Uses for WD-40
(Editors note: use tips at your own risk. We have not tested them)

Water Displacement #40 a. k. a. WD-40

And you thought that the term "Miracle Cure" was only a marketing ploy!

Thought that you might like to know more about this well-known product.

The product began from a search for a rust preventative solvent and degreaser to protect missile parts. WD-40 was created in 1953 by three technicians at the San Diego Rocket Chemical Company.

Its name comes from the project that was to find a "water displacement" compound. They were successful with the fortieth formulation, thus WD-40.

The Corvair Company bought it in bulk to protect their Atlas missile parts. The workers were so pleased with the product, they began smuggling (also known as "shrinkage" or "stealing") it out to use at home.

The executives decided there might be a consumer market for it and put it in aerosol cans. The rest, as they say, is history.

It is a carefully guarded recipe known only to four people. Only one of them is the "brew master."

There are about 2.5 million gallons of the stuff manufactured each year. It gets its distinctive smell from a fragrance that is added to the brew. Ken East (one of the original founders) says there is nothing in WD-40 that would hurt you.

Here are some of the uses:

When you read the "shower door" part, try it. It's the first thing that has ever cleaned that spotty shower door. If yours is plastic, it works just as well as on glass. It's a miracle!

Then try it on your stove top... Viola! It's now shinier than it's ever been. You'll be amazed.

The Blarney Stone

A group of Americans was touring Ireland. One of the women in the group was constantly complaining. The bus seats are uncomfortable. The food is terrible. It's too hot. It's too cold. The accommodations are awful.

The group arrived at the site of the famous Blarney Stone. "Good luck will be followin' ya all your days if you kiss the Blarney Stone," the guide said. "Unfortunately, it's being cleaned today and so no one will be able to kiss it. Perhaps we can come back tomorrow."

"We can't be here tomorrow," the nasty woman shouted. "We have some other boring tour to go on. So I guess we can't kiss the stupid stone."

"Well now," the guide replied, "it is said that if you kiss someone who has kissed the stone, you'll have the same good fortune."

"And I suppose you've kissed the stone," the woman scoffed.

"No, ma'am," the frustrated guide said, "but I've sat on it."

tape mung (sticky label tape), is also a lovely perfume and air freshener!

Sprayed liberally on every hinge in the house, it leaves that distinctive clean fresh scent for up to two days!

It removes black scuff marks from the kitchen floor!

Use WD-40 for those nasty tar and scuff marks on flooring. It doesn't seem to harm the finish and you won't have to scrub nearly as hard to get them off. Just remember to open some windows if you have a lot of marks.

Bug guts will eat away the finish on your car if not removed quickly! Use WD-40!

P. S. The basic ingredient is FISH OIL

Keeps bathroom mirror from fogging.

Lubricates prosthetic limbs.

Keeps pigeons off the balcony (they hate the smell).

Removes all traces of duct tape.

Folks even spray it on their arms, hands, and knees to relieve arthritis pain.

Florida's favorite use is: "cleans and removes love bugs from grills and bumpers."
The favorite use in the state of New York--WD-40 protects the Statue of Liberty from the elements.

WD-40 attracts fish. Spray a LITTLE on live bait or lures and you will be catching the big one in no time.

Also, it's a lot cheaper than the chemical attractants that are made for just that purpose. Keep in mind though, using some chemical laced baits or lures for fishing are not allowed in some states.

Use it for fire ant bites. It takes the sting away immediately, and stops the itch.

WD-40 is great for removing crayon from walls. Spray on the mark and wipe with a clean rag.

Also, if you've discovered that your teenage daughter has washed and dried a tube of lipstick with a load of laundry, saturate the lipstick spots with WD-40 and re-wash. Presto! Lipstick is gone!

WD-40, long known for its ability to remove left-over

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

VA Caregiver Program

The Department of Veterans Affairs caregiver program is back. That should be great news to people who were left in limbo after the VA pulled the plug on thousands of caregivers earlier this year while it considered how to revamp the program. The Program of Comprehensive Assistance for Family Caregivers gives aid to eligible veterans who were severely injured on or after Sept. 11, 2001, and who need personal care for daily activities, such as bathing and dressing, or who need supervision or protection because of impairment. Care must be required for a minimum six months; tasks such as lifting, transportation and emotional support are not included. The stipend paid to the caregiver is based on how many hours of help per month the veteran needs, as determined by the tier level (high, medium or low) after a clinical evaluation. Often it's a primary family member who is the caregiver. To meet the requirements, they need to be the spouse, child or parent and live with the veteran. Another level, secondary family caregiver, has slightly different requirements and duties. These often serve as backup support. Both must fill out an application, VA Form 10-10CG. All caregivers have support coordinators to help them in giving the best care they can, accessing benefits and services, and learning more about assistance that's available. For more information, go online to the redesigned caregiver website: www.caregiver.va.gov. You'll find links to determine eligibility and specifics about how the program works, as well as the application to download. Put your ZIP code in to find local caregiver advocates, or call the caregiver support line at 1-855-260-3274. If you ever need to file an appeal, contact the caregiver support coordinator or the patient advocate at the closest VA medical center.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) As eager as you are to take on that new challenge, it would be best to temper that spurt of “Ram”-bunctious energy until you have more facts to back up your decision.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) This is a good time for hardworking Bovines to take a break from their hectic on-the-job schedules to bask in the unconditional love and support of friends and family.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Pay attention to what you hear in the workplace. You could pick up some hints about possible changes. Meanwhile, a new infusion of creative energy sets in by week's end.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Try to be more flexible in dealing with a suddenly difficult situation, whether it's on the job or in the home. Others might have some good points to offer. Listen to them.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You might think you're not getting the royal treatment you deserve. But be careful not to become a royal pain by complaining about it. Be patient and allow things to work out.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Watch that penchant for being super-judgmental at work. It might create a bad impression with someone whose decisions could determine the course of your career.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You've been your usual busy-bee self, gathering nectar wherever you can find it. But now's a good time to kick back, relax and just enjoy smelling the roses.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) That pesky personal situation seems to be improving. But change comes slowly, so be patient. Expect someone to bring more positive news by week's end.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Whoa! Ease up on that hectic pace you've been putting yourself through. Take time to recharge your energy levels before going full gallop again.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Try to be intrigued, not intimidated, by the issues you're suddenly facing, and you'll be ahead of the game. Don't be afraid to demand answers to your questions.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) New associates freezing you out of their inner circle? Never mind. Put a warm smile on that friendly face of yours, and you'll soon thaw them all down to size.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your wise guidance helps colleagues agree to compromise and move forward. Meanwhile, there are still vital issues you need to deal with in your personal life.

BORN THIS WEEK: You enjoy being free with your emotions, but you also can exercise disciplined focus. You would make a fine artist.

Note from the Publisher...

Recently I received notification that three of the local funeral homes that were sponsoring our obituaries in the Piedmont Shopper have chosen to end their sponsorship as of August 1st. Therefore, without the funds they were providing to help cover a portion of printing cost, we will no longer be able to print obituaries from their funeral homes for free.

For families who wish to have an obituary printed in the Piedmont Shopper, the funeral directors will send it to us for a cost of $75. Please let the funeral homes listed on the left, know if you want to put an obituary in the Piedmont Shopper and please thank them for their past support.

Thank you for your understanding,

Kathy Crumpton, Publisher

Since December 2016, my friend, Joan Yeatts, has faced numerous stressful events. In December 2016, she had major shoulder surgery, which was necessary to repair her rotator cuff and biceps, which she tore while caring for her disabled husband. She lost her husband in January 2017, and in March 2017, she suffered a major brain bleed. Joan had to hire around the clock sitters after her surgery and brain bleed, as she was unable to take care of herself. In June, she was diagnosed with a DVT, deep vein thrombosis, and her hematology doctor prescribed a relatively new blood thinner to treat her DVT. Even after her prescription drug provider pays its part on this medication, Joan's cost is very expensive. She looked into switching her drug plan but she cannot do so until the next enrollment period in December. This medication is essential to prevent her from having a potentially fatal lung or brain embolism. In June, Joan had a bad fall and reinjured her shoulder, which was operated on in Dec 2016. She needs additional physical therapy on this shoulder as she is in pain and unable to lift or grip items. Joan and I have been friends for over 50 years, and she is a very compassionate and caring person. When my daughter, Mona Roach, was diagnosed with terminal cancer, Joan voluntarily organized a fundraiser at her church. She worked many hours, organizing raffles, bake sales, yard sales, etc. This fundraiser raised $2500 to help my daughter with her medical expenses. Even through all the stressful events she has faced and is still facing, Joan praises God daily. My prayer is that you will financially help Joan at this time. Your donation may be mailed to her at 1009 David Giles Lane, Blairs, VA 24527.

God bless you.

Donna's Day Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

Picture Calendar for Preschoolers

“When do we go to the zoo?” “When is Nate’s birthday party?” “When, when, when” is the repetitive question of kids of all ages, but as a parent of preschoolers, it’s especially challeng- ing to answer the “when” questions if eager kids don’t yet read, write or comprehend the days of the week.

That was a parenting challenge for neonatolo- gist and mom of two, Dr. Anna Hedstrom. So, she recruited her mother-in- law, retired fourth-grade teacher Judy Hedstrom, to help her and her hus- band develop a hands-on strategy for their 3-year- old son, Parker, to under- stand what’s up on their weekly schedule.

To create an event calen- dar, Judy organized fami- ly photos of familiar faces in Parker’s life, and found images of day-to-day routines and outings from free online photos. She used them to make easy-to-handle, Velcro-backed activity cards Parker could attach to color-coded days of the week.

It works! “The Parker’s Week calen- dar gets him involved in a playful way to understand when activities will take place,” say the parents. On Sundays, they talk about the coming week as he attaches cards representing routine events like school, as well as special activities such as going to the zoo. Now, six months later, he has figured out how to do the “regulars” himself.

Enjoy making one adapted to your family lifestyle with your preschooler.

Here’s the stuff you need:

- 1 22-by-28-inch poster board cut in half widthwise
- cardstock sheets in different colors
- copied photos and images of people

- and activities in child’s life
- household glue
- self-stick Velcro
- magnets or art hooks for hanging

Here’s the fun:

1. For the header section of the activ- ity calendar, print a title such as “EMI- LY’S WEEK” on a 12-by-4-inch strip of cardstock. Add a photo of the child next to it, and glue in place on the post- er board.

2. On the short end of seven 3-by-11- inch tall colored strips of cardstock, print the days of the week. Line up strips vertically in a row, and glue under the title strip.

3. Cut 3-by-3-inch cards for repre- senting routine activities and special events. Print photos and images of outings and glue to cards. Label each activity. For example: School, Library, Soccer, Haircut, Doctor visit, Birthday party, Dad off work, Surprise!

4. Laminate cards and entire calen- dar at a copy store (optional, but rec- ommended).

5. Attach one half of Velcro pieces in a vertical line under days of the week, and attach the matching pieces on the backs of cards. Hang the calendar with magnets or art hooks at child’s height.

Store cards not in use in a box or file near the calendar.

Losing Weight

My friends and I had joined a weight-loss organization. At one meeting the instructor held up an apple and a candy bar. "What are the attributes of this apple," she asked, "and how do they relate to our diet?"

"Low in calories" and "lots of fiber" were among the answers. She then detailed what was wrong with eating candy, and concluded, "Apples are not only more healthful but also less expensive. Do you know I paid 75 cents for this candy bar?" We stared as she held aloft the forbidden treat.

From the back of the room a small voice spoke up, "I'll give you a dollar for it."

CHAMBER HIRES INTERIM PRESIDENT AND CEO

The Board of Directors’ Executive Committee of the Danville Pittsylvania County Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Betty Jo Foster as Interim President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Chamber of Commerce, effective immediately. Foster will serve in this capacity while the Committee completes their search for a permanent President and CEO.

“My fellow directors and I are thrilled that Dr. Betty Jo Foster has agreed to help champion and lead the activities of our Chamber of Commerce,” said Bert Eades, chair of the board of directors. “Her leadership experience, ties to the community and collaborative approach combine to produce an effective and impactful ambassador for our Chamber and the region.”

Foster retired from Danville Community College (DCC) in 2004 after an impressive 36-year career and has worked as an Adjunct Professor since that time. Before her retirement, she served in many roles, including: Vice President of Academic and Student Services; Director of the Center for Business, Industry and Government; and Professor of Office Systems Technology. “I look forward to aligning the interests of our business community, our legislative advocates, our workforce and education partners, and our community at large to further advance our region,” said Foster. “The Chamber has played such an integral role in our area’s economic development, sustainability and success, and my goal is to continue that legacy.”

Foster has become a sought-after workshop and seminar leader on various topics, some of which include professional customer service, time management and habits of successful people. She has been lauded for her leadership skills, having served in such positions as Interim President of Central Virginia Community College and Acting Director of Continuing Education at DCC. Foster’s strong commitment to the community is evidenced by her service on a plethora of boards, including those for: the Institute for Advanced Learning and Research (past member and chair of board of directors), Danville Regional Foundation (past member of board of directors), Danville Regional Medical Center (past member and chair of board of directors), Ringgold Recreation Inc. (past member of board of directors), Riverview Rotary Club (past member, president and assistant governor), United Way (past member of board of directors), Stratford House (board of directors) and Leadership Pittsylvania County (charter member).

Some of Foster’s accolades include being named Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year, Citizen of the Year (for Pittsylvania County), Woman of Distinction (for Virginia Skyline Girl Scout Council) and the winner of the Leadership Southside Excellence in Leadership Award.

Foster is an alumna of Radford University, Virginia Tech, and NOVA University where she received her bachelor’s, master’s and doctorate degrees respectively. She completed the Harvard Graduate School of Education’s Institute for the Management of Lifelong Learning, and she has earned various other certifications. The Danville Pittsylvania County Chamber of Commerce is a business organization with approximately 700 members in the Danville/Pittsylvania County region. The Chamber works to energize the region by creating exceptional business growth and profitability in a vibrant, customer-centered culture. For more information, please visit www.dpchamber.org.

Tracking Osteoporosis Through Testing

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have mild osteoporosis in one area. I was on Fosamax for seven years. I have been off for two years. My doctor is suggesting I go back on Fosamax. Your thoughts on treatment in my case? -- A.B.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have been advised that Medicare will cover the bone density test only every two years. If that's true, why? -- A.L.

ANSWER: Osteoporosis is loss of bone minerals and strength. There are at least two ways to measure changes in bones, whether as an age-related drop in bone density and strength or as an increase in response to treatment. One way is to measure the bone density via an X-ray (DEXA). The other is a urine test, N-telopeptide of collagen (abbreviated NTX), which looks at net bone loss. DEXA correlates well to fracture risk, but it changes very slowly. In fact, it changes so slowly that a repeat test within two years usually reflects variability in the test itself rather than an actual change in the bone, which is why most insurance companies -- and, yes, Medicare -- will cover the test only every two years. Some experts believe that measuring NTX is a useful way of measuring the effectiveness of treatment, such as with a medication like Fosamax. Further, although the optimum duration of treatment for osteoporosis isn't clear, five years is commonly used (as it sounds like is the case for A.B.).

NTX can guide whether restarting treatment is necessary. There just isn't enough information to make this a general recommendation, although the theory makes sense to me. If I were treating someone in A.B.'s situation, I would restart treatment if the NTX level showed high bone resorption.

READERS: Nearly every woman, if she lives long enough, must come to grips with osteoporosis. To order the booklet about this debilitating disease, write to Dr. Roach -- No. 1104W, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803. Enclose a check or money order (no cash) for $4.75 U.S./$6 Canada with the recipient's printed name and address. Please allow up to four weeks for delivery.

DEAR DR. ROACH: What are your thoughts about the MiraDRY procedure to get rid of underarm sweat? Is it safe not to have sweat under the arms? -- S.J.

ANSWER: MiraDRY is the brand name of a microwave device designed to treat hyperhidrosis (excessive sweating). This is a condition of abnormal, drenching sweat that greatly interferes with social activities, not normal underarm sweating. It is currently used only for underarms -- not hands, feet or face, the other most common places for localized hyperhidrosis. According to several published papers, the microwaves heat up the water in the sweat glands, destroying them, while the skin itself is cooled. The published success rates (at reducing sweating to "never noticeable" or "tolerable") are very high, as are patient satisfaction results. Side effects included swelling, redness and temporary numbness. This is a new procedure, but it appears to have promise in the treatment of excess sweating. I also found a very helpful website at www.sweathelp.org.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. To view and order health pamphlets, visit www.rbmamall.com.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — We told you that Daniel Craig, who said, “I’d rather slash my wrists than do another Bond film,” was sure to sign for the next Bond movie, tentatively titled “Bond 25.” What was really happening was that Craig was already contracted for the next Bond film, which producers conveniently didn’t tell us because they were trying to get Craig to sign for an additional 007 film. They stood by while columnists rambled on about Idris Elba and Tom Hiddleston as the next Bond. That’s why he’d been offered $150 million to return for an additional Bond film.

To sweeten the deal, Christopher Nolan, riding high on rave reviews for “Dunkirk,” is all but set to direct, something producers knew would appeal to him as well. Quite a raise in pay grade for 007; Craig was paid “only” $39 million for his last Bond film, “Spectre.”

Oscar-nominee and Emmy-winner Benedict Cumberbatch will do at least three more films as “Doctor Strange”: “Thor: Ragnarok,” due Nov. 3; “Avengers: Infinity War,” due May 4; and the untitled “Avengers” sequel, due May 2019. Somewhere in between he’ll star in another “Doctor Strange,” now in development. When a film costs $165 million and grosses $670 million, you can bet a sequel is in the works.

In addition, he has “The Current War,” with Michael Shannon, Nicholas Hoult and Tom Holland (“Spider-man”), due Dec. 22; the animated fantasy “Magik,” with Matthew Goode; will be the voice of Shere Khan in the new live-action “Jungle Book” (out October 2018); and will voice the Grinch in a new animated version of “How the Grinch Stole Christmas,” opening November 2018. Could it be that he and wife Sophie Hunter, who have two young sons, wanted animated films the boys can watch?

Mark Wahlberg, who hit it big with “Transformers: The Last Knight,” will have “Daddy’s Home 2,” with Will Ferrell, John Cena, John Lithgow and Mel Gibson, opening Nov. 10. The original “Daddy’s Home” cost $69 million and grossed $243 million. He’s currently shooting the Ridley Scott crime drama “All the Money in the World,” with Michele Williams and Oscar-winners Kevin Spacey and Timothy Hutton, for a Dec. 8 release.

Mark has been producing and starring in “Wahlburgers” since 2014 and exec produces the Dwayne Johnson HBO series “Ballers” (which returned July 23 for season three) and the USA series “Shooter” with Ryan Phillippe (which began season two on July 18). A Wahlburgers is opening down the street from me in West Hollywood. Guess I’ll have to eat there a lot and hope I get discovered!

* “I found that a travel makeup bag worked really well to keep all my electronic accessories in one place. I have spots for my different device chargers, as well as my wireless mouse, jump drives, earbuds and a spare battery. It makes it easy to grab what I need for a quick trip, and the cords are never jumbled together.” -- E.T. in Massachusetts

* “We had a nice set of knives in a knife block. The scissors broke, and then a couple of the smaller knives went kaput, too. The block started to look weird with the spots for missing items. My wife filled a wide mouth vase with little stone beads, and the remaining knives are stored in it on the counter. It looks really cool and different, and keeps the blades safe.” -- A.L. in Arkansas

* “I store all my large utensils inside of a plastic gallon-size beverage container. When I have guests, I use it for extra iced tea or juice, but otherwise it holds large spoons, rolling pins and the like.” -- M.Y. in Alabama

* Here's a tip for caregivers: Please make sure you put personal time on your to-do list, because it's just as important as following up on treatment plans and picking up prescriptions. You can help someone so much better when you are rested and ready to give. Take care of yourself so you can take care of others.

Spice Up School Days

Baja Chicken Pizza
Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 15 minutes
Servings: 5

- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts, about 1 pound
- 1 bottle (8 ounces) Ortega Green Taco Sauce
- 1 can Ortega Vegetarian Refried Beans
- 3/4 cup Ortega Homestyle Salsa (any variety)
- 1 Mama Mary's prepared pizza crust
- 1 red bell pepper, diced
- 1 can (4 ounces) Ortega Diced Green Chiles
- 1 bag (8 ounces) Mexican-style shredded cheese
- 1 bottle (8 ounces) Ortega Original Taco Sauce (any variety)
- 1 bag Ortega Crispy Onion Taco Toppers

In large bowl or re-sealable plastic bag, combine chicken breasts with green taco sauce. Stir or shake to coat. Marinate at least 30 minutes or up to 2 hours.

Heat oven to 350 F.

Bake chicken 15-20 minutes, or until internal temperature reaches 165 F.

Let chicken cool 10 minutes then cut into small cubes.

In medium bowl, combine refried beans and salsa.

Transfer prepared pizza crust to baking sheet.

Spread bean mixture over dough, leaving 1/4 inch at edges for crust.

Top with peppers, green chiles, chicken and cheese. Bake 10-15 minutes, or until crust is golden brown and cheese is melted.

Top with taco sauce and crispy onion toppers then serve.

Mexican Style "Tostitos"

- 1 cup water
- 16 ounces shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 medium tomatoes, diced
- 1 container (16 ounces) sour cream
- 1 bag Ortega Crispy Jalapeno Taco Toppers

Prepare tater tots according to package directions.

Heat medium skillet over medium heat. Cook ground beef 4-5 minutes until browned, using wooden spoon to break into small pieces. Add taco seasoning and water. Cook until water evaporates and sauce is thickened.

Top with tomatoes, sour cream and crispy jalapeno toppers, and serve immediately.

FAMILY FEATURES

Busy school days demand meals that can match the pace of life. A Mexican-themed meal is a sure way to keep things festive and lively around the family dinner table.

Not only does a meal centered on Mexican-style foods let you spice up your menu, it also allows for plenty of personalization so even the pickiest of palates can be satisfied. That means less time for preparation and more time spent together.

Put a fresh twist on your next school-night fiesta with these ideas:

- An ethnically-inspired meal is a great opportunity to encourage kids to try out new flavors and experiment with foods they wouldn't normally eat. Sample variations of classic salsas, incorporate seasonal ingredients like jicama and diced sweet peppers to freshen up your dishes or put a spicy spin on a classic Italian favorite by creating Mexican-inspired stuffed shells.
- Get creative with proteins. Chicken and beef are common options, but heart-healthy fish and shrimp are also great candidates for a Mexican-style meal. Pork is another good choice for many Mexican dishes, and beans provide an excellent source of added protein, along with some flavor variety.
- Mex-up your taco night. Try an alternative to the traditional corn shell with an option like Ortega Good Grains Taco Shells, crafted with artisanal blends of real corn, unique grains and ingredients baked into each shell. They're made with whole kernel corn, giving them an authentic taste and a distinctive flavor, aroma and texture.
- Keep things kid-friendly and fun by focusing on finger foods. A large taco can be difficult for little hands to handle, but a street taco portion, a chimichanga or even nachos are more hands-on.
- Look for fun toppings that add an extra crunch. For example, new Ortega Crispy Taco Toppers, lightly breaded slices of real jalapeno or onion, provide a bold kick and are the perfect finishing touch for tacos, salads and even Mexican-style burgers.
- Don't forget dessert. No meal is complete without a sweet treat, such as a churro, flan, empanada or sopapilla. Many of these favorites can be prepared ahead of time so you can simply cook and serve for a perfect ending to your family fiesta.

Find more mealtime inspiration like these recipes, perfect for the busy back-to-school season, at ortega.com, or find Ortega on Facebook, Instagram and Pinterest.

Teach your child about budgeting

Last week I discussed teaching your children about finances and the importance of teaching them to save at an early age. Along with teaching your child to save money it is also important to teach your child about budgeting. I was a single parent for many years and I always said we did not have everything we wanted, but we did have everything we needed. There are necessities in life such as food and shelter, and then there are things that we would like to have such as the latest cell phone or designer handbags. My children learned that our family lived on a budget. A very important lesson to teach your child is if you can't afford it, don't buy it! As a parent be the example your child can look up to. Include your child in the budgeting process as much as you possibly can. For example if you are going shopping for a new pair of shoes for your child let them know how much money you will be able to spend. Take cash so that you will not be tempted to spend more than what you have budgeted. Include them in the decision making process. It is our job to teach our children how to handle money wisely. These are lessons that will follow them for a lifetime.

Piedmont Shopper FAVORITE RECIPES

Homemade Banana Pudding

Ingredients

BANANA PUDDING

- 4 cups Nilla Wafers
- 5 ripe bananas, sliced into 1/3-inch rounds
- 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 1/3 cups milk
- 3 large egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons salted butter
- 2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract

MERINGUE

- 4 large egg whites
- 1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 3/4 cup superfine sugar

How to Make It

Step 1 make the banana pudding

In a 9-inch square baking dish, arrange half of the wafers in a single layer. Top with half of the bananas. Repeat with the remaining wafers and bananas.

Step 2 make the banana pudding

In a medium bowl, whisk the sugar with the flour. In a large saucepan, gently heat the milk until hot but not bubbling. Whisk in the sugar mixture in three batches, then whisk in the egg yolks. Cook over moderate heat, stirring frequently, until the custard is thickened and pudding-like, 5 to 8 minutes. Whisk in the butter and vanilla. Pour the hot custard over the wafers and let stand at room temperature for 20 minutes.

Step 3 make the meringue

In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the whisk, combine the egg whites, vanilla and cream of tartar. Beat at high speed until soft peaks form, 1 to 2 minutes. With the machine on, add the sugar 1 tablespoon at a time; beat until smooth, glossy, just firm peaks form, about 2 minutes. (Do not overbeat or the meringue will become grainy.) Spread the meringue evenly over the banana pudding, swirling it decoratively. If you have a kitchen torch, you can brûlée the meringue if desired, or bake it in the oven until brown.

How to help children make new friends

Students learn lessons each day. While many of these lessons pertain to their coursework, kids pick up much more than book smarts from school, where kids first learn to cultivate friendships and build lasting relationships.

In addition to a new curriculum, new teachers and new schedules, kids also might make new friends once a school year begins. While some familiar faces carry through from grade to grade, chances are youngsters will meet new students who will soon become good friends. While many kids find it easy to make new friends, others might need some assistance so they can make the most of opportunities to socialize and form friendships that might last a lifetime.

* Offer opportunities for socialization. Children should be given the opportunity to explore friendships outside of the classroom where peer pressure might not be so prevalent. Establish a carpool or invite a classmate over for a play date. Unstructured time to play or get to know each other is a great way to establish friendships. Invite new children over each time to see which friendships are the strongest, but make sure you are not pushing a friendship on your child.

* Discover common interests. One of the quickest ways to build friendships is through common interests, says Kirk Martin, a behavioral therapist and author. Encourage your child to join a club or sports group where he or she can meet other kids with similar interests. Sometimes finding reasons to talk other children is the most difficult step to making new friends. Sharing a common interest removes this barrier.

* Teach proper manners. Children who are polite, well-mannered and know how to follow direction are better equipped to attract friends. Children who misbehave may be shunned by other kids and their parents who do not want the hassle of an unruly youngster coming over to play. Respectful children who are honest, trustworthy and capable of sustaining eye contact and making small talk may find it easy to make friends.

* Take the friendship lead. As parents, you can improve your child's chances of making friends by getting friendly with their classmates' parents. You do not have to become bosom buddies with everyone, but making connections with fellow parents can reinforce the value of friendship to your children. Socializing as families also presents other opportunities to get together and solidify relationships.

* Boost confidence levels. As a parent you can talk to your children about their strengths and positive attributes. Emphasizing kids' best traits will increase their self-esteem, and that sense of self-worth can make it easier for them to make friends. A child who is shy and insecure may retreat when meeting new people, but a child who can proudly stand behind his or her accomplishments may attract friends easily.

School is about more than just hitting the books. It's also a prime opportunity for kids to develop their personal skills and make new friends.

Did you know?

The school buses many Americans are accustomed to seeing in their neighborhoods trace their origins to educator and author Dr. Frank Cyr, Ph.D. Dr. Cyr specialized in rural education and, in 1939, organized a conference at Teachers College, Columbia University in New York City with the intention of standardizing transportation for students on their way to and from school. Representatives from several notable corporations, including engineers from auto manufacturers Chevrolet, Dodge and Ford and paint experts from DuPont, attended the conference. The fruits of that conference are still paying dividends even now, as one of the more notable developments to result from the conference was the decision to paint buses yellow with black lettering to make them easier to see in the early morning and late afternoon. That decision continues to protect the millions of school children who ride the bus to and from school today.

7 ways to make mornings less hectic

Make school and work mornings less harried with some easy tips to add to routines.

Making mornings less hectic involves a few different strategies that parents and kids can easily incorporate into their daily routines.

- Wake up slightly earlier. Getting up earlier than normal, even if it's just 15 to 20 minutes before you're accustomed to getting out of bed, can help reduce morning stress. Resist the temptation to hit the snooze button over and over again. A few extra minutes each morning can make you feel more relaxed and make for a smooth, stress-free start to the day.
- Get some work done the night before. Prepare lunches the night before and have them ready in the refrigerator. In addition, lay your clothes for the following day out each night. This saves time and takes a couple more things off your morning to-do list.
- Ease back into a routine. As a new school year dawns or a long vacation comes to an end, begin going to bed earlier and start waking up earlier as well. This can make the transition from carefree mornings to busy mornings go more smoothly.
- Prep backpacks in the evening. Look through folders, sign paperwork, check assignments, and do whatever is you need to do the night before to save your family from having to scramble in the morning. This ensures those permission slips get signed and items make it back into school bags.

- Opt for school lunch a few times. Look ahead on the school lunch menu and speak with children about which meals they enjoy. Let kids purchase school lunch on those days to give yourself a day off from lunch detail.
- Have quick breakfast foods available. Smoothies, cereal bars, oatmeal, and whole-grain cereals are fast and nutritious ways to start the day.
- Carpool whenever possible. Busy families can save themselves extra work by proposing a neighborhood carpool. Sharing school dropoff detail frees time up for parents once or twice a week, and kids may enjoy traveling to school with their friends. Mornings can be tricky when family members are getting ready for school and work at the same time. By practicing a few daily rituals, it's possible to curb the rush and start the day happier and more relaxed.
