Prayer to St. Jude

Most holy Apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use, I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations, and sufferings, particularly (your request) and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. Amen.

activity in cooked spinach, mushrooms, asparagus, cabbage and peppers. The cooking method found to be the best for preserving antioxidants was roasting or steaming. Frying is not recommended because the antioxidants get used up in the frying process.

The case for eating raw vegetables: In other instances, raw vegetables are better. For example, polyphenols, yet another antioxidant, are lost when carrots are cooked. In broccoli, heat damages the enzyme myrosinase. Myrosinase breaks down compounds in the broccoli to form another compound called sulforaphane, which may kill precancerous cells.

Vitamin C, also a powerful antioxidant found in many of the vegetables mentioned, can be destroyed by heat. To get the best of both worlds and

- 1/2 medium purple onion, thinly sliced
- 1 cup sweet peas, fresh or frozen
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

1. Add salt to a large pot of water and bring to a boil. Wash, remove tough stalks on the asparagus and cut in half. Add all of the vegetables to the boiling water and cook for 2 to 3 minutes.

2. To keep vegetables crunchy and colors bright, place vegetables in a bowl filled with cold water and the remaining 1/2 tablespoon salt for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove vegetables from water and drain. Place in a large salad bowl and set aside.

Raw vegetables:

- 1 crown broccoli, leaves removed, cut into florets
- 1 cup baby carrots
- 6 radishes, trimmed, thinly sliced
- 1 cup, whole red or yellow cherry tomatoes, cut in half
- 1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1/2 cup fresh mint, parsley, basil and chervil, torn

Toss raw vegetables, vinegar and pepper. Combine with cooked vegetables. Sprinkle with fresh mint, parsley, basil and chervil, if desired. Serve with a drizzle of Spicy Tomato Dressing (recipe follows), if desired.

SPICY TOMATO DRESSING

- 3 large, ripe tomatoes
- Juice of half a freshly squeezed lemon or lime
- 1/2 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1-3 teaspoons hot sauce
- 2-3 tablespoons olive oil

Peel, seed and cut tomatoes into quarters. Using a food processor or blender, mix together tomatoes, salt, pepper and hot sauce. With the blender or processor on low, slowly add the olive oil down the feeding tube until mixture thickens slightly and is well-combined. Drizzle over salad.

Salad Days

One of the best ways to showcase all the complexities of vegetables is in a salad. While a salad seems like a simple dish, combining vegetables with sweet, bitter, crunchy, soft, peppery and mild flavors with a wonderful dressing and fresh herbs brings this simple dish to a new level.

Depositphotos.com

There is some debate about whether cooked or raw vegetables are better to consume. The short answer is ... don't choose, have both!

Here's the case for cooking vegetables:

Lycopene content in tomatoes is actually increased when tomatoes are cooked. Lycopene is responsible for the tomato's red color. Studies have linked high lycopene intake with lower risk of cancer and heart attacks. It also is a powerful antioxidant.

Antioxidants help prevent or repair damage to body cells, which is important for decreasing risk of cancer. They are also thought to improve immune function.

Cooking carrots increases their beta carotene content. Beta carotene is an antioxidant that the body converts to vitamin A, another antioxidant. Vitamin A helps promote normal vision, protect from infection and regulate the immune system.

There may be additional antioxidant to put an end to the debate, it is recommended to alternate consumption of raw and cooked vegetables to get a variety of nutrients.

This recipe for Springtime Salad with Spicy Tomato Dressing contains both raw and cooked vegetables. There's no debate that this dish is great!

SPRINGTIME SALAD

This salad keeps well in the refrigerator and makes a delicious vegetarian lunch salad or a side dish for dinner. Use leftover cooked and reheated vegetables, if desired, or select vegetables of your choice for the raw ingredients. It makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cooked vegetables:

- 1/2 tablespoon salt for boiling water, plus 1/2 tablespoon for ice water bath
- 1/2 pound green or white asparagus
- 1/2 pound fresh green beans, trimmed and cut in half
- 1 cup fresh or frozen corn

Q. I've been hooked on "The Originals" since it began. I especially like the actress who plays Sofya. Can you tell me a bit about her? What else can I see in? — Barry T., via email

A. Taylor Cole is the model-turned-actress who plays the ancient vampire/hired killer Sofya Voronova in the CW drama. When Cole isn't playing a character hell-bent on revenge against Klaus for killing her family 500 years ago, she's portraying an art professor at Boston College who's aching to make tenure in the Hallmark Channel original movie called "The Art of Us" (which premieres May 20 at 9 p.m. ET/PT). Dr. Harper Collins (played by Cole) has a short time to mold a handsome artist — who happens to be her dog walker — into the star painter of her recently curated art gallery at the college. I spoke with Cole recently about this contrasting character (at least from what we are used to in "The Originals"), and she was thrilled to get the chance to play Harper, telling me: "Everything about her is me. I'm very black-and-white and very structured. I need to let loose a little more, and she's the same way. She's a character I haven't gotten to play yet. She's very driven and she's passionate. Her determination to follow through was really exciting to play."

A. Prepare yourself for more rum-soaked swashbuckling from Johnny Depp as Capt. Jack Sparrow when "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales" hits theaters May 26. Lucky Disneyland parkgoers got a sneak peek back in April when Depp got into full Capt. Jack gear on the Pirates of the Caribbean attraction, surprising and delighting people on the ride as they drifted past on their boats.

Q. Can you tell me when the new movie comes out? — Paul F., Jasper, Wyoming

Q. This sounds too good to be true: Is "Roseanne" really getting a reboot? — Kelly F., via Facebook

A. Everyone's favorite blue-collar family is indeed coming back for an eight-episode limited series — and everyone is on board for the revival (although it's not known which Becky we'll be getting). Details are sketchy, since it's still in the beginning stages of development, but look for the series to premiere in 2018, which happens to be the 30th anniversary of the pilot episode.

Q. Can you tell me when the new movie comes out? — Paul F., Jasper, Wyoming

The Greatest Moments in Baseball History

Seventy years ago, Jackie Robinson broke baseball's color barrier. This week, we remember that juncture and some of the other greatest moments in baseball history — moments that transcend the game and teach us more about life in general than we thought possible at the time.

Earning It

Going into the 1941 season-ending doubleheader, Ted Williams was statistically hitting .400, and his manager offered to sit him out so he could accomplish the feat. Williams, a hero flying ace in World War II, refused to back into the accomplishment — either he was a .400 hitter or he wasn't. He went 4-5 and 2-3 in the series, and finished the season at .406.

Under Pressure

When Roger Maris came to the N.Y. Yankees via Kansas City in 1960, he was derided as a surly hick and an outsider by the hostile New York press. When Maris and Mickey Mantle began to make a run at Ruth's record 60 home runs that summer, the press focused on him with the intensity of a magnifying glass concentrating light from a thousand burning suns. Losing both his hair and his mind, Maris finally broke Ruth's record in the last game of the season.

Tearing Down the Wall

Branch Ricky and Jackie Robinson broke baseball's color barrier in 1947, and baseball's commissioner Ford Frick spelled it out for anyone (including the St. Louis Cardinals, who threatened to strike) who didn't get it: "This is the United States of America, and one citizen has as much right to play as another."

Justice in the Face of Prejudice

Despite death threats and the thick air of the South's remaining prejudice heavy in the night in 1974 at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium, "Hammerin'" Hank Aaron persevered and surpassed Babe Ruth's home run record with his 715th career homer. Today, Barry Bonds, another black ballplayer, wears the home-run crown with 762 after surpassing Aaron's mark of 755. But after the example Aaron set, it just doesn't seem the same.

The Luckiest Man Alive

On May 2, 1939, Lou Gehrig voluntarily removed himself from a game after playing in a record 2,130 games in a row. Within two months' time, Gehrig learned he was dying of a debilitating muscle disease that now bears his name. On July 4 of that same year, Gehrig said goodbye to baseball and his fans by acknowledging the incredible fortune he had in just being able to play baseball for a living. Recordings of the event show a weakened Gehrig uttering his famous lines of gratitude with the echoing sound of feedback, which served to underscore his every word: "Today ... I consider myself ... the luckiest man ... on the face of the Earth."

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Steve Harvey is the busiest man on television. He'll host Fox's new version of "Showtime at the Apollo," which will tape in New York City. His four-hour morning radio show is still going strong after 17 years. "Family Feud" has taped in Atlanta since 2010, and "The Steve Harvey Show" has been taping in Chicago since 2012. ABC's "Celebrity Family Feud" has been taping in Los Angeles since 2015, and "Little Big Shots," which he co-produces with Ellen DeGeneres, has shot in L.A. since last year. Throw in the Miss Universe Pageant, and you've got Steve all over. Imagine his frequent flyer miles!

Heidi Gutman/NBC

Steve Harvey

In other TV news, when Bill O'Reilly learned he'd been fired from Fox news, he was in a VIP line meeting Pope Francis at The Vatican. That was nervy, in view of his recently lecturing Pope Francis on his hurtful comments about our president being, "not Christian." Luckily, Pope Francis doesn't have a TV.

The third Hemsworth brother, Luke, is getting his chance at stardom. Following the successes of Chris ("Thor") and Liam ("The Hunger Games"), it won't be easy. Luke, star of eight episodes of HBO's "Westworld," will carry the "Twilight Zone"-inspired film "Encounter," about a group of neighbors who find an alien in a field. It started shooting in April and will hit theaters Nov. 1.

Hugh Jackman is keeping his word about being done with "Wolverine," despite pleas from Ryan Reynolds to play him in "Deadpool 2." Production has begun and Josh Brolin has been cast in his place ... as a character, not "Wolverine."

Chris Pratt, now on screens in "Guardians of the Galaxy, Vol. 2," is filming three movies at once. First out will be "The Avengers: Infinity War" (April 4, 2018), then "Jurassic World

2" (June 22, 2018) and the untitled "Avengers" sequel (May 3, 2019).

Richard Gere, already on screens in "Norman: The Moderate Rise and Tragic Fall of a New York Fixer," now has a second film out, the thriller "The Dinner," with Laura Linney and Steve Coogan. He also is shooting Jon Avnet's film (which he wrote and is producing and directing) "Three Christs," with Richard Gere, Peter Dinklage ("Game of Thrones") and Julianna Margulies, the true story of three paranoid schizophrenics who each believe they are Jesus Christ.

Charlize Theron, who won her Oscar for "Monster" (2003) and currently can be seen in "XX: The Fate of the Furious," has "Tully," with Ron Livingston, and "American Express" (she's also one of the producers), with David Oyelowo, Joel Edgerton and Amanda Seyfried coming soon. Charlize's perfume ads are spectacular; wonder what she'll take off for the American Express card to plug the film?

New DVDs Reviewed in This Column Will be Released the Week of May 22, 2017

The Great Wall (PG-13) — Craven, big-budget, global box-office dreams smashed up against this film like clamoring barbarians trying to topple a dynasty. Alas, "The Great Wall" — a fantasy epic produced with Chinese and American collaboration — repelled those dreams with a monolithic and underwhelming structure. Western mercenaries (Matt Damon and Pedro Pascal) join a legion of elite Chinese warriors (including Tian Jing and Hanyu Zhang) defending a great wall from waves of CG pitbull-lizard monsters. For the sake of international appeal, characters, themes and conflicts are stripped down to bare essentials. Director Yimou Zhang's distinct flair for colors and dazzling visuals is on display, but doesn't achieve the same sense of wonder as before.

Allison Williams, Daniel Kaluuya in "Get Out"

STICKS OF THE WEEK

Get Out (R) — Psychological horror has finally caught up with modern psychology thanks to the debut of director Jordan Peele. This pitch-perfect addition to horror cannon follows Chris (Daniel Kaluuya), a young black man traveling into the manicured suburbs to meet the parents of his adoring white girlfriend, Rose (Allison Williams). Rose's parents (Catherine Keener and Bradley Whitford) are smiling upper-middle class liberals, who are just so pleased to welcome Chris with awkward attempts at slang. In a slow build, Chris uncovers the horror just beneath this smooth, milk-white exterior.

Peele is perhaps better known as half of the TV sketch-comedy duo Key & Peele. Social commentary is woven into a lot of what he's done in the past, but the execution of this feature film — and the depth of knowledge it shows about horror — is more what you'd expect from a veteran director.

Logan (R) — Wolverine, the blade-brandishing X-Men poster boy played by Hugh Jackman, is one of the last mutants alive in a bleak-yet-plausible version of the near future. The once-unstoppable slashing machine is starting to feel the years — he's not healing like he used to, and he has nobody left but Caliban (Stephen Merchant) and Professor Charles Xavier (Patrick Stewart), who's losing his mind and control of his terrifying psychic powers. Quite reluctantly, Wolverine gets roped into one last rescue: transporting a little mutant girl (Dafne Keen) to a supposed safe haven.

This is the only good Wolverine-centric flick in the X-Men canon. Really good, not just relatively good. I was never that psyched about Jackman's Wolverine, but here stands a convert: Jackman plays Logan with such commitment that you believe he's limping under the weight of five lifetimes of trouble, ready to sign his last page. The R-rating also puts real fight into a character who has always felt a little declawed.

My Life as a Zucchini (PG-13) — This whimsically animated film of French origin deals with heavy topics, believably filtered through the lighter lens of kids. Zucchini (Erick Abbate) is a boy of 10 when he loses his abusive, alcoholic mother and lands in a group home for children with deceased and/or unfit parents. The kids bond over their shared struggles with individual trauma. It's an engaging movie that shouldn't be dismissed as kid stuff because of its visuals.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On May 22, 1859, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the creator of master sleuth Sherlock Holmes, is born in Scotland. He studied medicine at the University of Edinburgh, where he met Dr. Joseph Bell, who helped inspire Doyle's Sherlock Holmes character years later.
- On May 26, 1907, John Wayne, an Oscar-winning actor who came to epitomize the American West, is born in Winterset, Iowa. His career started with a job as an assistant prop man on a movie set.
- On May 23, 1934, notorious criminals Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow are shot to death in an ambush by Texas and Louisiana state police while driving a stolen car near Sailes, Louisiana. The Barrow Gang is believed to have killed at least nine police officers.
- On May 27, 1943, a B-24 carrying U.S. airman and former Olympic runner Louis "Louie" Zamperini crashes into the Pacific Ocean. Zamperini floated on a raft in shark-infested waters for more than a month before being picked up by the Japanese and spending the next two years in brutal prison camps.
- On May 25, 1977, China's communist government lifts its decade-old ban on the writings of William Shakespeare, providing further evidence that the Cultural Revolution was over.
- On May 28, 1987, Matthias Rust, a 19-year-old amateur pilot from West Germany, takes off from Helsinki, Finland, travels through more than 400 miles of Soviet airspace, and lands his small Cessna aircraft in Red Square by the Kremlin. The event proved to be an immense embarrassment to the Soviet government and military.
- On May 24, 1991, the critically acclaimed road movie "Thelma and Louise" debuts in theaters, stunning audiences with a climactic scene in which its two heroines drive off a cliff in a vintage 1966 Ford Thunderbird convertible.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Little Golden Books

Q. When I was a kid during the 1980s, my aunt Susan bought me several Little Golden Books in the Land Series. They are "Welcome to Little Golden Book Land," "Poky Little Puppy's Special Day," "Shy Little Kitten's Secret Place," "Saggy Baggy Elephant No Place for Me," "Tootie and Katy Caboose" and "Tawny Scrawny Lion Saves the Day." I learned to read using these books. Although I would never sell them, I'm wondering what they are worth? — Carol, Loveland, Colorado

A. I found your books referenced in "Collecting Little Golden Books: A Collector's Identification and Price Guide," by Steve Santi and published by Krause Books. According to Santi, your books were all published in 1989 and are worth about $5 each.

Q. At an estate sale in Atlanta, I purchased an unusual teapot crafted in a Della Robbia design and issued by Roseville Pottery. I paid $100 for the teapot, which appears to be in excellent condition. I bought it because of its design and wonder if you can tell me more about the piece. — Betty, Chattanooga, Tennessee

A. You purchased a real bargain. Frederick H. Rhead designed this line in 1905 as part of the Rozane

Ware, and named it for a 15th-century Florentine family famous for their enameled terra cotta, or faience. The Della Robbia group is the most complex and diverse collection of the Roseville pieces, as well as the rarest. Della Robbia was a trendsetter during the Arts and Crafts movement.

Denice Rago, author of "Warman's Roseville Pottery" (Krause Books), believes your teapot would sell in the $2,000 to $3,000 range. It should feature a stylized tulip-and-hearts design in a two-tone green glaze.

Q. I have a glass flask and wonder if it is valuable. It has "Straubhuller's Elixer — Tree of Life since 1888" embossed on one side and "Made in Taiwan" on its bottom. — Jess, Port Charlotte, Florida

A. Throughout the 1970s and '80s, reproductions of older flasks and bottles were made in Asia, and that is what you have. This doesn't mean that it has no value, only that it is a copy of an original. My suggestion is to put it in a window and enjoy it.

Write to Larry Cox in care of KFWS, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803, or send e-mail to questionsforcox@aol.com. Due to the large volume of mail he receives, Mr. Cox cannot personally answer all reader questions, nor does he do appraisals. Do not send any materials requiring return mail.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On May 22, 1859, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the creator of master sleuth Sherlock Holmes, is born in Scotland. He studied medicine at the University of Edinburgh, where he met Dr. Joseph Bell, who helped inspire Doyle's Sherlock Holmes character years later.

• On May 26, 1907, John Wayne, an Oscar-winning actor who came to epitomize the American West, is born in Winterset, Iowa. His career started with a job as an assistant prop man on a movie set.

• On May 23, 1934, notorious criminals Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow are shot to death in an ambush by Texas and Louisiana state police while driving a stolen car near Sailes, Louisiana. The Barrow Gang is believed to have killed at least nine police officers.

• On May 27, 1943, a B-24 carrying U.S. airman and former Olympic runner Louis "Louie" Zamperini crashes into the Pacific Ocean. Zamperini floated on a raft in shark-infested waters for more than a month before being picked up by the Japanese and spending the next two years in brutal prison camps.

• On May 25, 1977, China's communist government lifts its decade-old ban on the writings of William Shakespeare, providing further evidence that the Cultural Revolution was over.

• On May 28, 1987, Matthias Rust, a 19-year-old amateur pilot from West Germany, takes off from Helsinki, Finland, travels through more than 400 miles of Soviet airspace, and lands his small Cessna aircraft in Red Square by the Kremlin. The event proved to be an immense embarrassment to the Soviet government and military.

• On May 24, 1991, the critically acclaimed road movie "Thelma and Louise" debuts in theaters, stunning audiences with a climactic scene in which its two heroines drive off a cliff in a vintage 1966 Ford Thunderbird convertible.

Car Corner

Don't Drive Damaged Goods

(NAPS)—More than 725,000 vehicles driven on U.S. roads every day may be dangerous, according to new research from Carfax. These vehicles were damaged so severely in an accident, by fire or flood that DMVs across the country require permanent title marks to warn people about the damage. Still, thousands are back on the road in every state, and worse, many of the owners may have no idea they're driving a rebuilt wreck.

That's because some unscrupulous sellers resort to what's known as "title washing"; that is, they alter the car's documents. These criminals patch badly damaged cars back together, erase documented evidence of the damage and resell them to unsuspecting buyers in other states. Many of these cars are sold on free online classifieds sites, in busy parking lots and other high-traffic areas.

"I was shopping for a car for my daughter and arranged to purchase one off Craigslist that looked immaculate," said car buyer Scott Liker. "The seller asked if I could pay cash and told me the vehicle had a clean title. I went to Carfax and was shocked to find it was issued a salvage title out of Florida. Within days, the vehicle was titled in Tennessee and a month later was in Missouri, now with a clean title. I was shaking, because I had just dodged a bullet." North Carolina, Mississippi, New Jersey, California and Georgia have the highest number of these potentially dangerous vehicles. Crooks also seem to be moving and reselling these vehicles in cities along the I-40 corridor, the research suggests.

"Hundreds of thousands of people driving unsafe vehicles is a serious threat to public safety," said Larry Gamache, Carfax communications director. "In addition, anyone duped into buying one often pays thousands more than the car's really worth. Insisting on a vehicle history report and mechanic's inspection first will help you avoid unknowingly buying a car with major problems that crooks made disappear on paper."

You can shop for used cars with confidence at www.carfax.com, where every car listed for sale comes with a free Carfax Report.

Victims of title washing can contact their state's Consumer Affairs Department or Attorney General's office for help.

bottom of the coffee quickly, and odds are you didn't even ingest much of it. It stays bright-silver, but you probably would not have seen it through the dark coffee. The expert I spoke with was just as concerned about the broken glass you might have ingested. I suspect the symptoms you describe have nothing to do with the mercury.

Even though the news I give you is good, I still would go to your doctor and discuss it. If someone came in to me with these symptoms, I would look for other reasons for them, not mercury.

Reader Drank Mercury From a Thermometer!

DEAR DR. ROACH: You probably have never gotten a question like this. How much mercury is in an old thermometer? A month ago, I wasn't feeling well, so I took my temperature with an old thermometer that seemed to be taking too long to work. Long story short, I broke it into my hot cup of coffee, which I drank before I realized that I had broken the thermometer. I didn't finish the whole cup. What happens to mercury when it's in hot liquid? Does it sink or float? Is it visible? Does it have a taste or smell? What will happen to me?

I didn't call the poison center or my doctor; I was too embarrassed. I did end up being sick for a long time. I had a fever (I got a new thermometer), sore throat, terrible headache that lasted for days, my blood pressure was elevated and I vomited on the fifth day after ingesting the mercury. I don't know if some of the symptoms were from a reaction to the Nyquil I had taken, which has never bothered me before. Any suggestions? — Anon.

ANSWER: I wasn't embarrassed to call the Poison Control Center at 800-222-1222 — you should have called immediately, too. They confirmed the teaching I received: The mercury in a thermometer is elemental mercury, not the toxic organic mercury salts, so it would not normally be absorbed. Mercury is very heavy, much denser than water, so it would have sunk to the

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 68-year-old man with numbness in my hand for the past seven years. A neurologist diagnosed me with carpal tunnel syndrome and prescribed special gloves. I have no hand pain, only numbness when I elevate my arms, which also causes neck and shoulder pain. What can I do to get some relief? — B.W.

ANSWER: Carpal tunnel syndrome is caused by compression of the median nerve in the wrist. It may cause numbness and pain in the hands. The pain can travel up the arm, but rarely affects the arm above the elbow, and neck/shoulder pain makes me concerned that the nerve compression causing your hand numbness might be originating in your neck.

It is possible you have both carpal tunnel syndrome and a "pinched nerve" in the neck, but compression of the nerve in the neck could cause all the symptoms you are telling me about. A careful exam usually sorts this out, but an MRI may be necessary to confirm.

Now here's a tip! by Jo Ann Derson

- DIY glass cleaner recipe: Mix equal parts water, white vinegar and vodka in a spray bottle. This works as a deodorizing spray as well as a glass cleaner.
- "When I clean the bathroom, I always clean my mirror last, and then I use the paper towel with Windex on it to give the light switches and door-knobs a quick swipe before I toss it. Also, I sometimes run it across the towel bars and the toilet paper holder to remove dust." — C.E. in Georgia
- Fill a small spray bottle with rubbing alcohol. Lightly spray eardrums and brush crevices with a soft, clean toothbrush. Do this regularly to protect your ears and your buds.
- "Kids love bubbles, but what parent loves constantly fishing out the bubble wand from a bottle of bubbles? A simple hair clip will do the trick. Just clip it around the wand so that it cannot go all the way back in the bottle. When you're ready to put the bubbles away, it's easily removed." — M.E. in Florida
- Need to clean the microwave? Here's another recipe: Add several teaspoons of fresh lemon juice to a bowl of water (at least 3 cups), and place in microwave. Heat to boiling (five minutes), and leave in microwave for two additional minutes. Remove bowl, and wipe sides with a clean cloth.
- Experts say that if you need to ripen an avocado, wrap it uncut in aluminum foil, and place it in the oven at 200 degrees Fahrenheit for up to 10 minutes. Remove, cool and slice.

Paw's Corner
 by Sam Mazzotta

Puppy Can't Stand Leash
DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My mixed-breed puppy "Max" is very playful — until I put a leash on him. Then it's a battle to get him to walk with me. He will sit down and not move. All I can do is pick him up and carry him, but he's getting bigger. What can I do? — Phil in Alexandria, Virginia

DEAR PHIL: Max has formed a negative association with the leash. It's not your fault, but for some reason Max just does not see the leash as a good time. And since dogs are all about having a good time, he's resisting.

The thing to do here is build a positive association with the leash. Here's one method, courtesy of the AKC:

Teach him a "cue" — Fill your pocket with small treats (you can even cut them smaller to reduce calories) and spend one or two indoor training sessions teaching Max a special cue, like "yes," clicking your tongue, or using a clicker. Each time you cue, toss him a treat. Do this until he responds enthusiastically to the cue even without a treat.

Reintroduce his leash — Have him wear the collar and leash in supervised sessions around the house; don't hold the leash, just let him wear it. Be supportive during the process.

Reinforce the "come" command — While he's on the leash, go across the room and call him. Give a treat (with the cue) when he obeys. Rinse and repeat.

Hold the leash — Now, just hold the leash while you give basic commands. Follow with the cue and treat. Begin and end with lots of praise.

Take it outside — Start with Max on the leash, training basic commands along with the cue and treat. Once he comes to you, give lots of praise. Work up to the "heel" command, and gradually extend your walks together.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was American novelist and activist Anne Lamott who made the following sage observation: "Joy is the best makeup."

• Scottish-American industrialist and philanthropist Andrew Carnegie was determined not to get married so long as his mother was alive. He stuck to his decision, too — the same year that his mother died, Carnegie finally wed at the age of 51. When his daughter was born the following year, Carnegie bestowed his mother's name on her.

• In 2014, it became illegal in Russia to use profanity in the theater, in films and at other cultural events.

• Before American music icon Ella Fitzgerald became famous as the First Lady of Song and the Queen of Jazz, she started out — as so many performers have — at Harlem's Apollo Theater. She was 17 years old, and she didn't intend to sing; she had planned to perform a dance number. Before it was her turn to perform, though, there was a dance act so good that she felt intimidated, so she changed her plan. It was a good idea, evidently — not only did she win first prize for the night, she went on to take home one of the inaugural Grammy Awards, as well as 12 more over the course of her career. She also was awarded the National Medal of Arts, the Presidential Medal of Freedom, and the George and Ira Gershwin Award for Lifetime Musical Achievement. Not bad for a would-be dancer.

• Those who study such things say that, geologically speaking, Florida is the youngest of all the United States — that is to say, it emerged from the ocean more recently than any of the other 49.

- BASIC GRILLED FISH TACOS
(Makes 12)
- 1/2 pounds tilapia, cod, halibut or catfish fillets
  - 1/2 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil
  - 1 teaspoon ground cumin and/or chili powder
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
  - 2 cups finely shredded cabbage
  - 12 tortillas of your choice
  - 2 limes, cut in wedges
- Extra toppings (see directions)

1. Brush fish with oil and season with cumin and/or chili powder, salt and pepper. Grill on medium heat. Transfer fish to a warm platter and separate into bite-size chunks.

2. Meanwhile, heat tortillas in oven, or char on grill rack on each side until warmed and softened. Wrap in a clean towel to keep warm.

3. Fill tortillas with fish, cabbage, a squeeze of lime juice and additional toppings to taste: sour cream, salsa, Sriracha sauce, radish slices, chopped scallions, sliced avocado, Cotija or feta cheese, snipped fresh cilantro, etc.

Cook's notes:
—Instead of grilling, cook seasoned fish in a frying pan with 1 tablespoon oil until golden.
—Substitute white fish with grilled seasoned salmon or medium-sized shrimp.

Salome's Stars

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Personal relationships improve. Professional prospects also brighten. A job offer could come through by month's end. An old friend seeks to make contact.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your senses detect that something is not quite right about a matter involving a workplace colleague. Best advice: Follow your keen instincts and don't get involved.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A prospect offers rewards, but it also demands that you assume a great deal of responsibility. Knowing you, you're up to the challenge, so go for it, and good luck.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A favor you did a long time ago is repaid, as a trusted colleague steps in to help you with a suddenly expanded workload. A family member has important news.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A new job offer could require moving across the country. But before you let your doubts determine your decision, learn more about the potentials involved.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your sense of fair play doesn't allow you to rush to judgment about a friend who might have betrayed you. Good! Because all the facts are not yet in.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a romantic nature that allows you to find the best in people. You would excel at poetry and drama.
