World Cup Time Is Now for America

Thirty-one nations have booked a ticket for the 2018 World Cup, to be held in Russia next year. Most conspicuously absent in this year's tournament besides Italy (which missed the cut for the first time since 1958 and has the patient in marginal?) The and has the nation in mourning)? The United States of America.

United States of America. Don't blame any sort of collusion either — the United States has been paying plenty of lip service to world football (or soccer or whatever you want to call it) over the past few decades, but our continued inabili-ty to mount any sort of nush for the ty to mount any sort of push for the championship on the men's side remains a constant annoyance for the Champtonian and on the neuron state remains a constant annoyance for the American sports fan. (Our women, however, continue to rock.) As of this writing, 30 countries have secured their place to join host nation Russia in next year's tourna-ment: Australia, Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Croa-tia, Egypt, England, France, Germa-ny, Honduras, Iceland, Iran, Japan, Mexico, Morocco, Nigeria, Pana-ma, Poland, Portugal, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, Serbia, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunisia and Uruguay (New Zealand vs. Peru played after we went to press). For those of you who missed it,

America soiled the sheets in the Caribbean when it came time to qualify, a bloodbath that saw Coach Bruce Arena, the man who was sup-posed to bring European sensibility to our roguish American ways, quit the scene entirely. Now, America once again sits on the precipice, questioning its desire to rebuild. Does it blow everything up? Or is there enough there to build upon, enough to believe in. Call it American exceptionalism, but it's time for Team America to really put their heads back down and think back to our own culture when it comes to dominance and change. What would John Wooden do, for instance? Or Knute Rockne? Or View Lowerberg? Or Covers S. Det it comes to dominance and change. What would John Wooden do, for instance? Or Knute Rockne? Or Vince Lombardi? Or George S. Pat-ton? For years we've been focusing on building a program — a well of players. Well, that time has come. We have a great soccer structure in place. All we need now is a champion. Once again, America will be on the outside looking in during the 2018 World Cup, and it's more than past time for this country to start to compete in great ways. It's time to start thinking about winning the World Cup, and the time to begin has to be now. Tor those of you expecting to see a little history, know that defending champion Germany is the book-makers' favorite to win the World Cup, followed by Brazil, Spain, Argentina, France, Belgium and then England. If Germany wins, they'd become the first country to win back-to-back World Cups since Pele's Brazil in 1958 and 1962. Mark Vasto is a veteran sportswrit-er who lives in New Jersey. @ 2017 King Features Synd., Inc.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE REMINDER

a recent Harris Poll commissioned by the Collections by Legrand, 82 percent of homeowners believe there are more stylish lighting control options than what came installed in their home. In fact, discerning homeowners have many ways to enhance and personalize lighting and power controls with a unique selection of wall plates, dimmers and switches, scene controllers, plug-in modules and outlets.

Key Findings

Here are the top five ideas survey respondents had about home lighting and charging equipment.

1. Energy use and sustainability. While 91 percent of homeowners say reducing energy use at home is important, about one in five Americans don't know that installing lighting controls can meet that objective. The adorne Motion Sensor Switch, for instance, provides combination control, letting users manually or automatically turn lights on or off when entering or leaving a room through motion-sensing technology. 2. Smart home-inspired design and technology are on the rise. A growing presence of tech-focused products, appliances and solutions simplify day-to-day living, and lighting is identified as a priority smart home feature. The survey found that two-thirds of Americans say if they were creating a smart home, they would want to be able to control lighting via an app or online. To that end, there are Wi-Fi and RF Lighting Systems in the adorne and radiant Collections. They let users customize at-home lighting schemes from their smartphones through an intuitive, easy-to-use app. This allows for seamlessly controlled settings for any mood or occasion, whether at home or away. The app pairs with Wi-Fi Ready and RF dimmers and switches, through a discreet communication Hub, all controlled over the homeowner's wireless local area network for a truly smart approach to lighting.

a quarter of Americans know tamper-resistant outlets eliminate the need to childproof electrical sockets. These outlets keep young children from inserting common household objects such as keys, hairpins and other items, protecting curious little ones from danger.

For example, the Night Light with Two Tamper-Resistant Outlets from the radiant Collection includes black shutters that essentially disappear into the background for a sophisticated invisible effect. All outlets from both collections feature a patented shutter system that lets plugs in but keeps keys and other objects out.

Additional protection can be found in such innovative items as the adorne Collection Pop-Out Outlet, which disappears into the wall with a simple push when not in use, discouraging any interference. 4. Great design is a priority. To meet any style profile, the radiant Collection offers screwless, snap-on wall plates in classic neutral and metallic styles, while the adorne Collection features luxurious, modern light switches, dimmers, outlets and wall plates that make a dramatic design statement.

Fortunately, the comprehensive offerings from the Collections by Legrand are accessible across a variety of budgets.

HOLLYWOOD --- "The Lion King," which cost $45 million to make opened in 1994 and grossed $969 million at theaters alone. Seeking to duplicate this success, Disney has chosen director/actor Jon Favreau, whose rebooted 2016 live-action "Jungle Book" grossed $969 million. Beyonce, who recently gave birth to twins, is set to voice Nala in the reboot. Donald Glover ("Community" from 2009-14), who recently won two Emmy's for acting and directing the FX series "Atlanta," will voice Simba. James Earl Jones will be Simba's father, Mufasa; Chiwetel Ejiofor will voice the evil Scar; Alfre Woodard will be Simba's mother; talk-show host John Oliver will be Mufasa's confidant, The Hornbill ZaZu; Seth Rogen is Warthog Pumbau; and Billy ("In the Streets") Eichner is Meerkat Timon. It will open July 19, 2019. Also on Disney's slate is Tim Bur-ton's reimaging of "Dumbo," with Eva Green, Michael Keaton, Danny DeVito and Colin Farrell.

Ryan Murphy — producer of "Popular" (1999-2001), "Nip/Tuck" (2003-10), "Glee" (2009-15), "American Horror Story" (2011-present), "Scream Queens" (2015-16), "American Crime Story: The People vs O.J. Simpson" (2016) and "Feud: Betty & Joan" (2017) — plans to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the groundbreaking comedy play "The Boys in the Band," which opened off-Broadway in April 1968. He wants to star the creme de la creme of "out" actors — Jim Parsons ("Big Bang Theory"), Zachary Quinto ("Star Trek's" Spock), Matt Bomer ("White Collar" and "Magic Mike") and Andrew Rannells ("The New Normal") — in a 15-week engagement, starting April 30. The 1970 film, directed by Wil-Iiam Friedkin ("The Exorcist"), was a heavy message drama, more poignant

Last week we told you that Judy Garland was relocated from New York to Hollywood Forever Cemetery, and we were besieged with questions from fans wanting to know what happened to Toto. First of all, Toto was actually a female Carin Terrier named Terry, abandoned at the kennel of trainer Carl Spitz four years before "The Wizard of Oz." In addition to "Oz," Terry appeared in dozen of films with stars like Shirley Temple and Spencer Tracy. Terry died in 1945 and was buried in a pet area behind Spitz's kennel.

During expansion of the Ventura Freeway in Los Angeles, Caltrans obtained the property for construction purposes, and the facility and the grounds were destroyed. A place has been created at Hollywood Forever to remember Toto (Terry), though her remains are not actually there. The inscription reads: "We give you this new home 53 years later, as there's no place like home!" Well, they got the "no place is home" part right!

Avoid Surprise, Winterize

(NAPS)-As the weather gets colder, winterizing your vehicle should be a top priority. The nonprofit Car Care Council recommends that motorists perform a six-point winter maintenance check of areas that are particularly affected by driving in rough weather.

"Harsh weather can stress out a vehicle, as well as its driver," explained Rich White, executive director of the nonprofit Car Care Council. "A vehicle that's properly prepared for the elements can help you avoid an unplanned road emergency when the weather takes a sudden turn for the worse."

Six-Point Vehicle Check

1.Battery-Cold weather is hard on batteries, so it's wise to check the battery and charging system for optimum performance. Because batteries don't always give warning signs before they fail, it's advisable to replace batteries that are more than three years old.

2. Antifreeze-Antifreeze (coolant) should be flushed and refilled at least every two years in most vehicles. Don't add 100 percent antifreeze, however. Surprisingly, full-strength antifreeze actually has a lower freeze point than when mixed with water.

3.Brakes-Have the brake system checked. Brakes are critical to vehicle safety and particularly important on icy or snow-covered roads

4. Tires-Check the tire tread depth and tire pressure, including the spare. If you'll be driving where snow and ice are a problem, consider special tires designed to grip slick roads. Check tire pressure weekly, as tires lose pressure when temperatures drop.

5.Oil-Be diligent about changng the oil at recommended intervals ind check the fuel, air and transmision filters at the same time. Conider changing to low-viscosity oil n winter, as it will flow more easily etween moving parts when cold. In subzero driving temperatures, drop oil weight from 10W-30 to 5W-30 as thickened oil can make it hard to start the car.

A six-point vehicle check now can help prevent unexpected car trouble when the weather turns rough.

6.Lights and Wipers-Make sure all exterior and interior lights are working so you can see and be seen. Check the fluid level in the windshield washer reservoir and replace wiper blades that are torn, cracked or don't properly clean your windshield.

In addition, the council recommends a thorough vehicle inspection by a trusted professional service technician as winter magnifies existing problems such as pings, hard starts, sluggish performance or rough idling.

Drivers should keep their vehicle's gas tank at least half-full to decrease the chances of moisture forming in the gas lines and possibly freezing and stock an emergency kit with an ice scraper and snow brush, jumper cables, flashlight, blanket, extra clothes, bottled water, dry food snacks and needed medication.

The Car Care Council is the source of information for the "Be Car Care Aware" consumer education campaign promoting the benefits of regular vehicle care, maintenance and repair to consumers. Free Guide

THE BOLD AND THE

BEAUTIFUL Bill was disturbed by a recent revelation about himself that completely went against his beliefs. Word got out to the other members of the Spencer family that Steffy and Liam were renewing their vows. Steffy saw a not-so-pleasant side of Bill when he questioned her about returning home to Liam. Members of the Forrester family gathered together to begin preparations for their traditional Thanksgiving dinner. Justin wrongly surmised that Bill was feeling remorseful about losing Brooke. Liam confessed to Wyatt that his association with Sally went too far and almost cost him his marriage. Later, Liam went to Bill's office asking if he could return to Spencer Publications. Finally, everyone put aside their differences and gave thanks at the dinner table. Wait to See: Thorne returns home.

HOT Trends For GREEN Living

(NAPS)-As homeowners consider ways to "live green", many may be surprised to learn the powerful effect home heating has on achieving optimal energy and cost efficiency.

Fortunately, home builders know HVAC is a key to living green—a full 87 percent of builders and remodelers consider energy-efficient systems vital to green building, according to a recent National Association of Home Builders report.

So how do you choose a home heating solution that's both Earth and financially friendly? Here are a few hints that can help.

Selecting the optimal climate control system is critical with home heating using more energy and costing more money than any other system in your home-typically making up nearly half your utility bill. There are several types of heating systems that range from blowing hot air through ductwork to piping hot water through your floor. Forced-air systems, the most common, heat quickly and evenly, but many are not energy efficient and some users complain that moving air is noisy and blows allergens around the house. In addition, they require ductwork, which many older homes don't have.

A lesser-known option, at least among Americans, is called ductless mini-split systems, distributed by such companies as Fujitsu General America. While the majority of HVAC systems in Asia and Europe are already ductless, they are rapidly gaining traction in North America, with mini-split systems projected to enjoy an annual growth rate of 14 percent each year through 2020.

Up to 25 Percent on Energy Bills Mini-split systems provide maximum energy efficiency, saving homeowners up to 25 percent of utility bills by simply eliminating wasteful ducts. Duct losses can easily account for more than 30 percent of energy consumption, especially if the ducts are not sealed tight or are located in an unconditioned space such as an attic or crawl space. This is particularly good news for older homes, homes without existing ductwork or homes with seasonal

GEORGE'S HEATING CO. Offering installation and service of oil and gas systems. 24 Hour Emergency Service available. Call warm welcome to innovative energy- and cost-efficient HVAC systems

Installing ductwork is expensive and requires cutting holes in walls, floors and ceilings, or decreasing closet space. Ductless systems require only a two- or three-inch hole through the wall.

Customized Comfort,

Even at Extra-Low Temperatures Ending any "Family Thermostat Wars," mini-splits feature custom zone control, letting homeowners connect two to eight indoor units to a single outdoor unit. Each zone has its own thermostat so occupants can adjust each room to the temperature they want. Further, only occupied areas are heated, which can represent a significant savings considering the kitchen, dining room, living room and bedrooms are left unoccupied for at least 40 percent of the time in most households. What's more, the comfort continues even in extreme cold weather climate. Fujitsu's Extra Low Temperature Heating (XLTH) Series features outdoor condensing units engineered to operate in temperatures down to -15° F, lower than any other mini-split available today.

Cleaner Air,

Lower Environmental Impact Mini-split systems are designed with cleaner interior air in mind. No ductwork means no dust or mold to blow around a home and the built-in ion deodorization filter absorbs odors. Dust, mold spores and microorganisms are caught in the filter, promoting allergen-free air. Ductless mini-split systems are designed with Earth-friendly elements, using a refrigerant called R410A, known for its potential for zero ozone depletion. Learn More
