1. Which group had a No. 1 hit with "Indian Reservation"?
2. Who wrote and released the song "Creeque Alley"? Where is it located?
3. Name the performer responsible for "Dizzy."
4. Which band released "The Glamorous Life"?
5. Name the disco song that contains this lyric: "There's been so many things that held us down. But now it looks like things are finally comin' around."

Answers

1. Paul Revere & The Raiders, in 1971. The song was first recorded in 1959 by Marvin Rainwater under the title "The Pale Faced Indian." It refers to the removal of five Indian tribes in five states in the 1830s.
2. Creeque Alley (also spelled Creeque or Cregui) was a club in the Virgin Islands visited by The Mamas & the Papas. They wrote the song in 1967.
3. Tommy Roe, in 1969. The song changes key 11 times.
4. Jetboy, in 1983.
5. "Ain't No Stoppin' Us Now," by McFadden & Whitehead in 1979. They wrote the disco hit with the intention of performing it, but owners of their record company tried to insist they give the song to a more established artist and that M&W hang back as house songwriters instead. They refused.

I wasn't looking for a discount funeral. I was looking for an affordable one.

Most "discount funerals" mean less money, less service, less attention to detail, less of everything. An affordable funeral is a complete funeral based first on the needs of the family, then priced to fit within their budget.

A Sporting View

by Mark Vasto

It's Never Over

If Yogi Berra had a "career year," it was all of them. He loved his childhood, loved his career, loves his retirement. People love him and he loves people. Not bad for a guy from "The Hill" in St. Louis who once signed on to catch a ball and swing a bat for the Yankees for $500.

He's a man so simple, he's complex. His real name is Lawrence, but the players called him "Yogi" because he used to sit with his arms and legs crossed while he waited to bat, like a yogi, they thought, showing pretty remarkable cultural range for ballplayers, actually.

His numbers can't be quantified, they're baffling as they are great, but don't take my word for it. Baseball statistician Bill James has proclaimed him the greatest catcher to ever play the game, and since I can never figure out all of his kooky algorithms, I'll take his word for it. I do know this: In 15 seasons, he was elected to 18 All-Star games. See? Baffling.

One year he didn't make an error behind the plate. Another year he had more home runs than strikeouts. He never struck out more than 35 times in a season, and he never had more strikeouts than RBIs. One day in a total of 23 runs in two games (it was a doubleheader). In his first game for the Yankees, he hit a home run. His rookie year he was almost voted the league's MVP. He hit the first pinch-hit home run in World Series history. He is famously seen jumping into the arms of Don Larson after catching his perfect game in the World Series, and famously seen jumping all over an umpire after Jackie Robinson stole home with him behind the plate. He has 13 World Series championship rings.

It's been said that a lot of the things Yogi said, he didn't say. One of the famous lines, "It ain't over 'till it's over" was not uttered by Yogi as a Yankee, as many believe. He said that as the manager of the New York Mets, whom he managed during the early '70s, guiding their improbable run to the 1972 World Series.

Yogi started as a manager for the Yankees during the early 1960s, and he was fired when he had an altercation of some sort with a player over a harmonica. In the '80s, he was shafted by George Steinbrenner in the most ugly way imaginable, after only 16 games, after receiving George's "word" that he wouldn't be fired.

But a lot of time has passed, and it only seems like yesterday that Yogi was bouncing around the field, coaching Jorge Posada during spring training in his 70s. He's just turned 90, and most everyone of his era, and his beloved wife, Carmine, have moved on to the big ball orchard in the sky. Still, Yogi can be found on the sideline during special occasions, hat off, as the names of the dearly departed flash on the screen, saying what everyone couldn't say more or less perfectly:

"I hope I never see my name up there."

We three, Yogi.

Know Before You Go—Tips On Getting The Most From Your Coupons

(NAPSA)—Whether you are a committed clipper or you have a more laid-back relationship with coupons, there's good news.

Investing a little time and effort can produce big dividends when it comes to using coupons and other discounts to help you get more for your money.

To help, here are some tips from All You, America's smart shopping brand, whose mission it is to help women live well for less in every area of their life.

•Sign up for grocery-store loyalty cards. It takes only a couple of minutes and can be well worth the effort. Once you are enrolled in the store's loyalty program, you can usually get the discount prices on that week's sale items even if you forget your card. Simply give your phone number at checkout.

Plus, if you don't want to carry around all your loyalty, rewards and membership cards, you can consolidate them all on your smartphone with the CardStar app, which is available for free.

•Playing favorites can have its benefits. If you're a regular customer at a grocery store such as Kroger, Publix, Stop & Shop or Target, it might start mailing you coupons for the products you buy most. This can be a great way to get coupons for fresh meat and produce.

•Take advantage of special discounts. Many chains designate one day a month when seniors or members of the military can receive extra discounts. If you or a family member fits the criteria, go for it.

•Use all the discounts and coupons that are fit to print. Newspaper inserts account for more than 90 percent of all coupons issued—and half of what are actually redeemed. If your Sunday paper is a gold mine for you, buy extra copies or buddy up to your local librarian and ask if you can clip a few coupons from the inserts in the library's newspapers.

•Be sure to search before you leave home. Before you head to the market, it can pay to take a few minutes to scan websites such as coupons.allyou.com, smartsource.com and redplum.com.

Search for items you buy on a regular basis, narrowing your search by category. You might find coupons for some of your favorite brands.

What's online is a fraction of what's available in newspapers and at the store, but digital coupons are just as valuable. Plus, they're easy to search for and remain online until the supply runs out. If you find a match, print it.

•It can pay to use a high-tech approach—literally. Joining the website SavingStar (savingstar.com) can result in a payout when you buy products from one of the companies it partners with. Buy the item, swipe your loyalty card at checkout and the value of each SavingStar coupon will be credited to your account. You can choose to receive your payout in a PayPal payment, a bank deposit or an Amazon gift card.

In addition, the websites for stores such as Kroger, Publix, Safeway and others will list what's on sale alongside available manufacturer's coupons for those items. Just register, log on, quickly review the list and load paperless digital coupons directly onto your rewards account. When you use your card at checkout, the coupon is applied automatically.

•There's an app for that. There are free rebate apps, such as Checkout 51 and Ibotta (both available in Android and Apple formats), that send offers on items to your smartphone. With Ibotta, shoppers perform tasks, such as taking a poll or watching a video, to gain the rebate. You then send a photo of the receipt of the item purchased from any of 80 retailers.

Checkout 51 lets you buy from any store, after which you snap a shot of the receipt and upload it. Once you hit a certain amount ($20 for Checkout 51), you get a rebate.

Another option is to sign up at cartwheel.target.com for savings of 5 percent to 50 percent. Choose from hundreds of offers and add them to your Cartwheel list.

Print or send the bar code to your phone. It's scanned at checkout and the discount is applied. Because you can combine it with coupons from the manufacturer and store, it's like triple stacking your discount.

Another useful resource for savvy shoppers is the largest online grocery database in the country. Called Grocery Deal Finder, it compiles circulars from retailers nationwide for a smart shopping experience. It is only available at AllYou.com.

For more smart shopping tips like these, please pick up a copy of All You or visit www.AllYou.com.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

Tips For Enjoyable Warm Weather Entertaining

(NAPS)—Outdoor living, barbecues and the promise of spending more time outside with friends and family are some of the many perks of spring and summer.

However, there can be a downside to warm weather that can ruin even the most perfect get-together: biting insects.

Mar Jennings, home and garden expert and best-selling author of "Life on Mar's: A Four Season Garden" and "Life on Mar's: Creating Casual Luxury," has partnered with Dynatrap® to bring you the hottest tips and trends for summer 2014 entertaining.

To reduce the number of biting insects at your next party, try changing outdoor bulbs from white to yellow or using a chemical-free trap.

•It's Never Too Early to Prepare: Mosquito populations start hatching when temperatures reach 45 degrees, so start early when it comes to ridding your yard of these pests.

•Make it Magical with Outdoor Lighting: The right lighting can help keep bugs away. Try a fire pit; it provides the perfect amount of light and the smoke naturally repels mosquitoes. Another tip is to change your outdoor bulbs from white to yellow. Yellow bulbs are less visible to most bugs.

•With Color, Lighter Is Better: For key outdoor pieces such as seat cushions, lighter is better. Not only will they stay crisp looking longer, mosquitoes are less attracted to light colors. Jennings likes the Pantone color of the year, bold Radiant Orchid, to use as a featured or accent color this summer.

•Beautify Your Yard: Tidying up the yard before a party will not only impress guests, but cutting the grass and draining sources of stagnant water will also decrease the likelihood of bugs. Include plants like marigolds in your garden as they not only beautify your space, but also help repel mosquitoes.

•Match Your Trap to Your Décor: The Dynatrap® line of insect-trapping products is designed to reduce biting insects without the use of chemicals. They're available in bronze—exclusively at Frontgate—and black. You can pick the finish most suited for your style.

•Consider the Time of Day: Mosquitoes are most active at dusk. During the prime mosquito months, plan outdoor get-togethers early in the day to avoid the most popular times for mosquitoes to be out and about. If you're entertaining at night, it's best to combine multiple bug prevention methods to keep your guests comfortable.

•Feed Your Guests Without Making Them the Meal: For party guests and bugs alike, the food table is usually the most popular spot to gather. Instead of serving buffet-style food, impress your guests with bite-sized treats that will be eaten quickly.

Miniature Cars
Q. I have 12 unopened boxes of Hudson Miniatures Old Timer car kits from the 1950s. Can you advise me whom I should contact for an estimate value and possible sale of these items? — Al, Rio Rancho, New Mexico
A. I checked the eBay listings and found several sets, including two that seemed typical: a 1903 Rambler and 1904 Oldsmobile. They were being offered for sale for $20 each. I would think the value for your sets would be in the $20 to $35 range. As with most collectibles, there are always exceptions to the rule. I suggest you contact antique and collectible dealers in your area to see if there is any interest. If not, eBay might be your best bet.

***
Q. I have a Shirley Temple dish set that was given to me when I was a child. It includes a cereal bowl, pitcher and glass — all cobalt blue glass. I would like sell the set but need to know the approximate value before I take the pieces to an antique shop. — Eileen, Albuquerque, New Mexico

A. I do not appraise items in this column. Prices vary from region to region. If I tell you, for example, that your set is worth $150 and you later discover that in your area it is valued at $300, you would not be happy. That is why I avoid placing values on antiques and collectibles. If that is what you need, I suggest you show your set to several dealers to see what amounts they offer.
 The cobalt sets were made by the Hazel Atlas Glass Company and U.S. Glass Company from 1934 until 1942. The pitcher, mug and bowl were given away as premiums in boxes of Wheaties and Bisquick. Incidentally, all three pieces have been reproduced.

***
Q. In one of your recent columns, you mentioned Fostoria. I have inherited several pieces, and I would like to add to my collection. Do you have any suggestions? — Susan, Sun City West, Arizona

A. The Fostoria Glass Society of American is one of the better groups for collectors and might be helpful for you. Contact is P.O. Box 826, Moundsville, WV 26041; www.fostoriaglass.org; and 304-845-9188.

Write to Larry Cox in care of KFWS, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475, or send e-mail to questions-forcox@aol.com. Due to the large volume of mail he receives, Mr. Cox cannot personally answer all reader questions, nor does he do appraisals. Do not send any materials requiring return mail.

Planning Some Home Renovation?
 Here Are Some Tips To Help You Save Time and Money—and Hopefully Avoid Mistakes on Your Next Flooring Project

(NAPSA)—If you've repainted the walls, added new furniture and changed your sofa pillows, yet something is still amiss in your home, consider that large surface area: the floor. Floors set the tone of your living space.

To avoid surprises and unexpected costs, try these tips from the World Floor Covering Association.

Find The Right Flooring

When it comes to selecting the most appropriate flooring for your home, consider how it will be used and how often.

A high-traffic room demands materials that can stand up to wear and tear. High-quality flooring is essential. And buying from a reputable retailer—one who knows their products, gets to know their customers and will be there to stand behind what they recommend and sell—is going to pay off down the road.

Not all flooring is the same. In every category—carpet, tile, resilient, laminate, hardwood—there are products of varying quality. It is important to do your research and, just as important, to work with a retailer who has first-hand history with the flooring products they sell and the manufacturers that make them.

Maintenance is another key consideration. Some floors require more upkeep than others. For instance, some types of hardwood can become dull if not swept or mopped daily. If you have kids or pets, consider the following: multi-colored, textured carpet to hide blemishes and wear; engineered wood offering diamond-hard surface treatments to avoid abrasions; or resilient vinyl, which can be made to look like many other types of flooring and is very durable and easy to clean. Ceramic tile is another good option for high traffic.

The area of the country in which you live has an impact on the flooring you choose, too. How much sunlight does the room get? Many flooring materials won't fade, but some—including carpet—might. Humidity can affect durability. Some floors are fine in humid environments but others—such as wood—are not. Are you considering radiant heat under your floors? Not all surface materials are compatible with this option. Working with a knowledgeable retailer will be very helpful when making final decisions.

Considering Overall Design

Think about how the room will be furnished. Would you like to warm up the room with a carpet or cool it down with ceramic? Do you want a patterned or brightly colored floor to liven up neutral furniture or a quiet background to help statement pieces stand out? Cultivate your own design ideas, then call on the knowledge and experience of a reliable flooring retailer to see it through.

Your Path To Purchasing

Check out your flooring options in person. Online research is important but talking with a professional who deals in flooring every day is essential. Plus, there's no substitute for seeing and touching the flooring you wish to purchase.

There are a few more things to consider. The following list of questions prepared by the World Floor Covering Association can help you make an informed choice and avoid unexpected costs and surprises:

- Does the retailer offer a complimentary inspection prior to installation to determine what kind of substrate you have and whether it is flat?

- What does the retailer charge to remove and dispose of old flooring? Removing flooring can increase costs substantially, so you may want to find flooring that can go over your existing flooring.

- Will your doors clear your new floors? If not, the doors may need to be trimmed to accommodate the new height, or you might want to choose alternative flooring materials.

- Does the retailer charge to move furniture? Be sure to mention heavy items that might not be found in every home, such as a piano.

- If the new flooring is going into a bathroom, will the retailer remove the toilet as part of their installation?

- Does your new flooring need to be acclimated prior to installation?

- Will the installers clean up after themselves?

Prepare For Installation

The retailer should provide a checklist on how to prepare for installation. In addition, if your renovation project involves painting or staining walls where new floors are going to be put down, the wall treatment should be completed first. Clear the room. Remove fragile and valuable items and appliances, books and decorations. Artwork and photographs on the walls should also be taken down.

Clear a path for the installation crew to carry bulky, heavy items in and out. When they arrive, ask the installers to go over their plans with you so you know exactly what to expect. Make sure patterned floors will be set down in the right direction.

Post-installation

Thoroughly inspect the flooring. Immediately bring any concerns to the store's attention.

Most importantly, enjoy your new floors!

The Following is devoid of MASCOTS & CLEVER CHARACTERS...
It is information to help YOU!

- Did you know an insured home whose replacement cost is $250,000, MAY have a separate hurricane deductible; separate from a deductible for any other loss?
- a 2% hurricane deductible equals $5,000 BEFORE a company is obligated in settling a HURRICANE LOSS!
- There are Insurers in the State of Rhode Island that do not mandate a statewide, separate hurricane deductible.

IMAGINE an auto insurer that pays up to $225 for lodging (when “your covered auto” is involved in a covered collision loss) if you are 50 or more miles from your principal residence! Imagine no more!
 IMAGINE a homeowner insurance that covers the WATER SUPPLY LINE serving your home. Yes, the one which you receive offers in the mail! Imagine no more!

Tech Talk

Easy Ways To Modernize Your 10-Year-Old Vehicle

(NAPSA)—New cars offer the latest in infotainment, safety and convenience but what if you aren't in the market for a new ride? Fortunately, there are many aftermarket products that can add value to a car you've already paid off, and are often more advanced than factory-installed features on the road today.

"The aftermarket offers an array of options for car and truck owners," said Chris Kersting, president and CEO of the Specialty Equipment Market Association (SEMA). The trade association represents the $33 billion automotive specialty equipment industry that includes thousands of products that are available to enhance a vehicle's styling, performance, comfort and convenience. "Install these items into your older vehicle and you'll have all the latest technologies to enhance your driving—and your passengers'—experience."

Bluetooth

Integrating wireless functionality from your phone and other devices is an easy way to add convenience and, most importantly, a safer hands-free experience to your daily drive.

The simplest and least expensive option is a stand-alone universal Bluetooth kit that works with any car stereo and comes with a small speaker and microphone. This option does not require any modifications but is limited to hands-free calling only.

A New Receiver/Head Unit

The best option for adding Bluetooth calling and streaming is to purchase a new stereo with this technology built in. If music is your major motivation, you won't have to retire your old CDs, as there are plenty of units that still offer a disc player as well as a USB port to connect with your phone or with a portable drive for MP3/WMA playback, and an auxiliary input for universal connectivity.

You can enhance your vehicles in more ways than you may realize.

Sound

Now that your trusty transportation has some new hands-free audio features, it's probably time to upgrade the sound quality in your ride. Go for speakers that fit in your car's pre-existing mounts, and add an amplifier and subwoofer for a clear and dynamic audio experience. Make sure you match your new speakers to the correct speaker wire for peak performance.

Heads Up Display (HUD)

Aftermarket Heads Up Display (HUD) units mount to the dashboard in front of the steering wheel and project data onto a transparent screen or a transparent film mounted on the windshield in your line of sight. This allows you to receive turn-by-turn navigation, vehicle speed information, and lane guidance instructions while keeping your eyes on the road.

Portable Navigation Device

Smartphones offer plenty of navigation options, but the latest portable navigation devices (PND) go beyond simple driving directions. PNDs offer voice command, spoken direction, large screens, and real-time traffic updates.

Many units even search points of interest from Yelp, Google, Trip-Advisor and more.

Blind Spot Monitoring

Relatively new even in the latest vehicles, blind spot monitoring systems detect cars that may be out of your line of sight. The kit relies on two front and two rear sensors mounted to the bumper that work together to detect a vehicle in your blind spot, and an LED display inside your vehicle lights up on the appropriate side when one is detected. An audible alarm will then sound if you then signal and intend to change lanes.

Rearview Camera

Rearview cameras help drivers see what is behind them when the car is in reverse. A complete setup includes a camera mounted to the rear of the vehicle, a receiver, and a display mounted on the dashboard. Major manufacturers of aftermarket head units offer camera add-on packages to their receivers with in-dash display, and some GPS units offer the add-on as well, making the update inexpensive and easy to install.

Vehicle Tracking and Telematics

There are a few products that offer detailed information about your vehicle via real-time notifications from your smartphone, including driving habits, fuel, engine and battery monitoring, and engine trouble code translation. The device will even send mobile alerts when the car arrives at a certain location, travels beyond a preset GPS "fence" or exceeds a specified speed limit...ideal for anyone who wants to keep tabs on their 10-year-old car when others are behind the wheel.

"Over the Counter"

by Bill Marcotte, Proprietor

Monday morning and I was running about 5 minutes late. Had to put the trash out and fill the bird feeder. I drove down Main Street and stopped at the light at Station Street. There in front of me was an oncoming State Police car, obviously leading some sort of cortege. As it turned out, it was Matt Lauer, from TODAY SHOW fame. There he was right next to my car. "Good morning Matt" and he returned the greeting. (he must have forgotten my name.) He was on a Boston to NYC bike ride called the Red Nose Ride, benefiting underprivileged children. Later in the day, my friend Milton Baxter told me of his chance meeting with Matt on the bike path. Milt was starting his morning walk, headed toward Battey Avenue and just behind the Reminder, he literally bumped into him. They chatted a bit and Matt told of how he once lived in Coventry on Johnson's Pond when he was host of PM Magazine. (He lived two houses away from me at the home of Bob and the late Barbara Higgins.) Milt walked away saying, "did that just happen?" Matt was sighted in more places after that on his way through Coventry and West Greenwich, and into Exeter. It was surely a nice and surprising way to start an otherwise ordinary Monday morning and gave us something to talk about for the rest of the day! I'm really happy that I was just a bit late for work on Monday.

Because It's June

June is National Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Month. It's a great time to include more fresh vegetables and fruits in our diets. The latest Dietary Guidelines recommend that we all increase our vegetable and fruit intake. Fruits and vegetables provide a variety of nutrients, including vitamins, minerals and fiber, and they lower your risk of developing certain chronic diseases. They also are naturally low in calories, fat and sodium, which can help you maintain a healthy weight.

How many fruits and vegetables should you eat each day? The USDA's MyPlate recommendations are based on your calorie needs for your age, gender and activity level. For a 2,000 calorie diet, you should eat 2 cups of fruit and 2 to 3 cups of vegetables a day. To learn what your individual needs are, use the customized Daily Food Plan on the MyPlate website.

What counts as a cup of fruit or vegetables? In general, 1 cup of fruit or 100 percent fruit juice, or 1/2 cup of dried fruit counts as 1 cup from the fruit group; and 1 cup of raw or cooked vegetables or vegetable juice, or 2 cups of raw leafy greens can be considered 1 cup from the vegetable group.

Before eating fresh fruits and vegetables, it is important to remember some basic food safety rules.

- Avoid bruised or damaged produce and keep it separate from raw meat, poultry and seafood.
- Perishable fresh produce, such as lettuce, herbs and mushrooms, and all cut or peeled produce should be stored in the refrigerator at 40 F or

- Wash your hands for 20 seconds with warm water and soap before and after preparing fruits and vegetables.
- Produce should be washed under running water (do not use soap) before eating, cutting or cooking. Then, cut away any damaged or bruised areas.
- Always wash cutting boards, dishes, utensils and counters between prep of raw meat, poultry or seafood and produce.

My recipe for Summer Fruit, Vegetable and Quinoa Salad is a meal in a bowl. It's perfect for lunch or dinner on a hot summer day, and it will keep for two to three days in the refrigerator.

(Additional information provided by Christeena Haynes, MS, RD, LD, former Nutrition and Health Education Specialist, Dallas County, University of Missouri Extension.)

SUMMER FRUIT, VEGETABLE AND QUINOA SALAD

Quinoa takes this recipe from a delicious salad to a complete meal. The grain has been called a superfood because its protein content is very high for a cereal/pseudo-cereal. It's also a rich source of B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin, vitamin B-6 and folate, and the dietary minerals iron, magnesium, phosphorus and zinc. It is gluten-free and considered easy to digest.

- 3 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
- 3 tablespoons apple cider or sherry vinegar
- 1 tablespoon honey or agave syrup
- 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 1/2 packages baby kale or baby spinach
- 1 medium summer squash or zucchini, thinly sliced into rounds
- 1 1/2 cups of cooked quinoa (or a cooked quinoa and brown rice)
- 1/2 cup fresh sweet cherries, pitted and halved
- 2 plums or peaches (or combination of both), pitted and sliced into segments
- 2/3 cup chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley
- 1/3 cup thinly sliced green onion, white and green parts, roots removed and discarded
- 2 ounces goat cheese or feta cheese, crumbled (about 1/2 cup)

1. Combine olive oil, vinegar, honey or syrup, mustard, pepper, salt and cayenne pepper in a medium bowl. Place the kale or spinach and the squash or zucchini on a platter or in a large, shallow bowl. Pour 1 1/2 tablespoons of the oil mixture over the vegetables, sprinkle and toss to coat.

2. Stir the quinoa blend or the cooked quinoa or the brown rice, cherries, plums and/or peaches, parsley and green onions into remaining oil mixture in the bowl. Top the kale or spinach mixture with the quinoa mixture and sprinkle with the cheese.

Hints For Homebuyers

Five Tips To Help You Land A Home You'll Love

(NAPSA)—With mortgage rates still low, now could be a great time to buy a new home. Before diving into the market headfirst, however, it's important to do your homework so that you're prepared to tackle each hurdle in the homebuying process. With this in mind, the "What I Wish I Knew About the Homebuying Process" survey gauges the preparedness of recent homebuyers. As a result, these five tips can help you make the right homebuying decision.

1. Identify your "must-haves." Identifying your "must-haves" is key to guaranteeing satisfaction with your home purchase. The survey found that nearly four in 10 recent homebuyers (39 percent) said that, knowing what they know now, they would buy a home of a different size, at a different price point, and/or in a different area. In addition, first-time homebuyers (55 percent) are more likely to say that they would make significant changes with respect to the home's size, price and/or location. To help you look back regret-free, make a checklist of top priorities (access to a good school district, for example) and perks you can forgo (such as a multiple-car garage). Know what you're willing to compromise on and what you are not so that you're prepared to find the home that's right for you.

2. Understand the financial aspects of the homebuying process. Nine of every 10 recent homebuyers felt prepared going into the homebuying process, but in hindsight, more than half (56 percent) wish they had been armed with more knowledge about the financial aspects of purchasing a home, according to the survey. In fact, it found that recent homebuyers would have liked more knowledge about the ins and outs of the closing and settlement process (22 percent), negotiating/making an offer on a home (19 percent) and financing a home (15 percent). To help people overcome the challenges of buying a home and give them a primer on what to expect, Chase launched the My New Home app and YouTube Channel.

3. Prepare with technology. Key aspects of the homebuying process differed from expectations. A majority said the length of the process was not what they anticipated, saying it either took longer (40 percent) or shorter (16 percent) than expected. Thirty-four percent of recent homebuyers overall said the costs and fees of maintaining their home were more than they expected, with the sentiment especially felt by first-time homebuyers (55 percent). Chase's My New Home suite of educational tools can help individuals and families avoid surprises and fully prepare for one of the biggest purchases they will ever make.

4. Seek out advice from experts. Homebuyers continue to rely on Realtors and mortgage bankers to meet their needs. Sixty-eight percent of homeowners sought out advice from Realtors throughout the homebuying process and about half (45 percent) turned to mortgage bankers and loan officers. Seek out Realtors, mortgage bankers and loan officers with key industry data and tools that are easy to understand so you have all the information you need to find the right house—one that you will be proud to call home.

5. Consider the desire to renovate. The desire to renovate is bound to hit even the newest of homeowners. While recent homebuyers said the home they bought aligns well with their "must-have" list (97 percent) and considered the home move-in ready (83 percent), 76 percent have done or are planning to make renovations to their home in the near term, according to the survey. A Chase Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC) is one product that homeowners can continue to rely on to put their ideas and visions into action.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your Aries self-esteem level is high, as is your impatience to see more action come your way in the workplace. Good news, Lamb: It could start to happen sooner than you think.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Changing things now could upset a lot of people. But if you feel you're acting because you believe it's the right thing to do, others will understand and even come to support you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A change of mind might not necessarily be a change of heart. You still want to go ahead with your plans, but you might see a better way to make them happen. So go for it.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) An old business dispute could re-emerge and possibly affect upcoming negotiations. Consider opening up the situation to include suggestions from others on both sides of the issue.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Some Leos and Leonas might find it somewhat difficult to get their ideas accepted or even considered. But that's only for a while. Things will soon return to the way you like them.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) The pace seems to be slowing down from the hectic on-the-job run you recently enjoyed. But be assured that you're still in the race to pick up new workplace-related goodies.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Seasonal changes create opportunities for busy Librans. However, be sure to balance your workload with your personal life so that you don't overdo it on one end or the other.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A former critic could make a surprise turnaround and become a supporter. But if your Scorpion sense suspects a questionable motive, who are the rest of us to doubt it?

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Data on a new project seems less than dependable. But it might turn out to be just the opposite. Consult with someone who knows how you might best be able to check it out.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Capricornians face many decisions this week, with the Sea Goat's kids rating high on the consideration scale, especially regarding vacations and upcoming school matters.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Showing that you care is what Aquarians do so well. It's your very special skill. And this week, you'll have several chances to show off that gift for a very special person. Good luck.

PISCES (February 19 to March 21) That streak of Piscean wariness should serve you well this week should you be among those who come up against a slippery character offering a fishy deal with nothing to back it up.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an artist's sense of how to help others see, as you do, the beautiful things about the world.

Good Housekeeping

Bourbon-Marinated Steak

A sweetly spiced marinade adds flavor and tenderness to classic grilled flank steak.

- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup bourbon whiskey
- 1/3 cup soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 2 flank steaks (about 1 1/2 pounds each), well-trimmed

1. Prepare marinade: In jumbo self-sealing plastic bag (2 gallons), mix 1 cup water with all ingredients except steaks.

2. Add steaks, turning to coat. Seal bag, pressing out excess air. Place bag in shallow glass baking dish and refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight, turning bag occasionally.

3. Remove steaks from marinade. Discard marinade. Place steaks on grill over medium heat and cook 15 to 20 minutes for medium-rare or until of desired doneness, turning once. (Or, preheat broiler and place steaks on rack in broiling pan. Broil steaks at closest position to source of heat 15 to 20 minutes for medium-rare.)

4. Transfer steaks to a large, warm platter, let stand 10 minutes for easier slicing. To serve, cut into thin slices. Serves 12.

Your Jesus is Here in the Holy Eucharist Talk to Him!

Dear Heart of Jesus:
In the past, I have asked many favors. This time, I ask you this very special one.
Take it dear Jesus and place
it within your own broken heart, where your father sees
it. Then, in your merciful eyes, it will become your favor, not mine.
