BURTON ANTIQUES MARKET September 23

When was the last time you were at an Antiques show where the show employees picked up your purchases from the dealers and took them to a loading area where they loaded all your purchases for you for free? Probably never - unless you have been to the Burton Antiques Market. This is the only Antiques event in the United States that offers this option to all buyers. Whether it is a large country store counter or a painting or a vase, all your worries are over about how to get the merchandise to your vehicle. At each of last years' shows, over 1000 items were sold by the dealers and moved to the loading area. Most of the items were pieces of furniture.

Here is how it works. When a customer buys an item from a dealer, the dealer will put a 2 part tag on the piece. One part of the tag stays with the piece and one part is given to the customer - kind of like a coat check ticket or a valet parking stub. The item is then picked up and put on one of the 6 wagons working the show and taken to a building where it will be unloaded. When the buyers are ready to leave, then can drive inside the merchandise pickup building where a team of Amish men will match up the tags. They will do all of the loading for you at no charge. The entire process is very easy.

Now in its 57th year, the Burton Antiques Market attracts both dealers and shoppers from all over the country. At the upcoming June 10th show, over 400 dealers will be present displaying everything from high end period furniture to exquisite estate jewelry to collectible postcards. There promises to be something for everyone.

The show will be held Saturday, September 23. The show is only 1 day so plan on spending the entire day to see everything. Wear comfortable walking shoes and dress appropriately for the weather. About 100 of the dealers are located inside buildings and the other 300 of the dealers are outside in tents. There will be lots of great food vendors offering everything from kettle korn to steak sandwiches.

The show opens at 8am. Early buyers admission is $25. General Admission starts at 10am and runs until the show closes at 4:30pm for $8. For more info visit our website www.burtonantiquesmarket.com.

The 'famous Date Nut Pudding'

New Cooks at the Reins for Horse & Buggy Dinners!

While new to the area Melvin and Mary Ann Bricker are not new to welcoming people into their home for an authentic Amish dinner. Moving here recently from Chautauqua, New York where they had been inviting guests into their home for over 10 years. Now that they are living in Geauga County they have 'taken the reins' of Horse and Buggy dinners from their daughter-in-law, and are excited to be cooking once again!

The Brickers will welcome groups from 10 to 35 people into their home for lunch or dinner, Monday through Saturday with at least a week's notice. If you don't have a group of 10 or more don't worry, the fourth Friday of every month (excluding Nov & Dec) is 'open seat night,' which means anyone can call and make a reservation, so you can come alone, or with just a friend or two. Reservations are taken until the maximum of 35 is reached. It's a wonderful evening of dining and meeting new friends, and unlike a restaurant everyone chats and each group eats family style. The next Open Seat Night is August 28, and there is still availability to call for a reservation.

If you are having a private meal you can make some choices for your menu. If you are coming on an open seat night the menu is set. Generally, you will enjoy things like baked chicken, homemade mashed potatoes and gravy, stuffing, fresh vegetables, salad homemade bread, and of course amazing desserts, including fresh baked pies, and date nut pudding by request.

Not only is this a wonderful idea for families and friends, but this could also be a nice idea for companies to treat their employees to for lunch, as

For years, Geauga Park District's Naturalist Department had been kicking around the idea of a Dancing With the Stars spin-off at Observatory Park. "This year, I decided we would make it happen," said Naturalist Nora Sindelar, program host. "Although we can't provide famous celebrities, we do have an excellent venue with magnificent stars!"

Music will likely run in the rumba and salsa vein, being that this is one of the easiest and most popular dances, said Shannon Taylor, owner of Fred Astaire Dance Studio.

"The energy and joy that dancing brings to our lives is electric," said

Shannon. "Add the outdoors, gorgeous stars, perfect weather - you've got a recipe for an absolute masterpiece."

Instruction will include the rotation of partners, so no partner is necessary to enjoy the evening. Plus, those without partners have a better chance of dancing with the professionals!

Activities will be partially wheelchair/stroller accessible, and will be canceled in the case of severe weather. Feel free to call with any questions you may have before registering.

Kiwanis Club of Chardon Awards Scholarships

The Kiwanis Club of Chardon is pleased to announce the awarding of our 2016 scholarships. The scholarships that Kiwanis Club of Chardon awards each year are made possible through various activities, which include the sale of maple syrup products all year, a corn roast September, an annual trivia night in the November, and various other events.

This year's scholarships were awarded at the recent meeting on July 6 held at the Deep Woods Pavilion located in Big Creek Park. The recipients, who were all seniors at Chardon High School or home schooled, including Mitch Butala, Haley Frank, Hannah Kirchner, Kenny Kirchner, and David Nedrow. About 40 people attended the meeting including the four scholarship recipients, their families, club members, and guests.

The Kiwanis strongly believes that even one person can help their community through volunteering. Each recipient of this year's scholarships is involved in our community through the participation in extra-curricular activities and volunteering.

"Being able to award scholarships is one of the most rewarding experiences of being a member of the Kiwanis Club of Chardon," said chairperson of the Scholarship Committee Frank Elliott. "The Kiwanis Club of Chardon wishes each student success in their future educational endeavors."

Heroes of the Month

Maureen Finnerty

Maureen Finnerty does a great job of coordinating patient care. She is a wonderful person with a kind heart. Maureen goes above and beyond to meet the needs of the patients and their families. Specifically, the Emergency Department treated a patient and his elderly mother who had been involved in a serious car accident. His car was totaled. The patient's mother was transferred to another hospital and he was treated and released. He was visibly shaken, and thought he was going to have to walk home in the dark. Maureen was aware of the patient's situation and made transportation arrangements for him. This is just one of the many ways Maureen has positively impacted patient care.

Amanda Boring

Amanda Boring is a selfless member of the Environmental Service Team. When employees consistently do things that help their coworkers, they deserve high praise. When Amanda is servicing the Emergency Department she offers help in many ways. She has gone to other nursing floors to get IV pumps and bring them back to the ED. When patients are being transported, Amanda will come along to help push IV pumps. She will assist the ED in delivering needed paperwork to other units. She is always offering to help, within her scope, to assist in the ED especially when they're busy. Amanda willingly helps and does so with a smile on her face. She is a valuable asset to the team.

Lora Strazinsky

Lora Strazinsky's compassion for patients is shown through the care she provides. She is passionate about nursing and patient care. Lora takes time to listen to her patients and address their concerns. Lora is an excellent team player. She is constantly working hard, striving to do more and go above and beyond. She assists the Aides with their work, helps answer call lights, and assists with vitals even if she herself isn't done with her work. Lora recognizes the needs of the patient comes first. Lora takes on whatever is thrown her way. Even when stressed she keeps a smile on her face and never complains. Her positive attitude and team spirit are often spread around the workplace. She is a true Hero.

Nichole Falcone

Nichole Falcone takes great pride in her role as a member of the BHU. She looks for ways to improve her peer's knowledge regarding the care delivery for mentally ill patients. She volunteered to train and become one of the Nonviolent Crisis Prevention Intervention Instructors for University Hospitals. Nichole also serves as the representative for the Behavioral Health Unit on the Patient Experience Committee. She brings a sense of calmness and organization to the unit. Nichole is very invested in her community and UH Gauga Medical Center. She can be seen out on the unit working with her patients to promote discharge planning and successful transition to the next level of care. She is ready to assist with any changes to promote engagement and positivity as the unit continues to evolve to better serve patients.
