Long term antibiotic use in early to mid life may be linked to a heightened risk of abnormal growths in the colon and rectum-know as polyps or colorectal adenomas-which precede the development of most cases of bowel cancer, reveals research published online in the journal Gut. The findings add to emerging evidence that the type and diversity of bacteria in the gut, referred to as the 'microbiome,' may have a key role in the development of cancer.

Use of inhaled corticosteroids in women is associated with a higher body mass index (BMI) and an increased prevalence of the metabolic syndrome, which is a cluster of risk factors for type 2 diabetes and heart disease, researchers have found in a study presented at the Endocrine Society's 99th annual meeting. Corticosteroids are widely used anti-inflammatory medications. In their inhaled form, they are most often used to treat asthma and other lung diseases. The metabolic syndrome involves having at least three of the following risk factors :increased waistline, increased blood pressure, increased levels of fasting blood glucose (sugar) and/or triglycerides, and decreased levels of HDL, or "good" cholesterol.

Beta blockers are commonly used worldwide to treat a variety of cardiovascular conditions, such as arrhythmias and heart failure. Scientists have know for decades that the medications work by slowing the heart rate and reducing the force of contraction-lessening the burden of work carried out by the heart. However, new research published in Nature Scientific Reports has now shown that these drugs also reverse a number of potentially detrimental genetic changes associated with heart disease.

Verbon Alton Sharpton

Oct. 28, 1935 ~ Sept. 30, 2017

Perhaps you sent a lovely card or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent those beautiful flowers that we saw sitting there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say.
Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much for whatever the part.

The family would like to take this opportunity to express our sincerest appreciation for the thoughtfulness presented to us and love we have been given during the loss of our precious daddy. A special thank you to all our Brothers and Sisters in Christ at Temple Baptist Church. You mean so much to us. Pastor Scott Sessions and the First Church of The Nazarene, and Al. Homecare of Cullman. May God Bless You All!
