Finally, a Good Trump Joke

The Donald is walking out of the White House and heading toward his limo, when a possible assassin steps forward and aims a gun.

A secret service agent, new on the job, shouts, "Mickey Mouse!" This startles the would be assassin, and he is captured.

Later, the secret service agent's supervisor takes him aside and asks, "What in the heck made you shout Mickey Mouse?"

Blushing, the agent replies, "I got nervous. I meant to shout, "Donald, duck!"

New Words

Randy W., of Los Angeles, put his mind to the oftexperienced problem of facing modern situations for which there are no existing words or phrases in the English language. The following are his suggestions for some situations to which we might all be able to relate.

arachnoleptic fit, n:

The frantic dance performed just after you've accidentally walked through a spider web.

bozone, n:

The substance surrounding stupid people that stops bright ideas penetrating. The bozone layer, unfortunately, shows little sign of breaking down at any time in the future.

cashtration, n:

The act of buying a house, which renders the subject financially impotent for an indefinite period

caterpallor, n:

The color you turn after finding half a grub in the fruit you're eating.

extraterrestaurant, n:

An eating place where you feel you've been abducted and experimented on. Also known as ETry.

Grantartica, n:

The cold, isolated place where arts companies without funding dwell.

intaxication, n:

Euphoria at getting a tax refund, which lasts until you realize it was your money to start with.

kinstirpation, n:

A painful inability to get rid of relatives who come to visit.

lullabuoy, n:

An idea that keeps floating into your head and prevents you from drifting off to sleep.

- * Freeze juice boxes to use as ice packs in a lunch box or cooler. No mess, and it makes a lovely slushy treat on a hot day.
- * In our beach bag, we include a change of loose-fitting, comfy clothes for each kid. We package them in a gallon-size zipper-top bag, and when they change, the wet suit goes right in the plastic bag. It's better than having a big soggy, sandy mess in our beach bag, which often includes a book or magazine. -- F.C. in Texas
- * "When you come home from the grocery store, stack the meats in your freezer according to expected use. For instance, if you are going to have pork chops on Monday and fish on Friday, you'd want to put the pork chops on top of the fish. This way, you need not dig around for what you need to defrost. And make sure you wrap everything well." -- A.R. in Oregon
- * Is your tire slowly losing air? Sometimes it can be hard to tell where it's coming from. Use this tire-shop trick to find a puncture fast: Fill the tire with air, then squirt soapy water over the whole tire. Then, just wait; the air coming out of the tire will be trapped and form a nice little bubble!
- * Got a comfy pair of outdoor shoes for gardening, but they're fabric? Never fear -- you might be able to waterproof them. Rub canvas shoes with beeswax and wipe away any excess. Water should bead up instead of sinking in, so you can wear your comfy shoes to do your gardening tasks without getting soggy feet.
- * "Try the mild abrasion of toothpaste (not the gel kind) to remove the hazy film from old headlights. Simply rub on with a soft cloth and buff. Don't press too hard." -- S.T. in Illinois

Carry-On

Explaining luggage regulations to passengers can be aggravating for flight attendants. One day a woman tried to board with an enormous bag.

The lead flight attendant told her why it would not fit, but the woman argued that her bag was a carry-on because it had wheels and a handle.

Without blinking the attendant said, "My Ford has wheels and a handle, but that doesn't make it a carryon."

Crispy Cows

The Easterner had always dreamed of owning his own cattle ranch, and finally made enough money to buy himself the spread of his dreams in Wyoming.

"So, what did you name the ranch?" asked his best friend when he flew out to visit.

"We had a heck of a time," admitted the new cowboy. "Couldn't agree on anything. We finally settled on the Double R Lazy L Triple Horseshoe Bar-7 Lucky Diamond Ranch."

"Wow!" his friend was impressed. But looking around he saw no cattle. "So... where are all the cows?"

"None of 'em survived the branding."

PIEDMONT PETS

June 7, 2018

By Paulette Dean

In the fall of 1992, after I had worked for the humane society for just a couple of months, an animal control officer brought in a dog that had been abandoned. His owners had moved away, and they had left him chained in the backyard. By the time neighbors called about him, he was emaciated and weak. I could not believe that anyone would do such a thing.

Sadly, I am no longer surprised or even shocked. Dogs are being left on chains in backyards, but frankly, those are the easier cases. The harder ones are when animals are left inside houses. We have had to rescue dogs, cats, guinea pigs, rabbits, parakeets, reptiles, and other species of companion animals. Animals are being left to die slow, lonely deaths where no one can see them. The fortunate ones are found by landlords. Others are helped when neighbors begin to hear noises in empty houses or apartments.

Some people simply take animals to isolated parts of the country and leave them. They may believe that the animals can survive on their own. They cannot.

Ferrets, rabbits, ducks join the list of animals being abandoned. In most of these cases, people believe that they can exist in parks or in neighborhoods with no help. They are wrong.

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540 Phone: (434) 799-0843

Animals are placed in boxes, the boxes are taped, and the boxes placed in dumpsters. Usually, puppies or kittens or left at dumpsters, but we have also seen guinea pigs, rabbits, the list goes on and on, abandoned at

One huge problem is this more and more people are being told that cats can be spayed or neutered and then re-abandoned a few hours after surgery. Abandonment in the case of feral or stray cats is lauded as being "progressive." We believe it is nothing more than abandonment. If you suspect an animal has been left to fend for itself, please call us. We remain open-admission and will accept any animal for any reason at any time and from anyone.

- * It was the multitalented Brit G.K. Chesterton -- he was a poet, philosopher, dramatist, journalist, orator, lay theologian, biographer, and art critic -- who made the following sage observation: "The men who really believe in themselves are all in lunatic asylums."
- * Those who study such things say that the word "daisy" started out as "day's eye" and was shortened over the years. Similarly, "God be with you" became "goodbye" and "whole be thou" became "hello."
- * Becoming a sports star is the dream of many young people, so you might think that someone who is signed to a professional baseball contract has it made. You'd be wrong, though: Only 1 out of every 10 athletes who sign such a contract ever becomes a major-league ballplayer.
- * The shortest song in the world is "You Suffer," recorded in 1986 by the British band Napalm Death. It lasts precisely 1.316 seconds.
- * In France in the 1700s, capital punishment was not uncommon, and criminals thus condemned were decapitated by the country's Chief Executioner. This position was hereditary, which posed a problem when, in 1726, the holder of that title, Charles-Jean-Baptiste Sanson, suffered an early death, leaving his 7-year-old son, Charles, to take up the grisly duties. It was obvious to all that a child could never wield the heavy ax required for the decapitations, so it was deemed acceptable for a helper to actually perform the executions. Only the official office-holder could put the official seal on the act, however, so the poor boy had to witness every one. It wasn't until the ripe old age of 12 that he began to take over the full duties of the office.

• While I love all of these Marvel movies that are coming out, it got me to thinking about one of my favorite Robert Downey Jr. roles, which is Sherlock Holmes. Will he make another of those movies? — Bryan H., via email

A I have good news for you: Robert Downey Jr. (Sherlock Holmes) and Jude Law (Dr. Watson) have signed on to co-star in a third installment of the "Sherlock Holmes" series. As of this writing, director Guy Ritchie is not yet attached, but I'm hoping that status changes soon. His snappy and smart directing style really could be considered the third star of the previous two films. The story is being written by Chris Brancato (co-creator of "Narcos") and is scheduled for a Christmas Day 2020 release. As more information becomes available — such as storylines and other co-stars — I'll be sure to let everyone know.

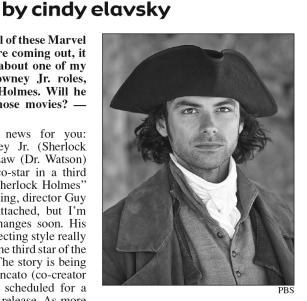

Over Memorial Day weekend,
I binge-watched "Everything
Sucks!" on Netflix, and I am hooked.
When will it be back for a new sea-

A. Tragically, Netflix opted not to renew the wonderfully nostalgic series that centered on a group of high school misfits and outcasts in the small town of Boring, Oregon. Aside from having a kick-ass soundtrack with all your '90s favorites — including artists such as Sebadoh, Ride, Spacehog and Tori Amos — it had a fun and relatable story of first loves, first experiences and first triumphs. As with all cult favorites, there is a #SaveEverythingSucks campaign on all social-media platforms, so you can get involved and get your voice heard to try to revive it from the bowels of the one-season wonders. This is one of a few shows canceled this year that I wholeheartedly agree needs a second chance.

• I need more "Poldark"! Can • you give me any info about when or if it'll be coming back? — Jennie T., Defiance, Ohio

Aidan Turner in "Poldark"

• The Aidan Turner-starring pering od drama, which finished airing its third season this past August, will be back for a fourth AND fifth season, according to PBS. The fourth season is set to debut this fall on Masterpiece on PBS, drawing on Winston Graham's sixth and seventh "Poldark" series books: "The Four Swans" and "The Angry Tide." For the fifth season, expect a jump of 10 years, with the action centering on the storyline of the eighth book, "The Stranger from the Sea." The fifth season also is expected to be the final season.

According to script writer Debbie Horsfield, season four is "very much Cornwall-based, but there are so many characters and flavors, and one of those flavors is London. ... There are whole sequences where we go to London, and that's a really exciting new flavor to it. We will meet real characters, like (Prime Minister) William Pitt and (anti-slavery advocate) William Wilberforce. There are some wonderful, affirming storylines and some utterly tragic ones coming up."

47-Year DCC Employee, Alumna Retires

Danville, Va., May 30, 2018 — With the longest tenure of any classified staff member in the history of Danville Community College (DCC), Nancy Taylor Reynolds has witnessed the transformation of the DCC campus for nearly half a century. After 47 years and 10 months, as of July 1, 2018, Reynolds will retire from her post at DCC

Reynolds transitioned from being a student at the college to a graduate to an employee over a matter of weeks nearly 48 years ago.

"My mother used to tell people that I went to DCC and never left," Reynolds, born and raised in Pittsylvania County, said with a laugh.

Reynolds graduated from DCC in 1970 from the college's secretarial science program, now called administrative support technology. Back then, students were grouped according to curriculum and secretarial science had two sections. Reynolds' section had 17 students and their classes were block scheduled, meaning they spent the entire day with the same classmates.

"I loved the freedom," Reynolds said. "It was so different from high school. One day, several of us decided to leave campus and skip our afternoon classes. As we were leaving the parking lot, our afternoon instructor was driving in. We waved, went to lunch, and came back to class."

She explained that she truly enjoyed coming to class every day, especially because of the atmosphere at the college.

"My classes were so interesting," Reynolds said. "The instructors became our friends, as long as we had done our assignments. I absolutely loved coming to class."

Reynolds' rapport with the college faculty led to an employment opportunity before she graduated.

"When I was in line for graduation practice, Tommy Cannon, one of my instructors, asked me if I had a job lined up. I told him that I had two offers that I was considering, but I wasn't crazy about either one. He said there was an opening at the college that would lead to other opportunities if I was interested," Reynolds said. "He encouraged me to come to the college on Monday and apply. I did, and the rest is history — I did ask for a two-week break before I started work so I could go to Atlanta for a baseball tournament."

Her first position at DCC was answering the switchboard and helping out in the admissions, counseling, and president's offices. When the college's financial aid office was first launched, she became the administrative assistant while one of the counselors, John McRae, became the director.

"My next move was to become the administrative assistant in the counseling office, where I worked for four people," Reynolds explained. "If you think it is hard working for one supervisor, try working for four, each with extremely different personalities."

Her next position and the one from which she will retire next month is in the office of the vice president of financial and administrative services.

"I have worked for four different vice presidents," Reynolds said. "Every day is absolutely different from the previous and not what you planned to do when you arrived at work that day!"

As for fond memories while working at DCC, Reynolds said she had more than a few.

"My first winter working at the college—I had been told that when classes were cancelled for snow, we still had to come to work," Reynolds said. "To keep me from driving in the pouring snow, my husband dropped me off and went on to work. I checked all of the doors on the building and they were all locked—this was before cell phones—so I had to walk home. Later, I found out that the president had actually closed the college, but after I had left my house."

She added, "I love the interaction we have with our students. I helped organize a Fallen Firefighters March-a-Thon in September 2001. Several DCC clubs participated in the walk, along with some of the Danville firefighters, walking from the West Main fire station to City Hall. We raised almost $17,000. I also helped organize a March of Dimes team for our employees and students. We walked eight miles in two hours! I helped organize a Jump Rope for Heart team for DCC faculty and staff and I have taken aerobics and yoga after hours with lots of students, some of them young enough to be my grandchildren. At DCC, we dress up for Halloween, along with the students, and have a party in the Student Center. We used to have a faculty-staff softball team and a volleyball team who played against the students. I normally played infield but had to pitch one day and ended up with a black bruise on my leg that lasted for six Reynolds' love for baseball came in handy when the college needed an advisor for its new baseball team.

"When the college decided to start a baseball team in 2001, I was asked to be the college sponsor/advisor. Of course I accepted and have been working with the team since," Reynolds said. "The first year, we started the season with 16 players and, after several injuries, we made it to the VCCS championship game with only 11 and won! We played against a team from Rappahannock Community College, who had 34 players. Butch Thomas, father of one of our pitchers, Brett Thomas, said 'David has just slayed Goliath!' Rappahannock had been the champion for several years. I cannot tell you how excited we all were."

Reynolds said that her love for her job is what has motivated her to come to work every day for nearly 48 years. Her dedication to excellence and professionalism has earned her much recognition through the years, receiving the DCC Outstanding Classified Staff Award and the Virginia Community College System Support Staff Showcase Award.

Of her proudest moments, though, two stand out from the rest.

"I was able to see both of my daughters graduate from DCC and then go on to get their bachelor's degrees from Longwood University and George Mason University," Reynolds said.

She added that being recognized in the community and witnessing the impact of DCC has made the experience of working there that much more special.

"I love being out in the community and having a former student from years ago recognize me and ask about the college," Reynolds said.

When asked what advice she would offer to anyone getting started with their career, Reynolds said to work hard and look for opportunities to grow professionally.

"Be a dedicated employee—don't look for shortcuts or the easy way out," she said. "Take advantage of seminars and workshops. Try to learn new things constantly."

Looking ahead, Reynolds said she trusts DCC will continue to be a key player in shaping the future of the region.

"This college has been such a wonderful opportunity for thousands of young people," Reynolds said. "I hope it remains a place where area students can find the skills they want and need to get a job in their chosen field or get the general education classes needed to transfer to a four-year university."

As for herself, Reynolds said she has work to do in preparation for her retirement.

"I had two bucket lists that I have already completed—visiting all 50 states and visiting all of the major league baseball parks," she said. "Now, I am writing a new list for when I retire."

Reynolds added that she would cherish the memories she made while she studied and worked at DCC.

"These people here are my family," Reynolds said. "We have always been there for each other. I am going to miss them."

Danville Public Schools Education Foundation Receives Womack Foundation Grant

The Danville Public Schools Education Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization, was established in 2002 by the Danville School Board. The Danville Public Schools Education Foundation (DPSEF) exists for the expressed purpose of advancing and promoting the interests of the students, faculty, and school system. It is organized exclusively for charitable and educational purposes.

Today, the DPSEF received a grant made available by the Womack Foundation in the amount of $4,000. The grant will allow over 100 K-12 students who are in self-contained classrooms for students with cognitive impairments, intellectual disabilities, autism, and multiple disabilities the opportunity to visit the Danville Science Center.

"It is important that this target population have every opportunity to expand his/her academic, independent, and social skills beyond the scope of the classroom and school," said Tia Hairston, Coordinator of Special Education Services. "Visiting the Danville Science Center will provide this group of exceptional students with a specialized opportunity – participation in a recreational activity, utilization of appropriate social skills with peers, and practicing community based skills. This event would not have been possible without the generosity of the Womack Foundation."

The activity will include exploration, live science experiments, and the Digital Dome adventure for each student. Each student will have lunch and receive a Danville Science Center gift bag and a commemorative t-shirt.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your creative side is enhanced by indulging yourself in as much artistic inspiration (music, art, dance, etc.) as you can fit into your schedule. Bring someone special along.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Take a little restorative time out of your busy life. Go somewhere quiet this weekend. Or just close the door, turn on the answering machine and pretend you're away.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your advice might be much in demand by family and friends this week. But reserve time for yourself to investigate a project that could have some unexpected potential.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Work-related issues demand your attention in the early part of the week. Family matters dominate Thursday and Friday. But the weekend is yours to spend as you please.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Try to keep your temper in check as you deal with someone who seems to enjoy showing disrespect. Losing your Leonine cool might be just what the goader hopes to see.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A heated confrontation needs some cool-off time before it boils over. Better to step away than to try to win an argument where emotions overrule the facts.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Someone very special in your life finally sends that reassuring message you've been hoping for. You can now devote more time to the tasks you had put aside.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Job pressures begin to ease by week's end, leaving you time to relax and restore your energy levels before you face next week's emerging challenges.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Your spiritual strength helps calm a friend who might be facing an unsettling change in their life. An offer to help comes from a surprising source.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) By midweek you could learn some surprising facts about an associate that might cause you to reconsider a longheld view about someone in your past.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) One of those rare-for-you darker moods sets in in the early part of the week. But by Thursday, the clouds lift and you're back doing nice things for people in need.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Use that sharp Piscean perceptiveness to reel in more information about a promising offer so that you have the facts to back up whatever decision you make.

BORN THIS WEEK: Although you prefer the status quo, you easily can adapt to change when it's called for.

Scammer Had $213,000 in Loose Change

After a 15-year scam, the owner/operator of a parking lot company was accused of defrauding the Department of Veterans Affairs of more than $13 million. The parking lots were part of the VA Greater Los Angeles Healthcare System, mostly the one near Westwood. The owner had a contract to run the lots for the VA, and in return he'd hand over 60 percent of the gross revenue. He was to submit annual reports about the money taken in, as well as document any improvements he'd made, which would cut down on what he owed the VA.

The parking lot owner had someone on the inside ... inside the VA contracting office. Their relationship went on for 11 years, with the owner handing over nearly $300,000 in bribes.

Ever hear of keeping a double set of books? The owner did, with the phony books shown to the VA. He failed to report the cash from the parking lots, which amounted to untold millions of dollars. Then, when it came to expenses for the parking lots, he marked them up by 600 percent. He told the VA he'd spent $11.6 million in improvements, when his clean set of books showed he'd actually spent only $1.4 million. And where did the money go? The owner took $3.1 million in salary, $470,000 in travel expenses and $413,000 in meals and entertainment. He purchased three condos in Santa Monica, expensive cars like Ferraris and vintage Corvettes, and a racing boat. He had some accounts with over $1 million in them and $213,000 in change at his house.

What bothers me, as it does with most of the deals when thieves are nailed for stealing from the VA, is the short jail time. After a plea agreement, the owner is likely to get only 70 months behind bars.

"The Monster In Your Pocket"

Tom was a nice guy, he really was. Hard working, polite, kind of awkward at times, but still the kind of guy that everyone enjoyed being around. Mary, his wife, was glad to have him, as were their two kids, Charlie and Penelope.

They lived in a four bedroom ranch at the end of a cul-de-sac. They often had cookouts with their neighbors, who were also very nice folks.

Tom was, in every regard, the very last person anyone would ever have suspected of having a monster in his pocket.

In his defense, the monster started off as more of a pet, really. It would call to him at times, and he would take it out of his pocket and stroke it, and it would in turn hum to him contentedly, or warble and beep in excitement.

It did not take long for the monster to become more demanding. More and more it refused to be in his pocket; it seemed to be growing in his mind. It also became very possessive; only Tom could hold it, everyone else, especially Mary, was an unwanted interloper. The monster so worked on Tom's mind that any attempt for anyone else to spend a moment with it was met with outright hostility from Tom.

"What is your problem!" he would shout, "can't I have any privacy?"

This caused a great separation between Tom and Mary. She especially was getting more and more jealous and suspicious of the monster and it's intentions, and was determined to pry Tom and the monster apart. and train spouse.

And then one day Tom made an unthinkable mistake. Distracted by a hard day at work, he got home, quickly jumped in the shower, and left the monster on his bedside table. Mary, seeing a golden opportunity not likely to ever arise again, grabbed it and began to examine it.

The tears rolled down her cheeks as she did.
The monster was full of pornography, text messages with another woman, and other filth...

The parable is easy to figure out, isn't it.

Most every one of us carry a potential monster in our pockets or purse these days. And whether or not those smart phones become a helpful and necessary tool or a voracious and destructive monster truly does depend on one thing and one thing alone:

Accountability.

Proverbs 22:3 says, "A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished." In the context of our modern day monster parable, a prudent man realizes how powerful and potentially dangerous a smart phone is, and hides himself from that danger. And there is no safer hiding place from that type of danger than absolute access and transparency with your

I have been a pastor and evangelist for more than two decades, and have worked with countless homes that were at risk of falling apart. Over the last decade, the monsters people carry in their pockets have accounted for at least 80% of all of the trouble I have had to deal with people about.

Wives texting an old boyfriend and becoming violently angry when their husbands ask to see their phones. Husbands looking at pornography and managing to hide it for years until their homes completely fell apart.

That phone you carry in your purse or pocket has the most amazing potential both for good and for evil. It is a razor's edge sharp enough to do life saving surgery or sharp enough to cut the throat of everything you love.

When Dana and I got our first smart phones, we sat down and discussed this issue. We resolved to be consistently, totally transparent with each other using a very simple methodology; whenever one of us says, "Let me see your phone for a second," the other one simply hands it over. That accountability has allowed us to have phones in our pockets rather than monsters.

Sir, Ma'am, don't take that monster lightly.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — If "It" scared you good and you want more ... well, brace yourself, because the 2017 film, which grossed $700 million, will scare you again as "It: Chapter Two." An allstar cast headed by Jessica Chastain, James McAvoy and Bill Hader will portray the tormented kids as adults (with the original kids returning as well). Bill Skarsgard reprises his role as Pennywise. Chastain is currently filming "Woman Walks Ahead," in which she plays a widow who paints a portrait of Chief Sitting Bull (Michael Greyeyes). It opens June 29 and also stars "Three Billboards" Oscar-winner Sam Rockwell.

Get ready for more gender switching. Last year producers recast "Ghostbusters" with an all-female cast and grossed $229 million against a $144 million cost. Now the $70 million "Ocean's 8" opens June 8 with Sandra Bullock, Cate Blanchett, Anne Hathaway, Mindy Kaling, Sarah Paulson and Helena Bonham Carter. Meanwhile, Oscar-winner Hathaway and Rebel Wilson are embodying Steve Martin and Michael Caine's roles in "The Hustle," a female reboot of "Dirty Rotten Scoundrels" (1988).

Now that "Black Panther" is out on DVD, it's doubtful it will still be in theaters. "Panther" has settled into the No. 9 spot of the all-time top-grossing box-office films, passing "Frozen," "The Last Jedi" and "Harry Potter & the Deadly Hallows: Part 2." However, "Avengers: Infinity War" has sailed past them, as well as "Avengers: The Age of Ultron" (No. 8), "Furious 7" (No. 7), "Marvels: The Avengers" (No. 6) and "Jurassic World" (No. 5), and into the No. 4 berth, moving fast and threatening No. 3 "The Force Awakens" and the big boys, "Titanic' (No. 2) and "Avatar" (No. 1).

It looks like the inmates have taken over the asylum. We used to support films like "Gone With the Wind" (1939), "The Wizard of Oz" (1939) and "Casablanca" (1942), to name three of my favorites, but when you look over the above list, it's all fantasy and superheroes. Is reality so bad that we need to escape it with pure fantasy?

Emily Blunt, on fire with "A Quiet Place" (which has grossed more than $275 million), will hit again at Christmas with "Mary Poppins Returns," and is currently shooting Disney's "Jungle Fantasy," with Dwayne Johnson, Jack Whitehall and Paul Giamatti. Her "Quiet Place" husband and co-star, John Krasinski, also is red hot, landing the title role in the Amazon series "Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan," with Oscar-winner Timothy Hutton and Peter Fonda. Its first eight episodes haven't even begun airing (that happens Aug. 1), but the series already has been renewed for eight episodes of season 2. As busy as Blunt and Krasinski are, you can be sure they'd kill

Vegan Does Not Need Fish to be Healthy

DEAR DR. ROACH: I have been vegan for 15 years. I avoid sugar, limit salt and have no caffeine. Recently, a pharmacist told me that I will not get proper protein unless I add fish to my diet. However, long ago, my doctor told me that my vegan diet was good and that I should take vitamin B-12 daily, which I have been doing. What are your thoughts on adding fish? -- S.N.

ANSWER: I agree with your doctor. A vegan diet can be very healthy, and avoiding sugar in particular helps assure that it is. The issue of adequate protein is brought up frequently, but most Americans consume more than twice the recommended daily allowance of protein. Plant foods have plenty of protein, and you certainly do not need to eat fish in order to get adequate protein. I think fish can be a healthy part of a diet, but it is not necessary.

DEAR DR. ROACH: My husband was admitted to the hospital several months ago with poor heart function and only 10 percent kidney function. He has been on dialysis three times a week since then. We have been inquiring for several months about his current kidney function, and we cannot get an answer. We are just curious as to whether there has been any improvement. -- S.K.

ANSWER: Dialysis is a way of replacing kidney function when the kidneys can no longer remove enough of the body's waste materials. It sounds like your husband is on hemodialysis, where the blood is run through a machine that removes excess fluid and waste products, such as creatinine and potassium, which would otherwise increase in concentration in the blood. High potassium is life-threatening, and creatinine, though not dangerous, is the molecule we look at most commonly to estimate kidney function.

Very rarely, kidney function can return even after a prolonged time on dialysis. I have never seen a case, but one study showed two cases per thousand where dialysis could be stopped. The clue that kidney function was returning was that urine output, which normally is scant while on hemodialysis, had increased over time. Unfortunately, 99.8 percent of the time, the kidney failure is permanent.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 62-year-old male, and I have been heavy for most of my life. Over the past 18 months, I have lost a great deal of weight and feel better than I have in years. My issue is where the excess has ended up: just below my belt-line. I know that so-called spot reducing doesn't work, so I'm at a loss as to how to go about getting rid of this paunch. It's not above my belt, and it is stubborn. Any ideas? -- T.C.

ANSWER: If you keep losing weight, odds are that stubborn fat will gradually go away. High-intensity aerobic exercise did seem to help in one study. I have had patients undergo liposuction, but that helps your appearance, not your overall health.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email guestions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. To view and order health pamphlets, visit www. rbmamall.com, or write to Good Health, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803.
