BOCES AUTO-BODY STUDENT SCORES A HOLE IN ONE WITH DESIGNS

Morgan Sullivan (Royalton Hartland) with the hoods she painted.

Morgan Sullivan, a student enrolled in the Auto Body program at the Orleans Career and Technical Education Center got a chance to show off her airbrushing skills.

I-CAR is an international not-for-profit organization dedicated to providing the information, knowledge and skills required to perform complete, safe and quality repairs. They approached her teacher, Tom Struebing, to see if any of this students would be willing to help them out by painting miniature car hoods for a golf fundraiser they do every year. "It's a pretty big deal because people come from all over the country and this year it will be held in Atlanta. The hoods were going to be prizes for the golf tournament."

I-CAR sent four of the miniature hoods and Morgan was the first person Mr. Struebing thought of to help. "She is very artsy and told me the main reason she took my course was to learn how to airbrush. The criteria was that they should reflect golf, but something with the automotive industry because that is what we are. She got all four of them done and they look really good," he says with pride. "She used the names of the sponsors for the brand names of the golf balls. That worked out real well. She has placed pretty high in airbrushing competitions and I think this just validates her decision to come to the program."

"ABANDON" WILDLIFE BABIES

By Douglas H. Domedion

This is the time of the year that the young of wildlife begin to show up. Last week there were several baby gray squirrels running around outside our house. They looked cute, acted dumb and were very playful, doing things that could make them dinner for a free-ranging cat or dog. It seemed like they has been abandoned but in reality they were just out of the nest cavity raising heck while Ma was out feeding somewhere.

The fawns of the white-tailed deer will be showing up now and it is not uncommon for folks that spend a lot of time in the woods and fields to run across one. Their first few days after being born they just lay still and try not to draw attention to themselves. The doe stays away from the fawn only going to it to let it nurse, usually three or four times a day. Although the fawn can stand and "kinda" run he is still pretty easy prey for a predator such as a coyote or dog. Thus by staying away from the fawn except to nurse it she cuts down the scent location of the fawn and the chance of a predator finding it. The fawn counts on his camouflage to keep him hidden and remains motionless when danger is near. It always amazes me how well they can blend into their surroundings. Many times I have nearly stepped on one because he was almost invisible and remained motionless.

This is the time period when people occasionally find a fawn and think it is abandoned and want to take it home and care for it. BIG MISTAKE! His mother IS nearby and the handling of it or the presence of people around the fawn could attract predators or cause his mother to stay away too long for its well being.

After about two weeks the fawn begins to travel with the doe and is in much better shape to avoid predators.

Yes, fawns are cute and often seem abandoned at times, but human interference could cause their death, so IF YOU CARE, LEAVE IT THERE.

Another animal folks will sometimes find and think is abandoned are baby raccoons. Like young squirrels these young raccoons will often come out of their dens (usually in a hollow tree) and play. Sometimes one falls or gets too far from the den and a person seeing it thinks it needs help. However his mother is near by and will find him and return him to the den.

Young raccoons are very cute and people think they would make good pets. However, like all wildlife, they can never be trusted and can get nasty for no reason and hurt someone. Another concern, especially with raccoons are diseases. It is possible that the mother is sick, such as with rabies, and has passed it on to those cute little guys. Thus you could contact rabies by handling them and not even know it until it is to late to get the shots for it.

So if you run across a fawn, young squirrel, raccoon or any other wildlife baby, just admire them from a distance and then quickly leave the area so the mother can return to care for it. And remember it is illegal to have a wild animal in captivity or as a pet and you could receive a stiff fine.

My contact information is 585-798-4022 or woodduck2020@yahoo.com.

He is not abandoned!

THE LAW AND YOU

BY NATHAN D. PACE
 ATTORNEY AT LAW

PRIVILEGED INFORMATION

In order for attorneys to represent their clients to the best of their abilities, it is essential that those in need of legal assistance be absolutely truthful and forthcoming. If a client withholds information from his or her lawyer or misrepresents facts, the chances of achieving a successful outcome in the courtroom are greatly diminished. With this in mind, the "attorney-client privilege" rule helps to encourage clients to candidly share information with their lawyers, thereby enabling their lawyers to provide the most effective representation. Under the rule, which preserves the confidentiality of communications between lawyers and clients, lawyers may not divulge their clients' secrets. Nor may others force them to reveal privileged information.

Providing the best possible legal representation takes more than just a kind ear or an aggressive attitude. You want a lawyer who will both listen to your concerns and fight for you in court. When you have a personal injury case, you want expert legal representation and advice. Please call the Law Office of MACK & PACE to review the details of your case. We have highly trained attorneys and staff working in real estate, business, banking law, will and trusts, probate, criminal law, family law, and entertainment law. We keep our clients away from the courtroom unless conflicts arise.

534 Main St., Suite 6
Medina, NY 14103

HINT: Attorney-client privilege remains in effect even after the attorney-client relationship ends and even after the client dies.

Your guide to looking and feeling your best

Signs of a HEART ATTACK

Some heart attacks are sudden and intense, but most heart attacks start slowly, with mild pain. Often people affected aren't sure what's wrong and wait too long before getting help. Symptoms include:

CHEST DISCOMFORT. Most heart attacks involve discomfort in the center of the chest that lasts more than a few minutes, or that goes away and comes back. It can feel like uncomfortable pressure, squeezing, fullness or pain.

DISCOMFORT IN OTHER AREAS OF THE UPPER BODY. Symptoms can include pain or discomfort in one or both arms, the back, neck, jaw or stomach.

SHORTNESS OF BREATH with or without chest discomfort.

OTHER SIGNS may include breaking out in a cold sweat, nausea or lightheadedness

Women are somewhat more likely than men to experience other common symptoms, particularly SHORTNESS OF BREATH, NAUSEA/VOMITING, AND BACK/JAW PAIN.

If you or someone with you has one or more of these signs, don't delay!

Call 9-1-1 immediately!

What is Activated Charcoal?

Health-conscious consumers may be hearing more about activated charcoal and its wide range of uses. Activated charcoal, also known as activated carbon, is a form of carbon processed to have small pores that increase surface area adsorption. Simply Supplements says adsorption involves the adhesion of atoms, molecules and ions onto the surface of a larger absorbent. Adsorption would force those molecules to permanently dissolve into the entirety of the absorbent, not just the surface. Healthline notes that activated charcoal is typically made from bone char, coconut shells, peat, coal, olive pits, or sawdust. The "activation" occurs by heating these materials at high temperatures to make them more porous. Historians believe that activated charcoal has been used for medicinal purposes since the 19th century. While activated charcoal is still being studied, it has been used as a treatment for acute poisoning. Some people rely on it as a hangover remedy, but there is no evidence to support its efficacy in such instances. Activated charcoal is available in capsules or tablets to treat digestive gas problems and is increasingly used in toothpaste to whiten teeth and reduce stains. Individuals are advised to carefully research activated charcoal and discuss its purported health benefits with their physicians before including it in their health regimens. ■

SIGNS OF A STROKE

Sometimes symptoms of a stroke are difficult to identify. The stroke victim may suffer severe brain damage when people nearby fail to recognize the symptoms of a stroke. Now doctors say a bystander can recognize a stroke by asking a few simple questions:

- 1 Ask the person to SMILE.
- 2 Ask the person to TALK AND SPEAK A SIMPLE SENTENCE. i.e. It is sunny out today.
- 3 Ask the person to RAISE BOTH ARMS.
- 4 Ask the person to STICK OUT HIS TONGUE. If the tongue goes to one side or the other, that is a sign of a stroke.

OTHER STROKE WARNING SIGNS

- Sudden numbness or weakness of the face, arm or leg, especially on one side of the body
- Sudden confusion, trouble speaking or understanding
- Sudden trouble seeing in one or both eyes
- Sudden trouble walking, dizziness, loss of balance or coordination
- Sudden, severe headache with no known cause

If you or someone with you has one or more of these signs, don't delay!

CALL 9-1-1 IMMEDIATELY!

Do you have HEEL pain or ARCH pain?

HEEL SPUR SYNDROME/PLANTAR FASCITIS

is a common problem among people who are active. It starts as a dull intermittent pain in the heel which may progress to a sharp persistent pain. Classically, it is worse in the morning with the first few steps, after sitting, after standing, or after walking.

- Plantar fasciitis often begins with irritation and tearing of the fibrous band of tissue on the bottom of the foot, which may eventually result in the formation of a heel spur.

- Contributing factors: flat pronated feet, high arched feet, poor shoe support, increased age, sudden weight increase, increased activity level, family tendency.

- Approximately 2-3 times your body weight of force is exerted on each foot with walking. Flexible, non-custom molded arch support found at those advertised shoe stores cannot support these forces and usually do not provide long-lasting relief, do not come with a lifetime warranty, and are typically more expensive than custom-molded ones made by our office.

- 95 percent of our patients symptoms are resolved with conservative treatment, avoiding surgical intervention.

- We also offer surgical procedures with the best post-op success rates using Endoscopic Plantar Fasciotomy techniques and EPF resulting in minimal incisions and scarring, immediate ambulation and often back in a shoe in one week.

If you can't remember when your feet didn't hurt, now is the time to give us a call!

Tips on how to write CLASSIFIED ADS that sell!

- 1 USE A KEY WORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what you have to sell.
- 2 Make your description CLEAR AND FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color & size and tell what condition the item is in. Also, state the special features.
- 3 STATE THE PRICE. Successful classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
- 4 IF THERE IS A GENUINE SENSE OF URGENCY, say so. The words "We're moving," or "Must sell fast," suggest that readers respond immediately.
- 5 INCLUDE YOUR PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 9pm" or "before 11am."

REAL ESTATE GUIDE

How to Save on College Housing Costs

colleges and universities. And those costs typically cover housing for just the school year, which may last anywhere from six to eight months. However, there are ways for students and their families to reduce those costs.

- Examine your dormitory options. Many schools assign students to dormitories for their freshman years, giving students little say with regard to where they will live. However, students might have more input in their housing come their sophomore, junior and senior years. Some dorms might be more attractive and offer more amenities than others, but students and families looking to save money on housing costs should opt to live in the most budget-friendly dorms available to them. In addition, choose to live with a roommate rather than in a single room, as singles tend to cost substantially more than double rooms.

- Sign up to be a resident advisor. Resident advisors, or RAs, often receive free housing in exchange for living in dormitories when they are upperclassmen or graduate students. RAs help newly enrolled or younger students adjust to campus life while also ensuring nothing untoward happens on the floors they're tasked with looking after. Students who may want to apply for RA positions should first confirm if serving as an RA will affect their overall financial aid package and how great that impact might be.

- Live with roommates even after leaving the dorms. Due to limited space, many colleges insist dorm residents live with roommates. Upperclassmen who are moving out of the dorms and into university or off-campus apartments can save money by continuing to live with roommates. This can be especially beneficial to students who will be living in off-campus housing where amenities such as electricity, cable television and water are unlikely to be included in the cost of the rent.

- Commute to school. While it might not be ideal, commuting to school can save college students and their families substantial amounts of money. Public university students who did so during the 2016-2017 school year might have saved nearly $11,000, or $44,000 in four years. That's money that can be used to pay tuition or finance postgraduate educations.

College housing costs can be considerable. But budget-conscious students and families can save on such costs in various ways. ■

College is expensive, and the costs are only rising. Scholarships and grants can help mitigate the costs of higher education, but even students who receive such aid could find themselves scrambling for ways to make college more affordable.

Housing is one of the more expensive costs for college students and their families. According to the College Board, the average cost for room and board during the 2016-2017 school year was $10,440 at four-year public schools and $11,890 at private

Four Easy Ways to Create More Time in Your Day

Managing one's time can sometimes feel like an uphill battle. As a result, adults with hectic schedules and multiple responsibilities may pine for an extra hour or two in the day. While it's impossible to extend a day from 24 to 26 hours, there are ways for busy men and women to create more time in their day.

1. Embrace organization tools. Whether it's day planners, smartphone reminders or more traditional print calendars with meetings and deadlines written on them, organization tools can greatly cut back on time spent trying to remember and/or confirm meeting times, project schedules, deadlines, and other obligations.
2. Assess your productivity. Some people are most productive in the mornings, while others do not hit their strides until after lunch. Identify the time or times of day when you tend to be most productive, and make an effort to focus exclusively on work during these times. Resist any urge to schedule meetings or conference calls during those times of day when you are most productive, as it can be hard to multitask or focus when discussing projects with coworkers or clients.
3. Minimize distractions. Social media, the internet and texting can distract attention away from tasks that must be completed, ultimately affecting how quickly and efficiently such projects are finished. Make a concerted effort to avoid social media and the internet while at work, and turn off smartphone alerts that entice you to go online. In addition, turn off text alerts if they are proving too great a distraction.
4. Reconsider your commute. Professionals who drive to work but find themselves sitting in traffic on their way to and from work can investigate possible alternatives to driving themselves. Public transportation might not get you to work more quickly than driving yourself, but time spent on a bus or train can be used to work on projects and check and answer work-related emails, clearing up time later in the day. Time spent behind the wheel of an automobile cannot be safely spent working. ■

Carnival Games

Games of chance are popular attractions at carnivals, fairs and sporting events. One popular game is the 50-50 raffle. With a 50-50, the raffle organizer splits the proceeds evenly with the winner. For example, if $200 in proceeds are collected, the winner of the raffle receives $100. These types of raffles are popular fundraisers and don't require any special skills for entry. Few people expect to strike it rich when they enter a 50-50 chance. However, in July of 2014, Edmonton Eskimos fan Connor Croken won one of the largest jackpots in 50-50 sports raffle history, leaving an Eskimos game with $348,534 Canadian ($322,216 US) in his pocket. The remaining funds were earmarked to fund amateur football in the province of Alberta. ■
