DEVON HORSE SHOW

Star-studded lineup set to compete

©Taylor Renner/Phelps Media Group

The Devon Horse Show is synonymous with elite show jumping competition and is well-respected as the most prestigious and largest outdoor, multi-breed and multi-discipline horse show in the country since 1896.

Scheduled for Thursday, May 24, to Sunday, June 3, the historic Devon Horse Show will once again feature international show jumping at a world-class level with a FEI CSI4 competition, drawing the world's best, including Olympians McLain Ward and Beezie Madden.

While the show reflects the local traditions and lifestyle of Philadelphia, the annual event also attracts top national and international athletes. This year's star-studded lineup includes the likes of 2018 World Cup Finals champion Madden, Ward and rising star Devin Ryan. The Devon Horse Show is the ideal way for these athletes to kick off their spring and summer competition schedules.

The Devon Open Jumper Section is just one major highlight of this year's event, which has expanded its purse money to $475,000 this year. All classes will boast a FEI CSI4 ranking, and athletes who compete in any of the designated events will be eligible to earn world ranking points.

Thirty elite open jumper riders will be chosen to take part in the Devon Open Jumper Section, which will host classes such as the $35,000 Devon International Speed Stake CSI4, the $50,000 Jet Run Devon Welcome Stake CSI4 and the $70,000 Idle Dice Open Jumper Stake CSI4, all of which will take center stage in the iconic Dixon Oval.

Ward is both a familiar face in the sport of show jumping, as well as a regular competitor at Devon each May.

"I think Devon is a really phenomenal competition," expressed Ward. "The atmosphere, the history and the nostalgia that comes from the venue and that arena is something very special. I think that the investment from the community and the organization in recent years has really brought it back to a first-class event. I think if we want great events in our country, then the top riders need to support them and help make them successful.”

The show is extra meaningful to Ward as he and his two-time Olympic medal-winning mount, Sapphire, have accrued numerous wins and top results at Devon throughout the years. Ward holds a record of winning the Sapphire Grand Prix of Devon nine times during his illustrious career, two of which were with Sapphire, after whom the class is now named in memoriam.

Another reason Ward returns to Devon each year is the passionate crowd, ranging from fellow equestrian athletes to horse enthusiasts to Pennsylvania locals and their families in search of a fun, friendly outdoor event.

“The crowd at Devon is arguably as good of a crowd as any in the world,” said Ward.

“The venue is packed to capacity, and it’s a knowledgeable and enthusiastic crowd. It’s like the Hampton Classic where people make a point to be there on grand prix day as well as the other days. It goes to show that if you put on a top-notch event like that, people will come and entertain it.”

Celebrating its 40th anniversary, the Sapphire Grand Prix of Devon continues to be a highlight event and will offer $250,000 in prize money this year. The feature class will take place at 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 31, and, as always, is sure to bring a great crowd.

Rider and trainer Devin Ryan, who operates his River Run Stables out of Long Valley, N.J., said, “It’s my favorite horse show! There is just something about the [Dixon Oval]. It always feels bigger than it is. Devon is a show that has been around for a long time. Being from New Jersey and being so close to Pennsylvania, I know that it is a big deal for people, and it’s nice that it is a hometown show.”

Most recently, Ryan finished in second place during his Longines FEI World Cup Jumping Final debut in Paris, France, behind winner Madden. Ryan is eager to showcase his talented mounts, Eddie Blue and Cooper, in the open jumper classes at Devon this year.

After Madden’s win overseas at the Longines FEI World Cup Jumping Final in April, the show jumping veteran is looking forward to being back competing on American soil at Devon.

“I’ve always really liked Devon as a horse show, and I think they put a big effort into it,” Madden praised. “It happens to fit in well with our schedule this year. Many improvements have been made, including the footing, so I was excited to put it on our 2018 schedule.

“Devon has a lot of history and is a place where people want to go and do well,” Madden continued. “You have to qualify to get there, and the fans are always great. The fan base that comes every year is huge, and it’s nice that Devon does it for charity for the [Bryn Mawr Hospital].”

In addition to world-class show jumping athletes, riders from various disciplines such as hunters, equitation, sidesaddle, eventing, driving and renowned breeders come to experience the magic of Devon. Along with its long list of disciplines, the show also offers a multitude of classes catering to all levels from leadliners to grand prix riders.

With the grandeur of Philadelphia’s prestigious Main Line setting the stage, the Devon Horse Show features an impressive field that annually ranks among the most prominent individuals in the sport worldwide. The event also includes the famous country fair that attracts people of all ages and offers boutique shopping, rides, games, multiple dining options and special entertainment events.

DEVON HORSE SHOW

Show to continue $50,000 arena eventing class

Sarah Kozumplik Murphy and Rubens D'Ysieux.

The Devon Horse Show and Country Fair is excited to be offering the $50,000 Arena Eventing Class once again.

The event, which is presented by Salt Works, will return for its second year after immense success during its debut in 2017.

This year's class will take place on Sunday, May 27, at 7 p.m. It will focus on highlighting two out of three components of the classic three-day eventing format, which showcases dressage, show jumping and cross country. In order to qualify for this unique opportunity, riders must have attained a qualifying score in a CCI event or be competing at 1.40 meters in show jumping.

Last year's winner of the inaugural $50,000 Devon Arena Eventing class was Sarah Kozumplik Murphy riding Rubens D'Ysieux. The four-star level American eventing athlete had nothing but praise for the addition of the new arena eventing class.

"I was really excited when I heard this was being offered for a variety of reasons. Thank you to everyone for putting it on. Devon is just an incredible place, and it's an honor to ride here," Kozumplik Murphy said.

The course will be designed by Olympic gold medalist Captain Mark Phillips, former coach of the U.S. Eventing Team, and will consist of a combination of cross-country and show jumping obstacles in the iconic Dixon Oval to highlight the best of the eventing discipline. Forty riders will try their hands over the challenging track.

Phillips, who also designed the course for last year's event, had similar sentiments as Kozumplik Murphy.

"I think that they have a really good format at Devon, where they have the first round against the time and then they take all the clears and the best twelve through to the second round against the clock. I think it works really well from a horse and rider's point of view in terms of the fact that they are not going too fast the first time around," Phillips said. "In the second time around, you've got the best horses and riders. That is what makes Arena Eventing so exciting.

"Arena Eventing fits in well at Devon. The advantage that Devon has is the use of the two arenas. You have more scope there to do more interesting things on the course than you do at [venues that have] a much smaller arena, like in Toronto or New York," Phillips expressed.

Out of the 25 total jumps, horse and rider pairs will have to navigate 15 standard cross country jumps and 10 show jumps over a 1,000-meter course. Obstacles will be 1.20 meters in height, and brush fences will be built up to 1.40 meters and spreads up to 1.60 meters. Fault penalties will be given for any knockdowns and exceeding the course time limit. Prize money for competitors will be awarded up to 10th place and there is no entry fee.

In addition to the support of Phillips, riders of both disciplines have embraced Devon's Arena Eventing. Some of these prolific riders include the current coach of the U.S. eventing team, David O'Connor; Rio Olympians Phillips Dutton and Boyd Martin; and Irish international show jumper Kevin Babington.

The Devon Horse Show and Country Fair is the longest-running and largest outdoor multi-breed competition in the United States. With the grandeur of Philadelphia's prestigious Main Line setting the stage, the event features a world-class field that annually ranks among the most prominent internationally.

The event also includes the Country Fair that offers world-class shopping, rides and games for kids, multiple dining options and special entertainment events.

DEVON HORSE SHOW

'Gold Ring' renamed in honor of Sallie and Kenny Wheeler

The former "Gold Ring" at the Devon Horse Show has been officially renamed as the "Wheeler Ring" in honor of Kenny Wheeler Sr. and his late wife, Sallie Wheeler.

The Wheeler family of Virginia has been part of the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair for many years. Generations of Wheelers have shown in a variety of divisions including Open Hunter, Hunter Breeding and American Saddlebred. Kenny is best known for his numerous victories in the breeding classes at Devon, as well as a long career as a hunter trainer. Horses he trained have been named the "Best Young Horse at Devon" for 34 years in a row. In addition to being an avid competitor herself, Sallie was a great philanthropist and supporter of the horse show. Both were very much involved in Devon over the decades.

It is only fitting that the "Gold Ring" be renamed in honor of the Wheelers.

As Devon Horse Show Chairman Wayne W. Grafton notes, "Sallie and Kenny Wheeler demonstrated not only the epitome of horsemanship, but they contributed to the horse show through years of participation, service and donations. We proudly rename the 'Gold Ring' to the 'Wheeler Ring' in honor of their generosity and shared loved of showing horses."

The official ceremony took place during the last Friday of the 2017 Devon Horse Show and Country Fair. Kenny and members of the Wheeler family took part in the naming ceremony in Devon's Dixon Oval. Proceeding the dedication, more than 50 of his family and friends gathered to celebrate Kenny's 90th birthday with a Devon-themed cake. A new plaque now informs all spectators and competitors that they are watching champions meet in the "Wheeler Ring."

DEVON HORSE SHOW

American Saddlebreds scheduled to showcase beauty, versatility

Carson Kressley and Famous Kiss.

A vision of spirited beauty and power, the American Saddlebred excels in the show ring, demonstrating two unique gaits to the breed: Slow Gait and the accelerated Rack. Tracing the breed's ancestry to the early 1700s, the classic American Saddlebred will once again be showcased in a variety of divisions because of their incredible versatility at the historic 2018 Devon Horse Show, schedule for May 24 to June 3.

Spectators can expect to see all of the five primary disciplines represented at the Devon Horse: Three-Gaited, Five-Gaited, Fine Harness, Park and Pleasure. The $5,000 Three-Gaited Saddlebred Stake is the most anticipated class of the Walter Mooney American Saddlebred Three-Gaited Section. Any entries that participated in another class of the section can take part in the Friday evening stake at the Dixon Oval.

Characterized by a shaved mane to emphasize their long and elegant neck, three-gaited horses show in trot, canter and animated walk. Celebrity Saddlebred exhibitor and judge of the Ladies' Hat Contest at Devon, Carson Kressley picked up his first tricolor ribbon aboard Famous Kiss in the Open Three-Gaited Park Horse Stake in 2016.

"I've shown in a lot of places, but there's nothing as special as the crowd support at Devon," said Kressley. "Showing in front of thousands of people in the Dixon Oval is a thrill like no other. I've shown this horse a couple times this season, and we've been second every time. So to pull it together and win a big class like this here is a huge thrill. Devon is one of the greatest shows in the country. It's where you come, watch and dream of competing."

Another crowd favorite in the Five-Gaited Section is the $3,000 Five-Gaited Saddlebred Stake, which will also take place Friday, June 2, under the lights of the Dixon Oval. Five-gaited horses have been taught two specific four-beat gaits that are either performed slowly or with rapid, high steps. Dainty yet powerful, the Saddlebreds will be seen parading through the ring with their natural tail and mane flowing and riders dressed in traditional saddle seat habit. The always popular pleasure classes will also return for exhibitors to view in addition to many hunter divisions and open English pleasure division.

Last year, Janet Sterba earned a championship title in her division once again, sweeping the Five-Gaited Pleasure Championship piloting Born For This.

"This is our second year working together," Sterba said about her at the time 12-year-old mare, CH Callaway's Born For This. "She's had a grand career. I'm just thrilled to have a good ride, especially on this mare. I'm blessed to get to show her."

Fine harness, a discipline where horses are shown at the trot and animated walk in a four-wheeled cart, will culminate in the $1,500 Fine Harness Horse Championship at the Devon Horse Show. Drivers are permitted to wear long dress and suits, accenting the elegance of the drive.

Distinctive traits including mental acuteness and willingness to learn have positioned the Saddlebred as a diverse equine athlete. Devon Horse Show is proud to feature the talents of this historical breed, revered as the "horse America made."

The Devon Horse Show and Country Fair is the longest running and largest outdoor multi-breed competition in the United States. With the grandeur of Philadelphia's prestigious Main Line setting the stage, the event features a world-class field that annually ranks among the most prominent internationally. The event also includes the Country Fair that offers world-class shopping, rides and games for kids, multiple dining options and special entertainment events.

DEVON HORSE SHOW

Fair provides ongoing financial commitment to Bryn Mawr Hospital

Year in and year out, thousands of families have wandered through the pathways lined with age-old trees that provide a beautiful, shady canopy and a gorgeous backdrop for the Country Fair. The fair features fun for the entire family, from the raucous midway filled with rides, irresistible food and games of skill for family members of all ages, to the more serene part of the fair that showcases outstanding shopping opportunities, delicious gourmet meals and of course, the world-famous Devon fudge.

The hard work and planning for the Devon Country Fair begins in January, and by the beginning of May, all of the food has been ordered, menus have been tweaked and thousands of souvenirs have been ordered. The week before opening, the grounds come alive, and the first order of business for the volunteers and chairmen and chairwomen is to get the booths in tip-top shape and organized for the huge crowds that will soon be descending in waves for this year's event.

The Devon Country Fair is a well orchestrated event that would not happen without so many community volunteers and commitment from their chairpeople.

And in reality, the Devon Country Fair is so much more.

It is the philanthropic arm of the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair, Inc. The fair is organized and run by the approximately 2,000 volunteers that put in hundreds of hours working under the guidance of more than 100 chairs who man the many booths that are scattered over the Country Fair. Over the past 119 years, the hard work has really paid off, with all the proceeds benefitting the Bryn Mawr Hospital. Over the years, more than $47 million has been donated to the hospital.

It is a hand-in-hand collaborative effort with the Devon Horse Show. Speaking of the horse show, the Country Fair provides free guided tours of the stable area so that spectators have an opportunity to learn about the various activities that go on behind the grandstands. Whether it is a look in the newly renovated stabling, a visit with the farrier, veterinarian or the EMTs or even a stop at the horse ambulance, it is a chance for the uninitiated to learn what goes on behind the scenes at a major equestrian production.

DEVON HORSE SHOW

Meet Brenda Carpenter, the talent behind Devon photos

If you've ever wondered who is behind some of the amazing photos you've been seeing of the Devon Horse Show & Country Fair in recent years, meet Brenda Carpenter.

Hometown: Toronto, Canada

Current Town: Berwyn (it helps to be four blocks from DHS grounds!)

How long have you been a photographer?

Approximately 20 years. I have a background in dance and choreography from the Canadian College of Dance in Toronto, so I've always been involved in a creative, visual medium, where I'm thinking on my feet. I got involved in photography when I lived in Los Angeles with my husband, who was attending the American Film Institute's producer's program. I took classes at a local art center and at UCLA. I learned to shoot with film and how to print my own images in a darkroom. I went to many galleries and shows, as LA has some of the country's top photo galleries, including The Getty Museum. My first paid shoot was for Judith Krantz (a New York Times best-selling author at the time) and my image of her (I was working for her at the time as her PR assistant) was chosen for her book jacket cover! She had already been photographed by a very well-known Hollywood photographer, but she and her book publisher preferred my shots — and that was a turning point for me to continue to pursue this new creative outlet as my next career.

How did you get started with Devon?

After moving back from LA to be closer to family, as I had a baby at this point, I went to Devon several times with my young daughter and was so taken by the place, the horses, riders, etc. ... I then remember looking at the website and marketing posters and felt that I could "take this to a new level" with what I was seeing with my own eyes. I initially approached them to offer my services as a "volunteer" to take pics at their events and during the show. Karin Maynard immediately saw the difference in my images and the benefits they could bring to the show on a number of levels.

Brenda Carpenter is the face behind the camera lens at the Devon Horse Show, creatively capturing the action in the ring and behind the scenes, as well as the crowds on the sidelines, shops and on the Midway.
