* Since you know it's coming anyway, take the opportunity to clean out the fridge a day or two before a big family dinner. It's a good idea to eat up any leftovers for dinner the day before. You'll have plenty to replace them on Thanksgiving, right?

* In the fridge, it takes 24 hours of defrosting for every 5 pounds of turkey. When defrosting in water (only birds in a leakproof plastic wrapper), allow 30 minutes per pound and change the water every half-hour.

* "When setting the table, my mom would put note cards face down under the place mats. On the note card was written an after-dinner, but before-dessert chore. Someone would be responsible for packing up leftovers; another would load dishes and flatware into the dishwasher; still another would wash or dry the servingware, and pots and pans. We all chipped in, and it was fair, since it was based on where you sat. She changed them every year. We had lots of fun trying to guess where the easiest chore card was." -- C.C. in Georgia

* If you're considering new furniture, take this into consideration: Experts say that open storage is more likely to keep clutter to a minimum, since there's no hiding your junk. Closed storage tends to collect clutter faster.

* Much like a workout buddy, having a money buddy can keep your budget on track by providing accountability for your spending. If you have to justify your purchases, you're less likely to make frivolous choices.

* "If you get razor burn a lot, make sure you save your shaving for the end of your shower instead of right when you get in. The warm water makes it easier on your skin. Get a good shaving cream, too." -- E.Y. in New York

Hello!

One night I woke myself up with a loud "Hello!" to someone in my dream. As the next day came and went, I thought the nocturnal outburst was mine alone to remember.

But that night, as my wife and I were getting ready for bed, she said dryly, "If you see anyone you know tonight, just wave."

THE FIVE STAGES OF DRUNKENNESS

Stage 1 -- Smart

This is when you suddenly become an expert on every subject. You know all and greatly wish to express this knowledge to anyone who will listen. At this stage you are also always right. And of course the person you are talking with is very wrong. You will talk for hours trying to convince someone that you are right. This makes for an interesting argument when both parties are "smart". Two people talking, in fact, arguing about a subject neither one really knows anything about, but are convinced that they are the complete authority on the subject makes for great entertainment for those get the opportunity to listen in.

Stage 2 -- Handsome/Pretty

This is when you are convinced that you are the best looking person in the entire room and everyone is looking at you. You begin to wink at perfect strangers and ask them to dance because of course they had been admiring you the whole evening. You are the center of attention, and all eyes are directed at you because you are the most beautiful thing on the face of the earth. Now keep in mind that you are still smart, so you can talk to this person who has been admiring you about any and all subjects under the sun.

Stage 3 -- Rich

This is when you suddenly become the richest person in the world. You can buy drinks for the entire bar and put it on your bill because you surely have an armored truck full of your money parked behind the bar. You can also make bets in this stage. Now of course you still know all, so you will always win all your bets. And you have no concern for how much money you bet because you have all the money in the world. You will also begin to buy drinks for all the people in the bar who are admiring you because you are now the smartest, prettiest, and richest person on the face of the earth.

Stage 4 -- Bulletproof

You can now pick fights with the people you have been betting money with because you cannot be hurt by anything. At this point you would go up to the boyfriend of the woman who had been admiring your beautiful self all evening and challenge him to a battle of wits for money. You have no worry about losing this battle of wits because you know all, have all the money to cover this bet, and you obviously win a fight that might erupt if he loses.

Stage 5 -- Invisible

This is the final stage of drunkenness. At this point you can do absolutely anything because no one can see you. You can get up and dance on a table, to impress the people who have been admiring you all evening, because the rest of the people in the room cannot see you. You are also invisible to the person whom you have picked a fight with earlier in the evening. You can walk through the streets singing at the top of your lungs (because of course you are still smart and know the tune perfectly) and no one will think anything of it because they can't see you. All your social inhibitions are gone. You can do anything, because no one will know. And you certainly won't remember.

1. Who released "Hopelessly Devoted to You"?
2. Which artist wrote and released "Matthew and Son"?
3. What is that weird-sounding instrument in the opening scenes of "Black Sails"?
4. Who had a hit with "Breakin' in a Brand New Broken Heart"?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "I know I was wrong, But, I was just a fool, Too blind to see, You were the only girl for me."

Answers

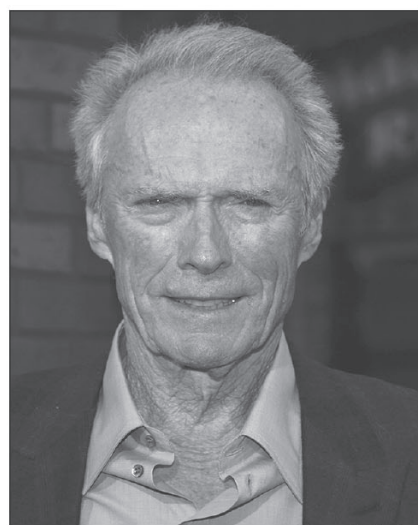

1. Olivia Newton-John performed the song in the film version of the musical "Grease" in 1978.
2. Cat Stevens, in 1966, for his debut album. The song laments people who stay at low-wage jobs, afraid to ask for raises.
3. The hurdy gurdy. On the ancient instrument a crank turns a wheel that rubs against strings, which ends up sounding a lot like a bagpipe, while the other hand presses the strings to create a melody.
4. Connie Francis, 1960.
5. "Hold Me Tight," by Johnny Nash, in 1968. The song reached the Top 10 in both the U.S. and U.K. Nash's career began in the 1950s and includes several film credits. His recording company was the first to sign Bob Marley & The Wailing Wailers in Jamaica.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Clint Eastwood is so confident as a director, he's cast the actual non-actor heroes — California friends Anthony Sadler, Alek Skarlotos and Spencer Stone — to play themselves, re-creating when they took down a terrorist on a train to Paris. Supporting them are Jenna Fisher (of "The Office"), Judy Greer ("The Planet of the Apes" franchise) and Ray Corsani, as the terrorist. Eastwood's decision to go with the real guys was made just before shooting began in July. It's a risk, but will be very exciting to watch. "The 15:17 to Paris" opens Feb. 9.

Clint Eastwood

Who is Bill Skarsgard, and why did his recent film, "It," gross $654 million? Skarsgard plays Pennywise in the film of Stephen King's novel, which was already a mini-series in 1990. Skarsgard, 27, recently completed "Assassination Nation," with Joel McHale, Maude Apatow (daughter of Judd Apatow and Leslie Mann) and Anika Nani Rose.

Bill Skarsgard comes from a famous Swedish film family. His father, Stellen Skarsgard, is best known for "Mamma Mia" (2008) and will be in the upcoming sequel. Bill's three brothers are all stars of the Swedish cinema. Alexander Skarsgard (41) is known for "The Legend of Tarzan" (2016), the HBO series "True Blood" (2008-14) and his recent Emmy-winning role in "Big Little Lies." His brother Gustaf (36) has starred since 2013 in The History Channel's "Vikings" (which returns for another season Nov. 29) and youngest brother Valter (21) already has appeared in 15 Swedish films.

Cary Elwes became a star after "The Princess Bride" (1987) and starred in "Glory" (1989), "Days of Thunder" (1990), "Hot Shots" (1991) and Mel Brooks' comedy-satire "Robin Hood: Men in Tights" (1993) to name a few. He co-stars in his producer-brother

Cassian Elwes' film "The Billionaire Boys Club," with Ansel Elgort, Taron Egerton, Kevin Spacey, Emma Roberts and Judd Nelson, which began shooting in December 2015 in New Orleans, wrapped in January 2016, did reshoots in November 2016 and is finally ready for release in 2018.

Many tourists who've visited Hollywood are fed up with those phony tours of the stars' homes. Many tourists are choosing instead to see the final resting place of some of the greatest stars who ever lived. Hollywood Forever's tours allow fans to visit the resting places of stars such as Rudolf Valentino, Peter Lorre, Oscar-winner Peter Finch, Mickey Rooney, Tyrone Power and "Golden Girl" Estelle Getty, to a few. But the crown jewel is the newly created mausoleum that houses Judy Garland, who last year was moved from New York and returned to Hollywood! It's not quite "Over the Rainbow," but at least it's Hollywood Forever, and they include Toto, too, in the tour!

Should Pets in Cars be Restrained?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: What do you think of the law in the U.K. that fines drivers up to $6,580 for having their pets unrestrained in the car? Isn't that the perfect example of government overreach? -- Chuck G., El Paso, Texas

DEAR CHUCK: That is a hefty fine, but I understand why the law is on the books. While some dogs are comfortable sitting unrestrained in a back seat or passenger seat, so they can put their head out the window (you never see an unhappy dog doing that, ever), many pets have a hard time sitting comfortably as the car moves about.

Unrestrained, dogs may slide around, fall onto the floor and otherwise be stressed by the ride. Some may get really agitated and clamber around in the car, distracting you. I know from experience how difficult it is to keep a car on the road when a cat panics, climbs up the fabric of the back of the driver's seat, and sinks both front claws into your shoulder.

And of course, if there's an accident and your pet is unrestrained, serious injury can result. Your pet will crash into objects inside the car, or be thrown completely out of the car.

The U.K. isn't alone in enacting legislation to restrain pets in moving cars. Nine U.S. states have laws on the books as of June 2017, Orvis.com reports. Each law has different requirements and penalties, but all agree that an unrestrained pet can contribute to distracted driving or an obstructed view.

Regardless of your state's law, keep your pet safe by making sure it is either in a carrier or a pet-specific seat restraint when you drive.

Life Goes On

If you have lived long enough to experience the passing away of many of your friends and family, you realize that life goes on despite their deaths.

There is something in us which feels compelled to stop everything to memorialize the passing of dear loved ones, and that is as it should be. Someone who doesn't take time out of his or her busy schedule to go to a funeral or otherwise honor someone's passing will probably regret it later, and may need to think about his or her priorities. And yet life must go on. We all have lives to live and responsibilities to meet and we can't interrupt them indefinitely because someone has died. The crux is in balancing the mourning and grief with the responsibilities. Many things will go on without us being there. Your co-workers will handle things while you go to the funeral and take time to mourn, but eventually you will need to return to work. Some cultures make haste with the funeral and burial rites, requiring the body to be buried within 24 hours after death. There is undoubtedly wisdom in such practices, as it allows the mourners to get back to their lives quickly, but there is no single right answer for these things. Situations vary, and some people need more time to grieve than others. Stop the clocks, turn off the phone, and mourn, but realize that life does indeed go on. - Christopher Simon

"The Benefit Of Dangerous Men"

"People sleep peacefully in their beds at night only because rough men stand ready to do violence on their behalf." Richard Grenier, 1993 Washington Times, paraphrasing George Orwell.

In Genesis chapter fourteen the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were overrun by enemies. Everyone who lived through the attack, men and women, were taken prisoner and led away. One of those individuals was a man named Lot.

Lot, as it so happens, had an uncle who has become a very famous man, Abraham. Someone who knew of Lot's connection to Abraham went and told him what had happened. When he did, Abraham responded. Genesis 14:14-16 says, "And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained servants, born in his own house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued them unto Dan. And he divided himself against them, he and his servants, by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus. And he brought back all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also, and the people."

Abraham and 318 dangerous men risked their lives, beat down the bad guys, and saved the day. And if that last sentence sounds a bit like I am waxing nostalgic for the childhood days of good guys in white hats punching the lights out of villains in black, you are entirely correct, I am.

I guess what I am really longing for is a return to what used to be a basic truth understood by most everyone: dangerous men can be a very good thing.

There has never been in all of human history a time when there were not "bad guys" running wild, and until Jesus returns there never will be. The sin nature of humanity can never be fully educated away, philosophized away, or medicated away. And, as Neville Chamberlain inadvertently demonstrated, it can also never be bargained away. The Neville Chamberlains of the world will not keep people safe; that task will be left to the Winston Churchills of the world.

Traditional manhood is very much a favorite target of the political and societal Left these days. Their view seems to be that that boys should not play with toy soldiers or have paintball guns or become hunters, and they certainly should not wrestle or box or do martial arts. The concept is one of softening men and making them either fearful of or actually disdainful of conflict.

But, prepared or not, conflict will come.

When a woman screams in the street because a rapist is trying to pull her into a vehicle, a dangerous man, a good guy, would be a handy person to have nearby. When the door is kicked open in the night and intruders storm the house ready to tie up and assault whoever they find, a dangerous man, a good guy, would be a handy person to have getting out of bed to meet them.

When a child is assaulted by someone three times his size and four times his age, a dangerous man, a good guy, would be a handy person to have nearby to intervene on that child's behalf.

When enemy armies march across your borders as they did in France of WWII, dangerous men sailing across the sea and dropping from the sky to repel them are the most glorious sight you will ever see. I understand that dangerous men sometimes themselves become the bad guys. But since there are always going to be bad guys anyway, there must of necessity always be good guys capable of handling them.

Go play in the dirt, boys. Slay imaginary dragons and vanquish every foe. Dream of being Captain America, or Thor, or Aragorn, or the Lone Ranger. Be strong. Hold soldiers and police officers up as your role models. Practice chivalry. Study the lives of those who have fought evil and won.

I am all in favor of women being armed and dangerous if they choose. But men especially ought to step to the plate and be willing to be dangerous for others, and those that are should be celebrated, not castigated.

Let's hear it for dangerous men.

KOVELS® Antiques & Collecting

Wall Clock With Automata

Sometimes identifying and dating an antique seems easy, but it fools you. An unusual wall clock was offered at a recent auction. It was labeled "Friesland wall clock with automata, 1800." Friesland is a section of Holland where people have been making clocks since the 1600s. Automata, of course, are the moving figures — in this case, boats — that are included below the clock dial for decoration and amusement. There was a moving scene with a woman milking a cow, a fisherman with a fish and three ships with sails. The clock also struck at an hour and half-hour. The clock case has windows that show the moving pendulum. Add to that the decoration of the case and dial, painted-iron Roman numerals, pierced brass hands and mahogany marquetry trim on the wooden case and hood. It had many characteristics of an early 1800s Dutch clock. It was the oldest and the most expensive of many Friesland wall clocks in the sale. Bidders also were sure it was an early clock, and the winning bid was $3,444.

Q. I have a small cut-glass bottle that has a glass stopper and a silver cap. The bottle is rectangular, about 4 inches long by 1/2 inch wide. I read that in Victorian times, a widow would collect her tears in a vial. Could my bottle be one of these?

A. Tear collecting is referenced in the Old Testament of the Bible, in ancient Roman and Greek writings, and in Victorian poems and novels, but whether tear collecting was fact or legend is unclear. In the mid-1800s, when Victorian mourning customs became popular, it is said vials were used to collect tears wept for the departed loved one. Later, the tears were sprinkled on the grave to signify the end of official mourning. Another version of the custom claims mourning would last until the tears evaporated. It's difficult to imagine how a crying person could coax their tears into such a small bottle, but it makes a very romantic image.

During the Victorian era, glass bottles

It was more important to own a clock in the 1800s than it is now. There were no cellphones, land phones, wrist-watches or electric clocks to tell time if you didn't have a clock — just the chiming clock in the church steeple or city hall. Home clocks had to be wound at least once a week to keep accurate time. This 1800s Dutch clock had chimes and an entertaining moving scene of ships and fishing. It sold in Massachusetts for $3,444 at a Skinner Inc. auction.

were made with decorative caps, and were similar in shape to some scent bottles. Your bottle, cut glass with a silver filigree cap, is worth about $30. If there is a silver maker's mark on the cap, it will be worth more.

TIP: Ordinary beer is great for cleaning a gilded mirror frame. Just pour it on a soft rag, rub gently and dry.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your work on a recent job assignment is impressive and is sure to be noticed. Meanwhile, expect to receive news about an upcoming holiday event you won't want to miss.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Saving the world one person at a time is what you were born to do. So accept it when people ask you for help, especially during the holiday season.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Now that you've resolved all doubts about an important decision, you can surprise a lot of people by defending your stand with your strong and well-reasoned arguments.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The holiday mood stirs your need to nurture everyone from the family cat to great-grandma. But don't overdo it, especially with teens, who like to feel grown up.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Enjoy basking in the warm love of family and close friends. But don't fall into a prolonged catnap yet. There's still much to do before you can put up your paws and relax.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Avoid pushing others to work as hard as you do on a common project. Instead, encourage them to do their best, and they might well reward you with a pleasant surprise.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Like the sensible Libra you are, you no doubt started your holiday shopping already. But be careful to keep within your budget. Shop around for the best buys.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Love and friendship remain strong in your aspect over the next several days. This is a good time to develop new relationships and strengthen old ones.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A beloved family member has news that will brighten your holidays. Also expect to hear from friends who had long since moved out of your life.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Family and friends are in for a surprise when you accept the need to make a change without being talked into it. (Bet it surprised you, too -- didn't it?)

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Restoring an old friendship might not be as easy as you hoped. You might want to explore the reasons for your former buddy's reluctance to cooperate.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your party-going activities pick up as the holiday season takes off. Enjoy your plunge into the social swim as you make new friends and renew old friendships.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are caring and considerate -- two wonderful attributes that endear you to people of all ages.

Centra Named one of Nation's Top Cardiovascular Hospitals for 2018

Centra Lynchburg General Hospital has been named one of the nation's Top 50 Top Cardiovascular Hospitals by Truven Health, now part of IBM Watson Health. This annual study identifies the top U.S. hospitals for inpatient cardiovascular services in the nation. This is the seventh time Centra has been named. Notably, only two other hospitals in the state of Virginia have received this award that many times since its inception in 1999.

"This is a special honor for our Heart Center," said E.W. Tibbs, Centra President and CEO. "Our goal is to provide the highest quality cardiovascular care that can be found anywhere in the country. This award from Truven is a testament to the good work our cardiovascular team does every day for this community."

The Top 50 Cardiovascular Hospitals study is an annual, objective and quantitative study that identifies the nation's best providers of cardiovascular care. The study is based on publicly available CMS data and looks at clinical, operational and financial performance metrics. The study shows that top cardiovascular hospitals had significantly higher inpatient survival rates than nonwinning cardiovascular hospitals and had fewer complication incidences. Specifically, top hospitals also see lower readmission rates for heart attack patients, heart failure and heart surgery patients. And finally, they were found to have short length of stays for their patients and lower costs. ($1,333 to $5,745 less in total costs than nonwinners)

Part of the Watson Health Top 100 hospital program, this study uses rigorous processes to calculate and measure hospital services lines, leveraging industry-leading, risk-adjusted methodologies developed and maintained by IBM Watson Health scientists over many years. This study is widely regarded as the leading program for evaluating leadership impact in a hospital, as well as evaluating quality indicators and efficiencies.

"Recognitions like this are the result of the tireless efforts of our doctors, nurses and cardiovascular team," said Chad Hoyt, MD., Medical Director of Centra's Cardiovascular Services. "We continuously strive for excellence in patient outcomes, and this award is a product of our team's hard work. I am proud of the care we provide to this community."

This award comes on the heels of Centra receiving the highest rating for open heart surgery from The Society of Thoracic Surgeons (STS) earlier this year. Centra is one of 11 hospitals across the country to receive the distinguished status of three-star performance in all three categories.

About Centra's Cardiovascular Program

Centra's cardiovascular team consists of 32 physicians and 21 advanced practitioners. These providers care for patients in 7 locations across the region. Centra's cardiovascular services are led by an integrated team of providers who are nationally recognized for their contributions in advancing patient care, positive clinical outcomes and research. The Stroobants Heart Center also includes a team of cardiovascular dedicated health care staff, who together provide care to thousands of patients annually.

Realtors, Post 1097 hand house keys to veteran

Charles Duke receives key to house during ceremony

A fully renovated home that sits on Dallas Avenue in the Schoolfield community now belongs to a former Marine and Afghanistan war veteran who served nearly 10 years before suffering a traumatic brain injury.

The keys and deed were handed over to Charles Edward Duke Jr. during a ceremony held Saturday morning in front of the house at 41 Dallas Ave. "This house is a blessing," Duke said following the ceremony. "As a Marine, you are told that you cannot show tears, but I've got tears in my eyes now. This is my first house."

Duke also noted that the neighborhood is quiet, which will be a welcome change from the noisy apartment complex where he has resided. He has post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), which is an anxiety disorder that can occur after a veteran experiences a traumatic event.

The house given to Duke was donated to the City of Danville and the Danville Redevelopment and Housing Authority as part of the City's blight eradication program. The house initially was to be demolished, but the City instead turned the house over for renovation to the Dan River Region Association of Realtors and American Legion Post 1097.

"We decided that we wanted to do something meaningful in the community, so we started discussing veterans in need because there are so many," said Kelli Hauser, president of the Realtors association and owner/principle broker at Hauser Manasco Realty Group.

Jim Houser, a real estate agent with ERA Holley & Gibson Realty Co. who served as project manager for the house renovation, said the renovations were extensive.

"There were a lot of challenges with this house," Houser said. "The house had a lot of termite damage. Plaster was broken. In the back portion of the house, the flooring was sunken. We had to rip out the back flooring and put in new floor joists. We virtually gutted the entire house."

The roof had to be repaired due to leaks.

The association raised money for the project, and real estate agents and affiliates with home repair and renovation skills volunteered many hours toward the project.

"We raised a lot of money, but fortunately we had a lot of people contribute to this project as well," Houser said. "It's been an expensive project, but a worthy project."

Bill Joyce, owner and operator of Joyce Electrical Co., was one of many contractors who assisted in the renovation.

"They called me and asked me if I could be available and I told them 'absolutely,'" Joyce said. "Once I got over here, I saw that everything was going to have to be done. But that's fine. It's wired like a brand new home now."

Inside the electrical panel, Joyce inscribed, "May God bless this house." "I shared that with him (Duke) and how great God has been to me and blessed my home," Joyce said. "That is why I did that."

Duke was selected to receive the house through an application process conducted by Post 1097.

"We reached out to the local VA (Veterans Administration) office and other veterans organizations, said Ray Barbour, Post 1097 adjutant. "He (Duke) met the criteria. He is a disabled veteran and I think he will do well in this neighborhood."

According to real estate records, the two-bedroom, one-bath house was built in 1930 and has 1,074 square feet of finished space.

Q. Can you give me any news about "Nashville"? It will be back for another season, correct? — Damian R., via email

A. "Nashville" will indeed return to TNT this coming January for its sixth season (no exact date as yet). And don't forget, if you don't have TNT, you can catch each new episode of the show the day after air on Hulu.

I also have some casting news: Josh Stamberg has been cast in the recurring role of Darius, the extremely charismatic founder of a self-actualization movement that has transformed many lives. Also, musician/songwriter and acting newcomer Jake Etheridge has been cast in the recurring role of Sean, who is a recent military veteran suffering from severe PTSD who has yet to embrace his talent and passion for music. Also of note, in season five, Jake co-wrote six songs featured on the show, including "Burn to Dark" and "As the Crow Flies."

Rainee Lyleson has been cast in the recurring role of Alannah, a beautiful singer-songwriter who starts out as a backup singer but soon will be discovered for the star she is meant to be. Nic Luken has been cast in the recurring role of Jonah Ford. Jonah is a famous male pop star who's handsome, extremely confident and charming, exuding all the qualities of a superstar. And finally, Dylan Arnold has been cast in the recurring role of Twig, a childhood friend/entourage member to Jonah. Twig navigates this lifestyle by guarding his anxiety and pain with a caustic, brilliant sense of humor.

Q. Now that "The Catch" has been canceled, can you tell me what Mireille Enos is up to? — Christina M., via Facebook

A. Mireille has been cast as War, one the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, in Neil Gaiman's upcoming television adaptation of his novel "Good Omens." There's a boatload of talent already on board for this project, including Michael Sheen, David Tennant and Jon Hamm. The series, which is now shooting in the U.K., is set for a 2019 premiere on Amazon Prime.

Peter Dinklage

The versatile actress also is filming the HBO movie "My Dinner with Herve," with Peter Dinklage, Jamie Dornan, David Strathairn and Andy Garcia. Peter portrays Herve Villechaize, co-star of "Fantasy Island," the hit fantasy/drama series that ran on ABC from 1977 to 1984. Mireille plays Kathy Self, Herve's longtime girlfriend.

READERS: A few weeks back, I mentioned the date for the season premiere of TNT's "The Librarians," which was supposed to be a two-episode premiere on Wednesday, Dec. 20. Well, the network is moving the launch date of the hugely popular fantasy series. Season four now will have a ONE-episode premiere on Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m. (ET/PT), with episode two making its debut the following Wednesday, and so on. Looks like Christmas will be coming even earlier for "The Librarians" fans.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was 17th-century English novelist and politician Edward Bulwer-Lytton who made the following sage observation: "If you wish to be loved, show more of your faults than your virtues."

* If you have an indoor/outdoor cat, you might have found yourself wondering why it sometimes shows up on your doorstep with an offering of a dead animal. Well, there's actually a good reason for it. It seems that the cats most likely to present owners with a gory gift are spayed females, and they're acting out behaviors seen in the wild. Feral cats teach their young how to hunt by bringing them dead or injured prey. With no kittens to teach, your cat is evidently trying to teach the family it does have -- namely, you -- how to find food on its own.

* You probably aren't familiar with the term "anthropodermic bibliopegy," but in the unlikely event that it ever comes up in conversation, you now know that it refers to books bound in human skin.

* It's not surprising that during the severe northern winters, the Arctic ground squirrel goes into a state of suppressed physiological activity. What is surprising, though, is that during this torpor, its body temperature can get as low as 27 degrees Fahrenheit -- without the animal becoming just another chunk of ice. This nifty trick can be attributed to a biological process that clears the rodent's blood of ice nucleators, which facilitate freezing.

* You might be surprised to learn that in a 2016 survey of human resources professionals, it was reported that more than half of all workplaces offer paid time off for employees to vote.

Thought for the Day: "We must believe in luck. For how else can we explain the success of those we don't like?" -- Jean Cocteau

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

RAMP: The Fast Lane to Claims Resolution

If you're bogged down in a disagreement with the Department of Veterans Affairs about a claim, help (or at least hope) might be on the way. Enter the Rapid Appeals Modernization Program, also known as RAMP. RAMP will give veterans a more efficient claims review process, courtesy of the Veterans Appeals Improvement and Modernization Act of 2017.

According to a summary of the Act, it takes an average of six years to appeal a disability claim. The Act creates three lanes, which is meant to divide claims into categories and zip them through the process, instead of letting all claims stay lumped together. Lane 1 will move a pending appeal directly over to the Board of Veterans' Appeals, jumping over the other layers. Lane 2 takes a rejected claim and sends it to a higher level of adjudication for a second look. Lane 3 is where a veteran can submit new evidence in a claim.

These new steps are intended to speed the process. However, there are concerns. Apparently the new act modifies the "duty to assist" language. That duty requires the VA to help a claimant to get the evidence needed for the claim. The government has all your files and therefore could quickly gather what is needed for the claim, but now that "duty to assist" language is changed.

Depending on your claim, you might receive an invitation to participate in RAMP. Look carefully at the details. Once you agree to RAMP, you might not be able to revert to the previous system.

In other news, VA Secretary David Shulkin is re-thinking the list of presumptives for Agent Orange. He's reviewing the work of the National Academy of Medicine, its data and recommendations. More illnesses may be added for disability compensation.

PUMPKIN ROLL

Ingredients

- 2/3 cup canned pumpkin (NOT pumpkin pie mix, straight canned pumpkin)
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 - 3/4 cup wheat flour (no white or bleached!)
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon ground ginger
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/3 teaspoon salt
- Filling
- 6 oz. cream cheese (Philadelphia has 1/3 less fat)
 - 1 cup powdered sugar
 - 4 tablespoons butter (half of a stick)
 - 2/3 teaspoon vanilla
- To make the cake

1. Preheat Oven to 375F
2. Mix dry ingredients in a separate bowl.
3. Beat eggs on high and gradually add sugar. On medium speed add the pumpkin and lemon juice.
4. Gradually add dry mixture to wet mixture
5. Spray a jelly roll pan with cooking spray
6. Pour the cake mixture into the pan and use spatula to spread it evenly
7. Bake for 15 minutes
8.  While the cake is baking take a kitchen towel (yes, a towel) and cover it in powdered sugar. It gets messy here but roll with it.
9. Remove the cake from the oven and loosen from pan, use a spatula to loosen to the center
10. Flip the loosened cake onto the powdered sugar covered towel and enjoy the sugar cloud.
11. Roll the cake with the towel and let it cool, can put in fridge to accelerate cooling (will take about an hour)

To make the Filling

1. Take the cream cheese and butter of of the fridge to soften before you make the cake
 2. Mix those ingredients with an electric hand mixer until smooth
 3. Cover the frosting until the cake is cool, I actually recommend making the frosting right before taking the cake our of the fridge
- pumpkin-roll-prep-2
- To put it all Together
1. When the cake is cool, unroll it from the towel and spread the filling onto the unrolled cake.
 2. Re-roll WITHOUT the towel.
 3. Wrap the roll in wax paper and chill it overnight (minimum 8 hours)
 4. Sprinkle with powdered sugar before serving in .5-1 inch slices
