Homemade Pie Crust Made Easy

Pot pie makes for a delicious meal, especially when home cooks go the extra mile and prepare homemade pie crust. Some may be intimidated by the idea of making their own pie crusts, but the following recipe for "Turkey Vegetable Pot Pie with Whole-Wheat Crust" from Michelle Dudash's "Clean Eating for Busy Families" (Fair Winds) simplifies that process, ensuring a fun and easy time cooking and, ultimately, a delicious meal.

TURKEY VEGETABLE POT PIE WITH WHOLE-WHEAT CRUST
Serves 6

For the crust:
 1 cup whole-wheat flour
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2/3 cup corn oil
 1/3 cup orange juice
 For the filling:
 1 carton condensed cream of chicken soup (organic preferred)
 1/2 cup low-fat milk
 1 1/4 pound boneless, skinless turkey breast, thinly sliced into bite-size pieces
 1 cup thinly sliced carrots (or frozen sliced carrots, thawed)
 1 cup leeks, quartered lengthwise, then thinly sliced crosswise, using white and pale green parts only
 3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
 1/2 cup frozen peas, thawed
 3 tablespoons whole-wheat flour
 2 teaspoons dried herbes de Provence (or 1/2 teaspoon each thyme, rosemary and basil)
 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 To make the crust: Combine flours and salt in a medium bowl. Pour in oil and orange juice and stir until moistened.

THE TOPTON PLUMBERS, 109 East High St., Tipton Pa. 19562. Plumbing, Heating, and Electrical Services. Plumbing Repairs. Replacement electric and gas hot water heaters. Gas and Oil Boilers and Furnaces. Drain cleaning, kitchen and bath remodeling. Master Plumber #193. Fully Insured. Call 610-641-7028.

Press dough to flatten and chill. To make the filling: Blend soup and 1/2 cup of milk in a large bowl. Mix in the remaining ingredients.
 Preheat the oven to 350 F. Divide dough into 2 balls, one slightly larger than the other. Roll the larger ball between 2 large sheets of waxed paper until it is 1/8-inch-thick or until it fits in the bottom of a 9-inch pie pan. Remove the top sheet of waxed paper. Turn dough over and carefully place in the pie pan, removing remaining piece of waxed paper. Press out any bubbles and patch holes with scraps of dough. Pour filling into the prepared pan. Roll remaining dough and lay it on top. Cut any excess dough hanging from the edges and crimp the crust between your thumb and forefinger to seal. Cut a heart into the center to allow steam to escape. Place the pie on a sheet pan and bake for 1 hour and 15 minutes, until center of crust becomes golden and an instant-read thermometer inserted into the pie's center reaches 165 F, covering browned edges only with foil about halfway through cooking. Remove the pie from the oven and allow it to rest for at least 5 minutes before cutting.

How Parents Can Simplify Students' Transition To College Life

College is the first taste of true independence many young students experience. Whereas mom and dad were always around to make sure kids were out the door on time and homework was done, that safety blanket is no longer there once kids move into their dorm rooms. The transition to college life can be exciting. But while students typically welcome that transition with open arms, parents often worry about how their children will handle their suddenly more independent life. Parents who want to help their kids make as smooth a transition to college life as possible can take steps during their children's senior year of high school to help them adjust to their new surroundings and responsibilities more easily.

- Let kids fly solo on school day mornings. New college students have to make many adjustments upon moving into their dorms, and getting themselves out of bed each morning and off to class on time is one such change. Parents worried that their students will sleep in when mom and dad isn't around to remind them to wake up can start letting kids fly solo on school day mornings during their final year of high school. Let kids set their alarms, prepare their own breakfasts and get out the door on time all on their own. By the time their freshman year of college arrives, kids will know how to handle their mornings by themselves.

- Teach kids how to develop budgets. Another problem many first-year college students encounter is an inability to effectively manage their money. Whether you plan to give kids an allowance while they are in school or intend for them to work part-time for their spending money, use senior year of high school as an opportunity to show kids how to budget their money. If they don't have accounts already, open bank accounts in your youngster's name, and insist that he or she start paying for his or her expenses via these accounts. Resist the urge to give high school kids gas money or money for shopping trips if they have already spent their allowances so they can learn how to effectively manage money between paydays. In addition, teach kids about the right and wrong ways to use credit cards, including the importance of paying balances in full and on time.
- Let kids handle more standard responsibilities. Adults tend to take more mundane responsibilities like making doctor's appointments or grocery shopping for granted. But kids likely have no idea how to handle such tasks. Parents can encourage their high school seniors to make their own medical appointments. In addition, take kids along on grocery shopping trips, explaining how to find sale items and which foods to buy and which to avoid. Nutrition is not always foremost on the minds of college freshmen, but those who understand the importance of healthy diets are more likely to buy nutritious meals than junk food.

- Emphasize time management. Today's high schoolers are busier than ever before, so many may already be prepared for the juggling act that is college life. But college students have more free time than their high school counterparts, so parents can emphasize the importance of managing that free time wisely as opposed to spending it lounging on the couch or napping. The transition from high school to college can be both exciting and difficult. But parents can get a head start on that transition by encouraging their youngsters to be more independent during their final year of high school.
