Laurel's Samantha Dean named Coca-Cola Community College Academic Team Gold Scholar

By Teresa McCreery

Jones County Junior College sophomores Samantha Dean, an English major from Laurel, and Katelyn Stone, a biology major from Hattiesburg, were both named 2017 Coca-Cola Community College Academic Team Gold Scholars. The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation sponsors the Coca-Cola Community College Academic Team program by recognizing 50 Gold, 50 Silver and 50 Bronze Scholars and providing nearly $200,000 in scholarships annually. Each Gold Scholar receives a $1,500 scholarship and a special medallion.

"It has been a joy to work closely with both Samantha and Katelyn this year," said PTK sponsor Julie Atwood. "Both fulfilled their officer positions in our Rho Sigma chapter very faithfully while maintaining very busy schedules. I anticipate great things from both of these young women and cannot wait to see all of the wonderful things they will accomplish."

Dean and Stone were among 1,800 applicants for the prestigious scholarship. The Gold Scholars honor is based on the student's scores earned in the All-USA Community College Academic Team competition. During the All-USA Community College competition, Stone also earned first team honors and Dean earned second team honors, which means both received additional scholarships.

"I feel so blessed to have been chosen for such an honor and was very excited to be able to share the experience with my friend, Samantha Dean. Getting this award really motivates me to strive even higher and see how much I can accomplish in college," said Stone, who will be attending Mississippi College and earned a spot on the prestigious equestrian team. The biology major hopes to teach in the future.

JCJC students, Katelyn Stone (middle left) and Samantha Dean (middle right) were chosen as two of 50 Junior/Community College students to receive the prestigious Coca-Cola Community College Academic Team Gold Scholarship from 1,800 applicants. Additionally, Stone was chosen for MS Academic All-American First Team honors and Dean was chosen to MS Academic All-American Second Team honors. The students are pictured in the middle with JCJC PTK sponsor Julie Atwood (left) and JCJC VP for Instructional Affairs Candace Weaver (right).

Dean said she is grateful for the opportunity to represent JCJC on the national level. Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society recognized both 2017 Coca-Cola Community College Academic Team Scholars at the annual convention in Nashville, Tennessee.

"These scholarships not only help me monetarily as I move forward with my education but they also give great encouragement and confidence as I work toward my future endeavors," said Dean. "I am truly grateful for the accomplishments this award recognizes and the opportunities the achievement will afford."

The high-achieving students were nominated for the award by campus administrators. An independent panel of judges considers academic achievement, leadership and engagement in college and community service in the selection process. Phi Theta Kappa is the premier honor society recognizing the academic achievement of community college students. The Society is made up of more than 3.2 million members in nearly 1,300 chapters in nine nations.

Ellisville & Laurel to be represented by Smith, Lee, in 68th annual Miss Hospitality program

Submitted

Haley Smith will represent Ellisville and Brittany Lee will represent Laurel in the 68th Miss Hospitality Pageant on July 21-22 at the Historic Hattiesburg Saenger Theater in Downtown Hattiesburg.

Smith is a graduate from South Jones High School, where she was named Magna Cum Laude, Mississippi Scholar and a member of the Hall of Fame. She will attend Jones County Junior College in the fall where she will get her associate's degree in general studies and then attend William Carey to earn a Bachelor of Science in biology with plans of becoming an orthodontist.

Lee is currently a registered emergency room nurse in Laurel and a student at University Medical Center in Jackson with plans to become a nurse practitioner specialized in cardiology. She is a member of Alpha Delta Nu nursing honor society and the youngest recipient of the 2016 Mississippi Nurse's Foundation Scholarship.

In its 20th year as host city, Hattiesburg will showcase this year's best and brightest young women as they compete for the title of Mississippi's Miss Hospitality at the Historic Saenger Theater. Twenty-five women, who are all currently enrolled in a college or university in Mississippi, will vie for the state title of Mississippi's Miss Hospitality, with the winner serving for a full year as the state's official ambassador for economic development and tourism.

The pageant originally began in 1949 under then-Governor Fielding Wright and the Mississippi Legislature. Since that time, the pageant has called the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Starkville and, now, Hattiesburg home. Presented by VIS-ITHATTIESBURG™ and Mississippi Development Authority, in conjunction with the University of Southern Mississippi, the City of Hattiesburg and Forrest General Hospital, the Mississippi Miss Hospitality Pageant offers more than $100,000 in scholarships and prizes to the top finalists.

"Hattiesburg is delighted to be in its 20th year as host city of this statewide program, which promotes ambassadorship in tourism and economic development. Each year, we have a talented group of young female leaders participating in Miss Hospitality, who eagerly await the opportunity to showcase their love for their hometowns and for Mississippi. As the contestants, along with their friends and family, travel to Hattiesburg for the event, we are also excited to share with them all our city has to offer," Jennifer Parsons, Miss Hospitality program coordinator, said.

Mary Elizabeth Stringer, 22, of Starkville, served as Mississippi's Miss Hospitality in 2016. Stringer graciously wore the crown, sharing her love of Mississippi during various speaking engagements and events as the state's goodwill ambassador. As the state of Mississippi celebrated its bicentennial in 2017, Stringer also created a series of blogs and several videos showcasing many of Mississippi's overall achievements and recognitions in culture and the arts. Stringer graduated in May 2016 from Mississippi State University with a Bachelor of Science in kinesiology. She was actively involved in campus life at Mississippi State, including membership in Phi Mu Sorority and acting as a student association senator. Stringer recently served on Sen. Thad Cochran's team as an intern in Washington, D.C.

During pageant week in Hattiesburg, contestants will attend social events, take part in community service projects, and participate in required rehearsals and competitions, leading up to the crowning of the 2017 Mississippi Miss Hospitality on Saturday evening. Guests will enjoy the entertainment productions on both Friday and Saturday evenings along with the competition. Vocal and dance performances by contestants and local groups, including the Forrest General Spirit Girls, will provide festivities for both evenings. The finale is set for Saturday evening, where the top 10 contestants will compete for the crown.

Every year Miss Hospitality generates approximately $450,000 in economic impact for the local Hattiesburg economy. During Miss Hospitality week, visitors stay in area hotels, dine in local restaurants, enjoy other tourist attractions, and shop at local retail locations. Tickets to the 2017 Mississippi Miss Hospitality Pageant may be purchased online at HattiesburgSaenger.com, the Saenger's Facebook page, by calling the Saenger Theater Box Office at 601.584.4888, or visiting the theater in person.

White Oak Baptist Church opens recovery program

Submitted

A new 12-step biblical recovery program has been developed at White Oak Baptist Church, located at the corner of Ira G. Odom and Pecan Grove Road, Ellisville.

Conviction ministries is designed to work with local, county and state law enforcement and the judicial system in order to provide counseling and discipleship for those that have been incarcerated and/or struggling with drug and alcohol abuse. As a supporter of the Jones County Baptist Association and the Southern Baptist Convention, the new ministry totally supports the role of the local church to evangelize the lost and edify the believers. You, or anyone you know, are invited to receive loving and compassionate understanding from the volunteers of Conviction Ministries.

Our mission is to encourage our counselors to help attendees stand on their own feet, to turn from darkness and away from the power of Satan's drugs and alcohol, and, most importantly, to receive hope that is found in Jesus Christ. We believe everyone deserves a second chance, because we serve a God of second chances. We meet every Thursday evening at 6:30. Come and bring a friend or family member and watch "New Growth in God's Grace to begin." Contact Rev. Richard Scott @ 601-422-9500 for more information.

Taylorsville's Moffett signs with West Alabama

By Stan Caldwell
 PRCC Sports Information

Five sophomores from the 2017 baseball team at Pearl River Community College will be continuing their careers at four-year colleges after signing scholarship offers, including two with William Carey University. The Crusaders signed third baseman Lucas Scott and designated hitter Jonathan Turner to scholarship offers. Also signing were utility player John Moore with Mississippi College and outfielder Austin Moffett with West Alabama. Shortstop Graham Hackbarth signed with Louisiana Tech in the early signing period in November, as did right-handed pitcher Drake Nightengale, with Delta State.

Austin Moffett

However, Nightengale was injured midway through the season and was granted a medical redshirt. He is planning to return to PRCC in 2018. Scott, a product of George County High School, was Pearl River's leading hitter among the team's starters last season with a .340 batting average. He finished with four home runs, nine doubles, three triples and 26 RBIs. He was a second-team All-State selection in the MACJC.

Turner, a left-handed batter who prepped at Parklane Academy, batted .270 this season with five homers, six doubles, 26 RBIs and a team-high 30 walks. He was a second-team All-State selection as a freshman in 2016 after batting .354 with 25 RBIs and 37 walks. Moore, who played at Pass Christian, hit .400 with 11 RBIs in 30 at-bats, mostly as a left-handed pinch-hitter. His dramatic pinch-hit homer with two out in the ninth inning was a big blow in PRCC's 5-4 win over top-ranked Jones County in the NJCAA Region 23 Tournament.

Moffett, a product of Taylorsville, batted .312, with two homers, three triples, seven doubles and 27 RBIs, and he had a team-high 20 stolen bases in 23 attempts. He finished with a .315 career batting average for his two seasons as a Wildcat. Hackbarth, who played for Oak Mountain High in Birmingham, Ala., hit .270 with three homers, 10 doubles and 30 RBIs. He was a second-team All-State pick in 2016, when he hit .351 with 12 doubles and 32 RBIs.

The Wildcats finished 29-20 this past season, advancing to the semifinals of the Region 23 Tournament in Michael Avalon's first season as head coach.
