Over the past two decades there has been a sharp rise in the number and severity of infections caused by the bacteria Clostridium difficile-often shortened to C. diff, now the most common hospital-acquired infection in the United States. But a new study suggests that the most routinely prescribed antibiotic is not the best treatment for severe cases. According to the study, published on the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) Internal Medicine website, patients with a severe C. diff infection (CDI) were less likely to die when treated with the antibiotic vancomycin compared to the standard treatment of metronidazole.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Emflaza (deflazacort) tablets and oral suspension to treat patients age 5 years and older with Duchenne muscular dystrophy (DMD), a rare genetic disorder that causes progressive muscle deterioration and weakness. Emflaza is a corticosteroid that works by decreasing inflammation and reducing the activity of the immune system. Corticosteroids are commonly used to treat DMD across the world. This is the first FDA approval of any corticosteroid to treat DMD. DMD is the most common type of muscular dystrophy. DMD is caused by an absence of dystrophin, a protein that helps keep muscle cells intact. The first symptoms are usually seen between 3 and 5 years of age and worsen over time. The disease often occurs in people without a known family history of the condition and primarily affects boys, but in rare cases it can affect girls. DMD occurs in about one of every 3,600 male infants worldwide. People with DMD progressively lose the ability to perform activities independently and often require use of a wheelchair by their early teens. As the disease progresses, life-threatening heart and respiratory conditions can occur. Patients typically succumb to the disease in their 20s or 30s; however, disease severity and life expectancy vary.

Looking For A Special Pre-K?

We have an excellent pre-K at KidZone Learning Center, LLC.
Our pre-K exceeds the Head Start program.

- Reading - recognition of vowels, consonant, letter and sound blends, sight words and color words
- Math - count to 100, recognize numbers 1-20, addition/subtraction, patterns, shapes & opposites
 - Spelling - first and last name, and spelling challenges to help with thinking skills
- Science - planets, order and facts about each, animal habitats, plant growth and cycles, weather, seasons, colors blends, cause and effect
- Social Studies - facts about our home living, Alabama and surrounding states, Presidents, community helpers and holiday significance. We start each day with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Our lessons cover much more than is required to make sure each child is ready for kindergarten

Why is our pre-K class so great?

Our one year old room teaches the basics such as; small and large muscle activities, letters, sound games, shapes, songs and colors as we transition from our ones to our two year old room we recognize letter sounds, counting small numbers, colors, animals and their sounds, finger plays, educational songs, as well as friendly group play and sharing. In the three year old class they will begin getting ready for our pre-K class learning letters and sounds, counting to twenty, learning to trace and write their name, recognizing colors, days of the week, months of the year, each child's learning skills are evaluated and though each child is allowed to learn at his/her own pace we work to prepare each child so that they know the proper skills when entering our pre-K program.

KidZone Learning Center accepts children ages 3 weeks to 12 years.
Accepting enrollment in all age groups. We look forward to have you visit our center.

SHOP TODAY'S LOW PRICE TAGS:
We have HUNDREDS of non-advertised items marked down throughout our entire store. More savings passed on to our customers. Just look for blue tags on the shelves.

NO LIMITS:
Our competitors also have advertised specials. The difference is, in most cases, they have a limit on how many of an item you can buy at the sale price...we don't have any limits to family shoppers.
