Strange BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver

* It was famed Roman emperor Marcus Aurelius who made the following sage observation: "Everything we hear is an opinion, not a fact. Everything we see is a perspective, not the truth."

* The United States isn't the only country that has an accolade to recognize excellence in the film industry. Here the awards are known as the Oscars, but other nations have their own names: In Canada they're known as Genies, in France they're Cesars, in Russia they're called Nikas, in Mexico they're Golden Ariels, in Spain they're known as Goyas, and in the United Kingdom they're called BAFTAs (formerly the Orange British Academy Film Awards).

* Here's a disturbing statistic for parents: If your child is like the average American youth, between the ages of 5 and 15 they will see approximately 13,500 people killed on television.

* A chicken, a sheep and a duck get in the basket of a hot air balloon. No, that's not the first line of a joke; they really were passengers on a hot air balloon -- the very first passengers in that type of conveyance, as a matter of fact.

* Those who study such things say that fully one-third of all your brainpower is used for vision. ***

PIEDMONT PETS

March 22, 2018
By Paulette Dean

Most visitors to the shelter are greeted with a sweet greeting from Buddy, our umbrella cockatoo. On March 31st, we will celebrate his eleven year anniversary with us. He was formerly known as Number 176.

In February of 2007, we heard of the closure of a large bird breeding facility in Greensboro. About 600 birds were going to be auctioned off. The advertisement of the closing and auction offended many people by calling the birds "proven factory money-makers."

Bird activists from all over the country started collecting money to save as many birds as possible from being sold to those who would continue to just use them for the pet bird industry. Since Danville is so close to Greensboro, many groups sent us money.

We looked over the auction list repeatedly and had a list of the most pitiful ones we wanted to bid on. Because of controversy, the auction was changed to an on-line event.

The day of the auction was hard. We went by our list and were able to win most of the ones we were interested in. On the list was a single Umbrella cockatoo that looked healthy; his number was 176. During that time, the cockatoo number 176 came up. In a weak moment, I bid on him. The other cockatoos had gone for very high prices, but I bid $400 on him and we won him.

Number 176 became a favorite of the shelter staff. We named him Buddy. He was supposed to go to a sanctuary in Indiana, but we just could not let him go. We bought him a huge cage and told him his troubles were truly over. Buddy, through the years, has fallen in love with April, the shelter manager. He calls her name incessantly. Buddy stays on top of his cage all day. He knows that on Fridays he will receive a peanut butter treat from Rachel, a faithful volunteer. His life is a full, happy one.

We are going to celebrate his 11-year anniversary with a party, combined with our pet photos with the Easter Bunny. This event will take place on March 24th from 11-2. Visitors who bring any toy, food item, or any treat (for any animal) will be able to have their picture taken with Buddy for free. Check out our Facebook page for more details about our Easter Bunny event.

How we love Buddy!
Number 176 was our lucky number.

Easter Bunny

When did the Easter bunny become part of the tradition of the religious Easter holiday? Easter began to be observed hundreds of years ago to commemorate the rising of Christ from the dead, and it has gradually become associated with the themes of the renewal of life in nature and flowers. It was not until about the 18th century that the Easter egg became part of the celebration.

This papier-mache candy container, made in 1900, is an Easter bunny in a peasant dress. She carries an Easter basket but no eggs. At 16 inches tall, the rabbit probably was a store display.

The egg has long been a symbol of eternal life, and decorating and hunting for eggs became part of the symbolism of the holiday. As years passed, cardboard and papier-mache eggs were used, then real eggshells with the liquid egg blown out through a small hole. Other countries used sugar eggs and wooden eggs. All eggs were decorated. Soon there were Easter egg hunts and Easter egg rolls, but still no Easter bunny.

During the early 18th century, Pennsylvania Germans suggested that, in spring, the Easter Bunny would hide eggs or perhaps put them in an upside-down hat that was left out overnight. That custom soon grew to a basket to be filled with eggs, candy and fake green grass. By the 20th century, there were stuffed-toy Easter bunnies, porcelain figurines of bunnies and a German business making papier-mache and cardboard Easter bunny candy containers, which were sold in the U.S. and filled with candy. By the 1920s, there were tin or glass candy containers shaped like bunnies and other Easter symbols and, of course, toys.

Holiday collecting is becoming more popular. Easter items include religious pictures and memorabilia, baskets, bunnies, chicks, ducks, nut cups, place cards, postcards and store advertising. Prices have gone down and up since 1980.

Q. My childhood teddy bear is, I am told, a Steiff and valuable. What determines the price?

A. Some Steiff teddy bears sell for thousands of dollars, but many things influence the price. A real Steiff should have a button in the ear that says Steiff. The high-priced bears are old and have mohair fabric in a rare color. White, lavender, black or red is best. Older bears are stuffed with straw, kapok, excelsior or sawdust, not polyester. Any nylon or plastic part suggests a newer bear, worth a lower price. Very large and very small bears are expensive. "Well-loved" (tattered) bears used to be OK, but now collectors want toys in almost perfect condition.

ABC/Stuart Pettican

Freddie Highmore

Q. Hands down, my favorite new show is "The Good Doctor." Please tell me that it has been renewed for another season! — Patti T., via email

A. ABC's breakout freshman medical drama has indeed been renewed. As you know, the show centers on Dr. Shaun Murphy (expertly played by Freddie Highmore), a first-year surgical resident at Chastain Medical Center in San Jose, California. Shaun has autism and savant syndrome, which serves to help him see solutions that his colleagues sometimes can't when tough medical cases cross their paths. According to the numbers, "The Good Doctor" is ABC's most-watched new series in 13 years, and its audience holds steady each week. Earlier this season, Freddie received a Golden Globe nomination for his work as the unique doctor. The series, which airs Monday nights at 10/9c, also stars Richard Schiff, Antonia Thomas, Nicholas Gonzalez, Chuku Modu, Beau Garrett, Hill Harper and Tamlyn Tomita.

Q. I remember there had been talk of a "Sopranos" movie before James Gandolfini passed away a few years ago, in order to let us know how everyone is doing after that shocking series finale. Are there any plans to resurrect that idea? — Jonathan F., Trenton, NJ

A. Because of James' death back in 2013, the possibility of a "Sopranos" where-are-they-now movie is pretty much nil; however, series creator David Chase recently announced that there is a movie prequel in the works. Warner Bros. recently announced that Chase and Lawrence Konner (a writer for "The Sopranos" and "Boardwalk Empire") have already written a script, tentatively titled "The Many Saints of Newark." According to The New York Times, the story will take place in Newark during the 1960s and revolve around the city's race riots, which pitted the Italian and African-American communities against each other during the "Long Hot Summer of 1967."

READERS: Let's talk reboots (again)! In the past few weeks, I've been mentioning older series that have gained new life, including "Roseanne," "Charmed," "American Idol," "Will and Grace," "Full House," "Murphy Brown," etc. Now you can add "Roswell" to list of revived series. The CW has given a pilot order to revisit the fantasy/alien drama series, which, like the original series, is based on the Melinda Metz book "Roswell High," with this go-round having an immigration twist.

The CW gave this description: "After reluctantly returning to her tourist-trap hometown of Roswell, New Mexico, the daughter of undocumented immigrants discovers a shocking truth about her teenage crush who is now a police officer: He's an alien who has kept his unearthly abilities hidden his entire life. She protects his secret as the two reconnect and begin to investigate his origins, but when a violent attack and long-standing government cover-up point to a greater alien presence on Earth, the politics of fear and hatred threaten to expose him and destroy their deepening romance."

Your face is frozen in blissful eternal sleep now, As I kiss you goodbye on your cold brow, A tearful glance as you're taken away, there was nothing anyone could do or say. My pleas and tears won't bring you back to me. Comforting family and friends could not help me to see, No words could explain to my grieving heart why cruel death had to tear my world apart. Sometimes I find treasured mementos you kept or reread cherished cards from you as I wept, fond memories return from photos of smiling faces or suddenly come to mind in the strangest places. Although I sometimes sadly long for all the yesterdays and miss our chats, your gifts reminded me that you loved me and truly cared. Your death is a painful memory. Memories in recesses of my mind treasury have helped save me from grief's dark lonely decree, the loving bonds remain and will never part. You are with me as a part of my heart. They comfort me until I see you when I'm called to join you on an eternal shore. I love and miss each of you so much.

*I love y'all

"Defiling Grace, How Harsh The Sound"

Back in my teenage years I had a friend who lived in the city limits. I was a country dweller, used to trees, fields, and lots of open spaces. But his house was squarely in the midst of all of the other houses in the neighborhood, and it is no exaggeration to say that a person could get from one house to the next in under three seconds time. Because of that, no one had septic tanks and field lines, everyone was on city sewer.

Most everyone had basements as well, and therein lay the potential for the disaster that struck my friend and his family.

Somewhere in the front yard the line from their house to the sewer line in the street got clogged up. My friend's parents did what any wise people would do, I suppose, and called a plumber to come fix the problem.

Did you know that not all plumbers are created equal? This family apparently did not. The fact that he arrived in a vehicle that no self-respecting homeless person would ever be seen in probably should have been their first clue that disaster was imminent.

This plumber, if he can even charitably be called that, proceeded to make his way to the basement where the clean out plug was located. That plug just so happened to be in my friend's bedroom, coming down through his ceiling, making a ninety degree turn, and going out through his wall into the front yard.

Mr. Poorplumber found that plug, grabbed a large set of pliers, and unscrewed it. Are you already beginning to see the problem? No plastic, no catch basin, he just unscrewed it. When he did, everything that was backing up and under pressure in the yard and in the house immediately exploded into his room, shooting the plug out of his hand. Panicked, Mr. Poorplumber wheeled around and grabbed the first thing he could find, and shoved it up against the now open pipe to try and stop the torrent of filth.

What he grabbed was my friend's very expensive leather coat.

Mr. Poorplumber screamed for help, drawing the attention of the homeowner. Together they managed to get the plug re-inserted, at which point he got the incredibly brilliant idea to get a huge trash can in which to catch what filth remained, though there was precious little that was not already covering every inch of the bed, walls, floor, etc.

That expensive leather coat? It was utterly ruined. Being soaked and spattered by human waste reduced a beautiful thing into an abominably filthy thing, one that no one would ever be willing to wear again.

In Jude verse four, Jude caustically spoke of those who "turn the grace of God into lasciviousness." That Old English word means "unbridled lust and shamelessness."

When we think of grace, it is likely that the first thought that comes to mind is the incomparable hymn of the faith, Amazing Grace.

Grace, God's unmerited favor to unworthy man, should always be amazing. But when people turn grace into an excuse to live as they please, they have taken that which is amazing and made it as filthy and worthless as my friend's human-waste-covered coat.

Grace is no excuse to commit adultery. Grace is no excuse for a pornography habit, drunkenness, a filthy mouth, or fornication. Nor does the fact that grace and mercy should be extended to the repentant sinner automatically remove all of the consequences of such lives of sin. Yet sadly, from time to time even a few preachers themselves set this abominable example, living like the devil himself, then decrying the "lack of grace" on the part of those who point out their sin and their obvious disqualification from ministry, or at least the obvious need to step down until things are repented of and truly set right. Jude called those men "ungodly," and said that they are "denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ."

Titus 2:12 says that real grace teaches us to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world. Paul said in Romans 6:1-2 "What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid."

Amazing Grace how sweet the sound, yes. Defiling Grace, how harsh the sound, no. Not now, not ever, there is simply no excuse for it.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Leonardo DiCaprio and Brad Pitt are joining forces for Quentin Tarantino's ninth film, "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood." Tarantino spent five years writing the script about Hollywood in 1969, and since he is one of the ultimate film buffs, who better than Tarantino? The film has DiCaprio playing a former Western star and Pitt as his longtime stuntman. Leo's cowboy lives next door to Sharon Tate, who was murdered, with her friends, by The Manson Family. Margot Robbie, Oscar nominated for "I, Tonya," is set to play Sharon Tate. Tarantino worked with Pitt in "Inglorious Basterds" (2009) and with DiCaprio in "Django Unchained" (2012).

Rob Lowe

Chris Hemsworth may put his "Thor" hammer down, for a while, to take on aliens in the spin-off of "Men in Black" (which won't have either Tommy Lee Jones or Will Smith). It's set for a June 2019 release. "Saturday Night Live" alum and "Bridesmaids" (2011) star Kristen Wiig will do battle with Diana Prince (aka "Wonder Woman") in the sequel of the blockbuster 2017 film, which grossed $821 million. "Black Panther" is set to pass "Wonder Woman" at the box office any day now, and hit the $1 billion mark shortly thereafter.

When "The Bad Seed" hit movie theaters in 1956, it earned three Oscar acting nominations, for Nancy Kelly, Eileen Heckart and young Patty McCormack. It was remade as a TV film in 1985 with Lynn Redgrave and David Carradine, but wasn't a critical or ratings hit. Lifetime planned to remake it in 2015, but it was postponed ... until now.

Rob Lowe will star, produce and direct for Lifetime and has cast McKenna Grace in the title role as the murderous child. McKenna has a recurring role in "Designated Survivor"

(as Kiefer Sutherland's daughter), is in Netflix's "Fuller House" and will star in its upcoming remake of "The Haunting of Hill House." "Hill House" was filmed as "The Haunting" in 1963 with Julie Harris and Claire Bloom, and in 1999 with Liam Neeson and Catherine Zeta-Jones. Patty McCormack, long associated with the original "Bad Seed," will play the psychiatrist who treats her in this one.

Six-time Oscar-nominee Shirley MaLaine, who won an Oscar for "Terms of Endearment" (1983), is truly one of the last movie stars left on the planet. She'll play an elf named Polly, the childhood nanny of Noelle, the daughter of Santa Claus, played by Anna Kendrick, in Disney's "Noelle." "SNL" alum Bill Hader plays her brother, and Julie Hagerty plays Mrs. Claus. Michael Gross of "Family Ties" will portray the Elder Elf. It's set to open in November 2019. MaLaine, who has written several books about past lives, probably never thought she'd be an elf in this one!

Steps to take before an appraiser's visit

While certain variables involved in the appraisal process, such as location of the home and the value of surrounding homes, are beyond homeowners' control, the Appraisal Institute recommends homeowners take the following steps before an appraiser visits their home.

Homeowners unfamiliar with the appraisal process might not know if there is anything they can do to make the process go more smoothly. While certain variables involved in the appraisal process, such as location of the home and the value of surrounding homes, are beyond homeowners' control, the Appraisal Institute recommends homeowners take the following steps before an appraiser visits their home.

- Clean the house. A dirty home that is full of clutter will not make the best impression on appraisers. Dirty homes may be vulnerable to insect infestations that can lead to structural problems with the home. While a dirty home is not necessarily an indicator of infestations or a reflection of a home's value, a clean home will create a stronger first impression with the appraiser.

- Make any necessary repairs ahead of the appointment. Homeowners who have been putting off repairs should make them before the appraiser arrives. Homes with repairs that still need to be made will likely be valued less than similar homes with no such repair issues. Though repairs can be costly, investing in home repairs will likely increase both the appraisal and resale value of the home.

- Obtain all necessary documents before the appraiser arrives. Homeowners who have certain documentation at the ready can speed up the appraisal process. Such documentation may include a survey of the house and property; a deed or title report; a recent tax bill; if applicable, a list of items to be sold with the house; purchase history of the home; and the original plans and specifications of the home.

- Inform the appraiser about recent improvements. Homeowners can inform appraisers about any recent improvements to the home and the cost of those improvements. The value of home improvements with regard to a home's appraisal value vary depending on a host of variables, but having such information at the ready can help appraisers make the most informed appraisal possible.

Debaele at the VA

"It was difficult to pinpoint precisely how the conditions described in this report could have persisted at the Medical Center for so many years."

Thus begins the conclusion to the full report issued by the Department of Veterans Affairs' investigative office, the follow-up to a scathing interim report issued one year ago about deficiencies at the Washington, D.C. VA Medical Center.

The interim report -- issued quickly because of the dire situation -- detailed dirty clean/sterile storerooms, millions of dollars in supplies that hadn't been inventoried sitting in a dirty warehouse with a parade of people wandering through, missing equipment, having to borrow surgical equipment at the last minute from other hospitals or cancel the surgery (sometimes after the patient had already been put under), lack of safety recall procedures that left expired items on the shelves, and much more. Now the full investigation has been completed.

VA Secretary David Shulkin quickly issued a press release itemizing all the great improvements made on problems in the interim report. They include establishing a new process for identifying potential supply shortages and a 24-hour hotline to procure those items. A sterile processing center will be completed in March 2019. Access to equipment and supplies in a warehouse now is restricted.

How, one wonders, does a surgical unit run out of the staplers that close an incision? How does a hospital emergency room run out of the thin tubes that deliver oxygen to the nose? How could outages in crucial supplies continue, six months after the interim report came out? And how, as recently as four months ago, could rusted instruments still be on hand?

So, do I trust the press release issued by the VA on the heels of the complete Office of the Inspector General report? No.

The annual budget for the VA OIG should be doubled. To review the whole 158-page report, go to www.va.gov/oig/pubs/VAOIG-17-02644-130.pdf.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Resist a confrontation with that irksome person. The matter will soon blow over anyway. Meanwhile, channel your high Arian energy into areas with more positive potential.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The innovative Bovine finds a creative way to resolve a sensitive domestic problem by midweek. A former colleague returns with an intriguing business suggestion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) An unexpected critical statement from someone you trust could catch you momentarily off guard. But you soon recover your equilibrium and rise to the challenge.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You might feel you can handle a new project on your own. But advice from someone with experience could help you avoid possibly costly as well as time-consuming obstacles.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Waiting for others to make decisions is difficult for the take-charge Lion. But by week's end, you should hear news that will help you regain control of the situation.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your superjudgmental side could dominate the week unless you try to keep it in check. Otherwise you risk offending people, including some who are very close to you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Expect more information to come out about that possible career shift. Meanwhile, your loving concern helps someone close to you get through a worrisome period.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Despite an occasional setback, workplace pressures should continue to ease through most of the week. This would be a good time to plan that long-delayed trip.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) The sage Sagittarian quickly recognizes an opportunity when she or he sees it, especially if it's one you've been planning for. Take aim and go for it.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The Sea Goat's unique insight guides you as you check out a questionable situation. Your efforts should prove rewarding for you and your many supporters.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You might want to pace yourself a bit more. Rushing could lead to serious slip-ups. Take more time to check out details you might otherwise overlook.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) The best way to resolve those remaining problems is to ask others for help. They'll be happy to do so, especially when you agree to share the credit for a job well done.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your natural gift for honest leadership earns you the respect and admiration of others.

FAVORITE RECIPES

TERIYAKI CHICKEN CASSEROLE

INGREDIENTS

- 3/4 cup low-sodium soy sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon minced garlic
- 2 Tablespoons cornstarch + 2 Tablespoons water
- 2 small boneless skinless chicken breasts
- 1 (12 oz.) bag stir-fry vegetables (Can be found in the produce section)
- 3 cups cooked brown or white rice

INSTRUCTIONS

- Preheat oven to 350° F. Spray a 9x13-inch baking pan with non-stick spray.
- Combine soy sauce, 1/2 cup water, brown sugar, ginger and garlic in a small saucepan and cover. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Remove lid and cook for one minute once boiling.
- Meanwhile, stir together the corn starch and 2 tablespoons of water in a separate dish until smooth. Once sauce is boiling, add mixture to the saucepan and stir to combine. Cook until the sauce starts to thicken then remove from heat.
- Place the chicken breasts in the prepared pan. Pour one cup of the sauce over top of chicken.
- Place chicken in oven and bake 35 minutes or until cooked through. Remove from oven and shred chicken in the dish using two forks.
- *Meanwhile, steam or cook the vegetables according to package directions.
- Add the cooked vegetables and rice to the casserole dish with the chicken. Add most of the remaining sauce, reserving a bit to drizzle over the top when serving. Gently toss everything together in the casserole dish until combined. Return to oven and cook 15 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes before serving. Drizzle each serving with remaining sauce. Enjoy!

Most plants can lose only about 10% of their water content before they die. During a typical dry period, the resurrection fern can lose up to 75% of its water content (and possibly up to 97% in an extreme drought), causing it to shrivel to a grayish-brown clump of leaves.

Resurrection fern

When it is once again exposed to water, it unfurls from its shriveled state to its former length, and appears green and healthy once again. In the U.S. it is found throughout the southeastern states, usually anchored to the trunk or branches of an oak tree.

NOW HERE'S A TIP
By JoAnn Derson

* "If you make your own whipped cream, try using honey instead of sugar. I find that it has a sweeter flavor, and it also stays firm longer than regular sugar. I especially like it on tarts." -- C.A. in Louisiana

* Here's a nifty trick to store lots of sunglasses using two thumbtacks and a length of ribbon. Keep your ribbon no longer than 10 inches, and tack it up to the wall in a taut horizontal line. Then slip one arm of the sunglasses behind the ribbon. Instant display and easy access.

* Keep charger cords from fraying by slipping on a spring from an ink pen. You also can cut a straw in half and make a slit down the side. Then slip the straw over your charging cord.

* Dried-out markers are the worst, but they don't have to be. Refresh your dried-out washable markers with a little marker therapy -- something that your kids can do! Dip a dried marker into a very small amount of water -- just enough that it takes up the water rather than coloring it. Then wrap the tip with a small piece of plastic wrap, and recap. Let set for an hour or so, then repeat until refreshed. You can do the same with permanent markers using alcohol rather than water.

* "I love bumper stickers, but hate the look of an old, faded, peeling tableau on the back of my ride. When I get a bumper sticker I like, I apply it to a sheet magnet found at craft stores. Then I cut out and slap it on. In fact, I can change my look whenever I like, and I store them on the inside of my garage door!" -- E.K. in New Hampshire

The Spats

Rookie Landing

As the passengers settled in on a West Coast commuter flight, a flight attendant announced, "We'd like you folks to help us welcome our new co-pilot. He'll be performing his first commercial landing for us today, so be sure to give him a big round of applause when we come to a stop."

The plane made an extremely bumpy landing, bouncing hard two or three times before taxiing to a stop. Still, the passengers applauded.

Then the attendant's voice came over the intercom, "Thanks for flying with us. And don't forget to let our co-pilot know which landing you liked best."
