Kenneth Ray Cornelius v. State of Alabama (Appeal from Cullman Circuit Court: CC04-413)

ORDER

The Appellant filed a notice of appeal regarding the denial of a motion to reconsider sentence pursuant to Section 13A-5-9.1, Code of Alabama 1975. Act 2014-165, Alabama Acts, repealed Section 13A-5-9.1, Code of Alabama 1975, and became effective on March 13, 2014. The Act provides that "[a]ny case, on the effective date of this act, in which a motion filed pursuant to Section 13A-5-9.1, Code of Alabama 1975, is pending in the trial court or is subject to appeal from the denial or dismissal of a motion shall not be affected by this act." The motion to reconsider filed in this case was filed after the effective date of Act 2014-165.

As of March 13, 2014, there is no vehicle for the circuit court to obtain jurisdiction of a motion to reconsider a sentence that is filed more than 30 days after a defendant's sentence has been pronounced. "The trial judge lost all jurisdiction to modify the original sentence 30 days after its imposition." Massey v. State, 587 So. 2d 448, 449 (Ala. Crim. App. 1991). See also State v. Monette, 887 So. 2d 314 (Ala. Crim. App. 2004); State v. Williams, 819 So. 2d 79 (Ala. Crim. App. 2000). A void judgment will not support an appeal. See Underwood v. State, 439 So. 2d 125 (Ala. 1983); Hamilton v. State, 828 So. 2d 957 (Ala. Crim. App. 2002); Carpenter v. State, 782 So. 2d 848 (Ala. Crim. App. 2000).

Upon consideration of the foregoing, the Court of Criminal Appeals ORDERS that this appeal be and the same is hereby DISMISSED. Having this date dismissed said appeal, the Court further ORDERS that the certificate of judgment shall issue forthwith.

Done this the 15th day of January, 2015.

CIRCUIT COURT OF
CULLMAN COUNTY, ALABAMA

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF CULLMAN COUNTY, ALABAMA

STATE OF ALABAMA)
V.) Case No.: CC-2004-000413.00
CORNELIUS KENNETH RAY) Defendant.)

ORDER

The Defendant has filed a motion, typically referred to as a Kirby Motion, to amend his sentence pursuant to Section 13A-5-9.1 of the Code of Alabama. That statute was originally enacted by the legislature to permit certain inmates who had been sentenced under the Alabama Habitual Offender Act before the 2000 amendment to the Act to file motions for sentence reconsideration.

A Kirby Motion to amend his sentence was initially filed by Cornelius on October 22, 2010 and was denied by the sentencing judge. An appeal of that decision was subsequently dismissed by the Alabama Court of Criminal Appeals. On March 13, 2014, the above named Defendant again filed a Kirby Motion For Amended Sentence pursuant to Alabama Code 13A-5-9.1 (1975). After a hearing, the second Kirby motion was denied and the decision was upheld on appeal.

On February 1, 2016 a third Kirby motion was filed as a "Motion to Alter, Amend or Vacate". Ex parte Gunn, 993 So.2d 433 (2007) has been cited by the Defendant in support of the most recent request for relief but Gunn merely stands for the proposition that a trial court has jurisdiction to consider a successive Kirby motion filed pursuant to § 13A-5-9.1. In Gunn, the trial court erroneously dismissed Gunn's second Kirby Motion because it did not believe it had jurisdiction to consider a successive Kirby Motion.

However, while successive petitions were not precluded under Section 13A-5-9.1, that statute was repealed by Act 2014-165 and became effective on March 13, 2014. The second Kirby Motion filed in this case was filed on March 13, 2014, the last day such a motion could be filed and reviewed by a circuit court under the express language of the Act. As noted by the Alabama Court of Criminal Appeals, as of the effective date of the repealing act, "there is no vehicle for the circuit court to obtain jurisdiction to reconsider a sentence that is filed more than 30 days after a defendant's sentence has been pronounced. 'The trial judge lost all jurisdiction to modify the original sentence 30 days after its imposition,' Massey v. State, 587 So.2d 448, 449 (Ala. Crim App. 1991)."

This court only has such jurisdiction as has been conferred on it. Because Section 13A-5-9.1 of the Code of Alabama has now been repealed, this court does not have jurisdiction to grant the relief requested. Any judgment entered without jurisdiction would be void and have no legal effect. It is therefore ORDERED that the Motion to Alter, Amend or Vacate must be and is hereby denied.

Cornelius tried for 11 years to get his sentence changed, taking his case to the appeals courts and hearing after hearing. The courts ruled there is no lawful way to change his sentence. In two days after the case is transferred to Judge Williams and without a hearing, his sentence is reduced and he is released back out on the streets.

Children with asthma are more likely to be prescribed antibiotics even though there is no evidence that they need them any more than children without asthma, according to research presented at the European Respiratory Society International Congress 2017. Overuse of antibiotics is leading to a rise in drug-resistant infections; unnecessary use in children could leave them more at risk of a future infection that is difficult to treat. The researchers say their results may indicate that asthma symptoms are being mistaken for a respiratory tract infection, or that the antibiotics are being given as a preventive measure, even though guidelines do not support this.

A new study published in the Journal of the American College of Cardiology finds beta blockers are not needed after a heart attack if heart-attack survivors are taking ACE inhibitors and statins. Heart-attack survivors are usually prescribed all three drugs to help prevent a second attack and death. However, the beta blockers offer no additional benefit for patients who take the other two drugs as prescribed, according to the new study, which examined the trade-offs and consequences of using some of the medicines instead of others.

Older people who use steroid inhalers for asthma or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) are more likely to suffer particular bacterial infections, according to a large study published in the European Respiratory Journal. Worldwide, asthma and COPD affect hundreds of thousands of people and they are commonly treated with steroid inhalers to reduce symptoms and improve lung function. However, the new study suggests that these inhalers also increase the risk of lung infections caused by nontuberculous mycobacteria, which are notoriously difficult to treat and resistant to a number of common antibiotics.

Call Gary at 205-229-9642

The Holy Father spoke against the false prophets He did not send (Jer 23:15-23). False men that made themselves appear as Holy people, also applies to those who use their words to appear as The Holy Messiah's disciples. Claim to have been called to preach and do testify of Christ (Jn 5:39-47), yet only teach man's traditions, theories and assumptions, which The Holy Bible is against (Mt 15:9). Declare themselves as Christians (Acts 11:26) but cannot raise the dead, walk on water or calm the winds and much, much more, yet hold out their hand for more tithing.
