Market Beautiful brings a lot of people to Laurel

An estimated over 1,500 people attended the Market Beautiful in downtown Laurel. Photo/Linda Cranford

By Linda Cranford

Unofficially it is believed that the Market Beautiful brought more than 1,500 people to the downtown Laurel area this past weekend June 9 and 10. The Market Beautiful, formerly The Vintage Whites Market, had over 70 vendors with curated vintage décor and trend-setting artisans set up along Front Street for the first Mississippi market. Laurel's favorite couple Ben and Erin Napier, stars of HGTV's Home Town, were special guests and held a meet and greet at their own Laurel Mercantile store also located on Front Street.

On stage next door to the Laurel Mercantile, singer, song writer and guitarist Tasche De La Rocha from New Orleans, Louisiana with a musical mix of Soul, Jazz, and her own personal style provided music for the event.

It is believed that the Blues music was birthed on the streets of Laurel by a blind blues singer and his nearly blind brother, the Roosevelt brothers, who would sit in front of Lott Furniture and other businesses along Front Street in the early 1900's and play their music. Saturday, music returned to Lott Furniture with several musicians

C-USA announces television assignments for 2017 Southern Miss football games

Submitted

Conference USA has announced its preliminary television schedule for the 2017 football season and it features Southern Miss with four games that will air on Stadium. Stadium is a new, fully programmed, 24/7 multi-platform sports network that brings together exclusive live game and event coverage, extensive highlights, classic games, original programming, and daily live studio programming. Stadium includes a 24/7 linear feed distributed across both digital and broadcast platforms, as well as a comprehensive array of on demand content including additional live events and VOD highlights accessible via owned and operated Stadium platforms and select distribution partners.

Stadium was formed when Campus Insiders, 120 Sports and The American Sports Network combined forces to take advantage of a combined collection of professional and collegiate rights and unique access to both digital and television distribution opportunities. The Golden Eagles' schedule for Stadium (formerly ASN and Campus Insiders) includes the Sept. 9 home contest against Southern, which will start at 6 p.m., along with the program's 6 p.m. homecoming tilt, Oct. 14, against UTEP. Two road games will also be featured, including an Oct. 21 tilt at Louisiana Tech which will start at 6 p.m., followed by a Nov. 25 contest at Marshall in a 1:30 p.m., CT start.

These games are in addition to the previously announced television contest, Sept 2, at home versus Kentucky. The contest will kick off at 3 p.m., on the CBS Sports Network. The 2017 C-USA Championship game on Saturday, Dec. 2 is scheduled to air on either ESPN or ESPN 2. It marks the 13th-straight year that the C-USA Championship will air on the ESPN Networks. ESPN is also scheduled to carry all six of C-USA's bowl games in which it has a guaranteed selection.

performing throughout the day while artist Amy Luker of Franklin, Tennessee demonstrated her unique art of sculpting with acrylic paint that she calls "Acrylics on Steroids." Those musician who performed on Saturday included Darrian Ekes, Anna Morgan Michel, Tyler Bryant, Keely Parker, and Marshall David McKellar. During Friday night's event, artist Chip Cooley was on site demonstrating his style of painting.

Downtown Laurel Farmers Market continues through June

By Linda Cranford

Large numbers of sacks of good ole home grown vegetables and fruits, homemade bread, cookies, candies, jams and jellies, and several huge Smith County watermelons were seen leaving the downtown parking lot located south of Central Avenue between Library Street and Carol Gartin Blvd on Thursday, June 1 and June 8, during the Downtown Laurel Farmers Market. People enjoyed Landrum's Homemade Ice Cream, Aunt Polly's Blueberry Lemonade, Big Hoss BBQ, Loblollipops, Kona Ice, Mississippi Delta Juke Joint Tamales, Backroad Bistro, while shopping for handcrafted items such as ceramic mugs, bowties, soaps, and wood products. The Downtown Farmers Market will continue each Thursday throughout the month of June from 3:30 p.m. until 7 p.m.

Smith County is like Texas, everything grown there is bigger. This cabbage from Rhodes Produce weighs almost 9 pounds.

Margaret Mayfield and her 14-year old Pochon, Sam, were home for a visit with Herman Seefeld. "I love my home town," exclaimed Mayfield who now lives in Atlanta, Georgia.

Guild and Gentry brand revealed to the Men of Laurel

By Linda Cranford

The owners of Guild and Gentry – a men’s clothier, Caroline and Corey Burks, recently held an invitation only reception at Studio 550 in downtown Laurel. The purpose of the gathering was to have the men of Laurel from different occupations help shape the inventory offerings and clothing preferences of the new men’s store. It also gave the men an opportunity to have an early look at the made-to-measure options Guild and Gentry will offer.

During the gathering, Caroline told her story of how the idea for the store came about and Bethany Byrd, founder/president of On Your Hill, a marketing company, explained the significance of the store’s name.

Caroline said her family history in Laurel on both sides of the family goes back a hundred years. She said she grew up with the romanticized version of downtown Laurel before urban renewal where you could eat lunch at the Kress counter, enjoy a movie, and buy an outfit from a hat to shoes within one city block.

Her grandfather was a construction supervisor and would walk through downtown Laurel with Caroline pointing out the buildings he helped build. It wasn’t until she found a stack of old building plans in a dark corner of her grandfather’s basement that she really understood what her grandfather had been trying to tell her all those years.

“I finally got what he had been trying to tell me, that he was proud he had helped build this town. It wasn’t so much about the finished product as it was about the fact that he had helped to build it,” said Caroline. That is why when she and her husband saw all the activity going on in downtown Laurel, they wanted to become a part of the effort to but there’s a community that hasn’t been served. We don’t have a men’s store.”

The name of the men’s store honors the legacy of the two types of men who built the City Beautiful, such as the gentlemen (Gentry) from Iowa that developed the Eastman – Gardiner Lumber Company and the craftsmen (Guild) like the Lindseys and the Masons. The Guild and Gentry website is filled with stories about the history of Laurel and how that history is exemplified through the men’s store collections.

Also on hand for the gathering was graphic design artist Ethan Manning of Ethan Manning Designs in Hattiesburg who explained how he developed the store’s brand graphic designs.

This past Saturday during the Market Beautiful, Guild and Gentry held a Men’s Market at Studio 550, and by invitation only several men from the community were given the opportunity to get a sneak preview of what’s to come.

The inventory will include a variety of collections as well as Guild and Gentry hats and T-shirts. The styles include the 5th Avenue Collection for the Gentry among us, the 1882 Collection for the entrepreneur with ideas bigger than himself, and the Lindsey Collection for the craftsmen.

The store will be located at 321 Magnolia Street and is expected to open around August. For more information visit their website at guildandgentry.com and like them on Facebook.

Mickelson skips U.S. Open to attend daughter's graduation

By Dale McKee

LSU ended Mississippi State's baseball season in the Super Regionals. LSU's 4-3 win last Saturday night was a classic in every sense of the word. The College World Series begins next week, and the Tigers will be joined by Texas A&M and possibly Florida from the SEC. College baseball really matters in Mississippi and Louisiana and the attendance figures from the various regionals verify baseball's importance. The Hattiesburg Regional ranked fourth in attendance at 4,221. The Baton Rouge Regional was number one with an average of 10,480.

The Major League Baseball Draft was to begin this Monday night, and several Mississippians were sure to hear their names called. MSU first baseman Brent Rooker was scheduled to be the first Mississippi player taken. Sixteen players were taken with Mississippi ties in last year's MLB draft.

Jones county native Tyler Moore homered twice last Friday for the Miami Marlins in a 12-7 win over Pittsburgh. Moore was 3-for-4 with 4 RBI, while replacing first baseman Justin Bour who has an injury. Moore has started eight straight games in his place.

Father Knows Best

Pro golfer Phil Mickelson says he will skip this week's U.S. Open, choosing to attend his daughter Amanda's high school graduation. She is the class president and will speak at the graduation. Mickelson has won five majors but never the Open. He finished second six times, and with his age (47) he may never get a chance to win the Open. But with Father's Day approaching, his call is right on.

Top Paid Athlete

Who is is the highest paid athlete? According to Forbes, soccer player Cristiano Ronaldo, with $58 million in salary and $35 million in endorsements. LeBron James ($86.2M), Lionel Messi ($80), Roger Federer ($64M) and Kevin Durant ($60.6M) round out the top five. Saints quarterback Drew Brees was 11th in the world ranking with a salary of $31.3 million and $14 million in endorsements. Indianapolis Colt quarterback Andrew Luck is first overall in the NFL and number six in the world with a $47 million salary and $3 million in endorsements. Cam Newton makes $26 million followed by Eli Manning with $25 million.

Odds-n-Ends from the week in sports

Oklahoma football coach Bob Stoops retired this week after 18 years. It was a surprise to most, and he says it was his call. Stoops won a national title in 2000 with the Sooners. Now there are only four active head coaches who have won national titles in Saban, Meyer, Swinney and Fisher.

Ole Miss sophomore and Olive Branch native Braden Thornberry, the 2017 NCAA Champion, fired a final round 65 in the FedEx St. Jude Classic. Thornberry finished with a -8 overall to finish fourth in his PGA Tour debut.

Taylorville native Billy Hamilton of the Cincinnati Reds is on pace to score over 100 runs this season. Cincinnati Reds second baseman Scooter Gennett had a record-breaking night last Tuesday night as he went 5-for-5 with four home runs and 10 RBI in a 13-1 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. He entered the day with only three home runs this season.

New York Yankee outfielder Aaron Judge has had an awesome first season in pinstripes. The 6-foot-7, 282-pounder has hit 21 home runs, driven in 47 RBI and is hitting .344.

Ryan Blaney won his first career Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series race Sunday, holding off Kevin Harvick at Pocono Raceway.

Al Pacino is set to play former Penn State head football coach Joe Paterno in an HBO film.

Florida Atlantic University head coach Lane Kiffin has offered a scholarship to a sixth-grade quarterback. The question is will Kiffin be in Florida in 2023.

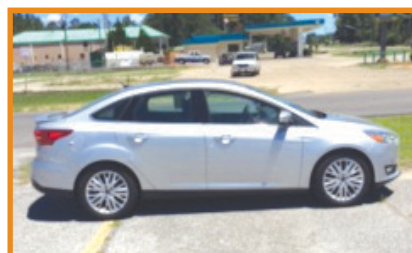

There will be 3-on-3 basketball in the 2020 Tokyo Olympics. Sounds a lot like the NBA Finals.
