Most "discount funerals" mean less money, less service, less attention to detail, less of everything. An affordable funeral is a complete funeral based first on the needs of the family, then priced to fit within their budget.

 You can whip up this tasty side dish in no time with packaged peeled and washed baby carrots.
 2 bags (16 ounces each) peeled baby carrots
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon bourbon
 1. In 12-inch skillet, heat carrots and 1 cup water to boiling over high heat. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 10 minutes or until carrots are tender-crisp. Drain; return to skillet.
 2. Meanwhile, in 1-quart saucepan, cook sugar, margarine and salt over medium-high heat 4 to 5 minutes or until sugar and margarine melt and turn golden, stirring frequently.
 3. Add mixture to carrots in skillet; stir in bourbon (sugar mixture will harden). Cook over medium-high heat 7 to 10 minutes or until sugar mixture melts, carrots are tender and glazed, and liquid evaporates, stirring. Makes 8 accompaniment servings.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Hints For Homeowners

Eight Steps To A More Appealing Home

(NAPSA)—Your house can be more comfortable for you and have more curb appeal for the next owner with a few minor home improvements, including one you can barely see. Here are eight tips that can help:

- Get in on the outdoor living trend. Add a few comfortable chairs and table to the front porch or backyard to create an extra room and a welcoming look. An even better idea may be to screen in the porch.

- Create an a-door-able view. Your front door is one of the first things people see when arriving at your house and what greets you every day when you come home. Keep it bright and welcoming with a fresh coat of paint and perhaps some shiny new hardware. While you have the paint handy, see if the shutters, mailbox, front porch or window boxes could use a touch-up, too.

- Get good screens. Whether on the window, the door or a screened-in porch or pool, there are a variety of styles and mesh fabrics available to meet a number of needs. One such screen, Phifer's BetterVue®, is designed to maximize the outward view, making it sharper and more brilliant. Think of it as "high-definition" insect screening. BetterVue is woven from smaller-than-usual yarns to ensure durability and to improve the openness by 10 percent over conventional screening. This enhances the view and improves airflow by approximately 20 percent while increasing protection against small insects by 10 percent. You can install it yourself or have it done professionally.

- Keep things clear. Don't let your front walkway or the front of your home look overgrown. Cut back on the shrubbery, and consider plants in pots instead.

- Improve the lighting. Consider motion-sensing lights on walkways and the driveway and lanterns on posts near the door.

- Opt for an awning. It can make your entryway more impressive and keep you and your family dry when you open the door.

- Really rock your yard. Add a stone border around the flower beds.

- Count on this idea. Make sure your house number is easy to read from the street.

Learn More
 For more information about your screening options, go to www.phifer.com. At the site, you can also watch a video on how to install screens.

Fishing Lures

Q. My dad was quite a fisherman. In fact, most of our family vacations centered around fishing sites and campgrounds. I have several tackle boxes full of lures, and I understand they have value. How can I find out if any that I have are worth keeping? — Bill, Lafayette, Colorado

A. There are several excellent references that should be helpful. A personal favorite is "Classic Fishing Lures: Identification & Price Guide," by Russell E. Lewis and published by Krause Books. This comprehensive guide features lures by such companies as Heddon, Paw Paw, Creek Chub, Pflueger, Shakespeare and South Bend. It features more than 1,500 photos in full color, current pricing, history and facts about lure makers, and even tips on collecting and dating lures.

valued by Voin Ricklinghausen in the $105-$115 range.

Q. This may seem like an unusual question, but several weeks ago I purchased a salt and pepper set at a flea market, and when I got home, I discovered that I could not unscrew the tops. I don't want to use too much pressure since I could break one or both. Do you have any suggestions? — Susan, Evergreen, Colorado

A. Try this. Place your saltshakers upside down in a small bowl of white vinegar. Let the set soak overnight. This should solve your problem.

Q. I have a doll made by Mattel and called "Shopping Sheryl." I think I got it for my birthday in about 1970. — Elizabeth, Naperville, Illinois

A. Your doll was, indeed, manufactured in 1970 and is valued at $65. I found it in "200 Years of Dolls" by Dawn Herlocher and published by Krause Books.

DECORATOR'S TRENDS

Most Americans Planning To Spruce Up Outdoor Space

(NAPSA)—If your family is like some 75 percent of households across the United States, you want to get at least one piece of furniture for your outdoor living space this year, reports furniture design expert Jackie Hirschhaut.

What The People Want

When selecting pieces to enhance their backyards and gardens, homeowners said the most desired new furnishings include a chair or chaise lounge, umbrella, dining table, outdoor lighting, fire pit, pillows, outdoor rug or hammock.

The most prevalent product designs point to transitional and soft contemporary styling, with an abundance of soft curves and straight lines.

Collections are enhanced with pieces designed for function, including storage ottomans and wedges, sofa tables and serving stations.

The most popular outdoor furnishings these days reflect a range of wood, synthetic weaves and sturdy aluminum as well as a dynamic use of mixed materials. Sustainably harvested teak, mahogany and South American hardwoods, including eucalyptus, are found in rich natural warm tones as well as weathered gray hues. Following a popular decorating style in interiors, a number of furniture lines are using reclaimed teak.

Interestingly, a number of seating and table frames are crafted of aluminum finished with a faux wood grain. All-weather wicker is constructed from synthetic materials formed into strands of various shapes and sizes, and woven in a range of patterns. Fashionable alternative tabletops include leather and acrylic stone.

Light and warmth enhance outdoor dining with the Balmoral fire table by Agio, about $3,400 for the table and six chairs. (www.agio-usa.com)

Pointing to a sense of optimism and brighter, livelier days ahead, outdoor fabrics and finishes include bold pops of color for this season's outdoor spaces. These graffiti brights include lime green, tangerine orange and vivid blue, from turquoise to azure.

Innovative finishes reflect a turn toward metallics, with bronze, brushed steel and copper dominating. These hues are much more sophisticated than the "industrial" trend seen in indoor finishes. Fabrics to complement these frames favor grayed neutrals plus sunset orange and gold.

Finally, an Americana theme seems to be emerging, characterized by navy blue, barn red and khaki. Navy blue is frequently seen matched with a crisp white frame—whether wicker, high-gloss aluminum, painted wood or faux wood.

Casual contemporary designs are versatile with soft curves. This Dash sling chair, about $179; round table, about $349. (www.telescopecasual.com)

Q. I read in a previous column that there was going to be a "Top Gun" sequel. Do you know if Tom Cruise will be a part of the project? — Danny J., via email

Tom Cruise

A. All signs point to yes. "Top Gun 2" producer David Ellison revealed during a press junket for "Terminator Genisys" that "Justin Marks is writing the screenplay right now. He has a phenomenal take to really update that world for what [the idea of] fighter pilots in the Navy has turned into today. There is an amazing role for Maverick in the movie, and there is no "Top Gun" without Maverick, and it is going to be Maverick playing Maverick. We are very, very hopeful that we get to make the movie very soon. But like all things, it all comes down to the script."

He went on to reveal that drone technology will play a role in the sequel, stating: "When you look at the world of dogfighting, what's interesting about it is that it's not a world that exists to the same degree when the original movie came out. This world has not been explored."

the winners of the autographed copies of "The Lee Bros. Charleston Kitchen" cookbooks by Matt and Ted Lee. I picked three winners at random, who told me their favorite Southern city for culture and cuisine.

Q. Oh no! I just heard that NBC canceled "Hannibal"! — Sara F., via Twitter

A. NBC has indeed canceled the prequel series to the feature film "Silence of the Lambs." NBC will show all of season three, with the last episode scheduled to air Aug. 27. However, don't despair just yet. "Hannibal" creator Bryan Fuller said he is shopping the series around to different outlets, most likely Amazon Prime. The show currently has a contract for seasons one through three with the online streaming service, so it would make sense for a possible season four to air there. Bryan also said that with the online-streaming method of releasing an entire season at once, it could present an opportunity to do something new with the show.

Let's congratulate Bobby V. for choosing Lafayette, Louisiana, for its "multicultural-inspired food that you can't find anywhere else. The folks are real and the festivals are awesome"; Andrew B. for letting me know that "Birmingham, Alabama, always seems to surprise people. We have fabulous music venues, amazing people and a healthy food culture. There's plenty of high-end tastiness here"; and Pat M. for telling me that Charleston, South Carolina, is where she learned to love she-crab soup at Perdita's, which was "a speakeasy with no sign, and a knock on the door got you in." Enjoy your books, and cook me up something spicy as a thank you!

Although very similar in taste and appearance to the blueberry, the seeds within the huckleberry give it a crunchy texture when fresh, with a flavor a little more tart than the blueberries. WITH Dr. Keith Roach

Fibromyalgia Is Real Disease

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 56-year-old female. I recently have been having terrible pain in my joints. It is so bad at night that I can't sleep. Mainly the pain is in my neck, ribs, elbows, knees and wrists. My finger joints have hurt for years. I recently went to a rheumatologist because I had an elevated rheumatoid factor (it wasn't extremely high). I was told I have arthritis and a high risk for rheumatoid arthritis. I was then diagnosed with fibromyalgia. I was shocked and embarrassed! I had always thought that fibro was not a real disease. I feel bad and tired almost every day, and I am so sick of it! — S.S.

ANSWER: Some of my colleagues still doubt it, but I think that fibromyalgia certainly is a real disease. There is no doubt that there are a large number of people with chronic pain in the muscles and soft tissues who meet the diagnostic tests for fibromyalgia, which are all based on history and exam — there's no blood test or X-ray for fibromyalgia, but that doesn't mean it isn't real. The current thinking is that fibromyalgia is due to alterations in the perception of pain by the central nervous system.

The most common symptom is aching in the body, usually in the muscles and joints. Although there are specific commonly tender spots that clinicians look for on exam, the diagnosis of fibromyalgia can be made without them. Fatigue and poor-quality sleep also are nearly universal in fibromyalgia. Depression is highly prevalent in people with fibromyalgia, and in my opinion, the depression is more likely caused by the chronic pain and fatigue than the other way around.

Before making the diagnosis of fibromyalgia, your rheumatologist had to exclude other possible causes such as rheumatoid arthritis, restless leg syndrome and thyroid disease. This isn't always easy or straightforward, and requires experience.

My opinion is that it is better to have a diagnosis of fibromyalgia because, even though fibromyalgia isn't completely understood, it is a starting point for understanding and treating chronic pain. Tricyclic antidepressants are the most common initial treatment of fibromyalgia, because they affect the way pain is processed. They are usually started at far, far below the effective dose for depression.

Feeling a sense of control over the pain, continuing to work and exercising more are all associated with a better outcome in fibromyalgia.

DEAR DR. ROACH: My brother-in-law was prescribed warfarin several years ago after a stroke. He claimed that it was made from rat poison and refused to take it. Is it, in fact, made from rat poison? — D.K.

ANSWER: Yes, warfarin (Coumadin) was used as rat poison. Some rat poisons are still relatives of warfarin.

However, that doesn't mean he shouldn't take it. The difference between a medicine and a poison is often one of dosing. Warfarin is reasonably safe when used correctly, and it can significantly reduce the risk of a second stroke. There are also some newer options, such as Pradaxa and Xarelto. Your brother should reconsider the risks and benefits.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. To view an order health pamphlets, visit www.rbmamall.com, or write to Pamphlets, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803.

A Sporting view by Mark Vasto

A Rose by Any Other Game

After two consecutive years of rather nice "farewell tours" for Mariano Rivera and Derek Jeter, baseball fans have been treated this year to a different spectacle altogether with Alex Rodriguez and Pete Rose.

For Rodriguez, his is a series-by-series walk of shame. With every legendary name he passes in the record book — Roberto Clemente, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson — it becomes more and more apparent that what you are watching is not some great sporting feat, but rather an asterisk in action. His name will never be enshrined in Cooperstown, and although he is the greatest Yankee third baseman of all-time in terms of statistics, his face will never adorn a monument out in center field.

What you are seeing with A-Rod is how a fan base is willing to forgive a player of his past sins as long as he can still hit, and for everyone else he is still good enough to be a worthwhile foil. His career will be over soon, and he will fade into history quicker than most people would have you believe. There are enough highlights to fill the reels many times over in the baseball archives. His feats will not be missed.

The reason why people suspect we may be talking about Rodriguez is largely due to Pete Rose. Rose — Charlie Hustle — the guy who bowled over Ray Fosse in an All-Star Game in order to score a measly run in an exhibition; the guy who slid head first, and played any position you told him to play without complaint. Rose ... the last of the old-time baseball players, the link to the 1960s for the '80s generation, the last player-manager and the game's all-time hits leader. Rose ... the guy who is banned from baseball for betting on its games.

Rodriguez won't be banned from the game. He'll still come back to old-timer's games. So will Roger Clemens and Barry Bonds. Mark McGwire will still be a coach in the league. Rose, however, will always be the guy on the outside of the fence, desperate and longing for one brief glimpse of what lies on the other side. No other disgraced athlete has captured our imagination in much the same way as Rose, and there have been plenty of disgraceful athletes. No, it's Rose's lifelong campaign to end his lifelong ban that keeps him alive in our minds.

Rose will be allowed to participate in the All-Star Weekend this season, and as in every other year, there will be talk about lifting the ban so he can enter the Hall of Fame. Rose will point at A-Rod and the dopers of the game and say his crime wasn't any worse, and he will try again for reinstatement to the game he loves.

Don't bet on it, Pete. If it was any other game, you'd have that shot, but baseball keeps two sets of books, and you'll always be in the wrong one.

Mark Vasto is a veteran sportswriter who lives in Kansas City.

ROOFING

We Will Save You Money... Guaranteed!!

4 Things You Need to Know When Hiring a Roofer:

1. We recommend to NEVER give a roofing contractor a deposit of any kind prior to job completion. Everyone knows someone burned by a contractor.
2. We recommend NEVER to do business with a roofing contractor that has been in business less than 10-15 years. 80% of roofers go out of business within the first 5 years and then your warranty is worthless.
3. We recommend NEVER to have your roof replaced by XXX Home Improvements, XXX Construction or any other name that does not include "Roofing". Most of these companies do not have proper roofing insurance.
4. We recommend to ALWAYS check with the Rhode Island Contractors Board @ www.crb.gov/ to check out the company and their track record.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

Tangerines (R) — After the fall of the Soviet Union, a benevolent old farmer finds himself caught in war between Georgia and Abkhazian separatists. When the conflict comes right to his front yard, Ivo (Lembit Ulfak) buries a few soldiers, and finds that two of them are still alive — one man from each side. As they recover in his small shack, Ivo asks each man to swear not to kill the other. The adversaries agree not to shed blood under his roof, but it's a cramped, fragile peace between sworn enemies.

Before this film was nominated for Best Foreign Language Film at the Oscars last year, most of us in the West had never heard of Estonian actor Lembit Ulfak. After seeing this performance, it's like finding out there there's been another Ian McKellen just hanging out, putting his awesome talent into stuff you've never seen.

The Wrecking Crew (PG) — This is another one of those music documentaries that introduces you to artists who are/were so good that you probably already love their work — but most folks have never heard of them. In the 1960s and 1970s, the "West Coast Sound" that dominated the charts was mostly created by a handful of hardworking session musicians called "The Wrecking Crew." With interviews, behind-the-scenes footage and a killer soundtrack, director Denny Tedesco — son of Tommy Tedesco, one of the Wreckers — explores the impact of the Wrecking Crew's music and industry's impact on them.

There have been a few similar documentaries in the past few years — "Twenty Feet from Stardom," "Muscle Shoals" — because it's a lot of fun hearing about the moment a legendary riff just popped into somebody's head. This one stands out because of the director's personal connection with story, which adds family lore to rock history.

Wild Horses (R) — Written, directed and starring Robert Duvall, this meandering cowboy/family drama/crime story has a lot of heart-to-heart talks, each one seemingly sprinkled into the movie at random. Scott Briggs (Duvall) is a crusty ol' cowboy who's fixin' to set up his last will. He reunites with his youngest son (James Franco), whom he kicked out of the house 15 years ago after catching him in the barn with another boy — that boy soon went missing. Now an oddly stiff Texas Ranger starts suspecting Scott is connected to the 15-year-old missing-person case. The cold-case stuff is boring as can be, and the family-bonding stuff has some stultifyingly cheesy dialog.

Lembit Ulfak in "Tangerines"

Set Fire to the Stars (R) — Welsh poet Dylan Thomas was a man of gorgeous verse and terrifying appetite — a renowned writer almost as well-known for his drinking and shenanigans as for stirring poetry. This style-conscious black-and-white feature depicts a week when Thomas (Celyn Jones) was brought to New York for a speaking tour, held under guidance of twelfth American poetry professor John M. Brinnin (Elijah Wood). The madness and style of the movie is great, but it goes heavy on the morose and anxious elements of the characters.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

- It was 19th-century French journalist, preacher and political activist Jean-Baptiste Henri-Dominique Lacordaire who made the following sage observation: "Neither genius, fame nor love show the greatness of the soul. Only kindness can do that."

- Walt Disney wanted at first to use the name "Mickey Mouse Park" for what we now know as Disney World.

- The first successful human organ transplant occurred in 1950. It was a kidney.

- You might be surprised to learn that manatees have fingernails on their flippers. Flippernails, perhaps?

- Thanks to the schedule of the American school system, U.S. sales of peanut butter increase dramatically in September and suffer an equally dramatic drop in June.

- If you've ever gone to a shoe store and had your foot measured to determine length, width and arch length, you might be interested to learn that the gadget used to make such measurements is called a Brannock device. Charles F. Brannock, the son of a shoe industry entrepreneur, patented his first prototype in 1926, and his invention is still the industry standard. Some early models are even featured in the Smithsonian Institution.

- In India of long ago, it was considered ideal for a man to be three times the age of his wife.

- Those who study such things say that the younger you are, the longer your baths tend to be.

- A friend of Sir Isaac Newton first came up with the symbol we use to represent the concept of infinity, but he originally meant it to mean a very small quantity.

- Until 1836, the river that formed the border between the United States and Mexico was not the Rio Grande; it was the Colorado.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Guess we can't ignore social media anymore! Justin Bieber was discovered singing on a YouTube video that led him to the platinum recording of "My World," and Taylor Swift invited 89 of her biggest fans, from social media, to her home last year to hear her new album first. Everything's changing. Years ago, backstage at a taping of "The Facts of Life," I overheard NBC executives discussing actors in teen magazines as potential guest stars because of the social-media fan base they could bring to the show.

Justin Bieber

Today the top people being followed on social media are: Katie Perry (71 million), Justin Bieber (65 million), President Barack Obama (61 million), Taylor Swift (59 million), Lady Gaga (48 million), Rihanna (47 million), Justin Timberlake (46.5 million) and (44.5 million). Once upon a time, actors went on interviews, read for parts, screen tested and were given a role. Today, they need to have a big social media following as well.

A new, imaginative, heart-warming teen comedy, "Mamaboy," has just been cast, and even though the three final actors were equally qualified, the one with the largest social-media following landed the lead role. We can't reveal his name yet, but I've read the script, and it's poignant in a "Footloose" meets "Junior" kind of way. Stay tuned.

***

Are we taking recycling too far? Broadway is mostly movies turned into musicals: "The Lion King" (1994), "Aladdin" (1992), "Phantom of the Opera" (1925, 1951, 2004), "An American in Paris" (1951), "Les Miserables" (1935, 1957, 1978 TV, 1998, 2014), "Kinky Boots" (2012), "Finding Neverland" (2015), "On the Town" (1949) and "Gigi" (1958), to name some. "Misery" (1990), "Sayonara" (1957) and revivals of "Fidler on the Roof" (1971), "The Color Purple" (1985) and "Dames at Sea" (1968) are headed for Broadway.

Now TV is getting into the act with revivals of old shows: "Full House," with the full cast except the Olson twins, now called "Fuller House" (Netflix); "X-Files," a six-episode event with David Duchovny and Gillian Anderson at Fox; and "Heroes," coming back as "Heroes Reborn," with Jack Coleman, Masi Oka, Sendhil Ramamurthy, Greg Grunberg and Christine Rose, at NBC. Then there's "Arrested Development," 17 episodes at Netflix; "The Muppets," at ABC; "Coach," with Craig T. Nelson, which picks up 20 years later; and "Boy Meets World," now called "Girl Meets World," at Disney. Kyle MacLachlan will return to "Twin Peaks," and The History Channel is talking about reviving the 1977 classic "Roots," with Cicely Tyson.

Is originality dead? Are Broadway and TV executives afraid to produce untried scripts? What's next? Are they going to make copies of us so we can be rebooted?

Quick Cake For Chocolate Lovers

(NAPS)—Here's a different but delicious dessert that's fast and fun to make and excellent for entertaining, festive enough for the holidays and great whenever you or your family wants a little taste of chocolate cake. It's even gluten-free.

Your own private chocolate cake in a cup is fast and easy to make and looks elegant enough for company when topped with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

maraschino cherry juice and egg and whisk. Add the sugar, cocoa powder, flour and baking powder and whisk. Microwave for 90 seconds or until the cake has risen and is set. Let cool slightly, top with whipped cream and a cherry.

One of the best things about this recipe is you can go from feeling you must have chocolate cake to actually having chocolate cake in less than five minutes.

Gluten-free or not, you can use the flour that best suits your needs. To make this recipe dairy free, just use butter substitute and dairy-free milk.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Starting something new is always exciting for the adventurous Aries. And here's the good news: This time you might be able to get some assistance in helping you finish what you've started.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Put your daydreaming penchant on hold for now, and face the facts as they are, not as you'd like them to be. Your customary hardheaded approach to "deals," etc., is called for.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Problems beyond your control might delay some of your plans. But things should start to get back to normal by midweek. The weekend could bring an unexpected (but welcome) visitor.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's a good time to buckle down and tackle those unfinished tasks so you'll be ready to take on other projects. The week's end could bring an invitation from a most surprising source.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Mixed signals could create a few stressful moments for the Lion. But by midweek, explanations should help ease the tension. The weekend is party time! Share it with someone special.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good "catching up" week for finishing tasks, calling old friends and maybe reading that book you haven't opened yet or renting that movie you wanted to see again.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Money matters should be worked out, even if it takes time away from a more romantic situation. Better to settle things before feelings turn hard and angry on all sides.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A job-related problem could turn out to be less troublesome than it seemed at first. Just a few moments of talk 'twixt the parties resolves everything to everyone's satisfaction.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The Sagittarian Archer takes aim at health and fitness issues this week. Watch your diet, and try to put more exercise time into your typically busy schedule.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) As you continue to focus on a career or job change, it's a good time to look over some of your rarely used skills and see where they can fit into your future workplace plans.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A loved one's health might be worrisome, but there's good news by midweek. Expect people who share your ideas and your goals to try to contact you by the week's end.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A colleague's request that makes the typically perceptive Pisces feel uncomfortable is a request you probably will want to turn down. The weekend favors family get-togethers.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for making others feel warm and wanted. Even newcomers will feel like old friends.

- Name the Cuban song made famous by the Sandpipers.
- Which Al Green song was covered by both Foghat (1976) and the Talking Heads (1978)?
- Who released "What Becomes of the Broken Hearted"?
- Paul Rodgers was lead singer for which hard rock '70s band?
- Name the song that contains this lyric: "Going where the weather suits my clothes, banking off of the northeast wind, Sailing on a summer breeze, and skipping over the ocean like a stone."

- Answers
- "Guantanamera," in 1966. Widely covered, the song's title translates into "She from Guantnamo." In Cuba there was a lawsuit, finally settled in 1993, about who had originally written the song in 1929.
  - "Take Me to the River," written by Green in 1974.
  - Jimmy Ruffin, in 1966. The song originally had a spoken intro, which was replaced with an extra-long instrumental.
  - Bad Company.
  - "Everybody's Talkin'," by Harry Nilsson in 1966, netting a Grammy for the song in the film "Midnight Cowboy." Songwriter Fred Neil had recorded it in one take because he wanted to get home to Miami and the ocean. For a real treat, go to YouTube and compare both versions.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On July 26, 1775, Congress establishes the United States Post Office and names Benjamin Franklin the first postmaster general. While postmaster, Franklin streamlined postal delivery with properly surveyed and marked routes from Maine to Florida, the origins of Route 1.

• On July 23, 1878, gentleman bandit Black Bart robs a Wells Fargo stagecoach in California. At the next robbery he left behind a handkerchief. Through a laundry mark, Pinkerton detectives traced the handkerchief back to Charles Bolton, an elderly man in San Francisco. Bolton confessed to being Black Bart.

• On July 24, 1915, the steamer Eastland overturns in the Chicago River, drowning more than 800 of its passengers. The disaster was caused by serious problems with the boat's design. The Eastland capsized next to the dock, trapping hundreds of people on or underneath the large ship.

• On July 21, 1959, Elijah Jerry "Pumpsie" Green makes his Boston Red Sox debut, becoming the first black ever to play for the Red Sox, the last team in the major leagues to integrate.

• On July 25, 1965, singer-songwriter Bob Dylan rocks the world of folk music when he performs at the Newport Folk Festival and abandons his acoustic guitar for an electric one. By going electric, Dylan eventually moved rock and folk music closer together.

• On July 20, 1972, a U.S. government study disputes consumer advocate Ralph Nader's charges against the Chevrolet Corvair. Conducted by the National Highway Traffic Administration, the two-year study concluded that 1960-63 Corvairs were at least as safe as other cars sold in the same period.

• On July 22, 1990, American cyclist Greg LeMond wins his third Tour de France after leading the majority of the race.
