DNR seeks input on Brainerd area lake management plans

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Brainerd area fisheries is seeking comments through Friday, March 30 on management plans for Crow Wing County lakes.

Management plans describe the past, present and desired future conditions of the fishery and identify specific management activities planned for that lake or stream in the next five to 20 years. This is an opportunity for anglers and others interested to provide input on how these lakes are managed.

Current plans for lakes and streams in the area, as well as recent fish population assessment information are available for review at the DNR's Brainerd area fisheries office, located at 1601 Minnesota Drive, Brainerd, between 8 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Individuals also may call 218-203-4301 or email Sue.Loss@state.mn.us to request a copy of a plan or submit written comments on a plan.

Public comments on this management plan are due by Friday, March 30. Comments and suggestions on other streams and lakes in the area are welcomed at any time, and will be considered when those plans are due for review.

In 2018, the DNR goal improve northern pike size structure through the implementation of the zone-wide northern pike regulation.

In addition, plans for the following lakes in Crow Wing County will be reviewed Bass (18-256), Black (18-59), Clinker (18-131), Erskine (18-9), Little Black Hoof (18-118), Little Rabbit (18-139), Mahnomen (18-440), Pennington (18-439), and Sagamore (18-523).

The DNR is proposing to conduct a standard survey every 12 years to evaluate the fish population on Bass, Erskine and Little Rabbit Lakes. The next surveys on these lakes would be in 2028.

The DNR is also proposing to conduct a standard survey every 24 years to evaluate the fish population on Black, Clinker and Little Back Hoof Lakes. The next surveys on these lakes would be in 2040.

Bass Lake (18-256)

The DNR's long range goals for Bass Lake, a 294 acre lake near Merrifield, is to maintain a northern pike population with a gill net catch per unit effort (CPUE) of 4.8 - 12.5/ per net and to maintain a largemouth bass abundance measured by spring electrofishing at a rate of 100 fish per hour with a proportional stock density (PSD) of at least 40 and a Relative Stock Density (RSD-P) of 15.

Black Lake (18-59)

The DNR's long range goals for Black Lake, a 72 acre lake northeast of Deerwood, is to maintain a northern pike population with a gill net CPUE of 2.8 - 10.0 per net with 30 percent measuring at least 24 inches in length and maintain a bluegill size structure where at least 33 percent of the fish in summer survey trap nets measure 7 inches or more

Clinker Lake (18-131)

The DNR's long range goals for Clinker Lake, a 81 acre lake north of Crosby, is to maintain a northern pike population with a gill net CPUE of 4.8 - 12.5/net with at least 25 percent measuring at least 24 inches and maintain a largemouth bass abundance measured by spring electrofishing at a rate of 70 fish per hour with a PSD of at least 60 and a RSD-P of 15.

Erskine Lake (18-9)

The DNR's long range goals for Erskine Lake, a 181 acre lake west of Mille Lacs Lake near Pine Center, is to maintain a northern pike population with a gill net CPUE of 4.6 - 11.6/net with 50 percent measuring at least 24 inches and maintain a largemouth bass abundance measured by spring electrofishing at a rate of 75 fish per hour with a PSD of at least 75 and a RSD-P of 50.

Deer feeding bans continue in 16 counties

A deer feeding ban remains in effect for 16 counties located in north-central, central and southeastern Minnesota, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

“This time of year, we start to hear of people interested in feeding deer, especially when they see deer searching for food before plants start to green up,” said Erik Thorson, acting big game program leader with the DNR. “People can help deer by being aware of and following the feeding bans that still are in place – they aid in preventing the spread of disease.”

Feeding bans in north-central and central Minnesota are precautionary and were put in place surrounding two farms where multiple captive deer were infected with chronic wasting disease (CWD). Testing of hunter-harvested deer in these areas in fall 2017 did not detect CWD in the wild, but surveillance efforts will continue until the disease is not detected for three consecutive years. The bans remain in place through February 2019.

North-central Minnesota counties affected are Aitkin; Crow Wing; Morrison; the portion of Cass County south of Minnesota highways 34 and 200; and the portion of Mille Lacs County north of County Road 11.

Central Minnesota counties affected by the ban are Kandiyohi; McCloud; Meeker; Stearns; Wright; and the portion of Renville County north of U.S. Highway 212.

In the southeastern Minnesota counties of Fillmore, Houston, Olmsted, Mower and Winona, a ban on deer feeding and deer attractants remains in effect through Wednesday, June 27, and will likely be extended because of ongoing disease issues. In Fillmore County, 17 wild deer have been found to have CWD since fall 2016, when the disease was first discovered near Preston.

Feed includes corn, grain, salt, mineral blocks, fruits, vegetables, nuts, hay and other food that is capable of attracting or enticing deer. People who feed birds or small mammals must do so in a manner that prevents access by deer, or place the food at least 6 feet above the ground.

Food placed as a result of normal agricultural practices is generally exempted from the feeding ban, but cattle operators should take steps that minimize contact between deer and cattle.

One of the probable mechanisms for CWD spread among deer is over a food or attractant source that concentrates animals. Feeding bans are intended to reduce the number of areas where deer can come into close contact, either directly or indirectly.

“Even though people have good intentions, feeding often does more harm than good,” said Thorson. “In addition to spreading disease, feeding can lead to death when deer abruptly shift their diet or cause behavioral changes that end up harming the animals.”

Little Black Hoof Lake (18-118)

The DNR's long range goals for Little Black Hoof Lake, a 72 acre lake near Riverton, is to maintain a northern pike population with a gill net CPUE of 2.8 – 10.0/net with 30 percent measuring at least 24 inches and maintain a bluegill size structure where at least 33 percent of the fish in summer survey trap nets measure 7 inches or more.

Little Rabbit Lake (18-139)

The DNR's long range goals for Little Rabbit Lake, a 172 acre lake near Riverton, is to maintain a bluegill population with a CPUE > 15/trap net with at least 40 percent measuring > 7 inches and a black crappie population with at least 20 percent measuring > 9 inches. The DNR also proposes to maintain largemouth bass abundance measured by spring electrofishing at a rate of 40 fish per hour with a PSD of at least 50 and a RSD-P of 20.

The DNR is also considering the merits of special regulations for panfish.

Mahnomen (18-440) and Pennington (18-0439)

The DNR's long range goals for the 272 acre Mahnomen mine pit lake and 62 acre Pennington mine pit lake located northwest of Ironton, is to maintain the rainbow trout gill net catch at two trout per net and a mean length of 12 inches. Provide a rainbow trout fishery with an early season angler catch rate of at least 0.3 fish per angler-hour with an average size at harvest of 12 inches or 0.5 pounds per fish. Provide a lake trout fishery with angler catch rate of at least 0.1 fish per angler-hour with an average size at harvest of 2 pounds per fish. Establish a self-sustaining cisco population by 2025 and a self-sustaining lake trout population by 2030.

Operational Plan:

The operational plan includes stocking 15,000 spring yearling rainbow trout annually.

In addition, the operational plan proposes to establish a lake trout population by stocking 1,670 lake trout yearlings (5 fish per acre) biennially starting in 2021 through at least 2031; implement a one lake trout daily limit with a minimum size limit of 22 inches; establish a cisco population by stocking up to 3,340 adult ciscoes (up to 10 fish per acre); and assess cisco and trout populations with targeted gill netting and hydroacoustic surveys at least once every three years starting in 2022; monitor the oxygen/temperature profile at least once every three years in August to ensure suitable habitat continues to exist for salmonids.

Sagamore Lake (18-523)

The DNR's long range goals for Sagamore mine pit lake, a 181 acre lake near Riverton, is to maintain the rainbow trout gill net catch at two trout per net and a mean length of 12 inches. Provide a rainbow trout fishery with an early season angler catch rate of at least 0.3 fish per angler-hour with an average size at harvest of 12 inches or 0.5 pounds per fish. Provide a lake trout fishery with angler catch rate of at least 0.1 fish per angler-hour with an average size at harvest of two pounds per fish.

Operational Plan:

The operational plan includes stocking 2,000 spring yearling rainbow trout annually. These fish should be larger spring yearlings at a rate of about two fish per pound, when available.

In addition, the operational plan proposes to establish a lake trout population by stocking 635 lake trout yearlings (5 fish per acre) biennially starting in 2021 through at least 2031; implement a one-lake trout daily limit with a minimum size limit of 22 inches; establish a cisco population by stocking up to 1,270 adult ciscoes (up to 10 fish per acre) and lake trout population with targeted gill netting and hydroacoustic surveys at least once every five years starting at least three years after the first lake trout stocking.

Royalton’s Chloe Holoman wins 2018 Lakes Bee spelling bee

Chloe Holoman is headed to Washington, D.C. at the end of May to represent central Minnesota at the Scripps her words correctly through 10 rounds to earn the title of 2018 Lakes Bee Champion. The word to secure her win was “einkorn” – an ancient Mediterranean wheat used as fodder in prehistoric times, but now rarely grown. According to her, that was not her most challenging word of the day. “Persistent” was my toughest word,” Holoman said. “I couldn’t remember if it was ‘ent’ or ‘ant’. I was glad to get that one over with.” The two-time champion of Royalton’s spelling bee and two-time participant of the Lakes Bee is the first student from Royalton to win the regional spelling bee. Holoman says she’s excited, but knows she has a lot of studying ahead of her before she heads to the national bee.

Her mother, Christina Holoman, says she helped her daughter prepare for

She says Chloe is an avid reader and has had a knack for writing and spelling from a very young age. “She could write her name by the time she was two or three years old,” she said. “It was very exciting watching her up on stage today. I’m very proud of her.” Esme Pool, eighth grad-

Author Simar to visit Aitkin Library

East Central Regional Library is excited to present a special visit featuring Minnesota author Candace Simar at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 22 at the Aitkin Public Library. A writer and poet in Pequot Lakes, Minnesota, Simar’s historical novels include “Shelterbelts,” 2015, receiving awards from both the Midwest Book Awards and the WILLA Literary Awards in Historical Fiction, and her Abercrombie Trail Series earned the coveted Spur Award. She along with her sister wrote “Farm Girls,” 2013, which celebrates growing up on a dairy farm. Simar has a passion for her Scandinavian heritage and a deep love of history. And she enjoys speaking to groups about her research and writing. She is a member of the Western Writers of America,
