IN OCTOBER, in honor of Saint Francis of Assisi, many churches celebrate a Blessing of the Animals. It is time to honor the important role our pets & livestock play in our lives, as well as a time for us to acknowledge our role as stewards for all creations. So this year, on October 15 at 9:30AM, Shepherd of the Valley UMC, 604 Seven Mile Road in Hope will celebrate a Blessing of the Animals during Worship. You are welcome to bring your pets, from goldfish to lizards to goats. All creatures are welcome. Please be sure your pet is properly leashed/contained. Weather permitting, we will celebrate Worship in the labyrinth. This celebration is open to the public.

SOFA WITH RECLINING ENDS: Approximately 8' long, good condition. Best offer. 825-6949.

- "Touch and Go" was released by what group?
- Which band scored a Top 10 hit with "Green-Eyed Lady"?
- Name the only song Herb Alpert sang and recorded.
- What is the message in the 1963 "Wives and Lovers"?
- Name the song that contains this lyric: "Remember when the days were long, And rolled beneath a deep blue sky, Didn't have a care in the world."

Answers

- The Cars, off their "Panorama" album in 1980. The song only went to No. 37 in the U.S., but soared to No. 2 in France. Go figure.
- Sugarloaf, in 1970. The original single came in at almost six minutes, but had to be cut to three minutes for airplay.
- "This Guy's in Love with You," in 1968. Known as a trumpet player, this was the rare occasion when his singing voice was recorded.
- Wives should stay attractive for their husbands, say the lyrics, so he doesn't stray.
- "The End of the Innocence," by Don Henley, in 1989. For its relatively simple lost-innocence lyrics, the song buries complicated meaning between the lines: baby boomers, consumerism, corruption and politics.

Modern Thoughts on the Paleo Diet

DEAR DR. ROACH: After a few months of stress eating, I have gained a lot of weight. People swear that the Paleo diet would help me lose weight and feel better. Do you recommend it? —H.C.

ANSWER: Most diets have good points and bad points, and work better or worse for different people. The Paleo diet is no exception. The theory behind Paleo is that humans are best adapted to the diet that Paleolithic man ate 10,000 or more years ago, which was high in meat, with relatively large amounts of fruits and vegetables, and no grains or dairy.

I disagree with the theory on several points, especially that I think it is a fundamental misunderstanding of adaptation, in that there's no guarantee that evolution produces a "best" adaptation, merely one that's good enough. Paleolithic man ate what he had to to survive, not necessarily what was optimal for his health.

The part about the Paleo diet that I do like is its recommendation against highly refined grains and other processed foods. I don't agree with the usual recommendation to eat so much meat. It's important to remember that the meat Paleolithic man ate, until just before being eaten, was busily running away from him and did not have remotely the fat content of today's supermarket meat. The nuts and vegetables available to modern man are vastly different from those available to Paleolithic man, according to a great talk from Christina Warriner. Finally, there is abundant evidence that pre-agricultural man, from many different societies, had atherosclerosis in the unlikely event he lived into his 40s.

DEAR DR. ROACH: In my late teens and early 20s, I suffered bad acne that resulted in scarring that is still visible now, even though I am in my 40s. I assume it will be visible for the rest of my life. My acne was cured when I took Accutane. Now I also suffer from ulcerative colitis. Even though I can't make a direct connection as a side effect of Accutane, the symptoms of UC first showed shortly after I completed my treatments for acne.

Now that my children are entering their teens, is it possible for them to avoid my fate? Are acne problems like mine hereditary, or can they avoid the problems I experienced with proper hygiene? —B.B.

ANSWER: Acne, familiar to almost all teenagers, is caused mostly by the bacteria P. acnes, but also by hormonal changes that affect the skin oils and cells, predisposing the skin to bacterial growth. Hygiene has a limited effect on acne, with overwashing and oily cosmetics causing the most problems. Acne does tend to run in families, so your children are more likely to have worse acne than usual.

The association of ulcerative colitis, a type of inflammatory bowel disease, with isotretinoin (Accutane) is intensely debated, with the most recent data and the opinion of professional groups generally that isotretinoin probably does not cause IBD. While I can understand why you might wish to avoid it, it remains the most effective treatment, and is still worth considering if other options fail.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. To view and order health pamphlets, visit www.rbmamall.com, or write to Good Health, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803.

Italian Ham Fettuccine

This generous serving of pasta is sure to round out anyone's dinner plate — and with all the zest of a good Italian dinner!

1/2 cups diced 97 percent fat-free ham or any extra-lean ham
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 (14 1/2-ounce) can Italian stewed tomatoes, undrained
1 (8-ounce) can Hunt's Tomato Sauce
1 teaspoon Italian seasoning
3/4 cup shredded carrots
1 cup chopped zucchini
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
1 1/2 cups hot cooked fettuccine
1/4 cup Kraft Reduced Fat Parmesan Style Grated Topping

1. In a large skillet sprayed with olive oil-flavored cooking spray, saute ham and onion for 5 minutes. Add undrained stewed tomatoes, tomato sauce, Italian seasoning and carrots. Cook, uncovered, for 7 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add zucchini and parsley flakes. Mix well to combine.

2. Cover and cook for 5 to 6 minutes or until zucchini is tender, stirring occasionally. Stir in fettuccine. Continue cooking for 1 to 2 minutes. Serve at once. Garnish each serving with 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 (1 1/4 cup) servings.

HINT: Usually 1 cup broken uncooked fettuccine cooks to about 1 1/2 cups.

• Each serving: 248 calories, 4g fat, 17g protein, 36g carbs, 964mg sodium, 109mg calcium, 4g fiber; Diabetic Exchanges: 2 Meat, 2 Vegetable, 1 1/2 Starch; Carb Choices: 2 1/2.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You might surprise everyone by being unusually impulsive this week. But even level-headed Libras need to do the unexpected now and then.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A period of turmoil gives way to a calmer, more settled environment. Use this quieter time to patch up neglected personal and/or professional relationships.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A new relationship could create resentment among family and friends who feel left out of your life. Show them you care by making more time for them.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Concentrate on completing all your unfinished tasks before deadline. You'll then be able to use this freed-up time to research new career opportunities.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You're right to try to help colleagues resolve their heated differences. But keep your objectivity and avoid showing any favoritism 'twixt the two sides.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your personal life continues to show positive changes. Enjoy this happy turn of events, by all means. But be careful not to neglect your workplace obligations.

BORN THIS WEEK: People of all ages look to you for advice and encouragement. You would make an excellent counselor.

Good Housekeeping

New Macaroni and Cheese Casserole

- 1 (16-ounce) package rigatoni or ziti macaroni
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 quart milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/2 pound Fontina or mozzarella cheese, shredded
- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas
- 1/2 pound cooked ham, diced

1. Preheat oven to 350 F. In saucepot, prepare rigatoni as label directs. Drain rigatoni; return to saucepot.
2. Meanwhile, in 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, in hot salad oil, cook onion until tender but not browned. Stir in flour; cook 1 minute. With wire whisk or fork, gradually stir in milk, salt and pepper until smooth; over high heat, heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Remove saucepan from heat; stir in half of cheese.
3. Into rigatoni, stir cheese sauce, frozen peas and diced ham. Spoon rigatoni mixture into shallow 3-quart casserole or 13-by-9-inch glass baking dish. Top with remaining cheese.
4. Bake rigatoni 25 to 30 minutes until mixture is hot and bubbly, and cheese melts and browns slightly. Makes 6 servings.

• On Oct. 10, 1877, the U.S. Army holds a funeral with full military honors for Gen. George Armstrong Custer, who was killed the previous year at the Battle of Little Big Horn. Custer was buried at West Point, where he had graduated in 1861 at the bottom of his class.

• On Oct. 12, 1915, British nurse Edith Cavell is executed by a German firing squad in Brussels after being court martialed for helping Allied soldiers to escape from Belgium during World War I.

• On Oct. 9, 1936, harnessing the power of the mighty Colorado River, the Hoover Dam begins sending electricity over transmission lines spanning 266 miles of mountains and deserts to Los Angeles. At the time, the dam was the tallest in the world.

• On Oct. 13, 1967, the Anaheim Amigos lose to the Oakland Oaks, 134-129, in the inaugural game of the American Basketball Association. The ABA offered a looser atmosphere than the stodgy NBA. Its cheerleaders wore bikinis, and trash-talking and fights on the court were common.

• On Oct. 11, 1975, "Saturday Night Live," a comedy sketch show featuring Dan Aykroyd, John Belushi, Chevy Chase and Gilda Radner, makes its debut on NBC. "SNL" would go on to become the longest-running, highest-rated show on late-night television.

• On Oct. 14, 1994, writer-director Quentin Tarantino's crime drama "Pulp Fiction" opens in theaters. Made for less than $10 million, "Pulp Fiction" earned more than $100 million at the box office and received seven Academy Award nominations, including Best Picture.

• On Oct. 15, 2004, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration rules that car manufacturers no longer have to install anchors for child-safety seats in their vehicles. A "funeral coach" manufacturer had petitioned for an exemption, stating that, "Children do not ride in the front seat."

Random Acts of Kindness...

On Sunday afternoon, September 24, 2017, I was involved in an automobile accident at the bike path crossing at Abbot's Crossing and Main Street.

I would like to thank all the wonderful people who helped me and stayed with me until my family arrived. Especially I want to thank Officer Snow and the outstanding emergency team. My deepest thanks to the young lady, gentleman and nurse who stayed with me until the rescue arrived and comforted me.

Thank You Sincerely,
 June Augustine

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW
 BY AMY ANDERSON

PICKS OF THE WEEK

Transformers: The Last Knight (PG-13) — The fifth installment of the Transformers saga brings mysticism to the machines as we get the history of Transformers on Earth from Merlin (Stanley Tucci) and the Knights of the Round Table. There is a new, even more dangerous threat against the planet and humanity itself, and again, we are down to a ragtag group of survivors to save us. Cade Yeager (Mark Wahlburg) and his tiny cadre of remaining Autobots team with street urchins (the very adorable Isabela Moner as Izabella), astronomer/historian Sir Edmund Burton (Anthony Hopkins) and a descendant of Merlin himself to thwart the desires of Quintessa, leader of Cybertron. There's no real need to know any backstory. This movie is nearly 2 1/2 hours of Michael Bay-fest start to finish — explosion, explosion, heart-warming moment, explosion, victory.

filled vacation south of the border? How about intentionally submerging oneself in the ocean in the middle of shark town with a limited supply of oxygen? Super fun, sign me up! For sisters Kate (Claire Holt) and Lisa (Mandy Moore), this is what vacation looks like, but when the cord tethering their protective diving cage to the boat snaps and the cage plunges to the ocean floor, things get real. The sisters must contend with circling great white sharks, and it's terrifying. The MPA rating is PG-13, but it's just on the right side of scary.

Claire Holt in "47 Meters Down"

Queen of the Desert (PG-13) — Werner Herzog came out of near retirement to give us a sweeping biopic of Gertrude Bell (Nicole Kidman) — explorer of the Middle East and inspirational feminist figure. A privileged young woman, Bell had no desire for debutante balls and was subsequently shipped off to live with relatives in Iran, where through years of exploration and contact-making, she grew into a powerful diplomatic force, negotiating on behalf of the British government. Instead of focusing on Bell's contributions, Herzog chooses a narrow and tragic romantic storyline involving a junior diplomat in the Tehran office, Henry Cadogan (James Franco). The result is a flat profile of a robust figure. Robert Pattinson turns in a passable T.E. Lawrence, with whom Bell forged a platonic partnership.

47 Meters Down (PG-13) — What's better than a relaxing, sun-

Pop Aye (NR; subtitled) — Adrift and disillusioned with his purpose in life and contribution as an architect, Thana (Thaneth Warakulnukroh) happens upon an elephant — nicknamed Popeye — in the streets of Bangkok. Lo and behold, it's an elephant from his youth and hometown, one with whom he instantly reconnects. Impulsively, he purchases the pachyderm and determines to bring him home. So begins a charming journey for man and beast, and the delightful expedition is populated with interesting characters and revelations along the way.

KOVELS® Antiques & Collecting
 By Terry and Kim Kovel

All-Wooden Washboard

The 19th century in the U.S. was a time of invention. The patent office at first required a working model of an invention, but later, just accurate drawings and details were enough. Victorians loved gadgets and specialty tools. There were hundreds of patents granted for apple peelers, lighting devices, corkscrews, fruit jars, washing machines, washboards, toasters, napkin rings and cooking pots, and today there are collector clubs for almost every one of these specialties.

This all-wooden washboard sold at auction for $195. It is 22 inches high and still in working condition, although it is at least 80 years old.

An unusual all-wooden washboard was sold in 2016 by Hess Auction Group. It has threaded wooden rollers instead of a corrugated metal or glass rubbing surface. The maple rollers rolled in opposite directions and, according to the ads, the "screw threads do all the work." The first wooden rollers were made by the Hubbard Brothers, and the Mother Hubbard Roller Washboard was a popular item sold door-to-door in the early 1900s. The washboards were no longer made after 1935, because they were not needed if you had an electric washing machine. At the 2016 auction, a Mother Hubbard Patent Roller Washboard sold for $195.

Q. How much are the 1996 edition of Pokemon cards worth? The cards are American and Japanese, and are in albums, but a few are missing. We think some might be worth something. How can we find out?

A. Pokemon started out as a video game for Game Boy in February 1996. The name Pokemon is a contraction of the words "Pocket Monster." The first Pokemon cards were Pocket Monster cards issued in Japan in October 1996. There were 102 cards in the set. The first Pokemon cards in English were in the Demo Game pack, issued in limited quantity in December 1998. The first set of 102 cards in English was issued in the U.S. in January 1999.

There are over 700 different Pokemon characters today. Incomplete sets of cards sell online for a few dollars. Value is determined by rarity and condition. The best place to find current values is to go to a card show or to a store that sells cards.

CURRENT PRICES
 Doorstop, Winnie-the-Pooh, resin red and yellow paint, seated, arms above head, c. 1975, 21 x 12 inches, $145.

Chiefs look superb — rekindling a great, historic rivalry. The Falcons offense, like their new stadium, looks unreal. The Broncos defense turns their mile-high advantage up to 11, and the Giants, Bengals and Jets (oh my!) look terrible.

In baseball, while it looks like the Dodgers are the team to beat in the postseason, you never can tell. After all, Clayton Kershaw gave up a grand slam in September — the first of his career — so they look vulnerable (sarcasm). The excitement of what would have been a classic Yankees vs. Red Sox run in the American League East has been dampened by all of the wild card nonsense. I'm biased, but the streaking Bronx Bombers are going to be formidable in the postseason with that killer lineup and tough bullpen.

In tennis, 24-year-old American Sloane Stephens, long touted as the heir apparent for the Williams sisters, won the U.S. Open with panache, and Rafael Nadal, reeling from his Wimbledon loss, careened in Queens and took home another attractive piece for his mantle.

And of course, in its usual imitable fashion, boxing blew it once again. The much heralded "real fight" between Gennady "GGG" Golovkin and Canelo Alvarez went to the scorecards, which gives us a chance to view the psychosis of the judges. This year, they called it a draw, but they should have called a doctor because the cards should have read, "Get well soon, boxing."

Fix your scoring before Teddy Atlas drops dead of a heart attack right on the screen, the world of sports begs you.

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS - PROVIDENCE, RI
IBEW LOCAL 99

Open-Shop Electrical Contractors, Your Time is Now!

For the past several years IBEW Local 99 has been actively recruiting, testing and welcoming into our Local: Apprentices, Journeymen Wiremen, Tele-com Techs and Contractors.

That effort has been an amazing success. We now have a database of many unrepresented hard working men and women who will be coming in the Union. Many of these people currently work in parts of the industry that the IBEW has historically not been as prevalent in, such as Residential and Light commercial.

We are now looking to expand our recruitment of high quality and ethical open shop contractors that specialize in that type of work.

Discover the value IBEW can have for your company:

- You pay nothing to the Union to sign with us!
- Immediate access to indentured apprentices!
- 1-1000 qualified Men and Women available with a single phone call!
- IBEW quickly becoming the main source of manpower in the Northeast!
- Flexible rates for non-traditional work!
- Your partner in protecting the industry!
- The safest and most productive workforce in the industry!
- The undisputed best training facility and staff in the industry!
- Complete flexibility in Staffing!
- Access to General Contractors and Bidding Opportunities!
- Free Benefit Management!
- Contractor Training and Support!

We are looking for only the best in manpower and contractors. If you are a great contractor, we should be talking to you now. There are many very unsatisfied craftspeople looking for a better life who are available right now and ready to move to your company!

COVENTRY CHILD OUTREACH PROGRAM
The Coventry Child Outreach Program is offering FREE screening for Preschool age children living in the town of Coventry. Children will be screened in the following areas of development: hearing, vision, speech and language, social, emotional and general development. Much like your Well-Child Visit with the Pediatrician, children should participate in screening annually at 3, 4 and 5 years old. Because children learn rapidly during these early years, each screening offers an up-to-date check on your child's development. Screening is offered in a variety of locations. To make an appointment, please call Lisa Neill, Child Outreach Coordinator for the Coventry Public Schools at 822-9400, Ext. 249. For more information visit www.ride.ri.gov (Instruction & Assessment). Check out the Family Engagement tab for free resources!
