Q. I was frustrated to see one of my favorite soap stars, Arianne Zucker, being dragged back into that "Access Hollywood"/Donald Trump fiasco recently. Can you tell me how she's doing? — Barbara F., via email

A. Arianne is one classy lady, and she's handling the renewed interest in the allegations of President Trump's inappropriate sexual misconduct from years past with grace — and with a drive to try to effect change. Trump recently disputed the veracity of the "Access Hollywood" tape where he is talking with host Billy Bush about things rich men can do to women without asking. (That's about all the detail I'm going to go into because it disgusts me.) Arianne was the actress they were on the NBC studio lot to meet for a backstage tour of "Days of Our Lives."

Arianne told me: "I feel like there is some responsibility there (for me to speak up), but finding a way to do it is hard. I do know the first thing for anyone who has gone through any type of physical situation against their will is healing. How do you start that? Where do you go? Who do you talk to? You hear the way men spoke in the '60s and '70s about women; that was the way, and you dealt with it. How do we reprogram our children to not think that way? I'm in a position where I can help from the heart."

But Arianne is not all about recent hot-button issues: She's also starring in the Lifetime thriller called "Web Cam Girls," which premieres Saturday, Dec. 30 at 8 p.m. ET/PT. According to Arianne, it's "a psychological thriller based on family relationships. So many parents have these relationships with their children that go sour — how do you find that way back? How do you bring your kid back? That's what I really love about this movie because, in some shape or form, every parent goes through something like this with their teenager."

Q. Do you have any "House of Cards" news? — Brian K., Baltimore

Robert Kazandjian

Arianne Zucker

A. Production on the hit Netflix drama was halted amid sexual harassment and assault allegations against series star Kevin Spacey. The streaming giant recently announced that Spacey will not be involved when production resumes in early 2018. The sixth and final season will consist of eight episodes instead of the usual 13. The story will center on Robin Wright's character, newly elected President Claire Underwood.

Q. Is it true that "Big Little Lies" is coming back? — Rain F., via email

A. It's getting closer becoming a reality. Executive producer/writer David E. Kelley told TVLine.com: "We're kicking around ideas and trying to lasso the talent (to) get the band back together. ... I'm optimistic because everyone wants to do it. We feel we still have storytelling to do." Word has it production could start as early as spring 2018.

1. Which artist released "Baby I'm Yours"?
2. What was the original title of Tommy Roe's "Sheila"?
3. Name the artist who released "Julie, Do Ya Love Me," and when.
4. Where did Steppenwolf get its name?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "There's nowhere in the world that I would rather be than with you my love."

Answers:

1. Barbara Lewis, in 1965. The song was used in the film "The Bridges of Madison County" in 1995 and on television in "Midnight Hour" (1985) and "An American Crime" (2007).
2. "Frita," based on a girl at school. The producer insisted on a different name, and it was changed to Sheila, after Roe's aunt, who happened to be visiting.
3. Teen idol Bobby Sherman, in 1970. His last single was "Our Last Song Together" in 1975. After leaving the music industry, Sherman became a paramedic and a police officer. He's created a foundation that supplies volunteer EMTs at charity events.
4. From Herman Hesse's novel of the same name.
5. "United We Stand," by Brotherhood of Man, in 1970. The song charted around the world, spending 15 weeks on the charts. At this point, it's been covered by 100 artists.

PIEDMONT PETS
December 14, 2017
By Paulette Dean

Spaying or neutering dogs & cats is the responsible thing to do.

Beyond the basics of food, water, shelter, and veterinary care, there is one very important thing that owners of dogs and cats can do to provide the most protection for their beloved companions.

Obviously, of course, that one thing is having a veterinarian spay or neuter every dog or cat. It is no secret that shelters, humane societies, and other animal welfare groups preach the benefits of the surgery to everyone who will listen (and even to many who do not listen). The people on the front lines of animal welfare may differ in opinions about many things, but spaying and neutering is not one of those topics.

Shortly after forming as the Danville-Pittsylvania County Humane Society in 1975, and long before the surgery was as well-known in this area, the board established a spay/neuter subsidy program. There was not a lot of money, but small rebates were given.

In the fall of 1993 when we received the first disbursement of $75,000 from The E. Stuart James Grant Charitable Trust, the board was unanimous in the decision to use the money exclusively for the purpose of helping to reduce the pet overpopulation. A $50 rebate program was announced for Danville and Pittsylvania County.

Through the years, many programs have been used, including rebates, paying for the full amount of the surgeries for the mothers in cases of litters of kittens and puppies being released to us, transporting animals to various low-cost, high-volume clinics, bringing mobile clinics to our parking lot, and giving grants to local veterinary clinics. We have helped spay/neuter over 31,000 animals through all of those efforts. The E. Stuart James Grant Charitable Trust has continued to fund this program; we have spent over $750,000 helping residents of Danville and Pittsylvania County, with about 75% of the money being used for County animals.

Spaying or neutering every dog or cat is the responsible thing for owners to do. It is estimated that for every human born, there are 15 dogs and 45 cats born. There are not enough homes, and there are even fewer good homes.

The medical benefits are numerous. Neutering males decreases and often eliminates diseases that intact male dogs are prone to later in life, including diseases of the prostate, testicles, and other tissues influenced by male hormones.

Spaying female dogs and cats entirely eliminates diseases of the ovaries and uterus, and if performed before the first heat, greatly reduces the chance of mammary cancer. Behavior is only positively affected by the sterilization surgery. A neutered male cat's territorial spraying is decreased. And spayed or neutered dogs and cats fight less and wander less.

We cannot think of any negative to having the surgery done.

Christmas Tree Stand

All the early Christmas trees were freshly cut from a nearby forest. By the 19th century in America, the fresh trees were brought into a church or home and decorated. But it was a problem to keep the tree upright, and without water it quickly dried out and lost its needles. In 1876, a man in Philadelphia patented an iron tree stand, and by 1919, a cone-shaped tin stand weighted with sand or water was being sold.

This rather serious Santa is a Christmas tree stand made of concrete. It sold last year for $118, less than expected. The heavy stand was made for a feather tree, not a natural tree that needed water.

But the stands were not large enough to hold all the water needed, and that is still a problem for stands. The stands had to be heavy to keep the tree from tipping, so they were made of cast iron. Many were made with three legs that looked like tree branches. All had large screws that pierced the trunk to hold the tree in place.

Collectors search for the iron stands made in unusual shapes — a Santa Claus, village scene or even a group of reindeer. They sell today for $250 to $900. An unusual tree stand made of concrete shaped to look like a Santa Claus head was sold at a Bertoia auction in 2015. It was made to hold a feather tree and had a small concrete cylinder attached to the back to hold the trunk. No water was needed. The 11-inch-high stand, painted white and red as expected, sold for $118.

Q: I have a cube puzzle titled "The Night Before Christmas" made by McLoughlin Brothers in New York. It consists of 20 cubes, 2 1/2 inches on an edge, that depict various Christmas scenes based on Clement Moore's poem. Santa is shown in a green coat with a red belt and fur trim. The puzzle is 4 cubes by 5 cubes. The copyright date reads "18—." The last two digits are obscured. What is the copyright date? The puzzle has been enjoyed by four generations of children, and it shows. It's in good enough condition so that all six scenes are shown in detail. What is the approximate value?

A: The copyright date is 1889. The pictures made by assembling the cubes are from the children's book, "The Night Before Christmas," published by McLoughlin Brothers. This Santa Claus cube puzzle sells for more $2,000 in almost perfect condition.

"The Difference Between Living And Not Dying"

"Are you trying to provide evidence for an insanity defense one day?"

Those words from my dear wife were ringing, ringing, ringing in my mind, as my teeth chattered and my lower extremities grew numb. My upper body was still warm and somewhat dry, but the ice cold waters of the Broad River were having an awful effect on my immersed lower body. I was feverishly trying to un-sink my submerged kayak, while simultaneously thinking back to the chain of events that led me to this hilariously only-me type of conundrum.

The snow started in last night where I live, an unexpected, over-achieving storm that left several inches of snow on the ground, and was still going strong on the beautiful Norman Rockwell-like Saturday on which I write this column.

Lunch had passed, and I had nothing to do until my Sunday school class party at 6:00. And then the idea struck me like an epiphany from the heavens: kayaking in the snow.

Thrilled with my stroke of genius, I told my son what we should do. He immediately said no. I proclaimed him a Philistine, and turned to my wife. Not only did she also say no, but she then hit me with the question I started this column with.

No matter. Genius ideas must be served. I had my son follow me to the green way, we left my truck there, came back home, and in under ten minutes I was out on the water.

There is nothing, nothing in this world like kayaking down a river in the snow in the dead of winter. The solitude is unbelievable; the only sounds are the water, the paddles softly touching into it, and the birds who seemed quite unnerved by the presence of a human on the water this particular time of year. The ducks flew away. The blue heron lazily flew from the water up into a tree, then turned to squawk at me as I came by as if to say "Go home, you crazy bi-ped!"

The trip was amazing. And very, very nearly perfect. 99.99% perfect, in fact, if distance is to be the determining factor. But that last .01% was a doozy...

I got to the very end of the trip, a spot that is always tricky, but has never resulted in any major problems for me. But this time I was leaning far back in the seat, keeping the nose of the kayak high out of the water to avoid any water splashing in. That resulted in me not seeing a rock protruding slightly out of the water. It caught the kayak, turned it sideways, dipped it slightly, and it immediately filled with water and flipped, throwing me out. Then it righted itself and sank.

The life jacket I had on the back of the boat floated away. If anyone way south of me happens to find a drab green life jacket, please give it a good home for me, and rest assured that no one died to get it to you. My phone got soaked, and is in Iphone ICU right now. The contents of my wallet were soaked, and had to be dried out. It took me ten minutes to get myself and the boat out of the water. Another ten minutes for me to be home and getting dried off. Dana just shook her head in that unmistakable "I told you so" kind of look. She gets that a lot with me, for some reason.

And I would do it all again. All of it.

God has given us an amazing gift called "life." And he said in John 10:10 that he had come to give us "life more abundantly." That is not just talking about eternal life, but also about the life we live in Christ right now. Christians say no to so many life-diminishing things; things like drugs and alcohol and fornication and adultery and lying and stealing. But if we are not careful we will also in effect say no to life itself.

There is a scene from the movie "The Croods" in which one female member of the family screams in frustration at Grug, who wants everyone to live safely in a cave, "That's not living, that's just not dying!"

There is a difference between living and not dying. We are supposed to serve God and work for him, yes. But we are also supposed to enjoy the lives he has given us. We are supposed to live. For my mother, that means sky-diving. No joke. For me, at least on this day, it meant kayaking down the river in the snow.

I could ask you what you are doing to not die today; but I am much more interested in what you are doing to live.

Remember Me?

One evening, two girlfriends and I went to a nightclub, only to find the place packed with young people. At 40, we felt old, but before we could make a dignified exit, a tall, handsome man approached us.

“Perhaps we were being a little hasty in leaving,” I thought.

Then with a big smile, the man extended his hand to one of my friends and said, “Hello. Remember me? You were my third grade teacher.”

* “Most of my large family stays at our house on Christmas Eve. Although everyone knows where everything is located in the kitchen, it has been our custom to centralize snacks, disposable cups and silverware, canned drinks and other frequently needed items in one cabinet, so no one has to go searching. We also designate a low shelf in the refrigerator for pre-bagged kids’ snacks and juice boxes. This way the children can get a drink or snack without help. The kids love it, as it makes them feel all grown up.” -- R. B. in Pennsylvania

* Here’s how to keep grease from building up on your range hood. First wash and dry the hood very well. Then apply a thin layer of car wax. Follow wax directions and buff off with a clean, dry towel. It will keep grease from adhering, plus leaves a great shine behind.

* “Make a holiday time-capsule full of family memories. Fill a small jar with notes and tiny mementos, then tuck it at the bottom of your holiday decorations when you box them up. Open it next season when the decorations back come out.” -- F.L. in Indiana

* “I have an ingenious fix if you forget your reading glasses. Take out your smartphone and use the camera viewer as a magnifying glass. Just zoom in until the words are legible. My mom does this when she’s looking at ingredients on boxes at the grocery store.” -- W.S. in Oregon

* To keep precious fresh herbs usable longer, add a good quality oil to an ice cube tray. Add herbs and freeze. When solid, pop out the cubes and transfer to a plastic baggie.

* Kitty cat or puppy dog up all night wanting to play? Schedule a play session of at least 30 minutes in the evening. It will tucker them out so you can both get some sleep.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Operation Gratitude Reaches a Milestone

By the time you read this, Operation Gratitude will have surpassed 2 million packages sent to deployed service personnel, veterans, wounded warriors in hospitals and their caregivers at home, emergency personnel and the children of deployed service members. Two million since 2003!

From its start as an idea at a kitchen table, OpGrat has grown to become one of the biggest support organizations in the history of donations to military personnel and veterans. It has never received a cent from the government, not even to help with postage. Do the math: Since each box costs approximately $15 to send out, that's $30 million in shipping costs alone. Not to mention all the goodies that go in each box: candy, CDs and players, hygiene products, small stuffed animals, handmade items, batteries, books, gum, small puzzles and much more. And sometimes there's a special package containing the keys to a new vehicle that's waiting for the service member back home. The packages for kids always contain a Battalion Buddy, a bear in a military uniform to keep the kids company until mom or dad come home. The best-loved item, it seems, are the handwritten letters from Americans across the country. Each box contains a minimum of two.

The corporate support and sponsorship is phenomenal, and they give in so many ways, from outright donations to letter writing campaigns to volunteer packing events.

To learn more, go online to www.operationgratitude.com/ and sign up for the newsletters. (No, there aren't too many. I promise.) While you're on the Op-Grat site, look around, especially at the photos and Mail Call letters from those who've received packages. And while you're looking around, consider whether you can make a donation, or even write a few letters for the packages.

*"The Supreme Court has ruled that they cannot have a nativity scene in Washington, D.C. This wasn't for any religious reasons. They couldn't find three wise men and a virgin."

Though She Be but Little, She is Fierce

"I felt my world crumble around me. Like a terrible dream that I would never wake up from," said Leigh Ann Stevenson, local mother of Brynlee Stevenson, who was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia on September 30, 2017. Brynlee turned three in April and had dealt with problems related to anemia such as fatigue in the months prior to diagnosis. When little Brynlee began to decline from her usual spunky and fun-loving self, her parents became worried. She began to sleep a lot and would run random fevers in the evening without showing any other symptoms. Leigh Ann, being a registered nurse, insisted that Brynlee be seen by her pediatrician and had suspicions that something was wrong. After being seen by the doctor, it was discovered that Brynlee's hemoglobin was very low which required them to immediately be sent to the emergency room for further assessment. "When they said 'pediatric oncologist' our hearts sank. We felt like we weren't living our own life."

Since being diagnosed, Brynlee has been given a good prognosis. She is currently considered a low risk for recurrence and will likely respond well to treatment. Despite this, she will be required to complete all phases of her treatment which will last up to two and a half years and will not come without challenges. Brynlee's dad, Stevie Stevenson, is a Sheriff in Pittsylvania County and Leigh Ann has not been able to work since Brynlee's diagnosis. To speak to Leigh Ann and Stevie, it is obvious that they are very grateful for the outpouring of support from the community. There have been several fundraisers to date to assist with living and travel expenses. As treatments progress, Leigh Ann would like to remain close by her side as any mother would. She expresses hope for the future and says, "This is happening for a reason. It is a turning point for our lives. This was God's plan and I thank Him for what he is doing for her and our family."

Swansonville Pentecostal Holiness Church is hosting a fundraiser on January 13, 2018 from 5-9PM at the Atkinson Barn on Crane Road in support of the family. There will be a barbeque meal, silent auction and bake sale, as well as children's games. Tickets are on sale now for $10 each. To purchase tickets, contact the church at 724-6500. Should you want to simply support the fundraiser for Brynlee Stevenson, you may do so by sending donations to the church at 16300 Mount Cross Road, Dry Fork VA 24549.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) An old adversary wants to make amends over the holidays. The decision is yours. But wouldn't it be nice to share the upcoming new year with another friend?

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) As news of your work gets around, expect to receive a special holiday "gift" from influential contacts who could help you launch your new projects in the new year.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Instead of fussing over what you didn't do to prepare for the holidays, relax and enjoy the kudos for a job truly well done. A happy surprise awaits you early next year.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The best way to shake off lingering holiday blues is to join loved ones in the fun and festivities of this special time. A confusing situation starts to make sense in upcoming weeks.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Special emotional rewards mark this holiday time for Leos and Leonas who are able to open up to new relationships and the possibilities they offer in the upcoming year.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your efforts to make the holidays especially memorable for some people will be rewarded in some unexpected (but very welcome) ways in the upcoming year.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Be assured that your efforts to make this holiday special for everyone won't go unnoticed by those who could make some important changes in your life.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Lots of folks want you to light up their holiday parties. But try to take some quiet time 'twixt those glittering galas to spend with some very special people.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) While the current round of holiday revels has your social life on the fast track, someone special might want to keep pace with you next year, as well.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Enjoy all the fun you deserve at this holiday time. However, don't lose sight of the need to check out some of the changes the new year is expected to bring.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) What happens during this holiday time can help clear up some of the confusion jeopardizing a once-stable relationship. Follow your instincts on what to do next.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your holidays are brightened by new friends eager to become part of your life. But don't forget to spend time with that one special person. (You know who!)

BORN THIS WEEK: You have the ability to encourage people to reach their potential by setting an example with your own efforts.

HOLLYWOOD
by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Jennifer Lawrence, who joined with director Darren Aronofsky for the psychological horror film "Mother" released in September, had off-screen love scenes but ended their one-year romance. Now she's focused on the release of her next two films, the spy thriller "Red Sparrow," with Joel Edgerton and Jeremy Irons, due March 2; and "X-Men: Dark Phoenix," with James McAvoy and Michael Fassbender, opening Nov. 2, 2018.

Meanwhile, we'll finally get to see John Travolta as Mafia "Don" John Gotti come Dec. 15. Playing Gotti's wife is Travolta's wife, Kelly Preston, who hasn't made a movie since the disappointing "Casino Jack," with Kevin Spacey. Travolta already is shooting another film, "Trading Paint," with Michael Madsen, singer Shania Twain and "Gunsmoke" TV series alumnus Buck Taylor.

"The Night of the Living Dead," which gave birth to the zombie genre, was shot in black and white in Pittsburgh in 1968 for a mere $114,000. It grossed $30 million. The creator and father of the zombie genre was George Romero, who left us July n. 5, the last film he co-wrote based on his original characters, "Day of the Dead: Bloodline," will open. Romero directed five sequels to "Night" between 1978 and 2010, the most successful of which was "Dawn of the Dead" (1978). He also hit big with "Creepshow" in 1982 and the TV series "Tales from the Darkside" (1983-1988). When you watch "The Walking Dead" or see the upcoming "World War Z.2," remember ... it all started with George Romero.

Best-actor nominee Peter Fonda (for 1993's "Ulee's Gold"), son of Oscar-winner Henry Fonda and brother of two-time Oscar winner Jane Fonda, was last seen in the Netflix film "The Most Hated Woman in America," with Oscar-winner Melissa Leo. Now he has completed two films: "The Ballad of Lefty Brown," with Bill Pullman, Jim Caviezel and Kathy Baker (hitting theaters Dec. 15) and "Boundaries," with Vera Farmiga, Christopher Plummer and Bobby Cannavale.

Fonda has just been cast in Amazon's "Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan" reboot with John Krasinski in the title role (he's also producing). It's set for release in early 2018. Krasinski also will direct and star with his wife, Emily Blunt — who will be seen as Mary Poppins in "Mary Poppins Returns," landing Christmas Day 2018 — in the supernatural/horror thriller "A Quiet Place," due for an April 6 release. They say, "The couple that plays together ... stays together," but how do you direct your own wife?

HOLIDAY SONGS WITH STORIED PASTS

The holiday season is not complete without music. Holiday hits play in shopping malls, and families often trim the tree to their favorite albums. Even if Elvis’ “Blue Christmas” or Johnny Mathis’ “Do You Hear What I Hear” reign supreme in your household, it can be interesting to learn about some of the other songs made famous this time of year.

Modern classics
 Classic carols may be the first Christmas songs that come to mind. However, less than a quarter century ago a pop singer managed to contribute to the holiday music pantheon. Mariah Carey’s “All I Want for Christmas is You,” released in 1994, is considered to be the most popular modern Christmas standard. With global sales exceeding 16 million copies, the song is one of Carey’s biggest hits.

Sad Origins
 “Santa Claus Is Coming to Town,” with its warning to children to be nice since Santa is keeping tabs on kids’ behavior, has helped children tow the line for decades. Songwriter James “Haven” Gillespie was asked to pen the tune during one of the darker times in his life. Gillespie was jobless and poor and his brother had just passed away – hardly inspiration for a Christmas tune. However, after thinking about the memories he shared with his brother, Gillespie was able to pull together an upbeat and catchy classic, changing his life for the good.

Bestseller
 Even though “Silent Night” is the most recorded Christmas song in history, another tune holds the title of the best-selling holiday standard of all time. “White Christmas” was written in 1942 and reminisces about an old-fashioned Christmas celebration. The version recorded by Bing Crosby has estimated sales in excess of 100 million copies worldwide, according to “The Guinness Book of World Records.” There are various accounts as to when and where Irving Berlin wrote the song. Some state he did so at a hotel in Hollywood, while others say it was the Arizona Biltmore. Wherever Berlin happened to be when writing the tune, there’s no doubt he was pining for the quintessential white Christmas. The song was written for the 1942 movie “Holiday Inn,” starring Crosby and Fred Astaire. It became an instant classic and remains Crosby’s best-selling recording. Some of the most recent versions of the song have been recorded by Pentatonix, Sara McLachlan and Laura Pusini. Christmas songs remain near and dear to people’s hearts, and a few of these beloved songs have interesting back stories.

to your good health
 WITH Dr. Keith Roach

At What Temperature Does a Fever Start?

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 77-year-old woman. For as long as I can remember, my body temperature has been between 97.7 and 98 degrees F. If my temperature were 99, would that be a fever to worry about? My doctor does not seem to worry about it, even when I’m not feeling well at all. -- B.C.

ANSWER: The average temperature for most people is not the 98.6 that I, at least, was taught growing up. Body temperature varies during the day -- it’s a bit lower in the morning and higher in the evening, but it averages about 98.2 degrees. Your observations show that your body temperatures are well within the normal variation.

A temperature of 99 is not, strictly speaking, a fever. Fever normally is defined as greater than 101.5, but can be lower in people with severe disease of the immune system. Most cases of fever are temporary viral infections, but fever can be seen with autoimmune and inflammatory diseases without infection, and as a result of some medications. Equally important, it’s possible -- and even likely in some cases -- to have serious infection with no fever.

DEAR DR. ROACH: Years ago, my husband took Lipitor, and after taking it for quite a while, his muscles and limbs developed a profound weakness; he could barely hold up a shovel and had no muscle tone. The doctor switched him to Vytorin, and it went away. Now he is experiencing similar problems after taking Vytorin for many years -- his joints ache, he feels like his body is slow to follow “orders” to move and his feet hurt. Could Vytorin now be the culprit? -- J.H.

ANSWER: Lipitor (atorvastatin) and simvastatin are cholesterol-lowering medications in the class called statins. Vytorin is a combination of simvastatin and another, nonstatin medication called ezetimibe. Muscle aches and even muscle breakdown are uncommon (but not rare) side effects of all statin drugs. The side effect usually happens in the first six months of taking the medicine, but still can happen even after years of taking the medicine. Given your husband’s history, I would recommend talking with his doctor about stopping the medicine. Changing statins (as your husband did, from Lipitor to simvastatin) can relieve the problem sometimes. There are other causes of joint and foot aches, and slowness in moving sounds like it might be a neurologic or rheumatologic issue rather than a side effect. But a trial off the medicine is still a good first step.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 79-year-old male with mild Parkinson’s disease and Type 2 diabetes. I can walk about 10 feet before becoming terribly short of breath and weak. I have been this way for several years, and it has become increasingly worse. Can you help me? -- K.C.

ANSWER: Neither Parkinson’s disease nor Type 2 diabetes explains terrible shortness of breath on mild exertion. Severe shortness of breath can come from serious heart or lung problems (many types) or severe anemia. I can’t help: Get to your doctor right away.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. To view and order health pamphlets, visit www.rbmamall.com, or write to.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was noted American journalist, satirist and cultural critic H.L. Mencken who made the following sage observation: "Whenever 'A' attempts by law to impose his moral standards upon 'B', 'A' is most likely a scoundrel."

* You're certainly aware that the Middle East has large deposits of petroleum. It makes a kind of sense, then, that one of the first uses early discovers put the substance to was to treat their camels' mange.

* As the holiday season approaches, there are some interesting traditions you might want to keep in mind:
--You'll have bad luck on Christmas Day if you refuse mince pie on Christmas Eve.
--If you eat an apple on Christmas Eve, you'll have good health throughout the following year.
--If you eat a raw egg before eating anything else on Christmas morning, you'll be able to lift heavy weights.
--If you don't eat plum pudding on Christmas Day, you'll lose a friend within a year.

* Those who study such things say that Julia Grant, the wife of Ulysses S. Grant, our 18th president, initially refused when it was assumed that she would be interred beside her husband. She didn't change her mind until she was assured that Grant's Tomb would never be equipped with public restrooms.

* The first state to declare Christmas an official legal holiday was Alabama, back in 1836.

* You might be surprised to learn that the best-selling flowering potted plant in the United States is the poinsettia. You probably won't be surprised to learn, however, that the best-selling Christmas song of all time is Bing Crosby's "White Christmas."

Thought for the Day: "The people of these United States are the rightful masters of both Congresses and courts, not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who pervert the Constitution." -- Abraham Lincoln

Picking Perfect HOLIDAY Presents

For Her

If you're struggling to find just the right idea for the lady on your list, don't take a chance on any random beauty product. Instead, give the beauty lover in your life the gift of options with a Macy's Beauty Box subscription. For $15 a month, she'll receive five deluxe beauty samples selected by experts, plus a bonus sample and a $5 coupon to use in-store or online on her next beauty purchase.

FAMILY FEATURES

Gift-giving season is a time that's special for many families and friends, and it's the perfect opportunity to show the loved ones in your life just how much you appreciate them. However, it isn't always easy to pick out the perfect present, especially with so many options available. When you're stuck in a gifting rut, turn to the professionals, like those at Macy's, to help you choose just the right gifts for everyone on your list.

For Kids

Interactive technology helps get kids off the couch and provides them nearly endless entertainment. Give the children on your gift list the opportunity to dance their way to fun with a piano mat from FAO Schwarz. The 24 keys work just like a real piano, which allows for playing the included selections or creating your own works of musical art. Included with the mat are selections such as Beethoven's "5th Symphony," "Chopsticks," "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" and more.

For Him

Help him revamp his style in one easy step with a Sprezza Box, which makes it simple to add something new and coordinated to his wardrobe. Available in four distinct boxes curated by experts, each contains five items, including accessories such as ties, pocket squares, socks, sunglasses, wallets and money clips. Each box evokes a specific look and feel. Just pick the right one to match your gift list so you can add something new to his style.

For the Home

The natural interior decorator on your list likely loves the unique touch of comforting pillows throughout living rooms and dens. Let him or her cuddle up to the cozy style of this decorative pillow from the Martha Stewart Collection, featuring a festive color palette and polar bear perfect for the holiday season. At 18 inches-by-18 inches, it's the ideal size for curling up on the couch during a chilly day.

For Entertaining

Searching for a gift for the natural entertainer in your life can be difficult if common items like wine glasses and electric bottle openers are already accounted for. An option like a bar cart from Hotel Collection can help make entertaining a breeze for that person on your list who enjoys hosting. With three shelves and wheels for easy transportation, it's ideal for extravagant parties, small get-togethers or anything in-between.

For the Kitchen

Gourmet gift baskets from Di Bruno Bros. are sure to make an impression for home chefs who might need a little inspiration. Choose a curated basket filled with a wide variety of specialty foods and products hand-selected for top quality. Themes include options like this "Sriracha Foodie," which comes packed with snacks, toppings and sauces infused with fiery Asian chili flavor in sweet jerky, pickles, gourmet salt, tortilla chips, horseradish sauce, mayonnaise, peachy jam and classic sriracha.

The balsam fir is one of the top trees grown and sold for use as Christmas trees. It has dense, dark-green foliage, long-lasting needles and retains its pleasing fragrance. Nine or ten years are required to grow a balsam fir that is 6 or 7 feet tall. Often found with white spruce, black spruce and aspen on upland sites, it is native to eastern and central Canada and the northeastern United States. It grows best on well-drained, sandy loam soils that are somewhat acid, and is tolerant of shade. The balsam fir may live as long as 150 to 200 years. - Brenda Weaver
