Positively Letchworth

Friends of Letchworth Have Done It Again

Historic Chimney to be Restored! In a place as rich in historic value as Letchworth State Park, one of the iconic symbols of the history in the park is all the Civilian Conservation Corps, known as the CCC stone work throughout the park.

Just about everywhere you travel within the park you'll come across stone walls, bridges, picnic tables and shelters that were all created during the 1930's when the New Deal Program gave work to countless citizens, and in turn, what resulted were infrastructure improvements throughout the United States.

In Letchworth, there were several CCC participants housed in buildings that have long since vanished; however, the chimneys in those buildings for the workers remain and it has been a mission of the 'Friends of Letchworth' to restore and preserve these jewels of historic significance.

In an ongoing effort to preserve the remaining chimneys, 'The Friends' have secured grants through the Finger Lakes Regional Economic Development Consolidated Funding Application process.

The most recent CFA award of $28,000 from the Environmental Protection Fund Historic Preservation grant was just allocated for the restoration of the Big Bend Camp Chimney on the east side of the park near the Cabin 'E' area.

The Big Bend Chimney restoration should be completed prior to the National CCC Legacy Convention being held in Letchworth, September 2019.

"This project is another step in the Friends of Letchworth effort to preserve the CCC Legacy in the Park. The Friends restored a CCC-built Adirondack-style lean to that sits on the west side of the Genesee Gorge in 2016, a stone chimney at the site of the former CCC Gibsonville Camp in 2017 and restoration of stone picnic tables near the Parade Grounds is now in progress," notes Carol Rathbun, President of the Friends of Letchworth.

The Friends of Letchworth are dependent on membership dues, fundraising efforts and community donations to raise money to work on the multitude of projects they spear-head in Letchworth State Park.

Beware of Credit Card Skimmers at the Pump

Livingston County, along with other areas, is experiencing an increased number of credit cards skimmers on gas pumps intended to steal your credit card information.

While skimmers can be encountered at other places, gas station fuel pumps are especially prone to being compromised.

Livingston County Weights and Measures, a program of the Health Department, strives to ensure price verification for consumers, but cannot enforce sound security measures at places of retail.

Here are some ways you can protect yourself from having your credit card information stolen:

Although it may be inconvenient at times, pay inside the store when using your credit card at the fuel pump.

Consider choosing fueling locations that have adequate lighting and visibility, particularly after hours. Thieves look for easy targets when installing skimmers.

Pay attention to signs that a credit card swiper/keypad or fuel pump enclosure has been tampered with. Loose parts or signs of forced entry may be a red flag.

Consider the credit card you're using. Cards that have chip technology can be more secure and some retailers offer store specific credit cards that cannot be used for other purchases and may have cost incentives for purchases.

Monitor your credit card activity online if possible and consider setting up alerts for unusual purchases.

By using these strategies you may avoid an unauthorized credit card charge. For questions or concerns, please call the Livingston County Department of Health – Center for Environmental Health at (585) 243-7280.

"A flu shot is the best way to protect yourself, your family and friends, but taking simple precautions can also go a long way toward avoiding the misery of influenza," advises Jennifer Rodriguez, Public Health Director.

Flu viruses are spread mainly from person to person through droplets made when people with flu cough, sneeze, or talk. Flu viruses also may spread when people touch something with flu virus on it and then touch their eyes, nose or mouth.

"Good health habits, like covering your cough and washing your hands often can help stop the spread of germs and prevent the flu," said Jennifer Rodriguez, Public Health Director.

She offered these tips to stay healthy during flu season.

- Avoid close contact with people who are sick. When you are sick, keep your distance from others to protect them from getting sick too.
- Stay home when you are sick. This will help prevent spreading your illness to others.
- Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing. It may prevent those around you from getting sick.
- Clean your hands. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand rub.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose or mouth. Germs are often spread when a person touches something that is contaminated with germs and then touches his or her eyes, nose, or mouth.
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched surfaces at home, work or school, especially when someone is ill.
- Practice other good health habits. Get plenty of sleep, be physically active, manage your stress, drink plenty of fluids, and eat nutritious food.

For more information on the current flu season and how to protect yourself and your family, visit the State Health Department web site at: www.health.ny.gov/flu and the CDC at www.cdc.gov/flu/protect/habits.htm.
