Spring Home Improvement

SPRING TO DO LIST

Spring is here, and it's time to tackle the growing list of projects around your home. But do you know how much they will cost? Moreover, do you have the budget to cover all of them? You can probably complete some projects DIY, while others will be best handled by local professionals.

Paint for a Fresh New look

If it's been awhile since you last painted, your walls are probably starting to look worn down and in need of a new coat. With spring here, why not take the time to refresh the interior of your house? Think about how you can change the color scheme of your home, starting with the walls. When choosing colors, remember that swatches will look lighter than the samples themselves.

Touch up the siding

Given the harsh winter, it's likely your siding has chipped and cracked — or just gotten dirty. If you want to spend a few days outside revitalizing it, you have a few options:

- Power or pressure washing
- Putting on a new coat of paint
- Repairing the cracks, dents and chips

Depending on the time, effort and budget you have for the siding, your best bet is to focus on cleaning up and making repairs. Dirt and debris can wear away siding, leading to more holes and further repairs down the road. Power or pressure washing is a quick, efficient way to renew the siding.

Maintain your lawn

Your lawn is going to need some quick care to get ready for new growth and rejuvenation during the spring. Look for any patches, weeds, dead flowers and shrubs — get everything cleaned out and taken care of.

This is an easy do-it-yourself project for the weekend. Just get the lawn mower out and chop a little of the grass off, but not too much. It's recommended that you leave the lawn at 3 inches high until summer rolls around. You may want to consider hiring a lawn care professional when you need to do more extensive work, or if you don't have the time to maintain your landscaping. This includes projects like:

- Installing sod over dead grass patches
- Treating bugs and other pests in your lawn
- Aerating or dethatching the lawn
- Trimming shrubs, hedges and trees
- Mowing the lawn and general upkeep

Clean the gutters

Cleaning the gutters after winter is an absolute necessity. They will have collected a lot of debris — leaves, branches, dirt, etc. — that can clog the drainage system. If this isn't addressed in spring, rainfall could travel from the roof directly down along your siding to your foundation. This damages your home's exterior and interior. Instead, take the time to get up on a ladder and use a hand rake to get all of the debris out.

Guide to Selecting Flooring

There are many materials to choose from for new flooring and each type has a lot of options to go along with it. Also, depending on the room and the flow of traffic, there are a variety of considerations to think about

Hardwood Thanks to hardwood's durability and warm, natural feel, it continues to be the flooring of choice for many homeowners. Oak remains the most popular choice, but other woods like cherry and imported exotic woods such as Brazilian cherry or Tasmanian oak are worth considering. Hardwood floors come in a variety of styles such as plank, parquet and prefinished boards that you can install yourself.

Laminate Laminate flooring is one of the most popular flooring choices around, easier to install than solid-wood hardwood floors and much less expensive. Laminate floors get their name because they're composed of different wood-based materials that are layered, or laminated, together. then topped with a wood grain photographic imprint on the face of each board.

Linoleum Linoleum's current popularity is primarily due to its appeal as a green flooring choice. Linoleum is considered eco-friendly because it's made from all natural materials and does not deplete forests. It's made primarily of linseed oil, rosins and wood flour. Because linoleum is composed of natural materials, it creates no adverse health issues during production, installation, use or disposal. The bactericidal properties of natural linoleum stop microorganisms from multiplying, so you often see natural linoleum floors in many hospitals. In addition to the health benefits, linoleum flooring is antistatic, reducing the potential for electric shock. Linoleum is also water-, ding- and scratch-resistant, easy to clean, comfortable underfoot and is available in tiles in a wide range of vibrant colors, which can be combined to create distinctive patterns.

Tile Porcelain is a popular choice as is terra cotta and natural stone, such as marble, granite, travertine or slate. When selecting tile on a budget, porcelain is the most cost-effective. Glazed porcelain tile is durable enough to handle heavy traffic areas and is available in a wide range of hues, textures and finishes. Unleash your creativity and combine tiles of various sizes, colors and textures to create a one-of-a-kind floor.

Vinyl One of the most value-conscious flooring options today is vinyl. It's an especially popular choice for rooms that are prone to moisture problems, such as basements, bathrooms and kitchens. Vinyl is also easy to clean and softer underfoot than tile. Vinyl is available as sheets and self-stick tiles, and it is sold in a variety of widths and thicknesses. One rule to remember when selecting vinyl is the thicker it is, the more traffic it can bear.

Concrete Concrete is one of the hottest flooring options today. With the wide range of sealers and specialty stains currently on the market, plain and gray concrete can be stamped and stained to resemble polished marble, tumbled stone, brick pavers or really anything you wish. There's no limit to the design possibilities, that's the real beauty of concrete floors. You want long-lasting durability? Concrete holds up like no other flooring. You want low maintenance? Concrete is as low as it goes. It's also the perfect flooring for radiant heat.

Add New Trees to Your Backyard this Spring

Adding trees is a great way to freshen up your outdoor living space as well as to take advantage of the new start that springtime brings.

Focus on using native species, which brings a better chance of successfully nurturing these trees to full, healthy growth.

When it comes to choosing the right trees consider these things. Sun conditions of the specific space for the trees, water usage requirements and soil conditions. Think about what you'd like to achieve with those trees, such as whether or not you want to create shade, bring color and more visual interest into your space, or create screening for privacy.

For shade choose trees like Monterey Oak, Live Oak and Cedar Elm. The Monterey Oak is a drought-tolerant tree that sprouts peach and red-colored leaves that turn dark green in the springtime and are approximately 4 - 5 inches long, with smooth edges and leathery texture. Cedar Elm blooms in the fall. Flowering shade trees include Forest Pansy Red Bed, Japanese Maple and Loquat.

If you're looking to bring color and interest to your space, consider trees like Retama or Desert Willow. Retama is a small tree or large shrub with green bark, which blooms yellow flowers with red-orange throats in spring or early summer and then sporadically in fall. To add color to a sunny space, consider Crepe Myrtle or Possum Hall Holly.

Be sure you dig the hole large enough; you have adequate water supply to the root ball; and, if it's in rocky soil, make sure there is way for the water to release from the bottom so the tree doesn't drown.
