BASKETBALL AND PICKLEBALL COURTS ADDED AT HOLLEY CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

As part of the final phase of the Capital Project at Holley Central School District, the existing tennis courts at the Middle School/High School (MS/HS) were repurposed as tennis, pickleball and basketball courts. In addition to adding outdoor physical education stations for students, these areas are available for community use when school is not in session. The remodeled courts opened earlier this month, and students and community members have been using them daily ever since.

Finishing touches are being applied to the new tennis courts installed on another part of the MS/HS campus, but they are not open for use yet.

Through the Capital Project, over $30 million of improvements have been made to district facilities, at zero impact to taxpayers. "The entire project has provided the district with one of the finest facilities in Western New York," said District Superintendent Robert D'Angelo. "I'm pleased to be able to bring these benefits to our students and community. Our long-term goal for the campus is to maintain it as a state-of-the-art school facility and learning environment. We thank the community for their patience and continued support of this project as we've completed each phase."

Students enjoy playing tennis on the newly remodeled court.

ALBION MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS DEDICATE TWO NEW HEADSTONES AT MT. ALBION CEMETERY

Orleans County Historical Association (OCHA) President Al Capurso joins Albion Middle School seventh-graders Nicholas Harling and Alexis Hess at the dedication of two new headstones at Mt. Albion Cemetery. The service-learning classes have been working on projects related to the Erie Canal bicentennial celebration this year. In their research they learned of the 1859 Albion Main Street bridge collapse which killed 15 people, eleven of whom were teenagers or younger. Two of those young people were Mary Jane Lavery, age 16, and Lydia Harris, age 11. Harris did not have a headstone and Lavery's stone was badly damaged. With the help of a $500 donation from the OCHA the students were able to get two new "era appropriate" stones as replacements. Service learning teacher Tim Archer said that the students have enjoyed learning about our local history and look forward to the other projects that are planned this year.

ALBION MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS VISIT SUSAN B. ANTHONY HOUSE IN ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Albion Middle School seventh-grade History Club and service-learning students recently enjoyed a visit to the Susan B. Anthony House in Rochester, N.Y. They earned scholarships and took part in the Change It! program. Following a tour of Anthony's home, the girls worked with a professional on how to be an advocate for those that don't have equal rights today. Anthony was a strong supporter of women's rights, especially suffrage. She worked tirelessly to get women the right to vote, something she never saw in her lifetime. She is also well known for her abolitionist work with Frederick Douglas.

Dear Town of Ridgeway Voters:

I have been a member of the Medina Ridgeway Community my entire life. I have raised two children in this community and put them through the public school system. Additionally, I have worked, owned homes, paid taxes, and contributed on a daily basis to the economy of our town.

This letter serves as my endorsement of Tara Albone White for the Town of Ridgeway Clerk. I have known Tara for 25 years from the time she was a small child. Tara has grown up in Medina and has strong lifetime attachments throughout the community, as well as a strong sense of what it means to live and raise a family here. Tara, as I know her, is an incredibly ethical, honest and hardworking woman who represents the next generation of our community.

Most importantly, Tara's work with ARC, NYSDDSO and State Correctional Facility, combined with her Associate Degree in Business, provide her with a deep sense of community as well as the education necessary to make and execute administrative decisions. Given the qualifications and the education level of Tara there will be no incremental costs to bringing Tara up to speed in this position other than the required state/local training for ANY candidate elected Town Clerk. The bottom line is that Tara is incredibly well trained and educated and able to step into this position with very limited training and a strong sense of equity in our community.

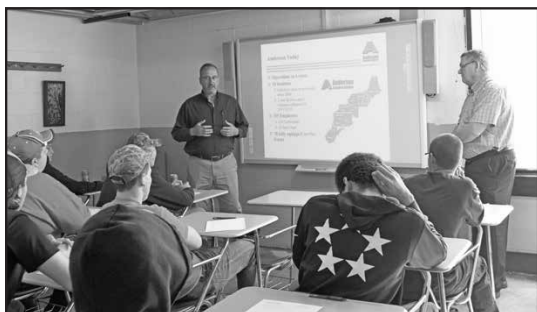

On a personal level, one of Tara's strongest assets is her ability to be diplomatic and fairly represent the interest of all constituents.

I endorse Tara and strongly urge all the residents of Ridgeway vote for her.

ANDERSON EQUIPMENT COMPANY TALKS CAREERS WITH DIESEL TECHNOLOGY CLASS

Jerry Skiff and Larry Beach from Anderson Equipment talk to the Diesel Technology class.

Ed Wallace's Diesel Technology class recently welcomed to guest speakers from Anderson Equipment Company to the Orleans Career and Technical Education Center.

Jerry Skiff (Director of Service) and Larry Beach (WNY General Manager of Product Support) gave a presentation to the students in the senior and junior classes about their company. Anderson is a distributor of earth moving and mobile equipment for the construction, mining, road building and specialty material handling industries. They sell, rent and service equipment and have been in business since 1935. They have 18 full-service locations across Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The speakers talked about the kind of work the company does, the cost of repairs they provide and the owners' commitment to keeping a safe and clean work environment and their loyalty to their staff. Mr. Wallace said his students were shocked at the variety of repair work. "Many of them were very surprised to see the different kinds of machinery and the costs associated with repairs. They were almost overwhelmed with the amount of technician training and the million dollars in investment in their facilities. I think hearing that a hydraulic shear repair for $15,000 or a complete wheel loader rebuild is $500,000 made them realize how much this equipment costs to own or repair."

Mr. Wallace says he is very grateful for the time that Mr. Skiff and Mr. Beach spent with his students. "Speakers like this are absolutely a necessity because they help build a bridge between education and industry employment. These gentlemen talked about potential careers, but more importantly got the students thinking about their own educational path. Having business representatives come in and talk to students is both meaningful and essential to our students' educational development."

Tackle Wardrobe Organization

Cooler weather keeps many people indoors. Although this may cause a bit of cabin fever, time spent inside gives people a chance to tackle some much-needed organization projects without the distractions of outdoor activities.

One task to tackle as winter settles in is sorting through wardrobes and making room for new clothes, as extra clothing can quickly take over a home. In fact, according to the National Association of Professional Organizers, too much clutter, general disorganization and difficulty determining what to keep and/or discard are the primary reasons individuals reach out to professional organizers. If clearing away closet clutter is on the top of your winter to-do list, consider the following tips.

- Know what you have. It's easier to determine what you can keep and what you can donate or discard when you have an idea of what's in your closet. Take all of your clothes out of closets and drawers and place them on the bed or floor.

- Clean the closets thoroughly. The closet organization company Closets by Design suggests a yearly and thorough cleaning of closets. This includes dusting shelving and vacuuming the floor of the closet. You can do the same with armoires and dresser drawers.

- Take inventory of your clothing. Create three main sorting piles. Label one "keep," another "donate" and the third one "sell." As you look at your clothing, keep only those items that fit you well and suit both your tastes and your lifestyle. If a piece is high-quality and worth the cost of repair, bring it to a tailor or make the modifications yourself. Let go of items you never wear or those you bought on a whim because you wanted to try something trendy. In addition, figure out which type of clothing best suits your lifestyle. If you have 10 pairs of yoga pants but never hit the gym, you can thin out that collection.

- Immediately bag donation items. Move items you will be donating out of the room. Place them by the front door and make a plan to drop them off at a thrift store or in a nearby clothing bin.

- Don't overlook sales opportunities. An easy way to make a little extra money is to sell used belongings at consignment stores. Such stores are popular in towns all across the country as more people attempt to conserve and cut back on their spending. Consignment shops typically do most of the work, including marketing the items, which can be less hectic and safer than selling things on your own. Only bring in items that are clean and in good condition. Opt to have clothing donated after the consignment period is over if items haven't sold so they don't end up back in your closet.

- Group remaining "keep" clothes in the closet by category. Organize the clothing you keep by color or style (i.e., casual, formal, exercise, etc.). Arrange the clothes in a way that makes most sense to you.

- Consider moving off-season clothes. Sturdy storage containers and bags can be used to keep off-season clothing out of the closet until it's needed. This frees up more space.

FALL HAS FINALLY ARRIVED

By Douglas H. Domedion

As mentioned in last week's column, the dry and warm September has given us pretty poor color foliage this fall. I didn't think there would be much color in our area, and the last time I was down to the cabin (near Belfast in Allegany County) it didn't look too promising there either. However as I drove down on Oct. 20, I didn't expect to see much better color down there. This was good as I have a tendency to go nuts with the camera during the fall foliage peak and I had a lot of work to do at camp.

Usually I start seeing some spectacular color around Arcade and so it was no surprise when nothing caught my attention enough to bring the camera to my eye. However the closer I got to camp the more color I was seeing, but no stopping for photos. I got busy right away at camp with the mowing (about three hours worth) and then headed into Friendship to get a sub. On the way in, I noticed a couple of spectacular ridges and some "shocking" tree colors and so it began. It took me a while to get back to the cabin, but some nice images of fall colors were gotten that I didn't think would be captured this year.

The next day was another beautiful day and the early morning sun lit up the ridge on the other side of the valley that my cabin overlooks. Now I started finding small pockets of color around the cabin and the camera was out again. Lighting is very, very important to capturing fall foliage and the light angle is of course always changing so what looks good right now may not be best for the camera to record. So the spots that look like they have good potential are noted so when light does get right I can return.

Realizing that I had work to get started on (like post the "back 40"), the camera was returned to the cabin. The pack basket was filled with posted signs, some sign boards to replace some that may have deteriorated, flagging tape, marking paint, nails, a hammer, and staple gun. Fortunately I could ride the ATV to the top of the ridge and my south line, but there were some trees down across the trail along with some brush that had grown up so the small chainsaw had to be taken. It had been a few years since this section of the property line had been posted so every sign was replaced. With my arthritic feet bothering me, my right hip not good and what I believe is a damaged right rotor cuff, I staggered off with the pack basket after I rode the ATV as far as I could. A walking stick of course is an essential for someone like me so I don't fall and roll down into the valley!

The summer-like weather was nice until I started to heat up and eventually the shirt came off. I was so glad I had thought to bring water with me; there was none left by the time I finished three hours later.

During my ride up to the south property line, some colorful foliage was noticed and after a rest back at the cabin I decided I earned a photo adventure! This time the camera was taken and very little walking was done (just love the ATV especially at the end of the day!); hell I couldn't walk very well by this time anyways! The more I looked the more unique little pockets of color were found.

The next day another section of the property line was posted, but my legs and etc. cut me short so more was accomplished close to the cabin. In all, a lot was done and I got more fall foliage images then I figured on this year.

By the end of Oct. 23, I had just about used up all my energy and packed up to leave the next morning.

Camp is different now than it was way back when. Forty-five years ago I got permission to hunt this farm and the owner had a cabin that he let me use above my present cabin. Eventually he passed on and I bought about 62 acres of that farm. A camping trailer was put on it, eventually a pond was dug and then a nice cabin with one hell of a view. There was no one else in the area to speak of and it was great. Now there are six different owners surrounding me. Where I seldom saw anyone come up the seasonal dead-end road it has become very different. There have been three logging operations on the 106 acres above me since an "investor" brought it (third time in 10 years) and this time he is taking every tree down to a 13" diameter. He has sold the property to a young Amish couple who have started building a house just above my south line up the abandoned road that goes by my cabin. Good logging operations are good for the forest, but not the way this guy has done it. Of course that is why he is a multi-millionaire.

Another logging operation, by an ill-repute outfitter, is logging 50 acres off my east line now too. Looks like the 45 years I have had deer hunting on this peaceful section of land and the reason the 62 acres was brought is about to change drastically. Oh well, they can't take all the great memories that were built over all those years though!

There goes the neighborhood!

As a citizen of the Town of Ridgeway, I am interested in the issues of the local campaign for Ridgeway Town Clerk. Rather than listening to the hearsay of the past many weeks about some serious concerns brought to my attention, I went to the proper officials and departments, both local and county, for answers. I am concerned about the questions relating to the costs of training a newly elected Town Clerk, as opposed to a person temporarily acting as such. I learned from town officials that regardless of who wins the election, the training and costs will be the same. The training for this position is ongoing every year and is a consistent line in the budget. It will not be a financial burden to the town.

After a close primary election between the candidates, I am pleased and relieved that we still have a choice in November. It was brought to my attention by several fellow citizens that the practice of handing out political advertisements during working hours at the Town Hall has been a practice of late. Town officials were not aware of such a practice, but a representative of the Board of Elections was notified by concerned citizens. When Town officials were notified by the Board of Elections, it was stopped. By that time, damage had been done to the opposing campaign. This practice is unethical, illegal, speaks to character, and should not be tolerated.

There is a better option for the people. Yes, experience counts, but it is not always the most important. Integrity is priceless. Being in a particular position for six years does not mean you are the best for the position or the next; there is much more to it.

I am proud to say that I am supporting Tara L. White for Ridgeway Town Clerk. Tara is a candidate with formal education and professional experience that will surely contribute to her ability to do what is right and fair for her constituents, implementing new ideas and services, and serving with honesty and integrity.

It is time to pass the torch and utilize the energy and talents of the next generation.

I ask you to please join me in voting for Tara L. White for Ridgeway Town Clerk, a candidate for all of the people.
