TROUBLE UNDERSTANDING VOICES?

How your hearing works:
Sound enters your ear canal through the air.

The eardrum is located at the end of your ear canal. Your ear drum catches sound waves, vibrates, and begins a chain reaction. Your eardrum is connected to the first of three bones. We will check to ensure your eardrum is healthy.

This movement vibrates against the oval window in your cochlea, sending sound waves through this snail shaped organ.

When the hair cells move, they send an electrical impulse through the Auditory Nerve to your brain. Then you hear sound!

Hearing Problem #1
The ear canal's job is to funnel sound to your ear drum. Sometimes the canal becomes plugged with wax, and mimics a hearing loss because it blocks sound from reaching your eardrum. Use of a cotton swab will pack wax even more. We will check for impacted wax with a video ear camera to see if this is a problem.

Hearing Problem #2
The three tiny bones of your middle ear conduct sound between your ear drum and your cochlea. Otosclerosis is the calcification of these bones, resulting in conductive hearing loss. About 10% of people have this type of loss.

Hearing Problem #3
The cochlea is a snail-shaped organ containing thousands of living hair cells called stereocilia. A condition known as sensorineural hearing loss (nerve type hearing loss) occurs when any of the hair cells become damaged. About 90% of hearing loss is this type. A new hearing device has now been released that is programmed specifically for the frequencies of hair cells that are damaged, resulting in improved speech understanding.

Hearing Problem #4
Tinnitus is the phantom sensation of ringing in the ears. It is usually the result of damaged or misfiring nerves between the cochlea and the brain. A specialist will identify the tone of your tinnitus and discuss how this hearing device may reduce it.

Response to our recent advertisements has been terrific! We have welcomed some new contractors into our family and are continually interviewing new membership prospects.

Our new contractors are not only looking for Qualified Electricians but also more Solar Electricians and Tele-Communication Technicians to staff upcoming projects.

One of the greatest benefits of the Electrical Union is the ability for our members to retire with dignity. Retirement of our well seasoned members provides fantastic opportunities for Electricians of Foreman and General Foreman qualifications. If you are an un-represented "lead" electrician, then we should be talking about your future.

We are also always looking for Quality Open Shop Electrical Contractors looking to grow with us. It does not matter if you have just 1 electrician or 1000, we have opportunities for everyone!

The IBEW has been successfully training crews for our contractors since Edison and Tesla were young men. For 125 years our signatory contractors have come to the IBEW to hire the highest quality electricians in the industry. We continue today, working in a mutually beneficial partnership with our contractors to offer the best value in the industry to our valued customers.

(NAPS)—“Green teams” are forming at K-12 schools all over the country and reinventing the way their communities view waste and recycling. Students and teachers build sheds and design bins to house hundreds of collected bottles and cans. They use their schools' daily announcements to share original songs and music videos about how to “drop it in the bin.”

Taking the future into their own hands, students across the country are really into recycling—and winning awards for their schools.

Devoted teachers, such as Drew Johnson of Salem, Illinois, are leading the way by advocating for the creation of these groups and empowering students to become leaders themselves. An avid recycler, Johnson first introduced recycling to his school in 2010 and today he co-sponsors the school's Green Clean Recycling Team alongside teacher Kari Thackrey. The duo oversees a group of 30 students who have rallied the school and community to collect thousands of beverage containers to date.

lum, guides and performance reports, plus multiple opportunities to earn supplies and rewards.

What You Can Do

In addition to helping your kids recycle cans and bottles, there are several steps you can take at home to make the world a greener place, including:

- Look around the house for plastic containers that can be upcycled to create something new.
- Turn off lights when you leave a room to conserve energy.
- Plant a garden or tree in your backyard.
- Use both sides of a piece of paper when taking notes or creating artwork. Throw scrap paper in a recycling receptacle instead of a trash bin.
- Beautify your neighborhood by organizing a garbage pickup.

This Local community paper is free to our readers. We've been that way from the beginning. We won't change that even in the toughest of times.

But we do improve this paper every issue. We won't stand still as the market changes. Giving readers and advertisers the best value is our goal.

Over the years we have become the marketplace for our community. And while other media might be shrinking, we are growing. That growth will continue, hand-in-hand, with our community.

We'll continue working for you.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Q. I would like to know the name of the actress who plays opposite Jeremy Renner in "Hansel and Gretel: Witch Hunters." I think she was in "Clash of the Titans" too. Any info you have on her would be great. — Guy C., Webster, New York

A. You are speaking of the gorgeous and talented Gemma Arterton, who, as you said, also played Io in "Clash of the Titans." Gemma is one hot commodity right now, and it would take up too much space to tell you everything she has coming up, but I will sum up as best I can. Gemma — the Kent, England, native who turns 30 on Feb. 2 — began her acting career in grammar school, starring in numerous school productions, which eventually led to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. Her first major film role was as Strawberry Fields in "Quantum of Solace," opposite Daniel Craig's James Bond.

Gemma went on to co-star in "Clash of the Titans," "Prince of Persia: The Sands of Time" and "Hansel and Gretel." She has numerous films in production or on the verge of being released, including "Their Finest Hour and a Half" with Bill Nighy, "The Girl with All the Gifts" with Glenn Close, and "A Hundred Streets" with Idris Elba.

Q. How much longer till "Bates Motel" returns? It has been renewed for another season, correct? — Dylan H., via email

A. Norma and Norman Bates will indeed be back for another thrilling season of suspense, drama and, of course, a bit of sociopathic killing. The 10-episode fourth season of "Bates Motel" returns to A&E on Monday, March 7, at 9/8c, with Freddie Highmore, Vera Farmiga, Max Thieriot, Nestor Carbonell and company all returning to continue the story of the Alfred Hitchcock seminal character of a boy with serious mommy issues.

Also, I had mentioned this a few months back, but don't forget that the new thriller, "Damien," will premiere after "Bates." "Damien" follows the titular character from "The Omen" horror-film series, who is now a 30-year-old war photographer and has forgotten all about his satanic past. Damien Thorn, played by Bradley James, must come to terms with the fact that he is the Antichrist.

James Dittiger/A&E
Freddie Highmore

Q. My grandma and I love watching "Rizzoli & Isles" together, but I read that the show is ending. Please tell me it isn't true! — Lydia R., Sacramento, California

A. This summer, Angie Harmon and Sasha Alexander will return for the seventh and final season of "Rizzoli & Isles" on TNT. They will star in a shortened 13-episode season. While the show still is a fairly strong performer, TNT head honcho Kevin Reilly said they all "felt like it was time. Everyone said, 'Let's go out and finish 13 great ones and call it a day.'" I'll let you know as soon as I have an exact premiere date for this final season.

Prayer to St. Jude

Most holy Apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use, I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations, and sufferings, particularly (your request) and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. Amen.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes...

Today's tax laws are complicated, even filing a simple return can be confusing. It is easy to overlook deductions/credits you may be entitled to. There is no substitute for the assistance of an experienced tax professional.

A. The first G.I. Joe was introduced in 1964, and it had 23 movable parts and realistic hair. It was an instant success. There reportedly are more than 500 G.I. Joe figures, vehicles and auxiliary items. The G.I. Joes issued during the first series are valued in the $700 to $1,100 range depending on type, according to "200 Years of Dolls: Identification and Price Guide" by Dawn Herlocher.

Q. I have a small crock that belonged to my great-grandfather. It was used for turpentine, and I am curious about how much it is worth. — J.H., Monterey, Tennessee

A. It depends who made it and when. Does the crock have any markings? What is the color? Is it a crock or a jug? You might find many of the answers to these questions and more in a highly recommended book, the Antique Trader Stoneware and Blue and White Pottery Price Guide, edited by Kyle Husloean (Krause Publications).

Q. While cleaning out a storage area, I discovered a large wooden crate of magic lantern slides. They appear to be from the 1920s and promote both businesses and movies from that era. I would like to contact someone to see how much they might be worth. — Susan, Naperville, Illinois

  - 1/4 cup raisins
  - 1/2 cup loosely chopped walnuts

To prepare oven, pan: Heat oven to 350 F. Generously butter the inside of an 8-inch square baking dish or coat with cooking spray.

To make oatmeal: In a large bowl, mix together oats, brown sugar, baking powder, cinnamon and salt.

In another bowl, whisk together the beaten egg, milk, butter and vanilla. Add liquid mixture to oat mixture and stir well. Stir in raisins and walnuts.

To bake oatmeal: Pour mixture into baking dish. Bake for 35 minutes, or until the top is golden and the oat mixture has set. Serve warm with choice of toppings, if desired: dried cranberries, apricots or cherries, coconut, berries, diced fresh fruit such as apples, bananas and peaches. Serves 6.

crispy edges. Doused with warm milk and topped with my choice of dried apricots, it was satisfying — and, it kept me going through a vigorous morning of sightseeing.

I left the memory on the back burner — until now. Here's a basic, fail-proof recipe you and your kids can tinker with seasonally. That means a mix and match of add-ins and add-ons to satisfy one's own tastes. Ground flax? Toss it in. Chia seeds, sprinkle them on top. Raspberries in season? Top off the bowl with luscious freshness, color and vitamins.

TIP: Heat leftover portions in the microwave for additional easy breakfasts.

Alabama at Last

When you don't know anything about history, it's easy to say things like, "we live in a very spectacular time." Phrases like, "never been done before" and "greatest of all-time" get tossed around and played with. While some of this is true — we, as a species, build off of our experience to progress to another level — most of the time they're just empty platitudes. Great people slip from this vale of tears all the time, and unless they made one mark to be remembered for, their fame is fleeting.

The Alabama Crimson Tide will never have that problem. Sports, better than any other discipline, with the possible exception of the folks behind the Periodic Table of Elements, keeps score. We have lists and lists filled with names with numbers attached; the lists grow longer, but the names never fade. In America, particularly over the past seven years, Alabama, with its four most-recent championships and 16 overall, and its coach, Nick Saban, has made its mark.

With their thrilling win over Clemson on Jan. 11, the Crimson Tide may have done something even more important: They may have saved football. The sport is reeling. When the Fresh Prince of Philadelphia is starring in movies about concussions, your sport is in trouble. When grown men with arcade-like nicknames dressed up like Bengal tigers push and shove coaches after making illegal hits to the head on national TV, setting up the opposing team for a win, your sport is in trouble. When fans start worrying about what defensive back said on Instagram or Twitter both before and after the game more than the game itself, your sport is in trouble. When you finally get a championship playoff and you move the games to New Year's Eve and nobody watches and the games are lackluster and dull ... again, there's a problem.

And while many people will say, actually, it's kind of getting boring watching Alabama win every year, you have to ask them if they were watching. Because as soon as the 30-minute pre-game show with every recording artist we're supposed to know singing the same song that nobody can ever sing better than Ray Charles or Whitney Houston did finally end and the actual game started, it was like ... transcendent. It takes schools like Clemson and Alabama to fill a stadium with orange and red, split right down the middle like that. The telecast by ESPN was incredible; I was flipping through all 18 of its channels getting every play and loving every second of it.

Two teams battling it out like giants from the first to the last play. Derrick Henry rips off a touchdown run. Deshaun Watson — the guy who had everyone saying "Vince Young" for a quarter until firmly cementing his own name into the upper echelon of the game — would stand up like they called offsidies and then suddenly snap like a cat hearing a vacuum cleaner, tossing darts all over the field (and covering the point spread ... just saying).

And wouldn't you know? Nick Saban really does know how to smile. What a spectacular time, right?

HOLLYWOOD
by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — 2015 was a year when films, with top stars, couldn't earn their budgets back at movie box offices. In 2011, Chris Hemsworth burst onto the scene as "Thor" (cost $150 million/gross $450 million). He played Thor again in "The Avengers" (cost $220 million/gross $1.5 billion) and then did "Snow White and the Huntsman" (cost $170 million/gross $396 million). In 2013, "Rush" cost $38 million and grossed $90 million. In 2015 "Thor: The Dark World" cost $170 million and grossed $396 million. "The Avengers: Age of Ultron" cost $280 million and amassed $1.4 billion, followed by a small role in "Vacation" ($31 million cost/$105 million gross).

Chris Hemsworth

But here's where it went wrong: "Blackhat" cost $70 million and only made $19.6 million, followed by "In the Heart of the Sea" at a cost of $100 million, with only a $76 million take, giving Hemsworth the two biggest losing films of the year. "Pan" couldn't fly despite the magic of Hugh Jackman and the classic Peter Pan children's tale, at a cost of $150 million against a $126 million take. "The Gunman" with Oscar-winners Sean Penn and Javier Bardem, couldn't cover its $40 million cost, grossing $16 million.

cost $15 million against just a $3.2 million gross. Even Bradley Cooper couldn't elevate "Aloha" from a $26 million gross to its $37 million budget, despite Emma Stone, Rachel McAdams and Bill Murray in tow.

Oscar-winner Sandra Bullock's films usually hit the No. 1 spot in their opening week, but her recent release, "Our Brand Is Crisis," cost $28 million, grossing only $8 million, probably because of one of the most unappealing titles of the year.

Brad and Angelina Jolie Pitt produced, wrote and directed "By the Sea," but it sank to $2.5 million from their investment of $10 million. Robert Redford and Cate Blanchett couldn't stir "Truth" (about Dan Rafter's firing at CBS) to earn more than $3 million against its $9.6 million cost. Michael Fassbender, as "Steve Jobs," couldn't coax more than $25 million to cover its $30 million outlay. Ryan Reynolds' "Self/less" lost $4 million; James Marsden, Eric Stonestreet and Wentworth Miller couldn't keep "The Loft" from losing $3.9 million; and "Hot Tub Time Machine 2" was short $900,000.

Johnny Depp's "Mortdecai" grossed $47 million but cost $60 million to shoot. "American Ultra," with Jesse Eisenberg and Kristen Stewart, must have looked good on paper, but it cost $28 million against $15 million in ticket sales.

Once upon a time major studios bought stories and tailored them to their stars. Maybe some of the executives who made these films will have to boost DVD sales ... door to door, literally!
