LLT's production of Neil Simon's "Brighton Beach Memoirs" opens Thursday

Submitted

After breaking all-time records with its 57th season-opener of "Joseph & the Technicolor Dreamcoat," Laurel Little Theatre continues the season with the Neil Simon comedy "Brighton Beach Memoirs," running the first weekend of November under the direction of Rick Youngblood. Performances are November 2, 3, and 4 at 7:30 p.m. and a Sunday matinee on November 5 at 2 p.m.

The LLT reservation line answers 24 hours a day throughout show week at 601-428-0140. America's favorite comedy writer based this play on his own life as a 1930's Brooklyn teen. Coming of age may not be easy – "but it sure can be funny!"

'Eugene' is the younger son of his close-knit extended family that all live under one roof in a very cramped house in the Brighton Beach section of Brooklyn, New York. The three things that were always on his mind were girls, Yankees baseball, and becoming a comedy writer. This funny play is not only Simon's greatest but also his most moving. As one critic said, "I laughed, then I cried, then I laughed again because I cried."

It originally ran on Broadway from 1983-1986, and made a star out of a young Matthew Broderick, who was playing his first leading role. The production won numerous Drama Critics' Circle, Drama Desk and Tony Awards. A well-received film version made in the late 1980s featured Jonathan Silverman, Blythe Danner and Judith Ivey in the leading roles.

Laurel Little Theatre's cast of seven includes four LLT alumni and three newcomers making their debut on the Arabian stage. Luke Youngblood stars as the teen-angst-ridden Eugene. Luke is a junior at South Jones High School, where he's a Speech and Debate competitor. He was in several LLT Kids' Camp productions, as well as "The Addams Family."

Eugene's older brother Stanley is played by Carter Poister, a West Jones High School and JCJC graduate who is now attending USM majoring in criminal justice forensics. Poister appeared on the LLT stage in "Beauty & the Beast" and "Joseph."

Long-time LLT favorite Catherine Nowicki is cast as Eugene's mother Kate. Nowicki is a member of Actor's Equity and has performed in shows from Off-Broadway to as far away as Japan, as well as in a handful of movies. For LLT, she has performed lead roles in "Anne," "42nd Street," "9 to 5," "The Glass Menagerie," and most memorably, the hilarious Louise in the five productions of "Always...Patsy Cline" performed in the Pine Belt area.

Jack, the husband, is played by stage newcomer, Luke Hammonds. After growing up locally, he's back in Jones County after six years away in the United States Marine Corps and is now the HR Director at JCJC.

Also living in the cramped Brooklyn house is a set of relatives – the Morton girls. Playing the mother, Blanche, is Christy Buckler-Liverett, who has appeared in several LLT shows over the last four decades since her debut as a little child actor in "Alice in Wonderland" in the 1980s. Buckler-Liverett is a professor of education at William Carey University.

Playing Blanche's daughter Nora is Natalie Davis, a newcomer to LLT from mid-state, where she appeared in shows at Pearl High School, New Stage Theatre and Ballet Mississippi. Davis is now in the area as a freshman at JCJC. The younger daughter Laurie rounds out the cast and is played by Taylor Thompson, a senior at Laurel Christian School who is very active in Speech and Debate. Thompson has traveled across the country with the Speech and Debate team and has won numerous titles on the state level and in national tournaments.

Rick Youngblood is making his directorial debut with this show. Youngblood has appeared on stage in productions around the area at LLT, JCJC, and Just Over The Rainbow, and is presently serving his second season as LLT's board president. He is the VP of Business Affairs at JCJC.

LLT alumni Will Hodges is the assistant director. Hodges has appeared in LLT leading roles in "Arsenic & Old Lace," "Running Mate," and "Dearly Departed." He is making his debut on the directing side of the theatre. Hodges is a graduate of both South Jones High School and JCJC and is now a junior at USM majoring in marketing.

Make sure to call in reservations ahead of time as many performances at LLT will sell out. Once the reservation is made, the ticket purchase is done at the door. Single tickets are $17 for adults and $15 for seniors and students. The best deal is a 4-punch LLT season ticket which Greer's "Future Shoppers" -- Greer's Grocery in Heidelberg recently had fun with a new in-store promotion with children. According to store manager Pamela Butler, "The store had a lot of fun with the pint-sized shopping carts for the children -- they were just great." Greer's furnished two small carts for them to push with their parents. Over 200 children participated and had their pictures taken and placed on a large bulletin board. Mustangs, Ole Brook set for title tilt

By James Pugh

Week 12 of the MHSAA football season is here. Here are our predictions of the games this week that involve Jones County teams.

Brookhaven at West Jones

Region 3-5A will crown a winner Friday night, and it will not be Laurel, as it has been for the past three years.

Here is what you need to know. As of now, in Region 3-5A, West Jones is unbeaten. And so is Brookhaven. Therefore, Friday night's winner in Soso takes the crown.

From the very beginning, Brookhaven was predicted to be in its current situation. West Jones, however, wasn't. But they're here and out to prove they belong, win or lose.

If West Jones wants to win this game, they will have to do it with their defensive line playing their best game of the season. Brookhaven can run the ball extremely well.

My advice for West Jones: find out what South Jones did last week against Brookhaven and find a way to do it slightly better.

Prediction: Brookhaven +6

Wingfield at South Jones

Oh, boy! We're here yet again. It's come down to the last game this season like it has for the past two. The Braves need one more win in Region 3-5A to control their destiny and not leave it in the hands of another team. South Jones almost got that win last week when it nearly toppled Brookhaven.

So here is the scenario: If South Jones beats Wingfield, they capture their first playoff berth since 2009 and live to fight another day. If South Jones gets beat Friday night by Wingfield, they will need Natchez to lose as well Friday night. Natchez plays Laurel. Either way, South Jones' chances look good.

Prediction: South Jones +20

Natchez at Laurel

Laurel hasn't been the Laurel of the past four years. But the season isn't over. There is still a lot of football to be played, if you play your cards correctly.

"Win Friday night and focus on making a run in the playoffs." I'm sure that's the "talk" head coach Todd Breland is giving his team this week. That seems like a good plan to me.

What's crazy? Both teams are 6-4 on the season. The only difference, and it's a big one, is that Natchez is fighting for a playoff spot, while Laurel has already clinched a seat in postseason play.

Prediction: Laurel +14

4-H Poultry Chain participants

Congratulations to our 4-H poultry chain participants Anna McFetridge, Cody McFetridge and Elliot Turbyfill that showed at the Lamar Multi-County Poultry show. These participants have raised their pullets from chicks, documenting weights of their birds, feed administered, feed intake, etc. They will advance to the Mississippi State Fair Poultry Show set for Oct. 13. A big thank you to our sponsors: Chickasawhay Building and Farm Supply, The Feedmill and Waynesboro Farm Supply for making generous donations for this project.

Weekend Forecast: Football & Fun

Another gridiron weekend is in the books. Last week we mentioned in this column that several area teams had a shot at the playoffs. Now we know this: West Jones and Laurel are in, South Jones is still fighting for a spot, and NEJ is out, even though they closed the year strong. So, here is this week's Weekend Forecast, which features pigskin picks (high school, JUCO and senior colleges) by Buzz Jack, Brian Jack, James Pugh and a guest picker, which this week is Skeeter Robertson.

JCJC Student Government Association officers are ready to serve

By Teresa McCreery

Students at Jones County Junior College recently elected their class and senator representatives as part of the Student Government Association. Sophomore Alex Hickson of Taylorsville was elected as SGA President. The international business major said she is enthusiastic about this year because everyone is excited about serving their peers and they are actively involved in planning campus events and improvements.

“We see the potential and what Jones can be and we know what it will take to get us there. We truly want to live up to our motto, ‘Leave Jones better than you found it,’” said Hickson.

Working alongside her is nursing major, Hannah Burks from Oak Grove as Vice President. Business major from Mt Olive, Kaylee Lack is Secretary/Treasurer. Business major and Sophomore Class President is Stone County’s Beth Owen, and the Freshmen Class President is engineering major, Jared Woullard from Greene County.

In addition to the officers and the class presidents, the SGA added campus senators several years ago to ensure better campus representation. These elected officials represent students in each residence hall, academic, and career and technical divisions, as well as student-athletes.

The student body elected student representatives including, Colton Shows as the Smith Hall Senator. He is an accounting major and graduate of Pearl River Central High School. Daniel Easley is the Senator for the Science Division and he is a graduate of Northeast Jones High School, majoring in biological studies-zoology.

Tyler Rouse is the Senator for Smith Hall. The George County resident is majoring in business. Zach Dale is the Covington Hall Senator from Greene County. He is majoring in business. Landon Williams is the Senator for Clarke Hall. The computer programming major is a graduate of Wayne Academy.

Steve Azar speaks and entertains at the Annual EDA/Chamber meeting

By Linda Cranford

The dining hall at the Gables in Laurel was filled to capacity Tuesday night, October 24, with members of the Jones County EDA and Chamber of Commerce for the 33rd Annual EDA/Chamber meeting.

Jones County Chamber of Commerce Chair Alicia Walker welcomed everyone and EDA President Ross Tucker highlighted the successes of 2017 and the directions for 2018.

Tucker thanked everyone for their continued support and their many "thankless" hours that have been shared throughout the year.

"Tonight is the night to say thank you all," said Tucker. "We couldn't do a lot of what we do today without the backing and support of the Jones County supervisors, the city of Laurel, the city of Ellisville, and all the surrounding towns which make this public/private partnership continue to move forward."

Two people were recognized during the meeting with special awards. The 2017 Ambassador of the Year was presented to Jeremy Adams. The 2017 Volunteer of the Year was presented to Linda Gavin.

Prior to introducing the guest speaker for the evening, EDA Chair Jim Rasberry addressed the guests saying, "Everyone in this room knows there is something special about Mississippi." Describing several special attributes about Mississippi, Rasberry said "I'm proud to be from Mississippi." Rasberry pointed out how too often people across the country don't hear the right story about Mississippi and that we all need to stand up and tell our story and quit letting others tell the wrong story. He said the EDA and its members can lead the way in having the right story told about Laurel and Mississippi.

Rasberry said one ambassador for Mississippi is the guest speaker for the evening, who tells Mississippi's true story not only through his actions but through his words and sometimes through his songs.

Country Music Artist and 2017 Music and Culture Ambassador of Mississippi Steve Azar was the guest speaker for the evening. Azar has been described as a modern-day Renaissance man, hit songwriter, recording artist, music producer, golfer, and philanthropist.

"He's a son of Mississippi that happens to have several top hits in country music," exclaimed Rasberry. "One song, 'I Don't Have To Be Me 'Til Monday,' just happens to be the top five song played on country radio stations today."

Azar started out saying that in regard to music, Mississippi has it all. "We are in the birthplace of music, whether its gospel, country, rock and roll, or the blues. We have it all. The state did that," exclaimed Azar. Azar was born and raised in Mississippi but moved to Nashville to pursue his country music career. After living in Nashville for several years with his wife and their three children, the entire family agreed to move back home to the Mississippi Delta. Azar said he wanted his kids to grow up and be molded by the "spirit of Mississippi."

Azar entertained the guests at the EDA banquet by singing a number of his songs including "You Don't Know A Thing," "I Don't Have To Be Me 'Til Monday," "Sunshine," and a song he said he didn't intend for it to be a song, "Waitin On Joe."

"I've always had one foot in Nashville and one foot in Mississippi, and I wrote like that," exclaimed Azar. Several sponsors participated in a Table Centerpiece competition, and the winner was Community Bank.
