Final Exam

A few fraternity brothers needed to fill a science requirement in order to graduate, so they spent weeks studying for the final.

The day of the exam arrived, and they were more than ready for the test. The teacher pulled out a chart that had different pictures of birds' legs.

The teacher said, "This is your exam. Name these birds by their legs."

After ten minutes one boy stood up, absolutely furious, and slammed the paper down on the teacher's desk.

"Unbelievable!" he yelled. "You knew I needed to pass this exam to graduate. How could you do this to me?"

The guy began to leave the room and the teacher yelled at him, "Hey you, what's your name?"

The student pulled up his pants, revealing his legs, and said, "I don't know, sir. You tell me."

Start planning now for how sustainably your garden will function in the coming year. Will you use soaker hoses instead of sprinklers, or set up a rain barrel to collect rain water? How often will you water? Will you set up a rain gauge so that you don't water more often than is needed? Position watering devices to keep water from falling into storm gutters, walkways or into the street. Keep all outdoor faucets in good repair so as not to drip. Consider plants that use less water overall.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) It could be risky to push for a project you believe in but others are wary of. Never mind. If you trust your facts, follow your courageous Aries heart and go with it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your enthusiasm sparks renewed interest in a workplace project that once seemed headed for deletion. Support from supervisors helps you make all necessary changes.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A colleague might be a bit too contrary when your ideas are being discussed in the workplace. A demand for an explanation could produce some surprises all around.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Try to avoid distractions at a time when maintaining stability in a fluid situation is essential. There'll be time enough later for the Moon Child to enjoy some well-earned fun and games.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Stop wasting energy licking your wounded pride. Instead, put the lessons you learned from that upsetting experience to good use in an upcoming opportunity.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You love being busy. But try not to make more work for yourself than you need to. Get help so that you don't wind up tackling tasks that are better left to others.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your usually balanced way of assessing situations could be compromised by some so-called new facts. Check them out before making any shift in judgment.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You might feel angry over an unexpected shift in attitude by someone you trusted. But this could soon turn in your favor as more surprising facts come out.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Love rules everywhere for all amorous Archers, single or attached. It's also a good time to restore friendships that might have frayed over the years.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) It's not always easy for the proud Goat to forgive past slights. But clearing the air could help establish a better climate for that important upcoming venture.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Good news: Your skillful handling of a recent matter has won admiration from someone who could be influential in any upcoming decisions involving you.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You continue to welcome new friends into the widening circle of people whom you hold dear. One of those newcomers might soon have something special to tell you.

BORN THIS WEEK: You love nature and inspire others to follow your example of concern for the planet's well-being.

Funeral Procession

My friend, her sister and I were driving in the procession to the cemetery for the funeral of a distant relative.

"Since we don't really know anybody, do you want to head on home?" the driver asked.

When the sister nodded, she took a right turn.

We had gotten about a quarter of a mile down the road when the driver happened to look in the rear-view mirror. The rest of the procession was still following us!

* What's in season? Get more bang for your produce buck in February by looking for good deals on: Brussels sprouts, grapefruit and other citrus, pears, kale, sweet potatoes, winter squash, bok choy, apples and radicchio. Branch out with persimmons, leeks, red currants, cherimoya, pomelo and dates.

* If your skin gets dry, try keeping a bottle of lotion in your shower. Apply either just before you towel off or directly after. The heat from a shower will help your skin absorb the moisture.

* Want a great way to clean your ceiling fans without dropping dust bunnies everywhere? Simply use a pillowcase. Encase the entire blade and wipe from the center out. All the dirt is inside the case, and when you are done, go outdoors to turn it inside out and shake, then pop it in the washer. Best tip ever!

* Got cold hands? This "hot sock" is the greatest for a quick warmup. Add a cup of uncooked white rice to a sock. Knot closed. Pop in the microwave for 45 seconds to 1 1/2 minutes, and then simply hold it. Make a larger one for sore back or neck, or to tuck into the bottom of the bed to keep feet toasty as you drift off to sleep.

* "I recently moved away to college and, for the first time in my life, have become reliant on public transportation. I would say that the two most important items right now are a bus pass (so I don't have to try to find exact change) and hand sanitizer. When I got here, I was pretty much sick for a month!" -- O.J. in New York

* If you keep a toilet brush in your bathroom, try this handy hint: Add a few drops of a fragrant multipurpose cleaner to your brush holder, like Pine Sol or Mistolin.

There Are Many Reasons to Keep a Cat Inside

Many years ago, our cat adoption policy was changed to require cats adopted from us to be kept strictly inside. We received criticism about it, but now most shelters require the same thing.

It is vital to keep cats inside. Outside cats face many dangers, and their life expectancy is 1-5 years. A cat kept strictly inside has an average life expectancy of 12-20 years.

Contact with other cats outside leads to the risk of disease transmission. Feline leukemia and feline immunodeficiency are transmitted from cat to cat and, once contracted, result in the eventual death of the animal.

Dogs and other wild animals pose a threat to cats; the very real danger is one of exposure to rabies. Outdoor cats can suffer torn ears, cut eyes, abscesses, and other injuries requiring veterinary treatment.

Indoor cats are not generally exposed to fleas, ticks, ear mites, or other parasites that can cause anemia, skin irritations, allergic reactions, and even death.

Outdoor cats are at risk to be poisoned. Neighbors may deliberately poison cats they view as nuisances, but accidental poisonings also occur. Chemically treated lawns, bait left out to kill rats or mice, and antifreeze can all be deadly dangers.

It is a myth that cats are “streetwise.” Cats are intelligent and alert, but they stand very little chance against traffic. We have been so pleased to see the reaction from the public about dogs being kept outside during the below-freezing temperatures; however, cats face the same perils from weather extremes.

It is almost impossible to list all of the hazards faced by cats that are allowed to go outside; we have hundreds of pictures of ones that have been injured, killed, tortured, or have become sick.

We encourage everyone to keep their cats inside. It truly is the best life for a cat.

Kakiemon Plate

An auction catalog offered a “rare Kakiemon enameled porcelain plate” from the 18th century, but there was no further explanation of the age, history or design. What is the meaning of Kakiemon?

This Meissen Kakiemon-style plate auctioned for $6,500. It was made about 1740 and has the crossed swords mark in blue.

Sakaida Kakiemon (1596-1666) was a potter who worked in Japan in the early 17th century. He and his family painted porcelain made in the town of Arita. Kakiemon wares were painted over the glaze using blue, red, green, yellow and black, and sometimes with gilding. The best work was done from 1680 to 1720. The ceramic was milky white with a smooth surface. Designs were asymmetrical and sparse, so there was a lot of white space as part of the design. Most patterns were based on flower arrangements, crooked tree branches, flowers like peonies or chrysanthemums, or flowering fruit trees. One famous pattern included quail.

The Kakiemon style was so popular, it was copied by many English and German factories, and 19th-century copies are very similar to early designs. A collector today may identify a plate as Kakiemon if it is in the style of the early pieces. But the description used by a museum also includes the name of the European maker. Meissen (German), Chantilly and Mennecey (French), and Chelsea, Bow and Worcester (English) all made early collectible pieces. Collectors pay high prices for the 18th- and early 19th-century pieces.

A 9-inch Meissen plate made about 1740 with a tiger, bamboo and flower decoration sold at a Brunk auction for $6,500. The pattern is copied today on modern dishes. Collectors should not be confused. The new dishes are very different in shape and glaze; only the decoration is old.

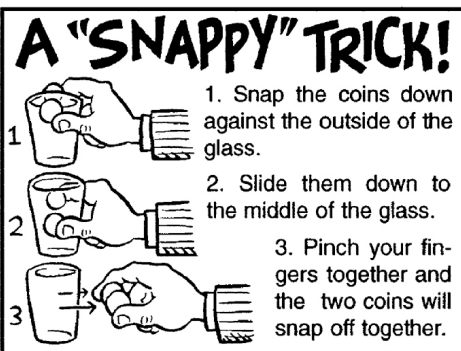

Q: I'd like to know the value of a violin that is about 100 years old. The inscription inside reads “Copy of Antonius Stradivarius, made in Czechoslovakia.” What is it worth?

A: Antonio Stradivari (1644-1737) made violins, violas, cellos and other stringed instruments at his workshop in Cremona, Italy. Fewer than 600 of the original Stradivarius violins still are in existence, and they sell for several million dollars each. Thousands of copies have been made and don't sell for high prices. Your violin was made after the creation of Czechoslovakia in 1918. Recently, a violin like yours that included the case sold for $57.

CURRENT PRICES

Sovah Health Among First Hospitals to Present New National Blood Pressure Guidelines

Danville, VA (January 25, 2018) – Sovah Health announced it will be hosting its first continuing medical education program for 2018 titled “High Blood Pressure: New Guidelines for the New Year” on Thursday, February 1 at Hoover Auditorium at Sovah Health - Danville. The symposium, which will feature three leading national experts on hypertension, will educate area physicians and healthcare professionals on new blood pressure guidelines released by the American College of Cardiology (ACC) and American Heart Association (AHA) in November 2017. Sovah Health is one of the first community hospital systems nationwide to have these guidelines presented to its medical and nursing staff.

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is one of the most treatable risk factors for stroke, heart failure, heart attack, and kidney failure. The new guidelines for the detection, prevention, management and treatment of high blood pressure – the most comprehensive set released since 2003 – lower the definition of high blood pressure, or hypertension, from 140/90 mm Hg to 130/80. Authors of the new guidelines estimate that the new definition will result in nearly half of the US adult population (46 percent) having higher than optimal blood pressure. Specifically, the prevalence of high blood pressure is expected to triple among men under age 45 and double among women under 45.

“High blood pressure and other risk factors for heart disease are extremely common across our region,” said Michael Moore, MD, Director of Continuing Medical Education at Sovah Health. “Sovah Health felt it important that we be at the forefront in educating our healthcare professionals on these new guidelines as we work to prevent and treat heart disease across our region.”

In addition to redefining blood pressure categories, the guidelines recommend earlier treatment and additional follow-up for hypertensive patients – beginning with lifestyle changes for most patients and medication for some. Experts believe earlier intervention of high blood pressure will result in long term cardiovascular disease prevention.

The symposium features three national speakers including: Edward Roccella, PhD, Former Director of the NHLBI High Blood Pressure Education Program; Daniel Lackland, PhD, President of the World Hypertension League; and Robert Carey, MD, Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism at University of Virginia Health System. Dr. Carey was a co-author of the new AHA ACC Guidelines. The program also will be simulcast to Sovah Health – Martinsville.

If you’re a healthcare professional interested in attending the event, please register by calling 434.799.3705 and leave your name, affiliation. Please indicate that you wish to attend the February 1 HBP Guideline Program.

City to receive top fire protection rating

A national company that rates fire departments based on their training and fire suppression and prevention capabilities has reclassified the City of Danville as a class 1 community, which is the highest rating possible.

The new rating makes Danville one of seven communities in Virginia and 241 in the nation to earn the designation.

In addition, the new rating could also benefit homeowners and businesses who have fire insurance. Fire protection ratings play a role in the underwriting process at insurance companies.

"This was a total team effort and a direct result of the hard work of our fire personnel, 911 dispatchers, the support of our management team and elected officials, and a great partnership with the Danville division of Water & Gas," Fire Chief David Eagle said Monday.

City Manager Ken Larking agreed. "We appreciate the support of City Council and the community for the fire department in making sure we have the resources needed for this reclassification," Larking said.

The new rating officially takes effect May 1. Currently, the City of Danville has a class 2 rating.

The reclassification came from the Insurance Services Office (ISO), which provides data and analytics for the property/casualty insurance industry. The ISO evaluates fire protection efforts throughout the country. It rates communities on a scale of 1 to 10, with "1" being the best.

ISO incorporates objective nationally recognized standards to evaluate a community's fire department, 911 communications, water system and community risk-reduction programs through fire code enforcement, investigation and public education.

In addition to being awarded an ISO class 1 rating, the Fire Department also is internationally accredited, which is recognized worldwide as a measure of excellence in fire service. The department received the accreditation in 2015. International accreditation is a voluntary self-assessment program established through the Commission on Fire Accreditation International, which provides a model to improve the fire and rescue agencies. The commission analyzed every aspect of the fire department – administrative, operational, call processing time, turnout time and response time.

"Another Descent Into The Maelstrom"

"The edge of the whirl was represented by a broad belt of the gleaming spray; but no particle of this slipped into the mouth of the terrific funnel, whose interior, as far as the eye could fathom it, was a smooth, shining, and jet-black wall of water, inclined to the horizon at an angle of some forty-five degrees, speeding dizzily round and round with a swaying and sweltering motion, and sending forth to the winds an appalling voice, half shriek, half roar, such as not even the mighty cataract of Niagara ever lifts up in its agony to heaven.

"The mountain trembled to its very base, and the rock rocked. I threw myself on my face, and clung to the scant herbage in an excess of nervous agitation.

"This," said I at length, to the old man- "this can be nothing else than the great whirlpool of the Maelstrom." (A Descent Into The Maelstrom, Edgar Allen Poe)

Poe has, since childhood, been one of my very favorite writers. And A Descent Into The Maelstrom was one of the earliest of his tales to capture my imagination. The idea of being dragged inexorably to destruction, held in the merciless power of a whirlpool, is such a powerful mental picture.

In Poe's tale, two factors caused the disaster that pulled a man and a ship to destruction. The Maelstrom was utterly predictable in timing; but the fishing on the other side of it was exponentially better than anywhere else. Because of that, because of profit potential, some people chose to risk sailing that way. But when a watch stopped running, and someone became unaware of the nearness of the impending danger, disaster occurred.

The danger was there all along; and at some point people were bound to pay the price for getting too close to it.

In every life choices will be made. But in no life, not even one, will choices ever be made without consequences. Galatians 6:7 says, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The reaping process often takes many years, and because of that people feel comfortable, but the Maelstrom is out there nonetheless.

I often tell my children and my church, "The choices you make plus the consequences that follow equal your life. Therefore, better decisions equal better results." The best decision a person can ever make is to get saved and then live his life wholly for God. You do not have to choose that; you have a free will, God will let you reject him and live however you please if that is your decision. But the law of sowing and reaping still applies.

A lady in our church was told nearly thirty years ago that she needed to abort her child. She chose life; and her son is alive, well, and the joy of her life to this day. Others choose to snuff out an innocent life in the womb; and I have counseled with a great number of them still swirling in the Maelstrom of guilt and regret to this very day.

Each Sunday night we bring a bus load of homeless individuals to our church, feed them a meal, love them, and preach to them. The overwhelming majority of them, by their own testimony, are homeless for the exact same reason; drugs and alcohol. At some point they chose to put the bottle to their lips or the needle to their arm, and their lives were soon wrecked in a Maelstrom of their own making.

Three of our church teenagers recently made a public vow of purity. They joined a large number of others who had previously done so. That choice, if adhered to, will keep them safe from being wrecked on the rocks of promiscuity. By contrast, another young man I know made the choice years ago to indulge his flesh at every turn. He now has multiple children with multiple women, and has trouble holding down a job due to constantly being in court. The Maelstrom was always there, waiting; he made the choice to sail that way.

Everyone thinks they will be the one to reap all of the pleasures of sin without ever being wrecked on the rocks of sin. But Proverbs 16:18 says, "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall."

Don't risk it. The safest sailing is a saved, sanctified life.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Same-Day Urgent Care at All VA Facilities? --- The Department of Veterans Affairs has just announced that all 1,000 of its facilities are available for same-day care for primary or mental-health needs. That sounds great. But there are caveats. Same-day care doesn't necessarily mean you'll go in that day. There is a protocol to determine just how urgent your case actually is. You might get a real visit, or you might get advice from a nurse, a telehealth or video visit, an appointment to see a specialist or a prescription filled that day, or you might get an email. Same-day care also applies only to days and times a facility is open. To learn more about the process of getting urgent care, go to www.accessocare.va.gov. Check the Frequently Asked Questions while you're there. You'll see a list of locations with the hours and days each facility is open (some are Monday-Friday only, with regular business hours), as well as the services they provide. Also, in the FAQ, note the way non-urgent wait times are calculated. If you want an appointment and they can't fit you in for six days, your wait is six days. OK, that's fair. If, on the other hand, you are a returning patient whose physician has requested you return at a certain time, the wait time is calculated as days between the requested date and the date they can actually get you in. They give this example: Your doctor wants you back in 30 days, but they can't fit you in until 45 days, then your wait time is 15 days. If you really want immediate care and can't get it, the FAQ lists more options, including mobile medical units, mobile vet units, vet centers, walk-in clinics and emergency rooms. Check your area now so you'll know your options in advance should you ever need urgent care.

"Take two of these and call me if he still bugs you."

Piedmont Shopper FAVORITE RECIPES

BAKED BUFFALO WINGS

INGREDIENTS

- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

- 20 chicken wings
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1/2 cup hot pepper sauce such as Frank's RedHot

DIRECTIONS

Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil, and lightly grease with cooking spray. Place the flour, cayenne pepper, garlic powder, and salt into a resealable plastic bag, and shake to mix. Add the chicken wings, seal, and toss until well coated with the flour mixture. Place the wings onto the prepared baking sheet, and place into the refrigerator. Refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F (200 degrees C). Whisk together the melted butter and hot sauce in a small bowl. Dip the wings into the butter mixture, and place back on the baking sheet. Bake in the preheated oven until the chicken is no longer pink in the center, and crispy on the outside, about 45 minutes. Turn the wings over halfway during cooking so they cook evenly.

OUTRAGEOUS WARM CHICKEN NACHO DIP

INGREDIENTS

- 1 (14 ounce) can diced tomatoes with green chile peppers (such as RO*TEL), drained
- 1 (1 pound) loaf processed cheese food (such as Velveeta), cubed
- 2 large cooked skinless, boneless chicken breast halves, shredded
- 1/3 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup diced green onion
- 1 1/2 tablespoons taco seasoning mix
- 2 tablespoons minced jalapeno pepper, or to taste (optional)
- 1 cup black beans, rinsed and drained

DIRECTIONS

Place the diced tomatoes, processed cheese, chicken meat, sour cream, green onion, taco seasoning, and jalapeno pepper into a slow cooker. Cook on High, stirring occasionally until the cheese has melted and the dip is hot, 1 to 2 hours. Stir in the black beans, and cook 15 more minutes to reheat.

his kidnapped grandson. She's already completed the comedy "I Feel Pretty," with Amy Schumer, due June 29, and "Venom," with Tom Hardy as the new Marvel Universe superhero, coming Oct. 5.

Jared Leto, Oscar winner for "Dallas Buyer's Club" (2013), who rode "Suicide Squad" from its $175 million cost to a $747 million gross, will be back for the sequel, which starts filming in March for a 2019 release. He's just completed "The Outsider," with Emile Hirsch and Rory Cochrane (of "Argo" and currently in "Hostiles"), and is editing the documentary "A Day in the Life of America," which he began putting together last July 4 with cameras all over the country. In addition, he has plans to play Andy Warhol in a film, direct a thriller ("77") for Paramount Pictures, portray a slain mobster who is re-animated with superpowers in "Bloodshot," as well as playing "The Joker" and starring in "Tron 3." Leto's got so much on his plate, they're going to have to re-animate him!

Four-time Oscar nominee Michelle Williams — for "Brokeback Mountain" (2005), "Blue Valentine" (2011), "My Week With Marilyn" (2011) and "Manchester by the Sea" (2016) — has two big films out at the same time. First up was the musical "The Greatest Showman" (which I loved), as Hugh Jackman's wife, followed by "All the Money in the World," as Christopher Plummer's daughter and mother of

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was Italian novelist, philosopher and university professor Umberto Eco who made the following sage observation: "Fear prophets and those prepared to die for the truth, for as a rule they make many others die with them, often before them, at times instead of them."

* The average (presumably non-bearded) man will shave at least 20,000 times over the course of his lifetime.

* Although it is a dog, the dhole, which is native to Asia, doesn't bark; to communicate with other members of its pack, it whistles. Evidently, that high-pitched sound carries better than low-pitched barking in the dense forests where it lives.

* Third-century Saint Lawrence of Rome was martyred for his faith by being roasted alive on a gridiron. I suppose it makes a certain kind of sense, then, that he's the patron saint of cooks and tanners.

* If you're not in a romantic mood as Valentine's Day approaches, you might want to consider reviving the vinegar valentine popular in the 19th century. Rather than conveying love and affection, these insulting missives -- usually sent anonymously, for obvious reasons -- were dripping with sarcasm and black humor. Some were intended to discourage unwanted suitors, but others were just mean, accusing the recipient of being too aggressive (for women) or too submissive (for men) or of putting on airs, among other things. There were even occupation-specific cards targeted at doctors, salesladies, artists, etc. According to an article in Smithsonian magazine, in the mid-1800s, these vinegar valentines accounted for half of all valentine sales in the United States.

* Those who study such things say that 20 percent of American men have spent at least one night in jail. ***

Thought for the Day: "One of the truest tests of integrity is its blunt refusal to be compromised." -- Chinua Achebe
