St. Dom's students perform Living Stations of the Cross

Students at Saint Dominic Academy commemorated Good Friday on March 30 by performing the Living Stations of the Cross at the school's Auburn campus.

While many Catholic schools are closed on Good Friday, St. Dominic president Donald Fournier said students attended for a half day so they would have the opportunity to witness the Stations of the Cross. Students from both the Lewiston elementary school campus and the Auburn middle and high school campus attended.

Nearly 40 eighth graders, dressed in period costumes, took fellow students, faculty, staff, and family members on a journey that began with Jesus' prayers to his Father in the Garden of Gethsemane, continued with his betrayal, condemnation, and crucifixion, and concluded with the placing of his body in the tomb.

The students played the parts of Jesus, St. Peter, Judas, Pontius Pilate, the Blessed Mother, Simon of Cyrene, St. Joseph of Arimathea, and Roman soldiers, among other roles.

The Stations of the Cross is a devotion that dates back to the early days of the Church. They are prayed throughout Lent, but most especially on Good Friday, the day when Christians recall Christ's passion and death. It is the only day of the year when Mass is not celebrated.

Local warden promoted to Landowner Relations position

Game Warden Corporal Dave Chabot

The Maine Warden Service has selected Game Warden Corporal Dave Chabot of Greene to fill its second Landowner Relations position. Chabot will compliment Corporal Rick LaFlamme in the program by focusing on small land-Chabot has had a comprehensive 21-year career with the Warden Service, including service on many boards and commissions on the state, local, and department levels. He has held supervisory-level positions as a field training officer, Maine Warden Service Cadre team leader, board examiner, and Maine Criminal Justice Academy instructor. He is an active member of the Warden Service's K9 team.

He was selected for the position by a promotion board comprised of five members representing the Small Woodlot Owners Association, the Wildlife and Fisheries Management Divisions of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, the Recreational Trails Division of the Department of Agriculture Conservation and Forestry, and the MDIFW Commissioner's Office.

Maine Immigrant and Refugee Services honored at State House

Lewiston-based Maine Immigrant and Refugee Services was honored by the Maine State Legislature recently for a decade of helping refugee youth and their families become educated and empowered members of their communities.

Both the Maine Senate and House acknowledged MEIRS for their work to promote a pathway to citizenship, productivity, and social and economic self-sufficiency. MEIRS also provides behavioral health services focused on building mental, emotional, and physical well-being.

The legislative sentiment was sponsored by Senator Libby of Androscoggin County and co-sponsored by Representatives James Handy, Roger Fuller, Jared Golden and Heidi Brooks of Lewiston.

Rilwan Osman, executive director of MEIRS, expressed his gratitude to the legislators for the commendation and to the staff of MEIRS for their work. "It has been an incredible honor to be here in the State House today to celebrate our organization," said Osman. "This recognition is a See Maine, page 6

Governor's Address: Do the right thing with Downeast Correctional Facility

As Governor, it's my responsibility to make the tough decisions. The upcoming closure of the Downeast Correctional Facility in Washington County is the right thing to do.

Dear Maine Taxpayer, As Governor, it's my responsibility to make the tough decisions. The upcoming closure of the Downeast Correctional Facility in Washington County is the right thing

The Department of Corrections has the duty and responsibility to run secure and humane facilities for convicted felons in a fiscally sound manner.

Keeping Downeast

Correctional Facility open violates these principles unless we spend millions of dollars to improve an outdated, decaying facility.

This facility was built in 1955 as Bucks Harbor Air Force Base, providing radar support to Brunswick Naval Air Station. In the early 1980s, the Legislature bought it from the federal government and opened it as a prison, although it was never designed as one.

In 2002, the voters rejected a bond initiative to replace the facility. It continued to degrade. Governors King and Baldacci each tried to close it.

After decades of neglect, the annual legislative attempts to keep it on life-support must end.

Governor Paul R. LePage

Over the past 10 years, Downeast Correctional Facility has cost more to operate on a per-inmate-basis than Maine State Prison: DCF averages $44,148 per inmate per year, while MSP averages $43,773. It's not efficient.

This prison is not a solution to Washington County's economic challenges. It isn't even a band-

We've invested millions of dollars to improve the economy of Washington County, and our efforts are paving off. My administration has invested more than eight million new dollars in the University of Maine at Machias for marine business incubation, the softshell clam industry, and seaweed farming. We've reinvigorated the Bailleyville Mill.

The people of Washington County earned $38 million more dollars in wages in 2017 than in 2010. The unemployment rate in the county is at 5.2 percent - the lowest rate ever.

Rather than wasting money patching up 63-yearold buildings at the end of their useful life, I am focused on creating jobs and improving workforce readiness in Washington County.

When we closed the prison, the employers of DCF's inmates hired local people. When the department called to say that a few of the inmates were coming back, they said, "Great! Just, give us a couple days to lay off the local people." Wrong answer.

Prisons are not jobs programs. They are not economic investment. For those fighting to keep Downeast open, I challenge them to make the harder but better choice.

We should sell the property to private investors who will redevelop it. Then we can put the savings into the substance abuse rehabilitation program in Windham, where it is truly needed. Which is more important, a new drug rehabilitation program or an old, outdated

Let's stop playing games with the employees, the inmates, the employers, and the people of Washington County. Close it on July 1, as planned, and move on.

It's the right thing to do.

> Thank You, Paul R. LePage Governor

Clean-Up Assistance Week in Lewiston

Lewiston's 2018 Clean-Up Assistance Week will take place during the last full week of April (Monday, April 23 through Friday, April 27). During that week, Lewiston's Public Works Department will collect brush from residential properties. Butt ends should be left facing the street. Quantities are limited to no more than one standard pick-up truck load per residence.

All brush to be collected must be at curbside no later than Sunday, April 22. City staff will collect brush throughout the week, but once they have collected brush from a given street, they will not return to that street.

Public Works Department staff will not collect tree stumps, wood greater than 12" in diameter, or any demolition wood, such as fencing, old decking, or wood from construction projects.

Unlike in previous years, the Solid Waste Facility will not waive tip fees or use of ePass during this week. Historically, the city provided one week in April when residents could dispose of solid waste items from their homes at the Solid Waste Facility at 424 River Road and were not charged a disposal fee. That program has been modified.

The current program allows residential property owners to set up an ePass account for this service. There is no charge to establish the ePass account, and this can be done in the City Treasurer's Office on the second floor of Lewiston City Hall or in the Scale House at the City's Solid Waste Facility.

Once the account has been set up, the resident can dispose of up to 1,000 pounds of household waste - including construction and demolition waste, refrigeration appliances, old furniture, yard debris, waste tires, electronic waste items, etc. - at no cost. Once the 1,000-pound limit has been exceeded, residents will be charged the nominal disposal fee of $93 per ton, or $95 per ton for construction and demolition waste, for any overage.

Residents can dispose of their household waste at the Solid Waste Facility during normal business hours, weekdays from 7:15 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. and Saturdays from 8 to 11:50 a.m. The gates are closed at the listed closing time. Please arrive 15 minutes before closing to assure that you have adequate time to dispose of your waste items.

The ePass account is good for one year from the date of issue. Residents who are tenants of rental property may also obtain an ePass account, but will be required to pay $20 for this service.

For more information about Lewiston's Clean-Up Assistance Week, call the Solid Waste Facility at 513-3006; TTY/TDD: 513-3007.

Game wardens honored at annual awards ceremony

Several local game wardens were among those honored at the Maine Warden Service's annual awards banquet, held recently at the VFW post in Winslow. The work of Maine's game wardens is diverse, challenging, and takes place during the best and worst of weather conditions. Achievements recognized at the annual event include incidents where human lives are saved or Maine's natural resources are conserved in ways deserving special recognition.

Receiving the K9 Conservation Case of the Year Award were Game Warden Dave Chabot and K9 Ruby of Greene. They were recognized for their evidence search efforts regarding a case in the town of Paris on November 8, when Corporal Chabot and K9 Ruby located critical evidence at the scene of a shooting-too-close-toa-dwelling incident that involved an elderly assisted-living apartment building. Charges were brought due to their evidence detection. Chabot was also recognized for his efforts with an exemplary Service Award.

Also receiving Exemplary Service Awards were the following local wardens: Tony Gray of Oxford, who was recognized for his investigative and enforcement efforts during the fall 2017 hunting seasons, including managing two hunting-related shooting incidents and apprehending intentional violators in a variety of hunting-related cases; Evan Franklin of Brunswick, who was recognized for his life-saving efforts to find a missing 73-year-old woman in Wavne in July of 2017; Bob Decker of Bowdoinham, who was recognized for his outstanding field performance and teamwork during a horse shooting investigation in See Warden, page 6

A4TD offers Senior Community Service Employment Program

Are you unemployed, age 55-plus, and looking for work? Associates for Training and Development (A4TD) administers the Senior Community Service Employment Program, which helps mature people get back into the workforce by providing paid occupational skills and workplace experience training.

Designed specifically for income-qualified workers ages 55-plus, the purpose of the SCSEP is to provide training and skill-building opportunities to program participants while providing much needed community service to local non-profits and public agencies.

Some examples of training sites include hospitals, libraries, senior centers, schools, town clerks' offices, and museums. These agencies provide internship opportunities where program participants learn updated job skills. In addition to on-site training, each participant receives career assessments, technology skills updates, supportive services referrals, and career counseling.

If you are looking for an opportunity to train for available jobs, learn updated job search skills, and connect with local employers, call the local SCSEP office at 520-2487, ext. 252 or apply online at www.a4td.org.

MEIRS also held a luncheon and information session for legislators, providing them with insight the University of Maine, Howie Day began playing piano at age five and guitar at age 12. By age 15, he was writing music and performing across New England. In 2001, Day wrote, financed, and released his first album, "Australia," which was named Best Debut Album at the Boston Music Awards. At about this time, Day developed his unique style of using effects pedals and loop-sampling, layering live percussion with vocal harmonies and guitar parts to become a veritable oneman band. He has had a song go gold, had two Top 10 radio hits, and is probably best known for his Platinum single "Collide."

Advocates for Children says: "Help Great Childhoods Happen!"

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month and Advocates for Children, a local organization dedicated to the primary prevention of child abuse and neglect in Androscoggin County, is spreading the message that everyone can help great childhoods happen in their commu-

Research suggests that many people are already playing a role in preventing child abuse and creating great childhoods in their communities, they just don't realize it. A study commissioned by Prevent Child Abuse America shows that only 27% of Americans report that they are engaged in prevention. However, that same study showed that 80% of Americans reported donating goods, money, or time to an organization supporting children and families; 70% reported volunteering with children through places of worship, schools, and sports or academic clubs; and 56% provided mentorship to a child in their family, neighborhood, or community.

show that many people are already involved in activities that prevent child abuse and neglect," said Dan Duffy, President and CEO of Prevent Child Abuse America. "This April, we are working nationally to educate the public about how they are already helping to prevent child abuse, as well as offering some positive ideas about how we all can help children and families thrive."

In response to their research, Prevent Child Abuse America is encouraging the public to learn more about how three specific actions - mentoring children and parents, advocating for family-friendly policies, and donating time and money - relate to child abuse prevention, while giving the public tools and resources they need to get involved in these activities.

Some suggestions from Advocates for Children for how people in Androscoggin County can get involved include volunteering at an after-school program, like a sports or academic teams; advocating for federal and state policies that support children and families, such as funding initiatives that support prevention programs; donating money to organizations that support and strengthen families, such as Advocates for Children, the Child Abuse and Neglect Council for Androscoggin County; and supporting an expectant or new parent by reaching out and offering to help, or referring them to a Maine Families Home Visiting Program.

Maine Families is a statewide network serving the needs of pregnant women and parents with newborns. Advocates for Children provides this program for all eligible families living in Androscoggin County.

"At Advocates for Children, we believe we all play a role in the healthy development of children,' said Executive Director Gillian Roy. "Children need multiple adults in their lives to keep them safe, ensure that they are nurtured, and help them to thrive. You've probably See Children, page 16

Fun Ways to Help Kids Enjoy Math, Science and Art

Science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics (STEAM) concepts are especially important for young minds. While these are among the most challenging school subjects, at home, these topics can be brought to life through play.

"Children should be encouraged to endlessly explore their creativity and be provided outlets to continuously discover through creative play," says Hiu Lee, senior VP of Horizon Group USA, a leader in the creative DIY marketplace.

Consider these items that allow children to put real-world science theories to the test while learning fun facts along the way.

Lab Work

A kid's activity kit gives little scientists an opportunity to start creating. With the Project MC2 Lip Balm Lab, kids can create single- or multi-layer lip balms. This kit includes all of the ingredients required, plus kids can decorate the finished product with science-themed stickers.

Chemistry Connection Transform your kitchen into a scientific laboratory with the 40 fun and interactive experiments and simple chemical reactions found in the Discovery Extreme Chemistry Set. From creating temperature reactions to testing your taste buds, these hands-on experiments are great for parents and kids to do together. Create liquid ice, work through color-changing litmus experiments, create creepy, more to show children just how connected to chemistry the world around them is.

Science That Glows

Illuminate your child's knowledge by combining simple chemistry with glowing power. With the Think Box Glowing Science Lab, kids can explore the basics of chemical compounds and reactions, while creating their own glow-in-the-dark toys and science experiments. The kit includes a ball mold, glow-in-the-dark power ball crystals, zinc sulfate, baking soda, citric acid, guar gum, sodium tetra borate, resealable bags, glow-in-the-dark paint, a mixing stick and a fun poster with instructions.

Bath Time Bubbles

Mix together compounds, add color and shimmer, and create a molded bath bomb in the shape of your choice with YOUniverse Galactic Bath Bombs. Once you have made your creations, pop them into the bath tub and watch as they fizz and bubble.

By giving kids the tools they need to explore the world around them, you can make the most of play time. (StatePoint)

Maine Event Comedy at Baxter Brewing

Jay Chanoine headlines the show on Friday, April 6.

Maine Event Comedy will present Manchester,

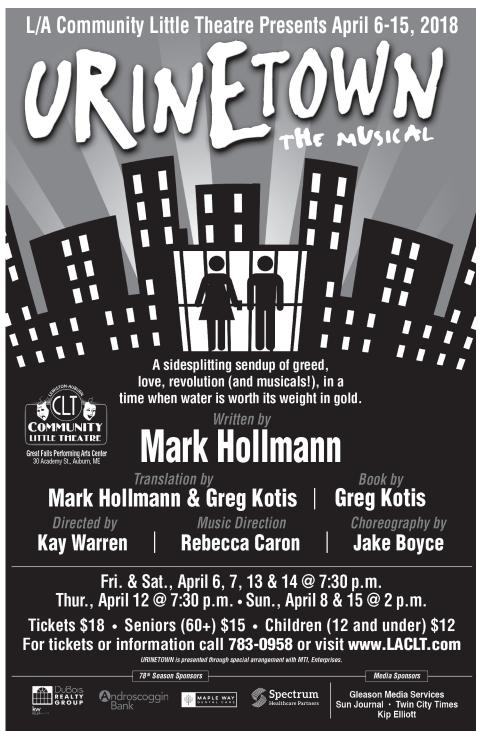

New Hampshire's Jay Chanoine at Baxter Brewing on Friday, April 6 at 7 p.m. He'll be joined by Leah Douglass, Kathleen DeMarle, and Danny Jordan.

Described by AXS as "the funniest comedian you don't know yet," Jay Chanoine has honed his cynical perspective and sharp wit on stages throughout the East Coast for the past nine years. His debut album, "Come on Feel Chanoine," was released in 2015 and captures his passion for pop culture minutiae, married life, and dairy products.

Chanoine is a mainstay on JT Habeersaat's "Altercation Punk Comedy Tour" and enjoys cheeseburgers, Junior Mints, and a handful of people.

Leah Douglass is a familiar face on the Maine comedy scene. She was a part of last year's Portland Comedy Festival and the Women of New England show. She's a regular at Blue and Lincolns in Portland and aspires to not get fired from her actual job for doing stand-up.

"Green Thumb Gang" founder recounts group's story at Lisbon Historical Society

At the next meeting of the Lisbon Historical Society on Wednesday, April 11 at 7 p.m., Faye Brown, founder of the "Green Thumb Gang," and her assistant, Noyes Lawrence, will recount how the group got started and achieved its many accomplishments. This program was rescheduled from an earlier date.

The Green Thumb Gang's first call went out in October of 1997: "Help Wanted to Do Some Dirty Deeds in the Town of Lisbon." Of course, they were looking for prospective gardeners. "We need growers, sowers, hoers, mowers, and more," the poster read.

The response was gratifying as the group drew in numerous citizens and businesses to volunteer and donate time, effort, and even land to support its efforts to beautify the town with gardens, benches, memorials, and more. They even involved kindergarten classes, which later planted memorial trees on campus when they became sixth graders at the new Community School in 2005

Join Brown and Lawrence as they tell about planting the seeds for this civic undertaking and how those seeds grew and flourished. The program is free and open to the public; refreshments will be served.

Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. Please park and enter at the rear of the MTM building at 19 School Street in Lisbon Falls. For more information, call 353-8510 or email LisbonHistSoc@gmail.com.

Jefferson author Kay Hardy Campbell's new novel "A Caravan of Brides" received starred review from Kirkus.

Jefferson author Kay Hardy Campbell will discuss "Saudi Women: Change and Challenge" at Auburn Public Library on Tuesday, April 10 at 2 p.m. The talk will offer perspectives on current changes facing Saudi women, including the recent government ruling that will officially permit women to drive starting in June.

Campbell is an Arabic-speaking writer who worked as a freelance journalist while living in Saudi Arabia from 1978 to 1985. She wrote about Saudi culture, the arts, and business for English-language publications, including the Arab News, Saudi Gazette, and Saudi Business Magazine. She currently writes feature stories for AramcoWorld Magazine and has returned to Saudi Arabia three times on assignment. Her blog on Saudi women driving has been following the subject since 2009.

She holds a bachelor's degree in Arabic and Middle Eastern Studies from the University of Minnesota, a master's degree in Middle Eastern Studies from Harvard, and an MBA from Northeastern University.

Campbell is the author of "A Caravan of Brides," a recently-published historical novel set in the world of Saudi women. Set in the late 1970's in the free-wheeling city of Jeddah on Saudi Arabia's west coast, the multi-generational story also steps back and traces See APL, page 16 embarrassment, she sets out to have him committed to a sanitarium.

Problems arise when Veta is mistakenly assumed to be on the verge of lunacy herself when she explains to doctors that living with Elwood's hallucinations have caused her to see Harvey also. The doctors commit Veta instead of Elwood. But when the truth comes out, the search is on for Elwood and his invisible companion. When he arrives at the sanitarium looking for his lost friend Harvey, Veta realizes that maybe Harvey isn't so bad after Marle shares tales of living with a one-eyed dog and the woes of being taller than the average American man. She's performed in the Cleveland, Boston, and Charm City (Baltimore) comedy festivals and will soon appear on Amazon Prime's "Comics Watching Comics."

With an absurdist wit and alternative style, Danny Jordan has delighted audiences young and old in venues including the Gold Room, the Comedy Studio, and ImprovBoston.

The show is free and open to those ages 21 and older. Baxter Brewing is located at 130 Mill Street in Lewiston. For more information, call 513-0742 or email maineeventcomedy@ gmail.com.

heard that the first years of a child's life are a critical time for development. At AFC, we teach parents and caregivers that they are their child's first and most influential teachers. The ways you interact with a child matter. These early interactions lay the foundation for how well a child will do throughout their entire life."

Located in Lewiston, Advocates for Children is a community-based organization that offers programs, resources, and support in an effort to strengthen families in Androscoggin County. AFC is a designated Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Council and a provider of the Maine Families Home Visiting Program. For more information, see www.advocatesforchildren.

WHA Gallery features works by Kate Cargile and Betty Mills

"All Your Leaves and Feathers," by Kate Cargile

The Woman's Hospital Association Rotating Art Gallery will feature paintings by Kate Cargile and Betty Mills through April. The gallery is located at the main entrance to Central Maine Medical Center at 60 High Street in Lewiston.

Kate Cargile, a middle school art teacher, works in a variety of media, from painting and drawing to appliqué quilting and papier-mâché sculpture. Her work features subjects from her everyday life and images she creates in her imagination. Though her paintings often have a clear narrative for her, she wants viewers to put their own stories into her paintings.

"I view painting like the act of quilting," says Cargile of her work. "I mix patterns and textures with diverse visual elements from my life -antique advertisements, knick-knacks and mementos, old family photos, obsessions from my past, emblems of my childhood - and stitch them together in a non-specific space saturated with color."

For Betty Mills, painting was a new hobby she picked up just prior to her retirement from raising a family and working at restaurants in Gray and Auburn. Her current chosen medium is acrylic, but she's quick to point out that it's "only for now." Since she couldn't afford to take painting lessons, Mills has taught herself to paint through practice and online videos.

"Painting has become a learning experience and passion," says Mills. "I'm very appreciative to have this opportunity to share my painting progress along life's journey of learning."

The artists' work may be purchased through the WHA Gift Shop, located adjacent to the main lobby at Central Maine Medical Center. A percentage of sale proceeds benefits CMMC.

"Usually when we hear about the history of the Arabia, it's just about politics, war and oil," Campbell said. "I wanted to explore how women lived through those years."

Kirkus Reviews gave "A Caravan of Brides" a coveted starred review, writing: "Campbell's masterful debut novel delivers a story that matches up flawlessly with real-life aspects of Middle Eastern culture, geography, and history... A mesmerizing Middle Eastern tale from beginning to end." Copies of the book will be available for purchase at the program.

Jointly presented by the library and Lewiston-Auburn Senior College, the Curious Minds Lecture Series presents speakers on a wide variety of topics. The programs are free and open to the public.
