuck Gray of Clinton; Bill Harris and Amos McCormick of Jackson; Miadeon McIntyre of Jackson (Gold Award); Edward Herring of Vicksburg; Tip Johnston and Freddie Turpin of Brandon; Kimberly Martin, Rich Nix and Christopher Read of Ridgeland; Cornell Smith of Columbus; and, Charles Williams of Carriere (Gold Award).

Community service has been an integral part of our company culture for more than 100 years and takes many forms. In Mississippi, our employees give their time mentoring students, feeding the homeless, working with the disabled, supporting their churches, helping pets in need, and so much more. These moments of giving can add up to millions of service hours. All AT&T employees and retirees volunteered more than 5.4 million hours—just in

Bracket set for Region 23 Baseball Tournament

By Shawn Wansley

Top-ranked Jones County Junior College will host the Region 23 Baseball Tournament at Community Bank Park May 17-21. The tournament will consist of defending region and national champion JCJC, second-ranked LSU-Eunice and four MACJC teams - Northwest, Hinds, East Central and Pearl River who just won their respective best-of-3 playoff series to advance.

The double-elimination event opens at noon on Wednesday with No. 3 seed LSU-Eunice (45-9) vs. No. 4 seed Hinds (30-16). At 3 p.m., No. 2 seed Northwest (31-17) faces No. 5 seed East Central (33-15). The host Bobcats (44-2) meet No. 6 seed Pearl River (27-18) at 6 p.m. on Wednesday. The tournament continues through either Saturday or Sunday. All games involving JCJC will air on www.jcjc.tv.

The tournament champion will go to the NJCAA Division II World Series in Enid, Oklahoma, May 27-June 3.Admission to the region tournament is $8 and MACJC passes will be honored. The front entrance and third base entrance to the ballpark will be open.

High-powered Eagles streak to C-USA title

USM won the Conference-USA regular season title with a sweep of UAB this past weekend. USM also won their tenth straight game and has scored an average of nine runs in those wins. The Eagles (22-5, 40-12) will host the conference tournament in Biloxi next week at MGM Park. It is the first outright C-USA regular season title for the Eagles since 2003. They have shared the title two other times. It is USM's tenth time to win 40 games in a season.

Mississippi State and LSU will play for the Western Division title this weekend in Starkville. The Tigers lead the Bulldogs by one game in the standings. State (33-19, 17-10) lost two-of-three in Athens last weekend. LSU (35-17, 18-9) swept Auburn to take the lead away from MSU. Bulldog first baseman Brett Rooker most likely will be the SEC's MVP and for good reason. He is only the sixth MSU player to hit the twenty mark in homers. Will Clark, Rafael Palmeiro and Tommy Raffo are a few of the others to achieve

Ole Miss (31-21, 13-14) fell to Texas A&M on Friday night in their series opener. The Rebels rebounded on Saturday night with a four-run eighth inning and then scored three times on Sunday in the eighth to down the Aggies again and keep their slim hopes of getting an NCAA post-season bid. Ole Miss heads to the Plains this weekend and needs at least two wins to be considered for the post-season. Colby Bortles hit his tenth home run of the year in his final at-bat at Swayze Field.

Lady Rebels win SEC title

Ole Miss claimed the SEC softball tournament championship for the first time in school history. The Lady Rebels were led by pitcher Kaitlin Lee, who pitched all 28 innings in the four wins. Ole Miss downed MSU (2-1), top-ranked Florida (2-0), Alabama (4-1) and finally LSU (6-1). Lee played high school ball at Harrison Central and then played at Gulf Coast Community College before transferring to Ole Miss. This Friday, the Lady Rebels will host the Oxford Regional. The host team will play Southern Illinois, while Arizona State and North Carolina will meet. It is the Lady Rebels' second straight year to make the NCAA. Mississippi State also made the NCAA tournament and will play BYU on Friday night in Salt Lake City.
